SUMMONS.
In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon Yamhill County.
F. A. MORRIS and R. C. MILES, partners in business under the firm name of Morris & Miles Plaintiffs vs Peter M. Christenson, Sarah Christenson, Defendants.

To Peter M. Christenson and Sarah Christenson the defendant above named:
IN THE NAME OF THE STATE OF OREGON, you and each of you are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled action on or before the 22nd day of September, A. D. 1909, that being the first day of the next regular term of said Court following the expiration of the publication of this summons and if you fail to answer for want thereof the Plaintiff will take judgment against you for the sum of $600.00 together with interest thereon from June 15th 1898 at 8 per cent per annum and the costs and disbursements of this action and for an order of the sale of the attached property herein to wit: Lots 5-6 and 7 in Bk. No. 7 in Harley & Large addition to the town of Newberg in Yamhill County, Oregon.

This summons is published in the NEWBERG GRAPHIC for six successive weeks by an order made by Hon. R. P. Boise, Judge of said Court, on the 7th day of July, A. D. 1909.

F. W. FENTON,
Attorney for Plaintiffs.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 1, 1909.

Entered as second class matter at the post office at Newberg, Oregon.

A stock company has been organized at Sheridan to build a $5000 brick hotel.

The site for the reform school at Salem has been selected and work is to begin on the building soon.

A deadly cyclone visited south Lawrence Mass. last Saturday tearing down houses and everything that came in its way. Several lives were lost.

The town of Wallace in Idaho which is situated in one of the richest mining districts in the west and contains fifteen hundred inhabitants was almost entirely destroyed by fire last Sunday. Every business house in town was burned.

A Tacoma mill proposes to cut for the World's Fair the prize stick of the world. They have already cut one that is 150 feet long and squares 30 x 30 inches and they propose to do better yet. This will prove an eye opener to some of the eastern people.

The Steamers "Harvest Queen," "Walluski," "Lillian," "S. G. Reed," and "Gen. Canby" have all been licensed by E. P. Mays, Proctor for the United States and U. S. Marshall T. L. Garin for carrying more passengers than the law allows.

AN EDITOR at Whatcom in Washington who has fallen out with the salmon keepers says, "Some of the salmons threaten to withdraw their patronage from the Express. Ye gods, how we laugh! We will return the compliment and be money ahead at the end of the month."

THE CENSUS returns have been footed up for the state of Washington, and the population is found to be sufficient to entitle the state to another representative in congress. John Kelley our Census Supervisor will have to show up more than 280,000 people in Oregon if we get another representative this count.

HON. R. P. EARL will take his place as collector of customs in a few days and it is generally thought that chief of police Parish will be appointed weigher and gager in the custom house. This will cause a vacancy in the office of chief of police and rumor has it that John Minto will be appointed to this place.

THE CITIZENS of Newberg have cause for thankfulness in the fact that the larger part of our population are decidedly in favor of keeping out everything that would act as a snare or snare to catch our young people. There are a few of course who are ready to act as ministering angels for the devil but they are in the minority.

PORTLAND is all up in arms since the Census returns place the population at 35,801. They claim that a very poor count has been made and demand that the census shall be taken over again. Cities as a rule claim a greater population than the facts in the case will justify but Portland certainly has a greater number of people within her borders than the number given above.

Young fellows about town who are particularly anxious to be up with the times in giving the proper salute when meeting ladies should read the following from an exchange.

It is now no longer good taste for a gentleman to raise his hat when he meets a lady on the street. A courteous wave of the hand not unlike a military salute, has substituted for the custom in London, Paris and Vienna. It is not a fact, but a conviction that uncovering the head in the open air has caused a number of cases of influenza. To see a man go along the street and with a spasmodic grab yank off his hat and bring it down over his face so he can see the inside of the crown, is amusing. Fools often do the same thing, and sap-headed dudes always. In the future if you wish to be in style keep your hat on. Make a semi-military salute, just touching the rim of the hat.

A Wonderful Book.
Over 200 years have passed by since the publication of the Pilgrim's Progress. In that time the world has made wonderful advances—has forgotten, or outgrown hundreds of thousands of books. Yet this same Pilgrim's Progress written in Bedford jail by a common tinker 200 years ago is to day read in more languages and by more people of all classes than any other book in the civilized world, the Bible alone excepted.

A grand memorial Edition has just been published—to be sold at a price within the reach of all, and yet to be the finest edition in print. The book is richly illustrated with over 100 of the grandest and most wonderful engravings which have ever appeared in a work of this kind. Superb character delineation, magnificent oil colors, valuable Bible references, together with a life of the famous author and the beautiful poem "The Little Pilgrim," make this great memorial edition one which will be eagerly sought after by all. It offers the book agent an unequalled opportunity for a rich harvest.

The History Company of San Francisco are the publishers, and their advertisement will be found in another column.

BUSINESS pluck is necessary for the development of the resources of any community. It makes little difference how advantageously any point is situated, if those interested in its growth do not exercise enterprise and energy the town will die and allow other cities to reap the advantages which it naturally possesses.

The above from the Corvallis Gazette fully applies to every town in this state and is as true as gospel. But the great trouble with towns and localities, which have fallen behind in the race of progress and development, lies in their having no systematized efforts. The more progressive and prosperous towns have learned this secret and have organized Boards of Trade, Trade Unions, Building and Loan Associations, the fruits of which are progress.—Brownsville Times.

All of the above is very true, but we would also add that good natural advantages go a long way toward making a prosperous town and community. It is true that many places have been boomed and forced ahead for a time that had nothing of a stable character to boast of, but a place to make a steady, permanent growth must have something back of it beside wind. Our town is very favorably situated in many respects. We are just the proper distance from Portland, the metropolis of the north-west, and we get the benefits of the river and railroad which gives us competing lines for shipping grain and other freight to market. And while we are near the river, high water never touches us, while other towns in the country are often greatly injured by floods. As a fruit country it is a conceded fact that we have a location that is unsurpassed in the Willamette valley. Our town already has an enviable reputation as a place of splendid educational advantages where young people can be placed in school and be away from the immoral and debasing influences that abound in so many places. With all these natural advantages, Newberg with a long pull and a strong pull, and a pull altogether ought to make and will make a good business center. See-saw work never did a town any good and the less we have of it the better.

Beating Dollars into Gold-Leaf.
There is a firm in Cincinnati which each year beats 21,000 gold dollars into gold-leaf, and as each dollar can be beaten into a sheet that will carpet two rooms sixteen and one-half feet square, some idea may be formed of its tenacity. It requires 1,400 of gold-leaf to equal in thickness a sheet of writing paper, and takes 280,000 of them, piled upon the other, to equal an inch in thickness.—Ee.

Don't blame your newspaper man for what happens in the community. If there is anything in the life of the place that you do not wish to go abroad to the world, blame yourself that it exists—not the paper for saying something about it. It is the editor's duty to make a typographic photograph of the town each day, and if you take a homely picture, don't kick the instrument to pieces, but try to get a better expression on your face next time.—Ee.

Didn't Kill the Calf.
Nineteen years ago a Lewis county (New York) farmer for a daughter to attend a candy pull. She went and he never set eyes upon her or heard from her again until recently she drove to his farm-house with eleven children and informed him that she had returned repentant and willing to live with him. The astonished parent did not kill the fatted calf in rejoicings over the return of the prodigal, because there were not enough calves on the farm to go around.—Ee.

Some Good Advice.
The secret of success in life is to keep busy, to be preserving patient and untiring in the pursuit or calling you are following. The busy ones may now and then make mistakes, but it is better to risk these than to be idle and inactive. Keep doing, whether it be at work or seeking recreation. Motion is life, and the busiest are the happiest. Cheerful active labor is a blessing. An old philosopher says: "The fire fly only shines when on the wing; so it is with the mind; when once we rest, we darken."

Found a Harrison Medal.
Astoria Columbian: While digging for relics in the old Chinook burying ground at New Astoria recently J. M. Long and a companion unearthed one of the old Harrison "Log Cabin" medals. The lettering stands out very clearly and the outlines of the cabin are quite plain, though the medal is somewhat corroded. The date, 1840, is all there. It is supposed that some tricky trader brought a lot of these cheap medals out to the coast and exchanged them at a high value for furs. The diggers also found a pair of silver and a pair of copper bracelets.

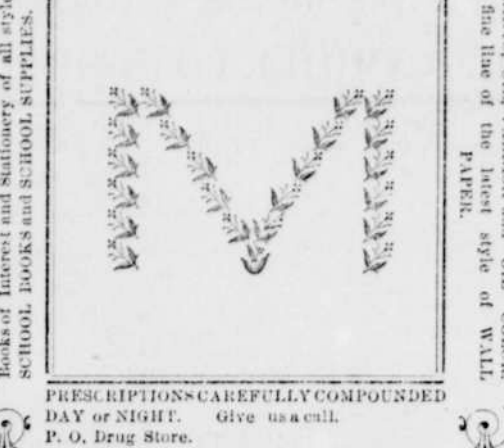

A Snake Story.
A thoroughly reliable gentleman informs a correspondent that he saw near Scottsville, Va., two small snakes deliberately engaged in swallowing each other, a goodly portion of each having been taken into the stomach of the other. This reminds us of the old farmer who saw a large bull-frog basking in the sun on the bank of his mill pond. A large water moccasin commenced to swallow his frogship by taking in his legs. Meanwhile the frog began the same process by taking in the tail of the snake. The swallowing process, the story goes, continued until the reptile and the frog swallowed each other and both disappeared from view.—Dispatch.

Roy Ray: What is a tattler? A vile leech sapping the life blood of human happiness. A busybody who listens gleefully to anything one may say, either in a joke or pettishly, of a neighbor, and then carries it, magnified and fixed up to suit himself, and pours it into the ears of perhaps your best friends, and after succeeding in getting them to say something harsh, returns to you laden with the precious burden of strife and adds fuel to the smoldering flame. Thus, little by little, this ghoul of human society elches the happiness of friendship and develops between the neighbors and friends a feeling of hatred which should only be known to the bosoms of demons. Are you a tattler? Do you sow among your neighbors the seed of discord and hate? If so, in the name of humanity desist. We are all liable to err, but deep is the sin of them who, taking our weakness for their capital destroys the happiness of friend or neighbor by tattling.—Ee.

An Editor Loose.
This is the way an editor feels when he does up his sentiments in blank verse:
"I would flee from the city's rule and law—from its fashions and forms cut loose—and go where the strawberry grows on its straw, and the gooseberry grows on its goose; where the catnip tree is climbed by the cat as she clutches for her prey the guileless and unsuspecting rat on the rattan bush at play; I will catch with ease the saffron cow and the cowlet in their glee, as they leap in joy from bough to bough on the top of a cowslip tree; and list while the partridge drums his drum and the woodcock chucks his wood and the dog devours the dogwood plum in the primitive solitude."
"Oh, let me drink from the moss-green pump, that was hewn from the pumpkin tree! Eat mush and milk from a rural stump, from folly and fashion free—new gathered mush from the mushroom vine, and milk from the milkweed sweet—with pineapple from the pine. And then to the whitewashed dairy I'll turn, where the dairymaid lustrous hies, her rubly and golden red butter to churn from the milk of her butterfly; and I'll rise at morn with the earliest bird, the fragrant barnyard pass, and watch while the farmer turns his herds of grasshoppers out to grass."—Ee.

Many newspapers are raising their voices in indignant protest against a bill introduced into both the house and senate by Representative Sweeney and Senator Sherman, providing for the exclusion from mails of any "pamphlet, magazine, newspaper, story paper, or other paper, devoted to the publication, or principally made up, of criminal news, police reports, or accounts of criminal deeds, or pictures and stories of immoral doings, lists or crime." Any paper that sees a menace to itself in such a law would better institute a reform immediately, before the government reform machinery begins to work. It is admitted to be the province of the government to educate the youth of the land to become good and intelligent citizens. Upon this theory public schools are maintained. A proper education is imparted as much by protecting the mind from the absorption of that which debases it as by supplying it with that which elevates it, and the educational work of the government can never be accomplished so long as such demoralizing and utterly vicious literature as that comprehended by this bill is given the same facilities of cheap and easy distribution by the mails according to better publications on the theory that they are educators of the people. The Police Gazette and its ilk, both illustrated and unillustrated, are, alas, educators, and the result of their educational work may be seen in the jails, penitentiaries, reform schools, insane asylums, saloons and brothels of the land, and are felt, not only in the hearts and homes of thousands of stricken and sorrowing families, but in the enormous expenses borne by every town, county and state in supporting those institutions mentioned and in the great cost of criminal trials. The "freedom of the press" is no more actualized by the suppression of such "literature" than would be the freedom of the individual were a man to open a school for instruction in immorality and crime and it be closed by the authorities. Oregon has a statute forbidding the sale or public exposure of such publications, and, though it looks a little, it is fairly effective; and the general government is negligent of its duty if it does not deny them the privileges of the mails.—West Shore.
