NEWBERG GRAPHIC.
ISSUED EVERY FRIDAY MORNING.
E. H. WOODWARD.
EDITOR and PUBLISHER.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER, 7 1899.
Entered as second class matter at the post office at Newberg, Oregon.

We have been going through the ordeal of moving our household effects into town this week and those who have gone through similar experiences will not be surprised when we say we have had but little time to devote to newspaper work.

From all the reports at hand as we go to press it appears that it has been a regular Waterloo for the Republicans. The Farmers Alliance party has been felt and will be a strong factor in politics in the future.

The farm on which we have lived for the past eight years we sold to the Board of Immigration several days ago. It will be divided up into small tracts and sold out to those wanting small places near town pleasantly located. This is one of the nicest pieces of land near town and will make beautiful homes for several families.

If our memory is correct, Baum, of the San Juan Graphic announced in his little box to the public that he would not publish a political sheet, and yet we notice that the last issue was so completely "done up" by matter that goes to make up the contents of the political pot in Washington that there was only room enough found for a dozen locals.

The Chicago Tribune pronounced this question:
The north wind doth blow,
And we shall have snow,
And what will the lottery do then,
poor thing?
The New Orleans Delta answered:
It will breathe a deep sigh,
And crawl off and die,
And that what the lottery'll do then,
poor thing.

The French Prairie Gazette says:
High Cragrove of Champagne, met with a serious accident last Wednesday evening about 11 o'clock. He fell backward from his cart while under the influence of liquor, in front of John Egan's saloon, catching on an iron pin which tore a gaping wound in his thigh. Dr. Stott was called who placed him under the influence of chloroform, dressed the wound and at last accounts the patient was resting easily with fair hopes of recovery.

A Bonanza.
Judging from the great quantities of hen fruit shipped from this point, steamboat and railroad men have long regarded the Chehalis valley hens as great egg producers. There will no doubt be surprised to hear that they are going to be a letter. A few days ago Lars Christensen's folks killed a hen for dinner and when it was being dressed a lump of bright shining metal was found in the crop. Mr. Christensen has had it tested and it proves to be gold and no mistake. Those who have seen it say it about the size of a small bean. The chickens have been accustomed to pick gravel from a pile of dirt that was taken out in digging a well and this without doubt is where the industrious pullet struck it so rich. The well is about thirty feet deep. Just what Mr. Christensen proposes to do with his well we have not learned but we see no reason why Chehalis valley should not rival the Cour d'Alene country as a great mining region.

Obituary.
Sarah Holson wife of William Holson was born in June 1818 in Guilford county North Carolina and was the daughter of Wm. and Mary Talbert. Died near Newberg Oregon after a few days illness Nov. 1st, 1899, after having lived to the good old age of seventy two years. She became acquainted with William Holson at Friends Boarding school, New Garden, North Carolina, and they were married in 1844. During the year 1847 in company with a sister and two small children they crossed the "Blue Ridge" mountains on their way to Indiana, carrying all their worldly effects in a one horse wagon. They stopped one year in Indiana and then went to Lee county Iowa where they resided three years, after which they located at Honey Creek Hardin county Iowa. They were among the early settlers at this point and were largely instrumental in building up a large Friends church there. In 1870 they came to Oregon and located in Chehalis valley where they have lived together until separated by death. Aunt Sarah as she was familiarly known was a faithful wife and a devoted mother. Her home both in Iowa and in Oregon was a place where many a "new comer" or traveler found rest and a home, and her hands were ever ready to administer to their physical wants. Her work in public were few but her faith was manifested by her works. The funeral was large attended. The principal speakers were Prof. Hartley and Jane Votaw.

Things Worth Knowing.
To make yellow butter in winter, just before finishing churning put in the yolk of eggs.
German silver, being composed of copper, arsenic and nickel, should never be used for spoons or vessels for cooking.
Bathing the parts affected in strong tepid salt and water is good for spinal affection and other bone diseases.
A person dying from the effects of chloroform can be restored by an electric shock.
When a book gets wet, wipe off the moisture with a soft cloth, but do not dry it by the fire.
In order to obtain a good draught, never pile the coal higher than the lining of the stove.
By putting a little vinegar on a fish it will keep in the warmest weather.
Bent whalebones can be straightened by soaking them in hot water.
Clean white fur by rubbing it in white flour; then hang it in the yard for half an hour, after which repeat the process several times.
Dip the point of nails in lard, and they will go through the hardest wood.
To take iron rust from granite, scrub it with diluted muriatic acid.
Soda and water is best for washing off ceilings smoked by an oil lamp.
Dr. George Shepard recommends water, as hot as the throat will bare it, for a gargle. As much as a pint should be used at a time.
Dr. W. A. Hammond says quinine should be used with great caution, as it is a potent cause of congestion of the brain. Another physician affirms that he has known it to produce apoplexy, mania, and insanity. It also causes deafness and blindness.
When using a lamp with a flat wick, if you will take a piece of clean cotton stocking it will prove as good as bought wicks. If the wick is soaked in vinegar before using it will not smoke.
A coat of gum-copal varnish applied to the soles of boots and shoes, and repeated as it dries until the pores are filled and the surface shiner, will make the soles last longer than they otherwise do.
The following is a good way to dye mosses: For green, boil half a pound of alum in four quarts of water, and dissolve half a pound of finely powdered mineral blue in it; for red, boil as much red aniline in rain water as will produce a pretty red. The dye should be hot when the moss is dipped in it.
Cotton cloth may be bleached by using a solution of sal soda and one of chloride of lime dissolved in soft water. The goods must be rinsed thoroughly afterwards in cold soft water. In ironing Hamburg embroideries always iron on the wrong side. A damp cloth placed underneath will add much to the beauty.
Every housewife should add to her store of bed-linen at least three sheets, three pairs of pillow cases, and one dozen towels each year.
When cleaning the cellar, add a little copperas, water and salt to the whitewash.
To take out stains put one teaspoonful of chloride of lime in about three quarts of water; this will take almost any stain out of white goods. Put the stained part in the water and let it stand in it till the stain is out.
Hartshorn often restores colors that have been taken out by acid.

Y. M. C. A. Week of Prayer.
Next week being the week of prayer for the Y. M. C. A.; meetings will be held at the Presbyterian church each night beginning with Monday night. The meetings will be led by ministers from different churches in Newberg. These meetings are for men and boys only, except Wednesday and Saturday nights, when ladies are also invited. We expect to see sinners converted, and believers strengthened and encouraged. Brothers and sisters let each one of us do all we can to secure a good attendance, and be present with our hearts full of prayer that a great work may be done.

Own a home—no matter how modest, no matter if you have to run in debt for it. It says you go to the bank, you get a check and you feel like a man; it makes you a better citizen, adds to the value of property and gives you a stimulus nothing else can do. Go into a town where the majority own the homes they live in, and then into a town composed of a class who can not buy a permanent home. Note the difference. In the first instance you see homes that vary in design, and all around are the little evidences that plainly show that the people who live there have an interest beyond seeing the rent paid. Save your earnings and buy a home.—Exchange.

The Queen pays all Expenses.
The Queen's last "Free trip to Europe" having excited such universal interest, the publishers of that popular magazine offer another and $200 for expenses to the person sending them the largest list of English words constructed from letters contained in the three words "British North America". Every one sending a list of not less than twenty words will receive a present. Send six U. S. two cent stamps for complete rules, illustrated catalogue of prizes, and a sample number of The Queen. Address the CANADIAN QUEEN, Toronto, Canada.

Thought It Was a Joke.
An American gentleman who was recently at a dinner party in London had a rather curious experience, says the New York Tribune. There was also present an extremely aristocratic but insular Briton, with that large contempt for things American that even to-day a few Englishmen display. Nevertheless he deigned to notice the American gentleman so far, as to ask him a great many questions about the United States, some of them very ludicrous. Finally the question of geography came up and the Englishman inquired as to the relative size of Texas, the largest state. "Well," replied the American, "it is about as large as England, Ireland, Scotland, Wales, Holland, Belgium, Denmark, Switzerland, Portugal and Greece combined." It became at once evident that the questioner not only disbelieved the statement, but was indignant at what he regarded an attempt to chaff him. Indeed, after dinner he complained to the host about the ill-breeding of the American in trying to hold up to ridicule an English gentleman.

Instantly Killed.
Another Man Mistaken for a Deer.
On Wednesday morning Ambrose Ott was accidentally killed in the mountains about seven miles above Hershberger & Whitbeck's mill on the Mohawk. He had gone hunting with Rube and Joe Smith and was left on a deer stand under a bank. He moved through the brush and was mistaken for a deer by Joe Smith aged 18 years, and was shot and almost instantly killed, the ball striking the left shoulder. The deceased was 22 years of age, and had lived on the Mohawk since December last. The men were about 100 yards apart. They had been on the best of terms and Mr. Smith keenly feels his position on account of the unfortunate shot. A coroner's inquest was held before Justice Washington Adams and Mr. Smith was exonerated from all blame. The funeral took place Friday morning.
It is the same old story. The man mistaken for a deer seldom escapes.—Eugene Guard.
