

Local Events.

And still they come from Kansas. Wilsons is the place for fine candies. Set out an orchard and you will never regret it.

Daily Oregonian for sale at the P. O. Drugstore from now on.

Allen S. Craven and wife were up from Middleton last Wednesday.

Mr. J. Saunders of Champcoy attended Friends' church here last Sunday.

Luther Charles is driving the delivery wagon for Joseph Wilson's grocery.

Subscriptions taken for any paper at the P. O. Office Drugstore.

See Wilson's fine assortment of dishes, lamps, lanterns, etc.

E. E. Wickham now has a position at the Linseed Oil Works in Portland.

A few cords of dry fir wood wanted on subscription. Don't all speak at once.

Parties running feed stores here find it almost impossible to get bran at present.

Prof. Davis is getting along nicely with his classes in vocal and instrumental music.

Mr. Pellette has sold his place east of town to a gentleman from the east named Moore.

Mrs. Achie Morris and her parents visited friends in Portland last Saturday and Sunday.

The fall term at the Academy closed yesterday. The winter term opens next Tuesday.

Old Hatfield and family and Wm. Macy and wife were down from Dayton last Sunday.

W. P. Hancock went to Portland on business connected with his lumber yard last Tuesday.

Lewis Jones has been engaged on a job of plastering at Whitson for the past two or three weeks.

The horticultural meeting tomorrow night will be held at the public school building.

Howard Williams has been up during the week visiting his parents and eating Thanksgiving turkey.

D. W. Ralston passed through town last Monday with a fine drove of cattle for the Portland market.

Herry Morris and Walter Mills are setting their five acre tracts in the Goodrich subdivision in fruit.

Mrs. Minthorn came down from Salem Saturday bringing a cousin of hers who lately came from Ohio.

Mr. Bell east of town bought ten tons of chop a few days ago of Solomon Hawthorn to feed his hogs.

Work on the bank building seems to plod along rather slowly. Better make use of the fine weather.

Horace Cox has been assisting J. T. Smith in arranging his large stock of groceries during the past week.

The cottage and lot belonging to Joel Dean have been bought to add to the Academy grounds on the west.

Andrew Pickett is making arrangements to have some grubbing done by Chinamen on his farm north of town.

Mrs. Buckley of Puyallup Wash. is visiting the family of her uncle Hinchman Cooper this week.

Mr. Longly and wife went to Salem yesterday to spend Thanksgiving with their sons and son-in-law family.

John Kirkley who is running a boarding house at Portland was up Monday looking after his farm out east of town.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. McCreary was buried last week. The type in last week's paper made us say burned.

I. K. Vantress is now sole proprietor of the wood saw and throwing outfit, having bought out Gilbert and Nicholson's interests.

All those who attended the horticultural meeting Monday night were well pleased with the prospect for a strong active working society.

Mr. N. E. Britt who has been out in southern Oregon on a surveying expedition came home last Wednesday to eat turkey with his family.

What is more beautiful than a street lined on both sides with nice maple shade trees? There will never be a better time to set them than now.

Oliver & Colcord have been cleaning up some of their property in Central addition. It improves the appearance of the property very much.

J. T. Smith and Morris, Miles & Co., have been very busy the past week arranging their respective stocks since making the changes noted last week.

Almost every day we see a new road cut just out of Christenson Bros. implement and carriage house. The boys have had a big trade in carts this season.

Morris, Miles & Co. have quit running their delivery wagon since going out of the grocery business. The dapple gray mare is seen no more on the streets.

J. M. Wright the real estate man now rides behind Dan. Gilberts young driving horse, Dan having traded the horse and cart for some business lots on First street.

Jesse Hobson came up Wednesday bringing Mr. Borden and family with him from Portland. They remained over Thanksgiving with Mr. Hobsons family.

All the property owners in town would set maple shade trees in front of their property the appearance of the town would in a year or two be improved 100 per cent.

The preaching next Sunday by the Christian minister at the Evangelical church is to be at ten o'clock instead of eleven as announced last week. Take notice and act accordingly.

H. S. Maloney of Sheridan, deputy county surveyor, passed through town Monday on his way to Portland, on business connected with government surveying at Grand Ronde Indian reservation.

Marion George was up from Middleton one day last week and bought six acres of the Goodrich land. He said he wanted to get his children in reach of our schools. Good schools draw better than boom literature.

The November number of the Academy appeared last Saturday. The little sheet speaks well for the Whittier Literary society. Every friend of the Academy ought to become a subscriber.

Go to Wilson's Grocery for cheap goods.

There will be preaching in the Presbyterian church next Sunday at 11 o'clock. All are invited.

Sylvester Hoskins who is a brother of Mrs. Emma Moore arrived here from Ridge Farm Illinois last Saturday. Mrs. Moore had not seen her brother for ten years.

There is a lot of rubbish at street crossing and scattered along the streets that ought to be cleaned up. If property owners would pick such refuse up before the rains, it would make very good fire wood.

Bert Weesner has bought a six acre tract of the Goodrich land. We are glad to see our young men taking hold and improving real estate. Time and money spent in this way will never be thrown away.

Old Mr. Duncan left a very nice sweet scented bouquet at this office one day last week which he said was gathered from flowers standing in his yard. He says the frost has not hurt anything much at his place yet.

A family named Williams came in from Sidney Washington last week and have located here temporarily while they look the country over for a permanent location. We hope they will conclude to remain in our midst.

Jesse Holson has bought a thousand Bartlett pear trees to set on his twenty acre tract north of town. In a few years more, buyers cannot complain that they can't get a car load of pears in one place when they come here to buy fruit.

Prof. Hartley in his sermon last Sunday night demonstrated the fact that he is well able to deliver a very interesting lecture on astronomy. We hope he will give the public the benefit of a talk on the starry heavens in the near future.

Foot ball has an attraction for old boys as well as the younger. Prof. Morrison called a meeting of the Academy Board one evening last week but the ball ground had too much attraction to get a meeting until it was too dark to play longer.

Two families arrived from Leno, Missouri last Monday, one named Richardson and the other Bell, the latter being old acquaintances of Gideon Heston. They say the trains are all crowded with people bound for this glorious northwest.

Inasmuch as the longest pole knocks the person in the real estate business as well as in other callings in this lower world, there is a firm in Newberg that is specially favored as one member of the firm measures six feet three, long or lineal measure.

Reuben Everest has been hauling considerable tiling through town lately. Many more of our farmers would do well to go and do likewise. Money invested in underdraining is money well spent, as any one will testify who has given it a fair trial.

A reporter for the Graphic had the pleasure of attending the Whittier Literary society last Friday evening. The program for the evening consisted of songs, essays, etc. The society is progressing finely and the officers deserve credit for their efficiency.

Many of the public school buildings in the surrounding towns are ornamented with our national emblem, the stars and stripes. Why can't our citizens get up enough enthusiasm to plant the red, white and blue on a flag staff and raise it over our public school building?

A gentleman named Cox lately from Kansas who is stopping at Whitson was in our town a day or two last week. He stopped with E. O. Hobson who was an acquaintance of his in Kansas. Mr. Cox is well pleased with the change from the land of droughts to a land of plenty.

This has been examination week at the Academy and although many long faces have been seen, we understand that the papers indicate that good solid work has been done in the school the past term. The prospect is favorable for the winter term which opens next Tuesday.

Will we have a course of lectures this winter or shall we depend on "head feeders" and "nigger minstrels" for public entertainments? Both old and young want some place to go on long winter evenings and the question is whether we will have something instructive and entertaining or depend on what comes along.

One of the cottages near the girls boarding hall is to be moved up near the Academy building and fitted up in good style for the accommodation of the music and art classes. Commendable interest is being worked up in these two branches and better accommodations were demanded. It is a hopeful sign when a school calls for additional room.

If the street commissioner has the authority, he ought to see that rubbish lying along the streets is cleaned up. If he lacks the authority, the council ought to see to it at once that he has it. Strangers coming into our town have an eye out for all these things, and judge largely of the thrift of the people by the appearance of the town. Clean, well kept streets, and good substantial side walks always give a stranger a favorable impression.

There are several young men about town who would do well to buy small pieces of land out a ways from town which can now be bought at a low figure. The land could be improved and set in fruit during the winter season when they will do but little else and no better investment could be made, for such pieces of property are going to be wanted at a good figure in the future. You are already west young men, now grow up with the country.

Rob. Cooper came near having a serious accident last Saturday. He had crossed the ferry at Ray's landing with a wagon load of fruit trees and when half way up the steep incline from the ferry or the other side of the river, the wagon hammer broke. The team being so suddenly released from the load was thrown forward and the lines jerked Rob. off the wagon which was going back toward the river at a lively rate. Rob. grabbed the wagon tongue and threw the wagon on a lock which turned it over and prevented the load from being dumped into the river.

That we are going to have a horticultural society made up of live active members who are interested in fruit raising and who are anxious to learn more by comparing notes, is already an assured fact. Fourteen names were taken at the meeting Monday night and we hear of many more who were prevented from being out that night who are ready and anxious to join in and make the society a success. Let everybody turn out Saturday night and hear the papers by Dr. Mills and J. S. Rees on "The proper distances to observe in setting trees," which will be followed by general discussion of the subject. It will pay you to be there if you are interested in fruit culture.

Notice.

All persons knowing themselves to be indebted to the old firm of Austin & Boyse will please call and settle at once and save costs.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS.

Excitement

Runs high at C. F. Moore & Co's. drug store over System Builder, as every body is using it for catarrh of the stomach, dyspepsia, constipation, and impure blood and to build up the system. It certainly possesses wonderful merit when all speak so well of it.

Christians and Temperance people, Take Notice.

About the 1st of December I will be prepared to show a special line of Holiday Goods. Mats, cards, books, booklets from the Woman's Temperance P. A. Chicago. Have on hand also the best Flavouring Extracts without Alcohol. Call early and get FIRST CHOICE. LUCY HAWORTH, Opposite Post Office.

SANTA CLAUS.

Says it is useless for him to travel over the country when we sell Holiday Goods so cheap, so he unloaded his Budget at P. O. Drug store, which he always makes his headquarters. So, when you are looking for Christmas presents don't fail to see ours before you purchase. We know we can please you in quantity, quality and prices.

Yours truly,

C. F. MOORE & Co.

Never send a dollar away from home when the article that the dollar will purchase can be obtained at home. Money is our financial blood. Its circulation keeps the business body alive. Bleed that body by sending that money away from home and soon trade will put on a look of lethargy and inactivity. Always trade at home. It is twice blessed. It helps the person patronized and finds its way to you again.—Jet. Review.

The house on the Henry Heckman place, about six miles southwest of Dayton, was burned down on Friday night last. It is not known how the fire originated. J. F. Pillman and Rev. J. Glen own the farm, having purchased it last summer. The tenant, Mr. Smith, had moved out of the house about 30 hours before it was burned. Mr. Pillman had been at the house the day before, and says there was no fire about the premises when he left.—Dayton Herald.

A True Pathfinder.

In a village in Oregon died last week a man whose memory ran back to the time when this entire northwest was an almost trackless wilderness. His name was Wm. Allen, and he was probably the oldest pioneer in the northwest, having spent the greater portion of his long life of 95 years in this section of the United States. In 1823 he crossed the Rocky mountains to the Red river making the trip entirely alone, traversing a region the home of hostile Indians, and encountering on the journey many difficulties and perils. Years after his return he saw the first steamer which ever floated on its waters ascend the Columbia river in the early thirties, and as the years went by watched how this mighty river became the highway for magnificent fleets of boats. On ground which he first viewed covered with the primeval forest, he lived to see great cities spring up as if by magic, and waterfalls he has beheld as Nature's handiwork and formed years ago, he saw harnessed and cribbed and made to turn the wheels of hundreds of mills and factories.—Baker Democrat.

Sturgeon in the Columbia.

John B. Niles, of Waterford, who has charge of W. B. Trevest's receiving station at that point, was giving us recently some interesting figures about the amount of sturgeon they handle. The sturgeon from the lower river are all shipped here, where they are dressed and forwarded to Portland to the icehouse, from whence they are shipped East in refrigerator cars, at the rate of about twenty tons per week. Five men are kept at work dressing and shipping fish. They handle on an average 20,000 pounds per day. The caviar is packed in barrels and forwarded to Europe. The price paid the fisherman is 1 cent per pound. Sturgeon is quoted in the Eastern markets at 8 cents per pound. There are three establishments on the river at the present time dealing in sturgeon, viz: Trevest at Waterford, Booth at Rainier and Wallace at Kalama. The run of sturgeon is so great at present that the supply is greater than the demand. It is safe to estimate that at least 1000 to 1500 tons of Columbia river sturgeon will find its way into the Eastern markets to be sold under the high flowing names of "caviar" and "choyee" "boneless codfish" guaranteed not to turn red." Verily the sturgeon is a cosmopolitan fish.—E.S.

LADIES' COLUMN.

BY

MRS. F. A. MORRIS.

Girls, don't go away from home to stay all night without taking your own brush and comb with you. Well bred people object seriously to loaning these articles of the toilet, and will, nine times out of ten, make you a prodigal of the borrowed article, not wishing to use them again, themselves. I once read of an elderly lady, who, when asked by a young lady who was traveling for the loan of her brush and comb, kindly presented her with the articles accompanied by a plain talk that she certainly did not soon forget. I have had similar experiences often, and have profited by the example of the elderly lady because I believed that to be the easiest way out of the difficulty, and a good lesson for the girl as well. I have had young ladies whom I had thought well reared, come to spend weeks with me without having provided themselves with brush and comb to say nothing of various other necessary accessories of the toilet, until I have at last expected them to ask for the loan of my tooth brush. I always pity them and wish their mothers had given them better training. When we consider the various diseases of the scalp and the number of dirty heads there are in the world, from a spare use of water or a free use of hair restoratives, oils and dressings, we are not surprised that people of refinement are loath to allow any one the use of their combs. Every one ought to have brush and comb of his own, to be kept in a linen case lying on his dresser. The case may be neatly embroidered or made plain, and not only protects the brush from dust, but prevents soiling the dresser scarf.

Boy-Traps.

Not very long ago a gentleman showed us a package of cigarettes, "twelve for a nickel," with which our boys are tempted to destruction. He had tested them chemically, and found them impregnated with opium; this, he says, is the universal rule, and is the great reason why cigarette smoking is at once so seductive and so dangerous. All who smoke the things are learning not only the tobacco habit but the opium habit, the most difficult of all habits to break. The package shown us contained, beside the cigarettes, a picture of a "noted beauty" and a slip of paper, on one side of which was printed a list of famous running horses, American and English, of which pictures, 8x10 inches or 10x12 were to be had on conditions named on the other side. We give that side in full, except the address:

RETURN 100 OF THESE TICKETS To either address below, and we will send FREE POSTAGE PAID. A CIGARETTE-HOLDING CASE, Unique and novel, or, AN ELEGANT IVORINE PERPETUAL CALENDAR (7 designs), and colored or, ORPHRYN ALBUM, No. 1, of Reigning Beauties; Other Albums in preparation. or, LARGE PICTURES, on heavy plate paper, of any choruses in the list on back of ticket. (or one Picture of any Horse for 25 Tickets). Thus thousands of children, many of them with Christian parents too busy to attend their farms or their merchandise to know the dangers threatening them, are being "toled on" to destructive habits and degrading associations through cigarettes—the devil's own kindling wood.
