NEWBERG GRAPHIC.

ISSUED EVERY FRIDAY MORNING.

EDITORS AND PUBLISHERS:

E. H. WOODWARD & ORM. C. EMERY.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1891.

Entered as second class matter at the post office at Newberg, Oregon.

WITH this issue we introduce to our readers, Orm C. Emery, lately from Burr Oak, Kansas, to whom we have leased a half interest in the GRAPHIC office. Mr. Emery comes with several years experience as a newspaper man and has a thorough knowledge of the mechanical part of the work. We have made many improvements in the GRAPHIC the past year and our intention is to make as many more the coming year. Give us the patronage we have a right to expect and we will give you a local paper second to none in the county.

THE business man who don't advertise in his home paper, is a mossback of the first water.

WILL Oregon be respectably represented in the Columbian exposition? Now is the time to decide.

SENATOR DOLPH anticipated the wishes of the people of this state and has been supporting the Nicaraugua canal bill from the first.

SEA GULLS and amendments to various town charters are the weighty matters occupying the attention of the legislature the past week.

THE authorities of Sprague, Wash., are grappling with the brand-new Sunday law in a manner that would indicate a determination to rid the town of Sunday bums.

ANYTHING reasonable in the way of appropriations for river improvement in this state is commendable. These great high ways of nature should be opened to the use of man.

As yet it is uncertain whether there will be any changes made in the law regarding assessment and taxation. All the bills presented are still in the hands of the committee.

BE it said to the credit of Yamhill county that the vote on the Australian ballot bill, as well as others, reveals the fact that our senator, P. P. Gates is not owned by Simon, the political boss.

IT IS said that about 12,000 bushels of potatoes remain in the river bottoms of the Willamette, above Buena Vista, waiting for shipment. The extremely low stage of the water at this time of the year is very unusual.

IT WOULD seem that the ballot reform law, which has proven so successful and altogether satisfactory in other states where tried, ought to be good enough for Oregon without any of Mr. Simon's amendments tacked on.

THE Evening Telegram, of Portland, has changed hands, and will be placed in new quarters, which will take it out from under the wings of the Oregonian. The new management promise a first-class evening paper for Portland.

FOSTER of Ohio, McKinley of Ohio, Cannon of Illinois, Platt of New York and John C. New of Indiana, are all mentioned in connection with the appointment of a man to fill the vacancy in the cabinet, occasioned by the death of secretary Windom.

A NEW democratic daily, to be called the Portland Tribune, is about to be born in Portland. Frank S. Gray, formerly manager of the New York Mail and Express, will stand at the helm and manipulate the rudder. It is said that a guarantee fund of $100,000 has been raised by Portland parties, to insure success to the new undertaking. The first number will appear about the first of March.

THE house passed the Australian ballot bill last Monday without the amendments that had been tacked on in the senate. When it was returned to the senate, little Jo cracked his whip and a majority of the members fell in line and refused to pass the bill without the amendments. Both houses appointed committees to confer together to see what could be done. The chances are that the bill will fail, and if Joseph Simon is not held responsible for the failure, the republican party deserves defeat at the next election.

THE U. P. railway company owes the government $126,662,486, past due bonds and interest, secured by a second mortgage on the road bed and rolling stock. The legislature of Nebraska has memorialized congress, asking for the foreclosure of the mortgage, claiming this as the best opportunity the government will ever have to test the practicability of governmental ownership and management of railroads. W. J. McConnell, recently elected U. S. Senator from Idaho, has introduced a bill for such foreclosure, but providing for the leasing of the road by bids to responsible parties, the lease to run for a period of fifty years. Everything points to a test of this system of railroad management at no far distant day.

IF there is any justice in Mr. Hermann's Indian depredations bill, let congress recognize Oregon by passing the measure, and thus everlastingly settle the question. It will also be a very good way to assist in the great work of reducing the "surplus."

THE Penn Chronicle is a regular and welcome visitor at this office. J. J. Jessup son of Dr. Elias Jessup is financial manager. Johnnie as he was familliarly known here will graduate from Penn this year and we expect to hear from him later on in life.

THE Chinese population of Milton, including the railroad laborers on the Union Pacific, were ousted by the white population several days ago, and warned not to return. The railroad officials inform the citizens of Milton that they intend to place more Chinese there, and if they repeat the attack on them, trains will cease to stop at Milton.

The Scientific American, referred to in another column, under the heading of "Patents," is the very best publication in this country for those interested in science engineering, mechanics, inventions, etc. A copy of the Scientific American may be seen at the office of this paper, where subscriptions will be received.

SIMON the sorcerer who presides over the State senate seems to have the members of that body under such control that the wily politician brings a majority of them to their knees by a simple wave of the hand. The magician and the conjurer in oriental times never waved his magic wand with better success. We pity the member who lacks the spinal column necessary to enable him to vote his sentiments, regardless of dictation from political bosses.

SENATOR INGALLS was defeated last week for the office of United States Senator from Kansas by Judge Peffer of the Kansas Farmer, the Alliance candidate. Ingalls got very eloquent in his defense of the rights of the down trodden producing classes in a speech in the senate a short time ago. If he had spent more time in defense of the rights of this class earlier in his career as a senator it is likely that he would have been returned to the senate. The Iowa Tribune says this of his speech. "Senator Ingalls' recent silver speech is the boldest instance of turning State's evidence known to modern history. Crowd him a little and he will tell the country where to find everything that has been stolen during the past twenty-five years. Shake the bush again, brethren."

IT was announced a short time ago through the associated press dispatches that P. T. Barnum the veteran showman was dying. Soon he was reported as being better and now the old man is on his feet again. This may be P. T's latest advertising dodge, we can't say, but Barnum is one of the most successful business men this country has ever produced. and this is what he says; "Be careful to advertise in some shape or other, because it is evident that if a man has ever so good an article for sale and nobody knows it, it will bring him no return. The whole philosophy of life is, first sow, then reap. This principle applies to all kinds of business, and to nothing more eminently than to advertising. If a man has a really good article there is no way in which he can reap more advantageously than by 'sowing' to the public in this way."

POOR old Dayton is on the back track again and the trail is already getting cold. The saloon was closed there a year or two ago and for the past year, more signs of life and public spirit have been develop ed than for the past eight years. One saloon was opened last week with prospects for a second one soon, and the probabilities are that the old ruts will now be good enough for Dayton. Well let them have the class of people that saloons attract from the tide of immigration and we will take those who prefer to locate in a town that gives good schools the preference. This is the class of people Newberg has been bidding for ever since the town was laid out, and as for prosperity we are very willing to compare the results of the past five years work with any other town in the valley that has bid for the saloon element. That it pays to do the right thing even as a matter of policy, has been fully demonstrated in the building up of our town.

LAST week we mentioned the fact that the brewery interests of this country were fast falling into the hands of foreigners. This is no doubt in part owing to the fact that a feeling of fear is creeping into the hearts of the liquor dealers that their business is liable to be short-lived, thus making them the more willing to dispose of their business at a good round figure. But it is a fact much to be deplored that there are other and respectable business interests of the country fast falling into the hands of foreigners and aliens. More than half the milling and grain storage business of the country, to say nothing of other manufacturing, mining and speculative interests, is in the hands of this same dangerous class. The evils consequent upon such a condition of things is becoming every day more apparent. Not only do the profits from the business go to foreign countries, but the labor employed is mainly foreign labor, thus evading the most carefully laid plans for protection to the American workingman, and bringing poorly paid foreign labor into direct competition with him at home, and augmenting the power of that already dangerous element in American politics, the foreign vote.

Several Yamhill farmers are talking of adopting the silage system in connection with their dairies. It is reported that Roof & Martin, east of town, W. C. Hembree and John Shelton will build silos the coming season. All that is necessary to make the system popular is a few enterprising pioneers to start it.—Reporter.

A Bargain.

See Wm. Hobsons lot of 20 acres north of Joseph and Lewis Hoskins farm, 200 fruit trees set last year—indications for some fruit this year. This is a rare chance for some well to do man who wants to live within a mile of Newberg. $2000. cash will buy it.

The Saw Mill.

The latest report as we go to press warrants us in saying there is but little if any doubt about the sawmill being put in on the river at once. The bonus asked for is assured and only a small amount of the stock remains to be taken. Charley Spaulding says they will go to work at once and will be ready to run in eight weeks. Hurrah for the saw mill!

We hear that Frank Elliott is quite anxious for the day to arrive when he will start on his return journey to Oregon from Ridge Farm Illinois. He will start about the first of March and it is mildly hinted that a Mrs. Elliott will return with him. Frank is inclined to be practical in his actions and we had expected to hear of a wise movement on his part while he was away.

C. B. Frissell our popular station agent wears a Southern Pacific badge on his hat that shines equal to a star of the first magnitude. And we might add that Charley is a high kicker, especially when Cox holds the chip and Knight gives him a boost from behind. After seeing that kick we decided to carefully guard our remarks so that he might never have cause to come around with blood in his eye desiring an interview with the scribe.

The cannon ball express did'nt come thundering along Monday morning the first of the month according to promise. The excuse given for the failure is that the company sent east for repairs for the engines and they failed to arrive on time. We will pass the failure this time —and about seventy-nine more times. Don't be in a hurry gentlemen, the people are patient and long suffering up this way.

Since the management of the railroad has passed into the hands of the Southern Pacific company the railroad men including station agents, brakemen and conductors, wear bright shining badges on their caps to distinguish them from the common herd. By this alone a stranger will be able to distinguish the jolly good natured conductor Crocker from a crowd of young fellows who are out for a good time and are anxious that every one else shall enjoy the trip. Crocker still retains his whistle however and by this ye shall know him.

The library committee of the Whittier Literary Society has ordered the following books for the society's library: "Buried Cities Recovered," "In Darkest England," "Instructions to Christian Converts," "Crown of Wild Olive and Sesame and Lilies," "The Hoosier Schoolmaster," "Lessons in Life," "Little Women," "Life of Louisa M. Alcott" and "History of the Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire." These books will make a welcomed addition to the library, as they are all good books. The "History of the Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire" is written by Gibbon, and comprises five volumes. The library has already reached respectable proportions, and its contents are a credit to the society. The books are all from standard authors and selected with special reference to their adaptability to the needs of the student who may desire to do general reading in connection with his regular studies.—Academician.
