Allen Smith has been at work on All Reese's house for some time. All will have a very cozy dwelling when it is finished. In fact it will be about the finest one story house in town. Jim Reese drew the plan.

The type made this "all-improved" tract sold but two in Rural Home No. 2. This was a misprint and should have read all "unimproved" tracts etc. However the first statement will soon be true as it is selling rapidly.

Mr. Hannel informs us that he intends working a full force of hands at his brick yard the coming season. He will begin work as early as the weather will admit in order to be able to supply the prospective early demand for building material.

A brother of our fellow townsman D. P. Stratton who was here last fall looking at the country has sold his farm in Iowa and will start for this place in a short time. He will buy property in Iowa in order to get the advantage of our schools and will have fruit land outside.

A member of the Presbyterian church requests us to announce that the young fellows who have been gathering in front of the church and making a disturbance during services, will do well to hunt for some other locality at that hour to have their fun, as it will not be tolerated longer.

A Sun day school has been organized at the Hoskins school house with Cyrus Hoskins superintendent and George Morris secretary. The school will be held each Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock and will be followed by church services. Jesse and Mary Edwards preached there last Sunday.

They intend to cut a large amount of wood between this and the summer months and will deliver it on the railroad after the roads get good.

Mitchell & Clark think they will begin sawing at their mountain mill very early in the spring in order to be ready to fill the demand for lumber. The prospect is that building will begin much earlier in the season than it did last year if lumber can be had. A number of parties are contemplating putting up good buildings that will be a credit to the town.

A few barns have been built in town fronting on prominent street corners, greatly depreciating the value of property situated on the opposite side of the street. If the council has the authority to regulate the building of water closets etc. which is all right and proper, we think they have the same rights regarding the location of any buildings that may be offensive to other property owners. It is to be hoped that no more barns will be allowed facing on the streets.

You can buy a lot in Rural Home No. 2, and work part of it out.

Born—Monday Feb. 1st, 1891 to the wife of W. P. Heacock a daughter. The mother and child are doing well and Will is getting along as well as could be expected considering this is the first girl in the family.

W. P. Heacock fell from the roof of his house one day this week receiving a few scratches. It was rather good fortune that he was hurt no worse as a bundle of shingles fell with him striking him on the shoulders.

The Newberg Nursery has furnished fifteen thousand trees this season, to parties who are setting orchards in the vicinity of Whitson in this county. Three thousand trees were shipped a few days ago to Dr. Goucher and other McMinnville parties who own land in that locality.

You will never find a better time than right now to beautify your home and enhance the value of your property by planting nice shade trees along the sidewalks. A large number of nice maples have been shipped from the nursery here this season, some to Hillsboro and two large shipments to Seattle Washington.

Real estate men get let sometimes all the same "Melican man, and this time it is the firm of Maris & Colcord that refuses to be comforted. Mrs. Maris and Mrs. Colcord took an up river boat Wednesday, Mrs. M. and child going to Haley and Mrs. C. to Albany to visit relatives. They will be gone about two weeks.

Two young men named Moore, sons of Hon. F. A. Moore, state senator from Columbia county, arrived here from St. Helens last Monday, and entered school at the academy. Senator Moore formerly came from Hazlet county, Iowa, where he followed the profession of teaching. He has many acquaintances here, some of whom were his former students.

A gentleman named Heston who came from Iowa to take a look at our State, stopped over in our town rather by accident and being favorably impressed has remained ever since. He wants to locate in a place where his children will have good school advantages and says he is so well pleased with our schools that he thinks of sending for his family soon. This is the kind of men we are bidding for and we hope Mr. Heston will become a permanent citizen of our town.

According to previous arrangements the Baptists of Newberg and vicinity met Wednesday afternoon the 28th. Inst. in the Presbyterian meeting house and organized themselves into a church. They start out with twelve names on the roll of membership. Others have applied for admission and will in due season be admitted. Rev. C. M. Hill of Portland delivered an able address in the evening to a fair audience. This little church begins their career under fair prospects of success.

G. W. Wyman the furniture man delivered a number of new chairs for the Y. M. C. A. rooms this week. Carpets have also been ordered and when the rooms are fitted up the young men will have very pleasant apartments for their meetings. If a neat sign was placed on the side of the building it would serve to direct strangers to the meetings on Sunday afternoons. It would also speak well for the morals of the town for strangers passing through town to read the sign, as it is unusual for towns of this size to have a Y. M. C. A. organization.

A new line of Valentines for sale at P. O. Drug store.

It is an old saying that an eavesdropper never hears any good of himself. The young fellows who were out Sunday night on this kind of a mission, were run down by the fellow they were eavesdropping on and the sound punning one of the party received at his hands will no doubt be a valuable lesson to him. "Oh don't squeal on me!"

Charleston is the name of Charley Moore's new townsite down at the summit near Nate Wiley's place. We always were confident that our Charley's name would be famous in the history of this country, and now it is an assured fact. Lots are for sale on easy terms if you call early. A switch is to be put in at an early day.

List of recalled for letters lying in the P. O. at Newberg Ore. at the end of the month of January 1891.

John McKinney who was over from St. Paul a few days ago called at this office for a chat. He told of the hanging of a St. Paul man in effigy at that place a short time ago by the indignant populace. This man had held his head high and appeared to be doing a big business for some time, but finally borrowed all the money he could get and then went to Portland and made an assignment.

John I. Knight of McMinnville and Newberg spends his Sundays in this city, which shows that he likes the local style of religion. He is engaged in selling farm lands over on the narrow gauge.—Report.

Will the Reporter man tell us what the "local style of religion" is? John has been attending church here pretty often with apparent satisfaction, but in McMinnville has anything better than the old style religion we would be glad to know it.

The most disgusting, unmeaning and senseless habit that a man can fall into when in conversation, is the habit of using profanity. We are glad to note that this practice is unpopular among our young people and it is becoming more unpopular every day among the older ones, so that an oath is rarely heard on our streets. The law of the land makes profanity a finable offense, but when public opinion is such that it closes a man's lips against the use of it, the signs of the times are certainly favorable.

The first number of the Pacific Academician under the new management came out this week. A. C. Stanbrough is editor with C. J. Edwards assistant. L. R. Stanley has charge of the literary department and Mattie Baldwin and O. J. Hobson furnish the locals. K. E. Hoskins is financial manager. With this array of talent the paper ought to succeed without the burden being very heavy on any one's shoulders. The last number out we think is the best that has ever appeared since the publication of the Academician began, and we hope the young people will continue to improve the sheet from month to month. If you are not already a subscriber give the cause your encouragement by your note. The paper is well worth the money.

A. K. Cooper & Co. of the Newberg Nursery are an enterprising firm. Some time ago in order to get some new varieties of peach trees introduced in this county, they ordered 5000 trees from Josiah H. Black of Hightstown, New Jersey, who is the leading nurseryman of the United States. Fifteen varieties of the choicest freestone were sent, among which was "The Stump of the world," said to be the finest peach ever produced in the United States. The trees came around by New Orleans to avoid the possibility of frost, and arrived in excellent condition. The freight bill was no small amount, being $1750 and yet the trees are already sold and parties who desire to get a start of new varieties had better call early or they will fail. They are as fine a lot of trees as we have ever seen.

The Newberg tile factory received an order a short time ago from Ladd & Reed, of Portland, for fifteen car-loads of one car-load to go to Portland and the other fourteen to their Broadmead farm in this county. The factory here could scarcely get a better recommendation or advertisement for their tile than this. Ladd & Reed have the money to get anything they want, and they always consider that the best the market affords is the cheapest, and will take nothing else. They have been using drain tile from the factory here for three or four years, and the fact that they have ordered this amount at this time is evidence that they are satisfied with what they get. The boys say they have orders enough ahead to keep them busy until the first of June. It is to be hoped that our town will secure other factories that will turn out wares as satisfactory as this one does.

In talking over the changes that have taken place in the valley in the last few years, our attention was called to a certain locality not far from town, where two and a half years ago a moderate-sized tract of land was occupied by two oftentimes lonesome, though jolly, good natured bachelors, who day after day with weary tread went to their cabin home to satisfy their hunger on hard tack biscuits and cold potatoes. The boys kept an eye out for the main chance, and finally decided to make a change for the better. The land was divided up and sold off until at present, nearly thirty persons are represented there instead of two. One of the boys has made a still more important change in the meantime, and will tell you with gleeful pleasure how he sits back in the rocking chair, while his wife sews his buttons on, and manipulates the broom (on the floor) with dextrous skill. The other—well, judging by the kindness shown to the widow and the fatherless, and the four by six smile worn by him of late, prospects are brightening. The possibilities for progress on the road to prosperity in this country are indeed wonderful.

SMOCKVILLE ITEMS.

J. C. Smock's new house is nearly enclosed.

C. C. Johnson's cottage is nearly ready to move into.

Smockville is on a boom. Quite a number of lots sold during the past week.

Bier & McConnell had a grand opening at their store on Front street last Saturday.

The new Friends church will be dedicated on the fourth Sabbath of this month. Everybody invited.

There is talk of building a new church at Pleasant Hill since the revival held there by Mr. and Mrs. Barber, of Michigan. About thirty conversions were the result of their labors.

The brick works commenced making brick last week, and they have filled the new brick draft kiln built by Mr. Balfin, the superintendent, and one of the Clamps used last year is also being filled. They are making a very superior quality to what they made last year. Mr. Balfin is erecting another down draft kiln.

Obituary.

Emma Valentine was born near Wadena, Minn., May 29, 1873, and died at her home in Newberg Oregon, Jan. 28, 1891. In 1885 with her parents moved to La Crosse Wash., where they lived about a year, then moved to Revistoke B. C. and in June, 1889 came to Newberg for the purpose of attending church and Sabbath school. Uniting with the Alwood church at the age of twelve, she ever lived a consistent christian life. Her example was worthy of imitation. Implicitly obedient to parents, kind, loving and helpful to all, she was soon universally admired and loved by all. In church and Sabbath school, she was equally active. In her illness, which lasted about nine weeks, she did not murmur or complain, but bore her suffering with patience.

"Dearest Emma, thou hast left us Here thy loss we deeply feel; But 'tis God that hast bereft us: He can all our sorrows heal."

Yet again we hope to meet thee: When the day of life is fled, Then in heaven with joy to greet thee, "Where no farewell tear is shed."

His Misfortune is Your Golden Opportunity.

We are glad to announce to the public that we have purchased a stock of men's boots, and shoes for men, women and children, rubbers, slippers, rubber boots, long, short, big and little, etc., that belonged to a merchant doing business in Washington. He bought these goods new and fresh from the wholesale dealers in September last, and failed in business in October, since which time the stock has been in the sheriff's hands, pending a settlement. Not being able to make his payments, the goods were sold to the highest private bidder, and we were so fortunate as to secure them. We will sell them without reserve, at prices never before made on such goods. This stock is made up of strictly first-class goods, and many kinds are exact duplicates of what we have sold in our store for the past three years.

We respectfully invite you to come early and make such selections as you can use. To give an idea of the size of this stock we will state that it comprised over Sixteen Hundred Pairs when this sale began Wednesday and we were compelled to rent a room for the sale of this stock. We will be found for thirty days in the New Brick Bank Building.

Respectfully to do you good, MORRIS, MILLS & CO.

Notice to Contractors.

Wanted, bids on the hauling of 2000 cords of wood. Call at Wright's real estate office or the Graphic office Newberg Ore. for terms.

WOMAN'S COLUMN.

MRS. F. A. MORRIS, Editor.

Chronicle.

Now it came to pass in the fourth year of the reign of Amanda, in the first month and in the seventeenth day of the month that the wise women of the W. C. T. U. of the city of Newberg came together with one accord in one place. Then they said one to another, we do not well; this day is a day of good tidings, and we hold our peace: come let us reason together, and come before the inhabitants of this great city to show forth our mighty works that we have done, and thus bring us revenue into our treasury. And so it was that the three wise women whom the ruler appointed came together on the nineteenth day of the first month which is the month of January, and they did all agree that there should be held a spelling school in the six, and twentieth day of the month. Now it happened that when these wise women had put it into the "Graphic" that it should be even as they had said, that the news was spread through all the country round about, and to every nation, kindred, tongue and people, so that as the time drew near for the assembling of the people together it was found that they came from the uttermost parts of the earth, even from the dark land of Egypt. Now these are the tribes that were present at Newberg and did spell the words that the ruler gave them to spell which are found in the Ecclesiastic spelling book, even McGuffey's speller: North America, South America, England, Ireland, France, Germany, Spain, Russia, Turkey, Greece, Hindostan, Norway, Denmark, Madagascar, China, Japan, Egypt, and the Congo Nation.

And it came to pass that one Mary Ann, whose surname is Rees came and said, behold, I cannot spell I never could spell. Then there was a mighty uprising of women inasmuch that it was said unto this Mary Ann, thou shalt not spell. Now Samantha, whose surname is Allen, mighty in word and deed, did say to the multitude that was gathered together, come ye up like men and spell the words that I shall give unto you. Now it was that there was a great holding back of the people inasmuch that Samantha was sore vexed and cried aloud behold I cannot make a good spelling school of myself without your help me: then there was a mighty rushing together of the people inasmuch that the aisles would not contain them. Now one Elwood, whose surname is Wessner, did swing so high that he was obliged to have help from the ranks on the other side, even Betsey Bobbit's side. And it came to pass that Elizabeth, whose surname is Miles, did stand valiantly up and spell with vigor, above anything that we could even ask or think, so that many were made ashamed. Then they hastened and took every woman her garment and put it on her in an upper chamber and came down into the presence of Samantha ruler of the conference. Now Samantha, desiring to hear from every tribe concerning the matter of temperance, did call upon them one after another to arise and say what things she knew concerning her own tribe and it was so even as she had said. Then Maria, whose surname is Bowerman, stood and cried with a loud voice in the Irish language, and spoke, saying: hear me, O ye people, for we are accused with strong drink in our land inasmuch that I got me up and journeyed to this land to rid me of the cause, yet I find that it is so, yea, even worse in the land of freedom, green America, and Africa being sore grieved because of the whiskey traffic, snake in behalf of the Congo Nation, and Samantha, the ruler, was all wrought up, and groined within her, saying: how long, Oh how long!

Now the rest of the acts of these Nations, will they not be recorded in the book of the Conference to be held in China.

Beside the "thousand and one" things which the W. C. T. U. has been doing heretofore, their President, Miss Francis E. Willard, recommends fifty-four new steps to be taken in '91. Most of these deal with routine work, but a few concern the general public. This one, for instance, vitally concerns a certain class of dealers:

"We, the undersigned, pledge ourselves each to the other, by the help of Almighty God, that we will buy no class of goods or merchandise from any dealer in any town or city who to our knowledge sells intoxicating liquor as a beverage."

It might seriously interfere with the prosperity of grocers in large cities, and variety merchants in small ones, if the ladies, in any numbers, should support this boycott.

Organized opposition to viticulture is contemplated by the W. C. T. U. on the ground that wherever the climate permits vine grapes are being planted. The plan is to turn the sword into a pruning hook by substituting raisin grapes, which are said to be quite as profitable. If they succeed, the gem of the Christmas pudding will be so plentiful, that no little Jack Horner will lack a plum.

The women of fourteen states who have received the school vote are urged to use their power to engraft kindergarten, and ethical and manual training upon the public school system of their respective states.

One of the newest departments of the W. C. T. U. is that of work among miners, designed to sink light and air shafts, for communicating temperance and gospel truths to the 300,000 men engaged in mining in this country. It is found that coal mining is carried on to some extent in thirty-one states and territories. Last year 157,000 pages of tracts were distributed among the miners.

A fund is growing, with a view to the preparation of colored temperance evangelists for work in the United States and in Africa.

"That continent looms up wonderfully near in these days—the port of Sierra Leone is hardly more distant than the city of Liverpool," says Miss Willard.
