

Local Events.

Not a house to rent in town. Hay is selling in town this week for $17 per ton.

Milton Hanson moved his family to Salem Monday.

Whitmore is having a big trade in the flour and feed business.

David and Vannie Martin and family were in town over Sunday.

Call at Mrs. Hoskins' green house on River Street, for pot plants.

Cabbage plants for sale at my place east of the park. E. W. WRENNER.

Remember the bible school conference to be held at Friends' church Saturday night.

George Christenson is figuring on starting a team specialty for draying from the depot.

Walter Woodward has a "little giant" bicycle bought this week of Fred T. Merrill, of Portland.

Why don't the proper authorities clean up the streets and repair some of the walks about town?

Mrs. Sade Smith says she is having an exceptionally good trade in millinery goods this spring.

Mr. Walling, of Oswego, was in town the first of the week on business connected with his nursery.

Mrs. E. S. Craven and children, of Portland, visited Mrs. Craven's parents near town last Sunday.

Rustie, V. rustie, or double V. rustie, as cheap as the cheapest for first class work, at Mitchell & Clark's.

A fellow is compelled to ask a great many questions if he keeps posted regarding all the strangers seen on our streets lately.

The regular quarterly meeting of Friends' church will be held tomorrow and Sunday. A large crowd will be in attendance.

Mr. David Dorrance, of Westminster, Oregon, a brother of the Dorrance boys of this place, was here on a visit a few days last week.

Mr. Lyon has rented the meat market on Main street, where he may be found ready to attend to the wants of customers at all times.

Mr. Stabler has the frame for his new residence up and would have had the building enclosed had he not been hindered by the rain.

Riley Smith has sold his freight team to Mr. Renne who bought Mr. Room's farm, and will buy a light team suitable for heavy purposes.

Mrs. Graham has kindly loaned her organ to the Y. M. C. A. for the summer. She will receive the hearty thanks of the members for the kindness.

Whitmore & Son say it is next to impossible to get ground feed of any kind at present owing the shutting down of several large mills in the country.

H. F. Lashier, having sold his place on the mountain to Kincaid, of Portland, has moved his household goods into his house on West Second street.

Heston & Bierman have their well anger work about completed, and are now ready for you to come or with your work, as they do not like to idle.

Rev. Janney's lecture Monday night was very interesting, the best of the kind we ever listened to, and merited a better audience than was given him.

Mrs. Sade Smith informs our readers this week that she is still in business and ready to wait on her old customers who are in need of millinery goods.

The family of Mr. Catts, who bought the Young place west of town, arrived last week from Walla Walla. We understand they are highly pleased with their new home.

Work has commenced on Morris, Miles & Co's. store building in earnest. Noah Heater has charge of the carpenter work. The building will be pushed to early completion.

J. M. Bittenhouse arrived here from Walla Walla, Wash., last week. He talks some of moving up to McMinnville and engaging in the business of barrel making.

Several of our people, including the band boys, attended the picnic at Anity last Friday. They report a large crowd and a general good time, but a little too much fire water.

Mr. G. G. Bradbury, a cousin of Thos. Bradbury, arrived here Monday from Los Angeles, California. He expresses himself well pleased with our country, and will probably locate here.

Cap. Swaine, who sold his place a few weeks ago will start east in a short time and will spend the summer traveling through the south and east. He will probably go as far as North Carolina.

The young ladies of the academy have decided to call their literary society "Willard Literary Band," and Miss Francis Willard, for whom it was named, has presented the society with one of her books.

Abner Hadley and wife, of Moorsville, Indiana, who are well known to many here, arrived in Portland a few days ago, and are visiting their son-in-law, Thad Townsend. They will be here the last of the week.

The Newberg Orchard Association has arranged to run the advertisement they have on the cover page of West Shore in several eastern magazines. This will give Newberg the most extensive advertisement the place has ever had.

The Waldrop family was greeted by a very fair house at Friends church last Friday night. The audience seemed well pleased with the performances, a part of which were certainly wonderful for the children of their ages. The boy of six shows wonderful musical talent, being able to play almost anything on the organ and yet he has never taken a lesson in music. Their performance on Thursday evening at Armory hall, was said to be equally as good, and was listened to by a full house.

A. M. Hadley is selling a patent fruit dryer. Sash weights at Portland prices at the Lumber Yard near depot.

Walter Robertson will help Riley Smith in the livery stable this summer.

Apple trees are loaded to the tip ends of the limbs with sweet scented bloom.

The old walk from the academy to the church has been replaced by a new one. A long needed improvement.

The Dorrance Bros. say they are ready to receive orders for bills of lumber in quantities to suit everybody.

W. V. Hodgkin has sold his interest in the logging outfit across the river to his partner Charley Spaulding.

All we lack of having street cars is the track, the motor and the cars. Charley Holst the milkman has the bell.

Miss Carman, sister of the doctor, who is teaching school at Middleton, spent Sunday with friends in Newberg.

Will trade good Newberg property for a good driving horse.

F. E. Holson drove up to McMinnville Wednesday to get the field notes for surveying the Reid farm at Dundee.

O. J. Holson, who has been attending the academy, departed the first of the week for his home at Cheney, Wash.

Mr. Eastman, who has purchased the Newberg House, expects to have things arranged ready for business very soon.

Window stops, paring strips, O. G. buttons and moulded casings at Mitchell & Clark's at less than half Portland prices.

Miss Myrtle Reece has gone to work for a lady living near Portland and will probably be gone from home for some time.

F. C. Mills, who returned from Puyallup, Washington, last Saturday, says everything is dull over there. He thinks of returning in a month or two to canvass for the Newberg Nursery.

Some one cut a hole in the screen door at Lyons' meat market on Wednesday night, and crawling through, helped himself to about ten pounds of bologna. Nothing else was disturbed.

E. C. Armstrong who has been engaged by the Newberg Orchard Association to look after their business here has been making arrangements lately to purchase trees for setting this fall.

Jessie Edwards returned this week from his visit east. He came sooner than he expected by the advice of a physician, but is in fairly good health. His friends are glad to see him home safely again.

"Windy" Thomas who is making a town on his new purchase east of Newberg says he proposes to over-shadow our town in a short time—that Newberg is no good any way. If plenty of wind and a long tailed coat will count, he will probably get there.

Fred Blackwood, the nine year old newsboy, who runs on the cannon ball express, is a bright little fellow whose home is in Portland. While he has the necessary push to succeed in his business, he has none of the brassy, "smart alie" bearing so common with boys connected with railroading.

List of advertised letters remaining in the P. O. at Newberg, Oregon, at the end of the month of April, 1890. John Bailey, Nancy Foster, E. E. Farnsworth, A. M. Henderson, H. H. Holey, Mary Johnson, John H. Lawson, Wm. Rushby, Silas Vaughn, Henry Weitz.

C. F. Moore, P. M. Notice. The "Willard Literary Band" will give an entertainment on the evening of the 29th. Admission 10 cents. Proceeds for the benefit of school library.

On behalf of the society, L. C. SMITH, Sec.

Mr. Wm. R. Ferris, from near Wichita, Kansas, arrived here this week with his family expecting to make Oregon his home. He is very well pleased with our place and surrounding country, and will probably locate near Newberg. "I heard that Newberg had no saloons," is the reason Mr. Ferris gave for making this his objective point. Newberg isn't so big as some other places in Oregon, but she has a much more enviable reputation abroad, and our people may well feel proud of it.

Charleston, three miles north-east of Newberg on the Narrow Gauge R. R. has been platted and laid out and we now take great pleasure in placing this fine property on the market. Having secured exclusive control of it we now offer to home seekers and investors from a fifty foot lot to a ten acre tract in and adjoining this place. We are now making arrangements with the R. R. Co. for a side track and other accommodations for the general public. See this beautiful and healthy location before you buy elsewhere.

There are a few overgrown boys and girls in this town who think they have reached the dignity of manhood and womanhood, who have yet to learn that it is very ill mannered to whisper and laugh in church, or crowd people off the steps at the door, and their parents should take them in hand and try to teach them better manners. There is one fact which you would always do well to keep in mind. If the services do not suit you, stay away, there is no law compelling you to attend church, and if you cannot properly conduct yourself you had best remain at home.

A gentleman from the country spent considerable breath one day this week berating the drug firm of C. F. Moore & Co. because they refused to sell him some wine for sickness. The gentleman no doubt wanted it for the purpose he named but the only safe course for a druggist if he don't want to run a whiskey shop is to sell only on prescriptions from reliable physicians and this is the rule the above named firm has adopted and with them it is as unchangeable as the law of the Medes and Persians. Chin music has been tried on them time and again without effect.

SHOCKVILLE ITEMS. H. C. Plummer went up to Dallas the last of the week.

Lee Snook moved into his house on Second street Saturday, making three moves in about that many months.

Mrs. Stabler was down Sunday morning, and preached an excellent sermon. Bonus: To Mr. and Mrs. Mat Fitch May 1st, a 10 lb. boy.

Mr. Cox is going to commence building his house in a few days. Quite a number of our citizens went down to Portland Tuesday, to see the President.

Mr. Goldings is running a wagon to Portland every week taking dressed pork, and other produce to market.

C. C. Johnson is putting up a stable this week. Our saloon keeper had a fight with one of his customers a few nights ago.

The rainy weather is putting our farmers back with their seeding considerable. Mr. Martin's daughter in Portland, is very low with the same disease her mother died with.

Died. At his home in Newberg on Sunday morning, May 3rd, of consumption, Geo. W. Hardwick, aged nearly sixty years.

Mr. Hardwick has been afflicted for twenty-four years, with this dread disease. He came to Oregon fifteen years ago, in the hope of finding relief, but his health was only temporarily restored. For more than two years past he has been confined to the house, and he has been a constant sufferer. The family have the sympathy of the entire community in their bereavement.

For Rent. 20 acres of good grain land. Also 10-20 or 30 acres of land just set to trees and in good condition which we will let some one plant in vegetables and have all they can make off it for cultivating the trees in good manner. A good chance for you. Inquire Immigration Office.

MANUS & COLCORD. ONLY $30 PER ACRE. 72 acres 3 miles from Newberg—1 mile from Hoskins' station, on south slope of Chehalis mountain, between B. Heater and J. B. David. Also 49 acres adjoining N. E. corner of J. B. David's place. One half cash, balance on easy terms. Land adjoining west sold for $175 per acre.

REED & HOSKINS, 108 2nd St., Portland, Ore. The Oregonian has the largest circulation of any Daily Sunday or weekly paper west of the Rocky mountains, and in order to further increase its circulation, they have selected with great care, a large list of valuable local and other news articles, and are offering them as premiums to each new subscriber, to any of its several issues for yearly subscriptions. The Oregonian should be in every household. Send for premium list to the Oregonian Publishing Co., Portland Ore.

IS IT RIGHT? Is it right to build churches to save men and license shops that destroy them? Is it right to license a man to sell that which will make a man drunk and then punish a man for being drunk? Is it right to license a man to make papers and then tax sober men to take care of them? Is it right to license a drink shop to teach vice and tax people for schools to teach virtue? Is it right to derive a revenue out of a traffic which no decent man defends? Is it right to teach your boy not to gamble and then vote to license a place where he may be taught to gamble? Is it right to teach a boy to restrain his passions, and vote to license a place where his worse passions will be inflamed? Is it right to take care of your own boy, and vote to license a place that will ruin your neighbor's boy? Is it right to preach justice and charity, and then vote to license a thing which robs the widows and orphans of their bread?—Ez.

Restrictions of any character on the right of suffrage in a free republic, which tend to prevent a full, fair and direct expression at the ballot box of the will of each individual citizen of such republic, whether native or foreign-born, white or black, male or female, are obnoxious to the great fundamental idea upon which free government is based—Senator Mitchell, of Oregon.

"We must have the liquor tax to pave our streets," says a politician. "If mothers had the control, they could pave to-day. The broad highway with something not so white as the roads of the innocent boys at play. Why can't men pave the business marts with something harder than women's hearts? Is there no gold that will serve their turn, save the shining gold of the heads that rest soft on a loving mother's breast? Must these go down to the drunkard's grave in order that we the streets may pave?"

China now has a National W. C. T. U., with the necessary equipment of general officers, fifteen vice presidents, and nine superintendents of departments. Of the unions organized by Mrs. Leavitt in her first tour of the world, all but one are flourishing. The teacher of a school for Chinese girls where one of the unions is located, writes: "The girls are becoming interested and we believe they will wield an influence against the double cause of liquor and opium." In another school the girls earn their own dues, and fill milk boxes for the Temple.

Francis Willard says, "Concerning time, there is this exhaustive classification: we either kill, spend, or invest it. Starting in life, we have ourselves plus time; this is our unearned increment." In giving a resume of work done by women in the three-year cycle that has swept by since the "Council" of '88, she decides that they have wrought more widely and more worthily than in any ten years before, and that time has neither been "killed" nor "spent," but blessedly invested by these ranks of women at work for God and for Humanity.

Could this be said of every woman in the land, a work might have been accomplished compared with which the work that has been done would be only a drop in the bucket. It is not an unusual thing for a woman to think herself too busy to assume the added responsibility of a new line of work, but in my observations it is the really busy ones who find time for more work all the time, here a little, and there a little. In the National W. C. T. U. are more than forty departments of work. The Oregon State Union has taken up twenty-seven of these, and our own home union twenty-one, every one of which must have a superintendent, one who will work the department with all the skill and tact she can command so as to bring about the very best results. In order to do this it is better than one woman carry only one line of work, and there is not a member who is not competent to manage some one of these, and who would not be benefited by so doing.

Yet to hear the excuses made to the nominating committee at the time of the appointment of superintendents one is reminded of the parable of the snapper—"And they all with one accord began to make excuses," so that to a casual observer it would appear that either the time or the talent, or both, rested with a certain few. Major Hilton told us to improve the time given us and though it may be but seven minutes the Lord will make it seem like seven years. I have known women to excuse themselves for lack of time who found time to discuss, for an hour, the good and bad qualities of a neighbor principally the latter; read books that were no benefit to herself or to any one else, crochet thread lace enough to adorn all the linen about her house, and numberless other things that do not add materially to the "uplifting of humanity." The chief significance of Parnell's present discredited estate has been but little emphasized as yet in the public mind; but, to my thinking, the woman question has had no triumph so signal in our generation. It is not many years since any man of great gifts and splendid public achievements in the interest of humanity was entirely separated in the minds of the people into two characters. As a hero, he stood forth for what the world knew of him in his relations to the world; but as a man, in his relations to women, he was altogether a different personality, with whom the public had nothing whatever to do, and, no matter how basely he might conduct himself, it was no concern of theirs, because the estimate of woman was so much beneath that which is now held. She was but an adjunct of man, and called, by many of the greatest among men, "a necessary evil." But in these latter years she has become a daughter of God, an individual, a personality of intellect, of power, of judgment, and every woman who presents to the world that aspect has, by the laws of mind, helped to dignify womanhood in the thought of every person who thinks at all concerning the womanhood is but a composite photograph of woman made up from the delusions of a million minds concerning millions of women, and the highest office of the modern woman is that when the mental photograph she makes becomes a part of this mighty composite picture so determinative of destiny, that picture shall take on a loftier aspect. So it has been; women, good, gifted, undaunted, have added themselves by thousands and tens of thousands in the home, the school, the church, the state, to the popular concept of womanhood, so that when Parnell, great hero that he is, ruins one woman and despoils one home, his features as a hero are so blurred and distorted to the eye of nations that he must step down and out. Nor would I in the least forget that Mrs. O'Shea has blurred, so far as her poor little individuality is concerned, the composite photograph of woman kind. But then, there has not been one word spoken in her favor! She was nothing to anybody but captain O'Shea and the once great Irish hero. Her penalty is any one in the nature of the case. But God be thanked that we live in an age when men as a class have risen to such an appreciation of women as a class, that the mighty tide of their public sentiment will drown out any man's reputation who is false to woman and the home. And which is true now in large degree throughout the world will be a thousand times more true in a century from now. —FRANCIS E. WILLARD.

Delphus E. Ellis (the invalid) keeps a supply of stationery and notions, such as suspenders, celluloid collars, handkerchiefs, combs, faces, pins, needles, gloves, etc., also arranges Oregon specimens for sale, at one of the cottages near Friends' boarding hall. She solicits the patronage of Newberg and vicinity and requests patrons to call in the afternoon.

WORSE THAN LEPROSY. Is certain, and there is but one preparation that does cure that disease, and that is the California Positive and Negative Electric Linctament. Sold by C. F. Moore & Co. It also cures neuritis, rheumatism, headache, sprains, burns, and all pain. Try it and tell your neighbors where to get it.

ONLY ONE IN THE U. S. Out of 137 cough syrups manufactured in the U. S., but one has been found to be entirely free from opiates and that is the California Positive and Negative Electric Cough Cure, which is the best on earth for coughs, colds, croup, etc. Sold by C. F. Moore & Co.

Excitement. Runs high at C. F. Moore & Co's drug store over system builder, as everybody is using it for cure of the stomach, dyspepsia, constipation and improve blood and to build up the system. It certainly possesses wonderful merit when all speak so well of it.
