MITCHELL & CLARK.

Mrs. Etie Marie and children, went to Portland last Saturday, for a week's visit with friends.

Jesse Hobson and family, were here last week, during the last sickness and death of Wm. Hobson.

When George Biermann can't put shoes on an unruly horse, you may put him down as a bad one.

I am now prepared to sell doors and windows cheaper than you can buy them in Portland. W. P. HEACOCK.

Luke McKern, J. R. Smith, J. T. Smith and A. M. Hoskins drove up to McMinnville on business, last Monday.

Sene's ice cream parlor is being finished at Sherwood. It will be one of the finest west of Portland, and will be called The Palace.

Fred Fendal, the young man who was shot by accident last week, died Sunday night from the effects of the amputation of the arm.

Thanking our many friends for their past favors, we solicit your further patronage to help us over our loss.
MITCHELL & CLARK.

The La Fayette baker uses Newberg flour. What better evidence do you want of the quality of flour made by Tarrant & Son?

Eli Hadley, who has been attending the normal school at Monmouth, during the past year, was calling on his friends in town during the week.

F. H. Storey has been so crowded with roofing and spouting the new buildings about town that he has been working from 4 a. m. till 9 p. m. lately.

The old Wynnosi warehouse was not sold, as no bid that was satisfactory was made for it. The company have had it torn down and the lumber piled on.

You pay $120 a year rent; call on F. L. Moore and he will show you how to buy a better home, pay less per year than you now pay and in a few years the home is yours.

The dog fennel crop is ripening at an astonishing rate on some lots about town. A little attention on the part of the owners would add much to the appearance of the town.

Frank Hadley and Dr. Mills have started out with their tree spraying outfit again since the weather has settled. They fired the bugs on the old orchard back of the bank, Tuesday.

Mr. Harford, will address the young men of the Y. M. C. A. next Sunday at 4 p. m. Every young man in town ought to attend, as Mr. Harford will say something well worth hearing.

Mr. Inglis has been at work at McMinnville, for some time putting an outside coating of cement on some of the brick buildings. We understand he will be called home to do some work here soon.

A. C. Lukens, of Coquille City, was here during the week looking at the country with a view of moving here. He reports business at Coquille as being very dull and money hard to get.

Carl Stanley, who has been working in the lined oil works at Portland for some time came up Tuesday. The works have shut down for a couple of weeks and the boys are taking a needed rest.

Unlimited 6 per cent money to loan on improved city, and country farm property at 75 per cent of valuation—To buy or build a home—100 per cent of valuation; also fine fruit land at $20 an acre.—F. L. MOORE.

Catalogues of Pacific College are now out. Students and others interested who get their mail at Newberg can get copies by calling at the bank or this office. Students living at other points will be supplied through the mail.

F. Fulton, W. E. Sene and R. Beavert are building a hall next to Sene's ice cream parlor in Sherwood. It will be known as the Sherwood hall, and will be fitted up with a good stage and will seat about five hundred people.

Dr. Carman was laid up the first of the week with a severe attack of something like blood poison, supposed to have been contracted in dressing the wound of the young man Fendal. We are glad to say he is able to be out again.

The Christian church received Jennie Mills and Minnie Barnett into the church last Sunday. The rite of baptism was administered in the afternoon, at the creek, near Tarrant & Son's mill, in the presence of a large company.

H. COOPER, Pres.

Smockville people are making big preparations for the "fourth." Our band boys will furnish the music and Milton Smith, of Portland, will deliver the address. Foot racing, base ball &c. will make up the amusements.

C. F. Smith came into town Monday morning with a basket of "garden sassa" on one arm and a pie plant leaf raised over his head for a sun shade. The leaf having been pulled a little early, only measured about three feet across.

Owners of orchards around town will do well to keep them in first class trim as the principal horticulturalists of the state will be here in July, attending the state meeting, and they will have an eye out to see the conditions of our orchards.

D. P. Stratton sold one of his American road scrapers a short time ago to parties at Eugene. He has one on trial at Marion which is reported as giving splendid satisfaction and the commissioners of Marion county are thinking of buying three of the machines.

H. M. Caldwell, agent for Wells, Fargo & Co. in the general office at Portland was up the first of the week with his family, visiting Mrs. Caldwell's father, J. H. Bowerman. We understand that Mr. C. will invest in fruit land near town with a view of moving here.

The city fathers received an invitation to attend the celebration of the "fourth" at McMinnville. Red tape will demand that the invitation be read the first time July 6th, referred to the next meeting of the council Aug. 3rd and put on its "final passage" in time for the holidays.

Will Macy returned from Sheridan Monday, his school having closed last week. He looks hale and hearty, as though the sea breeze and the whistling of the hazzel had agreed with him. Mr. A. J. White, a young man recently from Tennessee came down with him. Mr. W. is looking around with a view of investing here.

When you are solicited for a subscription to assist in arranging for the fair don't say "oh yes I am interested in having a fair" and then in the next breath say you can't subscribe anything. Those who refuse to assist in an undertaking that is a public benefit will do well to give place to others of a more progressive spirit.

Eli Branson, of Sheridan, was in town Tuesday. He said he had camped many times in early days in Oregon on the creek, which is now spanned by the long bridge at the east end of town. Mr. Branson says the longer he lives in Oregon the more he becomes convinced that this is the best country the sun shines on to-day.

Verily Newberg is putting on city airs. Tuesday afternoon George Christenson, our accommodating drayman, appeared on the streets with a new four wheeled truck right from the shop. It cost $275 and freight, and it is a daisy if one ever appeared on four wheels. George looked happy on the high seat, although the sun shined hot.

Mr. Williams informs us that an old Pennsylvania friend of his named Kegg, has written that he has sold out, and expects to land in Newberg about August 1st. His goods are shipped and he wants a house rented ready to move into. Mr. Williams says he is an active young business man who will make a good citizen wherever he goes. Glad to have him come this way.

Very interesting review exercises of Friends' Sunday school were held at the church last Sunday night. The usual mistake was made however by those who arranged the program, by trying to crowd two and a half hours of exercises into one evening's work. Children and working people require about a certain amount of sleep, and a program that occupies more than an hour in the evening is too long for this time in the year.

And Still Another Brick.

J. T. Smith and A. M. Hoskins have bought a 34 foot front on the corner of First and Meridian streets opposite the bank and will begin the erection of a brick business house soon. They haven't fully matured their plans but J. T. Smith will occupy the ground floor with his stock of general merchandise and it is quite probable that another story will be put on by other parties. We are informed that the building is to be finished in the best of style. This is a splendid location and Smith & Hoskins are fortunate in securing it. We will say more about it next week.

J. I. Knight, president and general manager of the Dundee and Red Hills Railroad, (limited) a line of recent construction, was in town Tuesday evening.

He reports business as being very good from one end of the line to the other. We fear John's labors are becoming too arduous for his feeble constitution, as he came in to get a box of ice to ward off an attack of nervous prostration. Too much responsibility for a youth, who is growing as he lies.

Julius Hodson, of Heppner, Morrow county has been engaged as principal of the public school. Mr. Hodson is well known to many of our people as he lived here for several years. He is a young man full of life and activity and with considerable experience as a teacher and we shall expect to see him succeed in this responsible position. Mrs. Martin and Miss Deskins will occupy the same rooms as last year. A Miss Townsend, niece of Mr. Hartley, whose home is in Indiana, has been engaged for the primary room.

There are a number of parties in this community, who own large tracts of land who ought to subscribe handsomely to the fund to put the fair properly on its feet. They are men who are seldom called on for assistance in anything of this kind and they are compelled to admit that the fair in the past, and a number of other undertakings that have been inaugurated here have made their land that was formerly worth from $10 to $20, per acre worth from $50 to $100, per acre and some of it even more than that. It might very properly be said that this increase in the valuation of their land has really been forced on them as they have done but little to help it along, and when a call of this kind is being made it would seem that it would be a very small thing for such parties to subscribe liberally. This is a time when you can't afford to say no.

Dressmaking done at Mrs. Lamb's residence corner Fifth and Meridian Sts., four blocks south of Bank building.

OBITUARY.

William Hobson, son of Stephen and Mary Hobson, was born in Guilford Co., North Carolina, February 4, 1829. His early life was spent upon his father's plantation in the above state, and later in developing and working the iron mines and the industries connected therewith belonging to his father.

His early education was mostly gained at home during hours allotted for rest and recreation; but later he spent several months in close application to study at New Garden Boarding School. At the age of twenty-four he was married to Sarah Tulebert, of same place. After about three and a half years of married life, he and his wife and two small children, accompanied by a sister of his wife, crossed the Allegheny and Blue Ridge mountains, with the idea of locating in the then new west, carrying with them their earthly possessions in a one-horse wagon. Several weeks of the summer were spent before they reached Indiana, for the roads were new, crooked and in many places steep; from 20 to 25 miles was a good day's journey. One winter was spent there, during which time he was mostly engaged in teaching school.

The following summer, in company with other parties, they pushed on to Iowa, at that time a very new and unsettled country. After a residence of about three years in Henry county at a Friends' settlement already formed, he in company with several others, went to the north and west, with a view of locating a Friends' settlement in a newer district. The location decided upon was along the borders of Honey Creek, in Marshall county. The place was afterwards and is now known as Bangor, where for so many years has existed a very strong Friends' church. Seeing a nucleus for a settlement well started here, Wm. Hobson, with a few of the party, proceeded about twelve miles further up the creek, and located on both sides of the stream in Hardin county. Near by, the village of New Providence was built, and a large quarterly meeting of Friends' church, known as Honey Creek, grew up.

New Providence is a beautiful village in the center of one of the wealthiest townships in Iowa. The high moral and religious influence and abundant power for good that have gone out from this locality in Iowa, can be attributed principally to the public sentiment aroused and maintained by the early settlers against sin and iniquity in all its phases. An open sabbath, though no law against it for years, was never known in Providence township.

In 1871-72 the subject of this narrative made a tour through California, Oregon and Washington on a religious visit, holding meetings, visiting families and distributing tracts as he went. During this visit and afterward, having met so many people in the various places he visited who had formerly belonged to his branch of the church, he was impressed with the importance of having a church organization for them either in Oregon or Washington, in order that the scattered members might have a home, as well as members who might come later, and that impression never left him until it was fully realized in every particular. For after returning to his home in Iowa, and remaining a few years, with the idea of permanently locating in the west, and a determination to carry out the above mentioned undertaking, he started again to the northwest coast. After many weary days of travel and sleepless nights of prayer, he finally decided to locate in the beautiful Chehalis valley, in Yamhill county Oregon. Here, near the center of travel and commerce of the destined great Northwest, where lands were cheap and plenty of room, he thought it a good location for a people whom he hoped might exert a great influence for good to strangers and others who might pass that way. He was continually made to rejoice and praise his Master for having so unquestionably guided him in his selection of this as the place he had been calling him to. Here has been his home for more than fifteen years.

Accessions to the church have rapidly been made from the very first information that was given in regard to his decision, and any one familiar with the history of the Chehalis valley since his coming, can realize how fully his hopes and desires have been met.

His home on the farm both in Iowa and Oregon, has afforded shelter to many a weary traveler. He has always been a member of Friends' church, and a minister of the gospel for more than forty years. His fidelity to the church and the cause of Christ was unwavering. It seems that his whole life object was for the good of others. A great deal of his time and means, especially while living in Iowa, was spent in going about doing good, in holding meetings and visiting the people. The teachings of his life, both by example and precept, can scarcely be appreciated, except by those who best knew him. For like Paul "Though troubled on every side, yet not disturbed; though perplexed, yet not in despair; persecuted, but not forsaken; cast down, but not destroyed, and always bearing about in the body the dying of the Lord Jesus, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in his body."

Prior to his death one-half his family had crossed over: wife, two daughters and a son. Three children, two sons and a daughter, and fourteen grandchildren remain.

His sickness continued for a period of six months, his sufferings at times being severe, but borne without murmuring to the end, which came on the 25th of July, 1901, his age being 71 years, 4 months and 21 days. Death came like the ebbing of the tide—no gradual that those who stood by his bedside scarcely could tell when the change came.

IT HURT HIM.

PORTLAND, OR., June 26, 1891.

Mr. Editor:—I notice in two or three of your papers lately that you have been scoring the Northwest Funeral Association, and I beg to have you print these few lines as I think you have the wrong end of the string. I was in that business in your burg for 2 years and I want to tell you that you or any one else can buy a good 6 ft coffin rite in Newberg today or any other day for 20.00 dollars and from that price up to as high as you want to pay, and I think that any person that has not got respect enough for his companion or friend to want to lay them away decent, and is not willing to pay a reasonable price for a Coffin or a casket should be flogged to the dogs when they die, if a person wants to pay 65 or even 100.00 dollars for a coffin or a casket it should be none of your business, and on the other Hand coffin can be got for children from $5.00 up to 35 Just as a person wants and for adults from 20.00 up. now if you think that other people are charging too much for goods in Newberg, you ought to set a sample before them and then if they don't come to it then you have a right to kick. a person can get the Chicago Inter-ocean for $1.00 a year and according to your theory you ought to pay your customers to get your little one horse paper in circulation.

Resp Yours A. T. HAWORTH.

The above is Mr. Haworth's say, orthography and all. It is very kind in a resident of Portland to tell our people how cheaply they can be laid away when they die, and those who are doubtful about their stay in this lower world will no doubt arise as one man and vote him a medal for showing an abnormal development of that sort of the human anatomy known as "cheek." A. T. is partially excusable for the prices he names as he has not been in Newberg for a long time and consequently is not as well posted as those who have been compelled to buy funeral goods here. We call to mind an instance when he was in business here where parties wanted a coffin with a plain glass in the lid and the cheapest they were offered was one for $50. They concluded that this was more than they could afford to pay; but they haven't been "fed to the dogs." As for the circulation of the Graphic we assure Mr. Haworth we have no trouble about that, but we may be compelled to offer a premium to get a few subscribers like him to pay up.

P. S.—A six foot coffin would not answer for this office. Will Mr. H. please quote us prices on a couple of better length?

Sherwood News.

Everybody came to Sherwood July 4th. The Honorable Milton Smith, of Portland, is the orator of the day.

H. F. Heacock, from near Dayton, spent Saturday and Sunday in Sherwood. The Newberg band is expected at Sherwood July 4.

Angus Aterbury has the frame of his house up and is putting on the rustic. Bread wagon in town twice a week.

Mrs. Barbor preached in Friends' church Sabbath morning Pleasant Johnson, Sabbath night.

C. C. Johnson and family, went to the State capital last Tuesday.

Mr. Varner took his daughter Dora, to Portland to the hospital last Tuesday.

The Parsonage is getting a new coat of paint this week.

Mr. Cox moved his family to Mr. Geddings farm the first of the week.

Leander Thomas got a job on the section the first of July.

Dr. Poppleton was in town over night Tuesday.

Some boys got into the warehouse Monday and cut open several sacks of feed, broke open a case of tomatoes and carried off four cans, and broke open a keg of pickles. Boys, you are known and you had better make yourselves kind of scarce.

The Sabbath school was reorganized last Sabbath. Officers elected, were C. C. Johnson superintendent, Mrs. Heacock, assistant superintendent, Gerla Brant, secretary and treasurer.

Recorder for the town of Newberg.
Dated, Newberg, Oregon, this 26th day of June, 1901.

WORSE THAN LEPROSY.

Is catarrh, and there is but one preparation that does cure that disease, and that is the California Positive and Negative Electric Lintment. Sold by C. F. Moore & Co. It also cures neuritis, rheumatism, headache, sprains, burns and all pain. Try it and tell your neighbors where to get it.

ONLY ONE IN THE U. S.

Out of 157 cough syrups manufactured in the U. S., but one has been found to be entirely free from opiates and that is the California Positive and Negative Electric Cough Cure, which is the best on earth for cough, colds, croup, etc. Sold by C. F. Moore & Co.

EXCITEMENT.

Runs high at C. F. Moore & Co's drug store over System Builder, as everybody is using it for catarrh of the stomach, dyspepsia, constipation and indigestion and to build up the system. It certainly possesses wonderful merit when all speak so well of it.
