Watkins will preach at the Evangelical church Saturday evening. For SALE—A good, five room house and four lots. May be had at a bargain. Call at GRAPHIC office. The Crescent for January is out. We consider it one of the best numbers yet issued by the society. Mr. Harbaugh shipped a car load of sheep from here Tuesday, to W. W. Spaulding, of Portland. Charley Moore has a pen of Light Brahma chickens, some of which are almost as large as small calves. Our friends will confer a favor by dropping in and giving us any items of interest they may chance to know of. G. W. Cutts has been assisting station agent C. B. Friswell at odd spells lately. Mr. Cutts is an old railroad man. Since having a consultation with the "dealer in futures," Frank Hobson thinks his prospects are numerous. Don't forget the Y. M. C. A. entertainment at Friends' Church Friday evening. You are promised a pleasant time. An agent of the Pacific Loan Co., of Portland, was in town Wednesday prospecting regarding the propriety of making loans here. J. S. Crane, of Portland, general agent for Wheeler & Wilson's sewing machines, was in town yesterday and called at this office on business. F. A. Morris and wife, Wm. Allen and wife, N. C. Maris and Mrs. Emma Hill, went to Portland Tuesday to attend the funeral of Elwood Vestal. Adam Walling, the Oswego nurseryman, was in town Tuesday. He said he had sold nearly his entire stock already. Fruit trees go like hot cakes. Al Towler has bought 20 acres of the Stultz farm and has rented the whole farm for this season. Mr. Towler is a good worker and will succeed. Telegraph poles have been put up along the railroad that are of immense size. At some places in the east they would be considered pretty fair saw logs. Jesse Hobson, who drove to LaFayette Wednesday, said he found the roads in the worst condition he has ever seen them in his fifteen years residence in Oregon. It is only about a month until the annual school meeting will be held, when the question of more commodious quarters for our children will come up for settlement. Parties wanting stock bills printed in the spring will do well to call at this office and see what a large display of cuts we have to select from. We will be glad to show samples of our work. Again we hear it stated that the railroad is soon to be changed to standard gauge. Just take this for what it is worth as no outsider will ever know what is to be done until work is begun. Mr. Converse moved to his country residence the first of the week. He will now have one of the most pleasant places to live in the community. We know for we tried it for several years. It is seldom we make apologies for lack of local news, but for the past week or two grazing for local matter has been extremely close, and the range seems to be getting shorter. We hope for an early spring, when picking will get better. CHEAP LAND—10 acres best fruit land, nearly all in cultivation, beautiful situation in Sunnyside, 5 miles from Salem $35.00 per acre. OREGON LAND CO., Salem, Oregon. A very readable article from the pen of Prof. E. R. Lake will be found in this issue. All our fruit men as well as others will be interested in reading it and many will do well to heed the notes of warning. We have it on good authority that another Portland firm has contracted for a large body of land not very far from Newberg, the object being to engage in orcharding on a large scale. This tide continues to flow toward Chobalem valley and we expect to see this country develop very rapidly in the next few years. Dr. Burgen's wife was up from Portland over Sunday, this being her first visit to our town. She was very much pleased with Newberg and will join her husband here as soon as they can get a house. We will be glad to welcome them, as the members of the doctor's family are said to be very fine people. Wm. P. Hunicutt and son, who are on their way to southern California, stopped off here last Tuesday to visit Mrs. S. Hobson, who is a sister to Mr. Hunicutt. They have had the general agency for Johnson's Encyclopedia in western Iowa and Nebraska for several years, and have made a success of the business. They now have southern California and Arizona, and this is the field they are heading for. They report the weather as being very cold when they left Omaha, and noted the change at once on arriving here in our mild climate.

New Today. Pruners at Mount's. Laundry goes Tuesday. A. T. Hill. Go to Townsend's for your cook stoves. Forest King, Simmons and Diston saws at Mount's. If your sewing machine is out of order get A. C. Cox to repair it. A full line of undertaker's goods kept at Townsend's, including burial robes. Family washing done by Mrs. N. C. Swain. Residence north of Tin Shop. Price hardware and furniture at Townsend's before going to Portland to buy. Some of the boys spoiled a very good local for us Wednesday, by climbing to the roof of Mr. McLaughlin's house, and with a bucket of water putting out a fire that had started in the comb of the roof from a defective flue. D. P. Stratton is making a trip to the Puget Sound country in the interest of the American Road Machine Company, of which he is agent. He will probably return by Walla Walla, Washington, where he hopes to make some sales. How does this strike you for a proposition? If any of our subscribers want to send the GRAPHIC to friends in the east for a year, we will take subscriptions of this kind for the next thirty days at the low price of 75 cents. Just half price. A business house in this town asks us to mildly hint that carrying off newspapers from a place of business is not just the thing to do. Thieving in a small way is sometimes tolerated because it is unpleasant to raise a row, but it is rather unpleasant for the injured party. CHEAP LAND—30 acres three miles from Turner, all good bottom land in cultivation, good orchard, two springs, nine room two story house hard finished, good barn and other outbuildings, $2,500. OREGON LAND CO., Salem, Oregon. Many persons who have recovered from la grippe are now troubled with a persistent cough. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will promptly loosen his cough and relieve the lungs, effecting a permanent cure in a very short time. 50 cent bottles for sale by C. F. Moore & Co., Druggists. Mr. Coles, who lived near the public school building, died last Sunday after a short, but severe illness of la grippe and was buried on Monday. He had a spell of sickness some time ago and had not fully regained his health when he was seized with la grippe. The deceased leaves a wife and several children. The literary entertainment given by the public school last Saturday evening was attended by a large audience. A very interesting program was rendered, and everybody seemed pleased with the exercises. The ten cent tickets rattled into the box at the door until the sum of $20.65 was received, which will be used as a nucleus for a library for the school. The county court refused to recognize the sale of the Lamb property, as it was bid off by the administrator, David Lamb, and it has been ordered advertised and sold again. While it may be necessary to follow the letter of the law in such cases, it looks unreasonable to refuse to let the highest bidder take the property. Prof. B. F. Pratt, the phrenologist, who has been entertaining our people this week, is a fine talker, and shows that he thoroughly understands his business. He has proven himself an excellent reader of character. He will speak at Friends' church to-morrow (Saturday) evening on the subject of "Human Electricity." Admission for young and old, 15 cents. "In buying a cough medicine for children," says H. A. Walker, a prominent druggist of Oregan, Utah, "never be afraid to buy Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. There is no danger from it and relief is always sure to follow. I particularly recommend Chamberlain's because I have found it to be safe and reliable. 50 cent bottles for sale by C. F. Moore & Co., Druggists. Elwood Vestal died at St. Vincent's hospital in Portland last Monday after an illness of three weeks. Mr. Vestal had long been a resident of Oregon, coming from Indiana in an early day. He was well known throughout this county, having traveled over the country in the capacity of a stock buyer for a number of years, and had the reputation of being an honorable dealer. Mr. C. W. Reed, proprietor of the Hotel Dellone, Omaha, one of the finest new and modern hotels in the west, says of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy: "We have used it in our family for years with the most satisfactory results, especially for our children, for colds and croup. It can be depended upon, besides it is pleasant to take and seems to be free from chloroform and the oily substances put into many cough mixtures." 50 cent and $1 bottles for sale by C. F. Moore & Co.

Mr. Brodersen, of the firm of Brodersen & Hicks, of Portland, general agents for the Pacific States Savings, Loan and Building Co., of San Francisco, is in town. Anyone desiring a loan can find Mr. Brodersen at the bank to-day, who will give the desired information. The completion of H. W. Grable's residence at the corner of Fifth and Dayton streets, adds another to the list of really fine residences in Newberg. Mr. and Mrs. Grable are to be congratulated on having such a pleasant home, and we trust they may live long to enjoy it. PUBLIC SCHOOL ITEMS. The proceeds of the public school entertainment, given Saturday evening, were $21, which will be invested in a library for the school. Elmer Hall has returned to school again. These sunshiny days are much enjoyed by the students after the recent rains. Stella Lyon, who has been confined to her home with a sprained ankle, is now back at school again. Florence Cook, who has been quite sick is improving. PROGRAM For Friends' Quarterly Meeting Sunday School Conference. Song. A Biographical Sketch of the Life of Isaiah, Edith Ellis. Declaration, Lucy Gause. Song. Some Practical Thoughts on How to Study S. S. Lessons, Aaron Bray. Discussion led by Pres. Newlin. Song. How God Manifested Himself to His People in Old Testament Times, Ella Hartley. Declaration, Arthur Heston. Song. Resolutions of Salem Y. P. S. C. E. Whereas, in His All Wise Providence. Our Heavenly Father has seen fit to call to Himself, our dear sister, Tenne Minthorn. Therefore, be it resolved: By the members of the Y. P. S. C. E., and Friends' Church, of Salem, Oregon; that while we solemnly bow to His Divine Will, recognizing that our loss is her eternal gain; we feel that we have lost a true friend and companion and an earnest Christian worker. Resolved: That feeling our loss as we do, we hereby extend our deepest sympathies to her parents and relatives, and do earnestly invoke God's comforting grace upon their wounded hearts. Be it further Resolved: That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the parents and offered for publication in the NEWBERG GRAPHIC. ELMA BROWN, Sec'y of Y. P. S. C. E. COLLEGE ITEMS. More rain, more mud. Verily, the rolling foot-ball gathers no moss, but plenty of mud. The writer did not grip his pen last week, consequently there were no College items; and yet he had the "Grip." A number of students have been absent the past two weeks on account of sickness. The geometry class would like for some one to account for the absence of one of its members, who came to the class but once. O' where has that yellow dog gone? President Newlin gave the essay class the subject, "Oregon Climate." He said it was best for people to write on some subject about which they knew something. Truly there is no way by which the students of the college may shirk the literary work which they should do. The faculty has given them the privilege of joining the Crescent Society or writing an essay about every two weeks. There is a very good picture of the college buildings and students, on exhibition in the class room, upstairs; the work of Samuel Hobson. There is some one in school who has a love for the works of art, especially the pictures of dogs. The picture of a dog on the blackboard is a specimen of the artist's work. H. F. Allen has been taking subscriptions from the faculty and students of the college, which will be used to buy papers and magazines for the reading table. This certainly is the proper thing to do, for there are many days during the winter season, when the weather will not permit the students to engage in out-door sports. Should not the faculty set the students an example of punctuality? COUNTY EXCHANGES. Newt and Marion Rowland and Am Shadden went hunting on Saturday and were successful in bringing down a large cougar—larger than the biggest dog hereabouts. It was killed near the farm of Mr. Sutton, whose turkey and hen roost had suffered considerably of late from the visits of these animals. Marion wounded the cougar badly at first, and Am had the satisfaction of putting on the finishing touches. There are known to be several more cougars in the neighborhood.—Reporter. The population of the county was augmented twelve by one family that recently settled near North Yamhill. The three youngest children are so small they cannot feed themselves, but there are two grown girls who care for a child each and the mother takes the third. The father of this numerous family is quite a hunter, and shortly after arriving from the east, went hunting and shot a blue jay. He carried it home thinking he had killed a China pheasant.—Reporter. Go where you will a few will be enterprising and the others will wait around in hopes to reap the golden harvest that they did not help to sow. Now such a class of citizens are a dead weight hanging around the neck of prosperity. A hindrance and a stumbling block to advancement of any kind. And yet they are very often the first ones to complain at the manner in which enterprising and industrious people are managing the public business of the town.—Ledger.

There has been some talk lately about making the Yamhill River navigable as far up as McMinnville, and as we have now buried our little hatchet deep down in "Yamhill's productive soil," we would be pleased to see something of that kind an established fact, for what would be a benefit to our sister city would surely drop a few crumbs along our path, and we have confidence enough in the enterprise and push of McMinnville's citizens to at least entertain a probable hope that before long the river will be made navigable to that city.—Ledger. A law partnership has been formed between James McCain and J. E. Magers, probably two of the best known attorneys in the county. They occupy the commodious and convenient apartments of the former, over the First National bank. This is a combination of talent and ability that ought to convey mutual advantage and meet with approval from the public. While McCain is doubtless without exception the ablest trial lawyer in the western half of the state, and will do more hard work for a client than any other man alive, when it comes to the tedious routine of office work he isn't "in it"—he is notoriously lazy. Magers, on the other hand, is a good court lawyer with a fine practice, is one of those remarkably energetic men with a great capacity for details which distinguishes the successful office lawyer, whose business is with the multitude in shaping up affairs and estates in and out of court. Together they will make a solid team.—Reporter. Last Saturday night about 9 o'clock two shots were fired into the dwelling of W. T. Pillman. There was no one in the house at the time except Mr. Pillman's two daughters, the oldest of which is not more than 13 years old. The bullets passed through the window and lodged in the wall. Mr. and Mrs. Pillman were returning from church and heard the shots as did others in the neighborhood. Had Mrs. Pillman, who is in poor health, been in the house at the time of the shooting, the shock might have proved fatal to her. On Saturday two young men of Dayton, were arrested, charged with the crime of assault with a deadly weapon. After a preliminary examination before Judge Baxter, the defendants were discharged; the evidence being insufficient to hold. Attorney Flower defended the boys. It is hoped that the guilty parties will be caught and punished. This will, perhaps, be a warning to young men and boys who carouse around at night.—Dayton Herald. The present session of the county commissioners, which has continued through part of three weeks, has been a very important one in point of work accomplished. New election precincts, new road districts, new justice precincts have been created, new road supervisors chosen, taxes levied and the road tax apportioned among the districts. Much of this work has required arduous labor and a great deal of careful consideration, and while it is not probable that every individual has been suited, most likely the interests of the greatest number have been subserved. One thing certain—the work has been conscientiously and honestly performed. Another arduous task has been undertaken in the examination of the accounts of the several county officers. The examination has been very thorough and searching, and while it is not surprising it is congratulatory that so far as the work has progressed everything has been found "as straight as a string." In the period of three years the county clerk has held his office, he has collected and accounted for $1,925.70 in fees and various small items, and the only error discovered in his accounts was an item of ten cents that he beat some party out of in drawing a warrant. This is what might be termed very close accounting. The sheriff was not quite so fortunate on the face of his returns, as his receipts were found to be $47 short of the amount charged against him. In handling a fund of $84,000 a year it would not be surprising if a small error crept in, but there was probably no error, as the sheriff holds the affidavits of several parties showing erroneous assessments which will cover the apparent discrepancy.—Reporter.

The Name Yamhill. EDITOR REPORTER: In Miss Cora Baker's article in the New Year's number of the Reporter, the word Yamhill is given as an Indian word, meaning a ford or crossing of a river. Since reading the article I have interested myself somewhat and have talked to a great many of the old settlers on the subject. I find that most of those I have talked to have a different theory from the one advanced in the article referred to. Mr. Stanley Umphlette, of Amity, a pioneer of '45, gives what seems to me the most reasonable explanation of the origin of the word. Others I have talked to agree with him. He said when the white people came to this country the hills about Amity, North Yamhill and Dayton were covered with what is called wild gourd, or man-in-the-ground. He has seen them as large around as a half bushel, and they were so thick in some places that you could not drive without driving over them. The early settlers did not know the name of the root, and as it looked very much like the sweet potatoes or yam that they raised in the south, they called the hills on which it grew so abundantly, Yamhills. Dr. Charles Johnson, or "Old Humpty," as he was commonly called, was the first to call it man-in-the-ground. He dug the root and used it in his practice. The people soon found a different name for the root, but the name Yamhill still clung to the hills, was given afterward to the river, and finally to the county. Thus the word Yamhill originated. Mr. Umphlette says this is not theory, but he knows it to be a fact, and I submit it to the Reporter in the interest of truth and local history. J. A. BUCHANAN. Amity, Or., January 20, 1892. J. S.
