The Quarterly meeting of Friends' church, held last Saturday and Sunday, passed off after the usual manner. A committee was appointed to look after securing the services of a minister to act as superintendent of evangelistic work in the limits of the meeting. How does this strike you for a proposition? If any of our subscribers want to send the Gravenic to friends in the east for a year, we will take subscriptions of this kind for the next thirty days at the low price of 75 cents. Just half price. Mrs. Catharine Overman, of Bloomington, Indiana, who has been visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Hiram E. Hadley, at Now Whatcom, Washington, for several months is here visiting many friends of former days in Indiana. Earl Hadley, her little grandson is with her. E. W. Woensner received a letter from Dr. Cornett, of Friends' Mission School, at Douglas City, Alaska, giving a detailed account so far as known of the murder of C. H. Edwards. The account does not differ very materially from the one we published a short time ago. As soon as the news of the murder reached the school, Dr. Cornett chartered a boat and went to Kake village, a distance of 100 miles, and got the story of the Indians regarding the sad affair. He secured all the personal effects of Mr. Edwards and also got the Indians who had knowledge of the murder, to act as witnesses, although there is little chance in that country for obtaining justice. It seems that after the two men were bound Mr. Edwards sent all the Indians ashore except two, saying he would proceed to the nearest point and turn the prisoners over to the United States authorities. The Indians heard firing after they returned to the village, but knew nothing further of what was done and from this time we only have the story of the murderers, and there is little doubt but that they murdered the two Indians and threw them overboard and after shooting Mr. Edwards kept him in the boat, not trying to get to a surgeon until they were sure he could never tell his story of the affair.

Road, proprietor of the finest new and modern hotels in the west, says of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy: "We have used it in our family for years with the most satisfactory results, especially for our children, for colds and croup. Moore & Co. Mr. Elliott, who lately came from Indiana, barely escaped being very badly hurt one day last week. He and Calvin Dixon were walking along the railroad track and stepped aside to let the down train pass. The fireman on falling to get a large stick of wood in the fire box, threw it out just in time to strike Mr. Elliott, knocking him down. The force was partially warded off by striking his hand and watch, smashing the time piece in great shape. Had the stick hit him on the head it might have been much worse.

It was a happy social company of women, who gathered Wednesday afternoon at Mrs. Heacock's and tacked such a nice lot of carpet rags for Mrs. Bolton. Who will give the ladies a chance to help them with their work and make one dollar for the missionary fund? The debating society out at Hoskins' school house is getting down to business and the old questions that racked the brains of youngsters years ago, such as the "Injun and Nigger" question, and "Resolved that there is more pleasure in Pursuit than Possession," are left in the shade. Next week the tariff issue is to be discussed, with Charley Mitchell and Cyrus Hoskins as the champions of free trade, while Albert Hoater and J. H. Reed will proceed to twist the tail of the British lion after the most approved fashion. As a pointer we will say that reports from Paris state that the rise in the price of beef in that country, caused by the tariff, has led to a big demand for horse flesh in that city. The police report that the horses and mules slaughtered, represent over one-third of the whole quantity of meat consumed. Fillet of horse or donkey sells at 10 pence per pound, steak at 7 pence and inferior at 2. Worn out animals, such as are driven to "dead hog" wagons in Indiana and Ohio, are rising in value, and are being bought up everywhere within a radius of 300 miles of Paris.
