Don't believe it when you here it reported that Lamb & Baldwin have sold about all their hats and are not going to get any more. We get new ones every week and expect to until after the Fourth. Next week we expect from the east as large a lot of goods as we have had any time before this spring. Wait until you see these before buying elsewhere.
The new organ for Friends Sunday school was received in time to be used during the week at the commencement exercises. It is one of the best manufactured, being of the reliable Estey make, and is a beauty. Competent judges say the tone is first class, and in appearance it is a beauty. It was through the efforts of Prof. Jessup that the money was raised for the purchase of the instrument, and great credit is due him for the selection he made.
President Newlin delivered an address at the closing exercises of the McMinnville public schools last Friday. We understand that Judge Galloway and other prominent citizens of McMinnville say the address has never been equaled in the county seat. We can't say whether this is true or not, but do say that we would be perfectly willing to pit President Newlin against any other college president in the state of Oregon for an address on the subject of practical education. Wherever he has gone to deliver an address, since coming into Oregon, he is wanted again. The secret of his success as a speaker lies in the fact, that when he talks, he says something.

McMinnville had a disastrous fire Tuesday morning. Nearly one whole block including the post office was burned.

First-class foundation brick for sale at Newberg brick yard. Jas. HANBETT.
A gentleman formerly from Michigan, named Harkness, who has been stopping at Oswego for a few months, is in town, stopping with John Brown.
A representative of the hand boys called yesterday and requested us to state that the boys were ready and willing to take steps to organize and drill for the making of a first class band, provided the citizens will give necessary assistance. The boys feel that they are unable financially to spend all the time and money necessary to make a success of the undertaking. The public can't expect them to do the fair thing.
Miss Grace Littlejohn is a little girl aged eleven years, residing in Baltimore, Ohio. Read what she says: "I was troubled with rheumatism for two years, but could get nothing to do me any good. I was so helpless that I had to be carried like a babe, when I was advised to get a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I got it from our druggist, Mr. J. A. Kumbler, and in three days I was up and walking around. I have not felt any return of it since and my limbs are as limber as they ever were." 50 cent bottles for sale by C. F. Moore & Co.
In a recent letter to the proprietors, Mr. H. M. Bangs, the druggist at Chatsworth, Ill., says: "I am very much pleased with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. During the epidemic of the grippe here it took the lead and was very much better liked than other cough medicines." The grip requires precisely the same treatment as a very severe cold, for which this remedy is so efficient. It will promptly loosen a cold and relieve the lungs, soon effecting a permanent cure, while most other medicines in common use for colds only give temporary relief. 50 cent bottles for sale by C. F. Moore & Co.
To my honest patrons and to whom it may concern: You will please call and settle all old accounts which are due, and past due, as I must have money immediately. Respectfully,
J. B. MOUNT.

Card.
I desire to express my gratitude to the donors of the fine gold pen, with which I now write for the first time, and assure them that I appreciate it more than if I had received it at the race, and shall keep the list of names of prominent citizens accompanying the pen, as long as I do the pen itself.

EDWARD CURRAN Pastor.
A Parting Gift.
When it was announced that Prof. and Mrs. Hartley had decided to leave, the students, although knowing they would do great good for the college in their new position, were saddened at the thought of parting with those who had proven themselves such firm friends of young people. A memento was given them in the way of a fine photograph album purchased by the students and faculty. Little Smith made the presentation one morning in chapel, with the following words: "On behalf of the teachers and students of Pacific College I wish to present to you a slight token of our love and friendship ere you leave us. Although we are saddened at the thought of parting, yet we trust, if it is God's will, we shall all meet again in the future." Prof. and Mrs. Hartley made short responses, expressive of their gratitude and appreciation of the manifestation of friendship. Not many words were said, but when the exercises closed, that feeling which cannot be described, had left many moist eyes in the assembly, and many hearts were made more tender and more in touch with humanity.
STUDENT.
Commencement Exercises of Pacific College.
The closing exercises of the academy have always been looked forward to with great anticipation and pride by the community in the past, and many pleasant memories still linger in the minds of the students and friends of the school, when fond recollections present to view the closing exercises of each succeeding year. As the time has drawn nearer and nearer for the closing of this year's work, however, additional interest has been felt in the first year of the college. Above every other interest of a public nature, the people of Newberg feel an especial pride for the closing of a year of the McMinnville public schools, and a man to say anything detrimental to the interests of this institution of learning, would be branded at once by every one as a traitor to the best interests of the town and community. Considering all these things it was not at all surprising that the attendance at all the different gatherings during the week was large.
On Sunday Dr. Jessup preached the "baccalaureate sermon" at the usual hour for worship, to a very large assemblage of people, who listened to the fine discourse of an hour's length with rapt attention. At the evening meeting President Newlin preached an excellent sermon on a line very appropriate to the occasion, to another large audience.

On Tuesday the entire day was taken up with field day sports, the program of which will be found below.
Tuesday evening the Crescent Society gave a literary entertainment which was enjoyed to the fullest extent by those in attendance, in spite of the fatigue of the day. The program was as follows:

NOTES.
J. E. Todd's uncle, Mr. Todd, and his son, also Mr. and Mrs. Kay, Mr. and Mr. Wallace and Mr. and Mrs. Todd, all of McMinnville, were in attendance field day.
The weather was all that could be asked for on Tuesday, and the crowd was large and correspondingly good natured. Numerous baby carriages were trundled over the campus, occupied by the college students of the future.
The music by the glee club was appreciated and heartily applauded.
Several young persons have been heard to say they are determined to attend the college next year. All on account of the inspiration gathered during the week. Good resolutions, these.
There must have been eight hundred people on the grounds field day, and everything went off as gay as a May day picnic.
The tennis playing was not very interesting to the majority present, as but few understood the game. Time will make a change in this however and the "racket" over tennis will be appreciated more next year.
Harry Allen's mouth flew open on all occasions ready to give the college yell.
Sam Jones (our Sam) carried off more prizes than anyone else and therefore received the prize as the best all 'round athlete. Sam worked for what he got, but he has good staying qualities.
The young people in their graduating orations acquitted themselves nobly and deserve great credit for the effort made. The only noticeable lack was a little halting to be prompted. They received a profusion of flowers and the hearty congratulations of everybody. The class and the glee club were photoed by Hobson in the evening.
Dr. Eurgon pulled for dear life at the last moment to help the college boyout in the tug of war, but delays are dangerous and he waited too late to save the cake. The boys had worked too hard during the day to pull on a rope.
While the footracing got up more excitement than anything else, many said they appreciated the ladies wand drill, and the pole vaulting most of all.
Mount Hood, the painting by Mrs. Hartley, was a noticeable feature of the decorations about the stage on Wednesday afternoon.
The address of President Newlin to the class, was simply a feast of fat things given out in the fewest number of words possible, and the contentment of the members of the class indicated that the seed sown, was falling on favorable soil. The audience appreciated the address and older people almost wished they were young again.
The weather was very pleasant on field day, but in the evening many unburned faces and hands were visible.
To say that Pacific College is growing in favor and popularity with the people every day, is putting it mild.
The pole vaulting by Edwards, Heater, and Baillie, was applauded heartily by everybody. It was very close between Edwards and Baillie, but the latter finally won.
On account of Baillie's diminutive proportions he surprised everybody in the prizes he carried off.
The boys were simply initiated in field day sports this year and although everybody was well satisfied with the day, better preparation will be made for next year.
It must have been a satisfaction to Dr. Jessup to witness the exercises of the week, inasmuch as he strongly urged the founding of the school and worked hard for it at a time when some said it was the height of folly to attempt such an undertaking. "Pacific College, U. S. A. Hurrah! hurrah!"
The small boys of the college played the old men a game of base ball and carried off a new ball and bat for their share of the fun. The old fellows have been carrying some limbs all week as their division of the profits. But what a lot of fun we did have, being young again.
If you have a young friend who has a prospect of attending college next year order that a new catalogue may be sent him.
The inauguration of the many field day sports has been largely due to the efforts of Prof. Jessup, who brought his inspiration in this line from Penn College.
To see young men and young ladies in the bloom of youth and strong in body and mind, finishing up a years work in school with appropriate exercises, this always is a happy occasion for both old and young.
A purse was made up and a gold pen and holder presented Miss Cox, owing to a misunderstanding on her part regarding the rules in the running race, which caused her to loose the prize.
Great interest was taken in the ladies' running and walking races. Mary Cook and Minnie Groff were the walkers, and Jessie Cox, Mattie Stratton and Lola Hunt the runners. The boys had better look out for the laurels next year, or they will be distanced by the ladies.
Rev. J. H. Douglas and wife returned from Salem in time to witness the commencement exercises, which they seemed to greatly enjoy.
What was nicer in appearance than the young ladies dressed in uniform in the wand drill on the tennis grounds.
