NEWBERG, YAMHILL CO., OREGON, FRIDAY, JUNE 24, 1892.

We're singing in the moonlight clear, Singing the old familiar tune; Open your casement, love, and hear The harp, the viol and bassoon; We're singing fa the garden, dear, Beneath the light of full orbed moon.

The shadows of the lime trees fall
Across the windows of your room;
The jasmin clarabers o'er the wall,
The honeysuckles are in bleom;
And round about, and over all,
The roses breathe their rich perfume.

Open your casement, love, and greet The minstrels of a summer night; I hear my own heart wildly heat, I see a fluttering form in white: Open the window softly, sweet,
And put the lime tree shades to flight,
