FRIDAY, APRIL 14, 1903.

Entered as second class matter at the post office at Newberg, Oregon.

The Patriot, a very neat six column folio has been launched upon the sea of journalism at Portland, Polk county.

According to the Western Pedagogue, Oregon has forty-four colleges, universities and academies. A long list for a state with as small a population as Oregon has.

AN INDIANA maiden died recently at the very immature age of 103 years. Grief for the loss of a lover, which occurred some 75 years ago, is said to be the cause of her death.

AN effort is being made to raise a fund of $50,000 for a new building for Pacific University at Forest Grove. The people of the Grove are asked to raise $15,000 and the remainder will be furnished from the outside.

AS AN evidence of the magic effect that proper drainage will have upon land, it is stated that the boggy, swampy tract in Marion county which two years ago was called Lake Labash has been reclaimed and is now covered with luxuriant growth of grass and grain.

EDITOR E. H. FLAGG, of the Salem Democrat arrived home from Washington City last Sunday. The Democrat don't say what the outlook is for knocking that desirable permanent. Just who the fellow is who yields the longest pole is what worries the boys to cipher out.

THE women of Illinois have been granted the right of franchise in municipal affairs. However, the legislature deferred this action till after the election of Chicago's world's fair mayor, who otherwise would probably have been a very different man from Carter Harrison.

IN OREGON that they may be ready for any emergency that may arise the civilized (?) nations of the world support 2,600,000 able bodied men in idleness, as soldiers, at an expense of $3,000,000,000. Is it any wonder that the producing classes in all these countries groan beneath the burden thus imposed upon them.

MAY there not be a little fish story mixed up with the very flattering reports from the O. P. railway. In February this line ran behind its earnings $9,169 but in March, under the new management it pays all expenses, for the first time in many months. Manager Hatley will be in big demand soon at this rate.

THE Chinese, as the first of May draws near, seem more determined to defy the Gary law than at any time since it was enacted. Circulars threatening the lives of any who should comply with the requirements of the law have been distributed in San Francisco. The matter seems to hinge on the question as to who is the bigger man in this country, Uncle Sam, or a lot of half barbarous foreigners who never have manifested any very remarkable tendency to fall into line with our laws.

THERE'S no better point than Heppner to make an investment. We mean where a man can make money with money, but the eternal gods, this "jawbone" business is ruining this country and will ruin any other where it is followed up. Heppner and Morrow county wants men with capital, brains and push, and the country will welcome them.—Heppner Gazette.

YES, but the "jawbone" fraternity are so much more plentiful every where than men "with capital, brains and push," that the long felt want is likely to continue.

THE April number of the Western Pedagogue, State School Journal of Oregon, reaches our desk. It is a splendid number. The leading features of the magazine are an able article from the pen of Pres. John M. Ross, president State Agricultural College, on Arithmetic Methods, "History of Education in Oregon" and the "Value of Literature in Teaching Morals." The last named article is from Pres. DeGarmo, of Swarthmore College. The journal contains besides other articles on educational topics by the leading teachers of Oregon, a "Current Events" department, "Pacific Slope School News" and the usual question box called "The Oracle Answers Queries." The people of the state interested in education may be glad to see this publication filled with new life, and prepared to promote the cause of education in Oregon. It well deserves patronage and encouragement. Only $1.00 per year.

DURING the driving hail storm yesterday a gentleman, judging from his rant and the general appearance of his outfit, was driving his horse in the face of the storm. The gentleman was at least partly protected by the buggy top and a lap robe, but the poor horse, with his head strapped back and held in a painfully high position by a short overhead check, was entirely unprotected, and the hail and rain beat cruelly upon his upturned face. Had the driver been a man, instead of a mere gentleman, he would at least have turned the horse with his back to the storm and waited a few minutes for it to subside. Were he a humane man he would discard the cruel and disfiguring overhead check, and if he did not do it the society for the prevention of cruelty to animals should compel him to do so. In some cities this practice has been stopped, and it might be stopped here with effort. Ignorance rather than lack of feeling is responsible for that barbarous custom. A great many would abandon it if convinced of its cruelty. Those who did not should have their heads strapped back four hours daily until they experienced a change of heart.—Oregonian.

THE people of Oregon and Washington will pay out $200,000 during the next two years for the protection and development of their militia. For the protection and development of the two great industries of fruit growing and dairying they will pay out only one-tenth as much during that time. No person of common sense can do more than pretend to believe that this is as it should be. That it is so should impress most strongly upon the mind of every dairyman and fruit grower in the two states the necessity of a thorough organization for the protection and promotion of the special industry in which he is engaged. If there had been a strong state dairy association in Washington with an active membership extending through every county in the state, the legislature would have treated with more consideration the proposed law against the sale of fraudulent butter produced as genuine in that state. The dairy-men's Association or Horticultural Society, as the case may be, is making a serious mistake. So long as these classes are unorganized they may expect that one militiaman will have more influence in securing legislation than ten dairymen or fruit growers, for the militia is an organization.—Rural Northwest.

IT is a well known fact throughout the state that the Oregon State Horticultural Society is ever alert to the interest of horticulture and unceasing in its efforts to place it in its proper position among the great industries. For some time a correspondence has been carried on with Prof. C. V. Riley, United States entomologist at Washington, with the idea in view of inducing him to visit this state. Great pains have been taken to show the necessity of and benefits to be derived from such a visit. While it is impossible for Mr. Riley to visit Oregon personally, he has kindly consented to send one of his special agents here to carefully study the situation and give the fruit growers and hop raisers the benefit of his long experience in the field with injurious and beneficial insects. Mr. Koebele, whom he sends, is the government agent at Alameda, Cal. It was Mr. Koebele who discovered and was instrumental in introducing into California the famous Verdalis Cordialis, or lady bird, which saved the orange trees of that state from the ravages of the Icerya purchasi, or cottony cushion scale. The government recently sent Mr. Koebele to Australia, Japan and other foreign countries to study and discover, if possible, other beneficial insects, and the result of this trip was the importation of many beneficial insects. Mr. Koebele has many charts illustrating various injurious and beneficial insects, with the assistance of which he will be able to give very interesting talks. Growers throughout the state should make every effort possible to hold meetings and urge Mr. Koebele to meet them. Much information can thus be gained, not only regarding insects, but also in regard to the quarantine laws in other states, the mode of working orchards, curing and handling fruit, and working up a market. It is to be regretted that Mr. Koebele cannot be present at the next quarterly meeting to be held at Eugene, but much benefit can be derived from his visit if the proper effort be made by those interested. Professor Riley's letter was delayed in the recent blockade, but upon its receipt he was wired to have Mr. Koebele come to the next meeting; but owing to previous engagements it will be impossible for him to reach Oregon before the latter part of April. A letter has been sent Mr. Koebele, and as soon as an answer is received preparations will be made to receive him. Any inquiries regarding his stay and wishes will be cheerfully answered by the secretary as soon as word is received from him.—Oregonian.

COUNTY COURT PROCEEDINGS.

The eighth annual convention of the W. C. T. U. of Yamhill county held in the Baptist church the 6th, 7th and 8th inst, though not so large as some was one of the most interesting conventions of the Union ever held in the county. The time was well improved, the forenoon sessions convening promptly at 8:30 o'clock and continuing until 12 o'clock. The afternoon sessions at 1:30 and adjourning at 5 and the evening sessions beginning at 7:30 o'clock. There were delegates from five unions in the county and visitors from Tualatin and Sherwood unions. Mrs. Harford, state organizer, Mrs. Unruh, L. T. L. organizer and Mrs. Cox, national organizer were present.

The officers elected for the ensuing year, were as follows: County President, Mrs. Whitmore; Recording Secretary, Mrs. N. A. Jacobs; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. O. C. Emery; Treasurer, Mrs. Fox, and Secretary of Y. work, Mrs. Cox.

An interesting feature of the convention was "A Model Union," conducted by Mrs. J. H. Townsend. One among the many good points advocated was the non-acceptance of verbal reports from the committees. The lecture delivered by Mrs. Cox on Thursday evening was one of special interest and showed that the speaker's whole heart was in the work. Mrs. Cox as a public speaker can be excelled by few of the day. Her argument is strong and her delivery and eloquence are alike good. On Friday night the audience was entertained by addresses by Mrs. Harford on the subject of "Woman's Suffrage," Miss Howard on "Physical Culture," and Dr. Cady on "Social Purity." These addresses were greatly appreciated. The convention adjourned Saturday morning, the last half hour being devoted to a praise service.

The delegates were escorted to the train by a number of the ladies of Newberg Union. As the train rolled off the young ladies of the union showed after it flowers. The convention gave to all in regular attendance renewed vigor to "keep the ball a rolling." REPORTER.

FROM OUR EXCHANGES.

The saloon business in Dayton and Lafayette has not been very prosperous this winter. One reason of this has been on account of revival and temperance meetings which have been in progress a great part of the time in the two places.—Dayton Herald.

W. T. Hash says that he will have to use flat boats to take his men to work on the roads. He has so many applicants for work that he will have to hire an assistant to help him distribute patronage. He is nearly as much besieged as is Cleveland by office seekers.—Dayton Herald.

Austin Dee and Harvey Bogue have put up a telephone between their houses and are as tickled over it as little boys with their first pants. It is a good one though and no mistake, as you can hear the ticking of a clock or a watch and even a whisper quite distinctly. It enters the dining room and they sit at the table and exchange cream pie for fried eggs, etc. No more going out at night but soles on the violin and French harp of evenings, and last but not least of the advantage of the telephone is that one baby does for two families.—Tel-Register.

An exchange says you'd scarce expect one of my age in merchandising to engage and hope to get a paying trade, without the local papers aid. And yet I did that very thing; I opened up a store last spring—this month the sheriff took my stock, and sold it from the auction block. Don't view me with a scornful eye, but simply say as I pass by, "There goes a fool who seemed to think he had no use for printer's ink." There is a truth as broad as earth, and business men should know it worth; 'tis simply this, the public buys its goods from those who advertise.

Funny examples of moss-backism come to light in the news of the newspapers of Oregon. A local paper of this state warns its readers that eastern Quakers are trying to secure land to establish a colony in the vicinity of its town, and remarks that as "such a movement would do but of no benefit to our city's development," the citizens should be on the lookout in every direction—inferentially to prevent the calamity hinted at. The paper which contained this remarkable item is very properly named the "Popgun."—Rural Northwest.
