FRIDAY, MAY 12, 1903.

Entered as second class matter at the post office at Newberg, Oregon.

The supreme court has decided the prohibition law of North Dakota constitutional and valid.

It is stated that the Polk County District Fair Association is making arrangements to have a fast horse meeting June 15, 16, and 17. That is all right but why do they call it a "District Fair Association?"

When it comes to a tilt between a real estate man and a newspaper it is more than likely to result in the defeat of the manipulator of land values, especially if his moral foundation is a trifle shaky. Instance, the Shaw persecution of the Salem Journal.

Just why any woman should want to marry a criminal is hard to understand. And yet such a transaction took place in the court house at McMinnville recently. A young woman marrying a man who all his life has been a tough, and who at this time is serving a thirty days term for carrying concealed weapons.

SAM. L. SIMPSON, Oregon's poet and all round newspaper man, who for several years has devoted his time and earnings to the support of the saloon, has just finished a course of treatment at a Portland institution, and feels confident of his ability to cope with his foe. There is probably not a newspaper man in Oregon who will not wish to see Sam's faith verified.

While Elsie Wright, of McMinnville, is a heavy weight when avowedly considered, he is certainly not a light weight financially. It seems to be a common thing to hear of his being connected with the building of a new brick in McMinnville. The Reporter says his latest is a two story brick 60x80 feet. The contract has been let and the rooms are all rented in advance.

THE POST OFFICE department has established a postal station inside the World's Fair grounds, in the United States Government Building. Here everyone can post letters, buy stamps and receive mail, as at any other post-office. There will be a quick and accurate delivery. Many of the state buildings will also arrange to have mail addressed to their care, brought to them by special messenger for distribution to visitors.

An exchange says that "laying on hands" for complaint, especially in children is now taking the place of Christian science. A mother cured her boy of the cigarette habit with one dose. She laid her hand on the boy's neck, her right hand on a substantial slipper—and then laid the slipper where it would do the most good. It effected a cure and a relapse is not looked for.

The Harrisburg Courier has the following get off which is not altogether out of place: "Backward, turn backward, O time in thy flight, give us July just for tonight; we are disgusted with snow and ice; hear our rich warble and take our advice; turn back the clock until it reads August one, give us some good dog days, and give us some sun; give us mosquitoes and give us the flies, but turn on some heat before everyone dies; bring back our straw hats and good linen pants; give us a chance to live, give us a chance."

The captain of the British bark Lindores Abbey, which sailed from Portland early in December for England, reports that on February 8, while rounding the Horn they encountered a most wonderful field of icebergs. It took them 24 hours to pass them, sailing during that time 180 miles in a northeasterly direction. They could see the icebergs on both sides as far as the eye could reach. Some of them were more than a mile long and 150 to 250 feet in height. While passing some of them the cracking and falling of pieces made a noise like the report of artillery firing.

The Sunday dinner put up for the prisoners at the city jail in Portland last Sunday was not exactly satisfactory to the boys and they made a kick. They declared the meat was "tainted" and that it smelled bad. Chief Hunt examined the meat and pronounced it O. K. and ordered it sent back. It was returned in another large pan and the prisoners pronounced it the "proper stuff." The boys raised another howl, however, when they found they had eagerly devoured the "tainted meat." Baked chicken and roast turkey would no doubt be appreciated by the prisoners but it could hardly be furnished at 9 cents a head.

WE HAVE wondered if we were more mercenary in our inclinations than newspaper men generally, but the long and vigorous protests of some of our esteemed exchanges of late has set our mind at rest on this point. It is discouraging, for a fact, to furnish some fellows a paper for two or three years without any visible evidence of their appreciation except when they call to inform us that we "missed this" or "that" this season of the year, just between hay and grass, as you might say, when everything we saved from last year has been devoured, and the backward spurring indicates that we must raise our provender in some other way than by hand.

In view of the fact that many young women will probably go to the world's fair unattended this summer, a circular of warning has been issued by a number of humane and philanthropic societies of Chicago. In the first place it warns parents and guardians against letting their daughters or charges attend the fair unless accompanied by some one competent to protect them. It also warns young women against the wiles and deceits by which they are liable to be led astray, and mentions some of the plans already being adopted to capture the unwary, such as advertisements in the papers for "help wanted," "quiet resorts for ladies," etc. The statement is further made that the hospitals and schools and even the higher institutions of learning in the city and surrounding country are being canvassed for fresh victims. The warning is timely, and should be heeded by parents who may feel tempted to risk the honor of their children by allowing them to go unattended to the great exposition.

The state prison board has purchased the stove foundry at the penitentiary of the Northwestern Foundry Company. The price paid was $40,000. Active work of manufacturing stoves by the state will commence at once and a full force of hands will be put on as soon as the necessary material arrives. Considering the increase in the criminal list it looks like there would be no lack of hands. The foundry for all it is worth. The boys will probably have something to do in the future beside turning handprints in the prison yard to keep a good appetite.

It is an undeniable fact that there is more snow now in the mountains than there has been at this season of the year for many years past. A continuation of the present cool weather will allow the snow to gradually melt and not cause such a great flood in the Columbia river and its tributaries as it would should the snow melt rapidly under the influence of a sudden warm period. Precautions should be taken by all liable to be affected by a flood in the Columbia. From June 15th to 30th is usually the period of the highest water in Columbia river.

THE MINNESOTA LEGISLATURE.

Looking After the Alum and Ammonia Baking Powders.

A bill for an act in relation to the manufacture and sale of baking powders, to prevent fraud and preserve the public health has been introduced in the legislature at St. Paul. The bill is intended to prevent adulteration of baking powders with Alum or Ammonia, imposing proper penalties to enforce the law.

Dr. O. S. Binswanger, Professor Chemistry etc., medical department University of Oregon, made an examination some time ago of the baking powders found in the Portland stores; the result of which appeared in the Oregonian. Dr. Binswanger then expressed himself as follows:

"I have just finished an analysis of the principal baking powders sold in this market, with the following startling results:

"Hercules." This powder contains ammonia.
"Crystal." This powder contains alum.
"Double Quick." This powder contains alum.
"Silver Star." This powder contains alum.
"White Lily." This powder contains alum.

"Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder." This is a pure cream of tartar powder and contains neither alum nor ammonia.

It will be observed that Dr. Price's was found by Dr. Binswanger to be a pure cream of tartar baking powder and the only brand free from alum, ammonia or any impurity.

Following is a list of the more widely known brands that Dr. Drew, chemist for the Minnesota State Dairy and Food Commission, as well as other chemists of high standing, have examined and found to contain Alum, some of which contain both Alum and Ammonia. Many of the Alum and Ammonia powders are labeled and advertised as "absolutely pure" to mislead the public. The condemned powder given in this list are sold pretty generally through Oregon and Washington:

"Calumet," "Forest City," "Grant's Bon Bon," "Hotel," "Globe," "Puritan," "Snow Ball," "Government," "Palace," "Loyal," "Columbia," "Home," "Mourner," "Unrivalled," "Chicago Yeast," "Echo," "Perfection," "White Rose," "Hatchet," "Crown."

In addition to above list, there are many brands sold with a prize. It is safe to report all baking powders sold with a prize, as the tests show they are composed largely of Alum and cost but a few cents a pound. Also refuse any baking powder sold for twenty-five cents a pound, or less; it is sure to contain Alum.

Surely nothing but their cheapness could induce the public to experiment with these impure powders at the risk of health. Aside from the question of the health or wholesomeness of these condemned powders, and viewed from the standpoint of economy alone, a pure cream of tartar baking powder, such as Dr. Binswanger and other high authorities report Dr. Price's to be and from its greater known strength and unquestioned purity should prove more economical to the user in every way.

FLOWER SHOW.

First Semi-Annual Flower Show to be held in the Portland Industrial Exposition building under the auspices of the Floral department Oregon State Horticultural Society, June, 1903.

The executive committee of the floral department has completed its work on the premium list, and rules and regulations governing the flower show, which will be held in the Industrial Exposition building in June. They are now prepared to give any information required except as to the exact time of the exhibit, which must be determined by the season, though it is expected to be about the middle of June, and will hold three days.

The society is desirous that every part of the state may be represented in some manner, and have offered inducements through a liberal list of premiums, also a proposition for the benefit of the public school children of the state, through the county superintendent, offering a gold medal of the value of $25.00, to the pupil under 15 years of age of any graded school, and one of equal value to the pupil of an ungraded school, for the best essay on the subject "What I Think About Flowers." The two best essays selected will be read at the June exhibit, forming a part of the program at one of the evening entertainments.

of the Blue mountains. In the Columbia river valley by another week most of the seedling will be done. Wire worms are doing damage to the wheat in parts of Sherman county. In parts of Morrow county the ground squirrel is very destructive. The wheat acreage is being increased especially in Morrow, Gilliam and Lake counties. Fruit trees are generally in full bloom and leaf throughout the Columbia river valley, while in the interior the buds are swelling and are almost ready to burst forth. Peaches have been injured about Milton. While the seedling is late, present prospects indicate an excellent wheat harvest. The cold season has been injurious to the lamb crop, in some of the interior counties the loss in young lambs has been 35 per cent. Sheep shearing is in full blast in many localities. Poplars are in leaf in the Columbia river valley. The grass has excellent growth and stock are improving.

RULES.

1st. Roses must be exhibited in boxes of the following dimensions: For twelve roses: Length, 2 feet; breadth, 1 foot 6 inches. For six roses: Length, 1 foot 3 inches; breadth, 1 foot 6 inches; height back, 7 inches; front 5 inches.

2nd. Each exhibit must consist of distinct varieties, without added foliage, and the name of each rose must appear on cards three inches in length by one inch wide. Duplicates of any variety in any box will disqualify.

3rd. Exhibitors must be in place on the tables at the exposition building on the day of the show, not later than 11 a. m., when the exhibitor will be furnished a number for each box. Exhibits will be numbered by the secretary consecutively in the order of their arrival, and the prizes will be awarded by numbers. The names of the exhibitors shall not appear on the boxes until after the prizes are awarded.

4th. Exhibitors must leave the building at 11 a. m., when the judges, three in number and appointed by the executive committee, will examine the exhibits and award prizes, and at one o'clock p. m., the flower show will be open to the public.

5th. No exhibitor shall be awarded more than one prize in any one of the above competitions.

6th. "Amateurs" is intended to mean those who do not sell, or grow flowers for sale.

Intending exhibitors must give notice in writing not later than June first, with their full names and addresses and number of classes. The committee will provide assistants to unpack and stage exhibits for competitors who cannot be present, but no responsibility can be taken for errors. Packages which are to be unpacked and staged by the committee should be accompanied by instructions to that effect. The committee will not be responsible for any loss or damage to exhibits in transit or at the place of exhibit. The judges will have the right to withhold any prizes where the exhibits may be considered unworthy of reward, or one which may happen to be unopposed and not necessarily be entitled to a claim. The committee would suggest that all competitors for the rose prizes will provide themselves with tin tubes for placing the roses in boxes, samples of which, also circulars giving full information, may be had by applying to the secretary, Mrs. M. E. Shafford, No. 340 Morrison St., Portland, Or.

FEED AND CARE OF CHICKS.

Just about this particular period the average farmer's wife is jubilating. She is rejoicing because the old speckled hen has come off with a nice little bunch of bright chicks—eight or more. She smilingly informs old lady, Speck, that she is a very superior piece of poultry and proudly declares that the chicks are the finest, brightest and strongest ever hatched on the farm.

Now the question is what are you going to do with them—feed them water and shorts or bran? No way no. You can feed them boiled eggs if you want to, but it is not necessary. Don't feed them until they are twenty-four hours old, then if you have some scraps of stale bread, biscuit or Johnny cake and bits of cold potato—and you will have if you save them up—moisten them with milk, add a little bone meal and feed them five times a day for the first ten days. After this begin feeding wheat and cracked corn. If you don't happen to have any scraps on hand make a cake from corn meal, oat meal and bran with sour milk or buttermilk with saleratus and a pinch of salt. Pinhead oatmeal and rolled oats are among the best of feeds for young chicks.

Look carefully after the drinking vessels. Have them washed out often and give plenty of fresh water and milk. Milk is a whole lot of itself. Do not allow food to lie in the sun and get sour. Sour food causes bowel trouble. If you use old fruit cans discard them when they commence to corrode as oxide of tin is developed which in many cases brings on diarrhea.

If you are troubled with minks, skunks or rats, you ought to have a coop made in your hen-house or other outbuilding. Make top and sides of lath half an inch apart. Put in a floor and small gate. Keep the chicks in it nights and wet days and next winter you can sing:

It is from the nest the boys have taken Eggs to put in cake and fry with bacon. Don't use an empty barrel laid on its side with a couple lath in front as a coop. The results are liable to be disastrous.

Be on the alert for lice. This lurking foe is the cause of so many stunted chicks. The lice will sap the life blood out of the chicks as fast as you can feed it into them. Dust them with insect powder and grease the head with a very little lard. So much for the comfort of our pets. The feed and care of fowls I may write about in some future number of the Rural Northwest. I should like to see about one fourth of this valuable paper devoted to this industry.—Chas. McLennen, in Rural Northwest.

FRUIT GROWERS UNITE AT SALEM.

SALEM, Or., May 9.—Quite a large number of fruit growers met at the court house today to perfect organization for mutual benefit, somewhat similar to those now in successful operation in numerous localities in California. To sell direct to fruit centers and do away with middlemen, are the prime results sought to be attained by such a movement. Fruit growers in attendance at the meeting represented 838 acres of orchard. J. M. Wallace was elected chairman and F. J. Beatty secretary. The growers decided to incorporate the Willamette Valley Fruitgrowers' Exchange. The object of this incorporation is to deal in various fruits grown in the Willamette valley; to handle the same upon commission, properly grade, pack and ship and do such other acts as will facilitate the growing, grading, packing, shipping and selling of fruits, both dried and green. The capital stock will be $10,000, divided into 2,000 shares. The subscription of stock shall be limited to one share for each acre of trees, vines and berries owned. The principal office is to be at Salem, and the affairs of the exchange are to be managed by a board of nine directors. The incorporators are: James R. Shepard, Chas. Long, J. A. Van Eaton, H. W. Cottle and R. F. Myers. Within a quarter of an hour after adjournment, $1,980 of stock had been subscribed.—Oregonian.

There is one sure preventive of moths and one which I have never seen mentioned, says a writer. It is tansy. Sprinkle the leaves freely about your woollens and furs, and the moths will never get into them. When I was a child my grandmother used to send me to the tansy patch on the hill with a large basket in which to bring home plenty of tansy leaves. In the garret were five large hair-covered trunks studded with brass nails, filled with her best blankets, coverlets, flannel sheet, etc., some of them had never been used until my grandmother had grandchildren, notwithstanding she always had a large family to provide beds for. But the supply of her bedding, linen and other household articles was in excess of the demand. This large amount of bedding, tablecloths and linen sheets were spun and woven in her father's house, and the girls were given full liberty to take all they were willing to make up for themselves. That was part of their marriage dower. I can well remember how grandmother took the extra supply out of those trunks in the garret once a year, lung the articles on a clothes line down in the orchard, beat them, and then put them away again to lie amid the tansy leaves until another year. The fourth generation of her posterity are sleeping under those same blankets and blue and white coverlets now, which proves the efficacy of that remedy of the olden time.

Wm. T. Booth retired from the blacksmith business on Monday. He sold out to C. G. Wallin, late of Texas. Mr. Booth has been in business in this city for about twenty years, and for sixteen years in the present location. To a young man this seems a long time to stick to one business and one location, but it is to such that success and a competency come.—Telephone Register.

Gentlemen:

On arriving home last week, I found all well and anxiously awaiting. Our little girl, eight and one-half years old, who had wasted away to 38 pounds, is now well, strong and vigorous, and well fleshed up. S. B. Cough Cure has done its work well. Both of the children like it. Your S. B. Cough Cure has cured and kept away all our troubles from me. So give it to every one, with greetings for all. Wishing you prosperity, we are Yours, Mr. & Mrs. J. F. Ford.
