NEWBERG GRAPHIC.

ISSUED EVERY FRIDAY MORNING. EDITORS AND PUBLISHERS: E. H. WOODWARD AND OLM. C. EMERY. FRIDAY, JULY 14, 1893.

Entered as second class matter at the post office at Newberg, Oregon. OLD-TIME SCHOOL EXHIBITIONS. Oh, the old school exhibitions, will they ever come again.

Why can't Newberg have a states picnic? It has been mentioned a number of times in the past year or two, but it has never been held, owing to the fact that nobody takes the lead in it.

Wool at ten to twelve cents per pound is not inclined to make the wool grower feel very jubilant when he figures on his last year's store bill.

OREGONIANS are economizing as never before. The lesson we are learning will no doubt be a valuable one, if we will only keep it in mind in the future.

The nights remain so cool that the regulation winter supply of bedding is required in order to keep up the proper circulation; and oh, how a fellow can sleep these mornings, with no pesky house flies to tickle his nose.

FARMERS will need to feed their "punks" pretty high this season as the fair comes off early which will cut the usual seasons growth short by about a couple of weeks.

WOOLEN manufacturers are only buying wool enough to fill orders as the prospect for free wool assures them of low prices for wool. The wool grower must take ten to twelve cents for his wool and pay the same old prices for his clothing.

THE Salem Democrat says: Superintendent Rowland's report that seventeen patients were discharged from the institution during the month; eight died and five eloped. The number received during the month was forty-seven, including two who had previously escaped.

ON Thursday night of last week one of the most deadly cyclones ever known in the history of the world started at Quincy, Iowa, and ended at Pomeroy in the same state. At least eighty persons were killed and a hundred more were injured and property to the amount of $600,000 was destroyed.

FRANK G. CARPENTER, the famous traveler and newspaper correspondent, pays the following compliment to the west. Mr. Carpenter touches upon a very common misconception which the east has of the west: "You people of the east of the United States cannot understand how these cities of the west spring into being. You imagine them crude, and you look upon their people as semi-barbarians.

ains down to mole hills with their iron grip, and have made what were worthless sand hills such valuable residence sites that they may be called hills of gold."

THE wreck of the whaleback steamer, "Charles W. Wetmore" was sold at public auction last week for $280, and the cargo went for six dollars. This is one of the steamers that was to revolutionize steam navigation on the high seas.

LET'S HAVE A STATES PICNIC.

Why can't Newberg have a states picnic? It has been mentioned a number of times in the past year or two, but it has never been held, owing to the fact that nobody takes the lead in it.

"Two or three thousand people were on the fair grounds yesterday. The most of these were there for the purpose of attending the states picnic, which was in every way a success.

The midsummer Cosmopolitan, the first at the new price of 12 1/2 cents per copy, though unchanged in size, excels any other issue of that magazine in the number of its distinguished contributors, in the interest of its contents and in its overflowing illustrations by famous artists.

THE speeches were listened to with interest. Everybody had lots of praise to give his native state, but no matter how glowing the description it was always wound up by saying that Oregon was a little bit better.

OREGON FRUIT FAIR.

As it is now certain that California will hold a midwinter fair in San Francisco during the coming winter, the question is, What ought Oregon to do about it? Mr. George H. Himes, in a letter to the Oregonian, says:

THE temperature continues to remain cool, and much below the average. It is seldom that the maximum temperature rose above 75 degrees. Partly cloudy to cloudy weather prevailed, with several general rain showers.

THE rains were of great benefit to the cereal and fruit crop, but detrimental to the laying which is now in progress. Clover hay is very heavy, timothy is not so heavy, but is a good average. The cheat hay is a good crop in many localities.

"A fair, as indicated, would give an impetus to the fruit interest of this state to an extent altogether beyond any other plan that can be conceived, and would give those who go to and from California the privilege of seeing what we can do. In quantity, of course, we could not hold a comparison; but in quality we could easily hold our own."

AN OREGON GRIZZLEY.

THE grizzly bear is nearly a thing of the past in Oregon, but occasionally one is heard from. The Tidings, of Ashland, tells the following: George Farlow, who is in town this week from the ranch of Farlow Bros., on upper Butte creek, tells of some fun the ranchers in that neighborhood have been having with bears this spring and summer.

ROYAL CHINOOK.

THE Chicago Inter Ocean of June 29th says: Yesterday the Oregon commission sliced a Royal Chinook salmon weighing seventy-two pounds into steaks to be distributed among their Chicago friends.

CROP-WEATHER BULLETIN NO. 16.

On July 3rd a request was sent to the correspondents to make a special report on the present condition of the fruit, the prospects and what insects, if any, are present.

WESTERN OREGON.

The temperature continues to remain cool, and much below the average. It is seldom that the maximum temperature rose above 75 degrees.

THE rains were of great benefit to the cereal and fruit crop, but detrimental to the laying which is now in progress. Clover hay is very heavy, timothy is not so heavy, but is a good average.

AN ancient custom has been revived in the cities and towns in Canada. This is the ringing of the curfew. In olden times the curfew was rung at nightfall, at which time all fires were covered, lights extinguished, and the people retired to rest.

FRUIT.

THE reports concerning the fruit crop are not encouraging. The heavy rains during the time the fruit was in blossom did most of the injury and late frosts materially assisted in cutting down the yield.

cultivation. Many of the correspondents report some orchards as good crops, others no crop. There is a marked absence of insects, but this can be accounted for from the fact that warm bright sunshine is a necessary requisite to develop them.

"Keep pegging away." That was Mr. Lincoln's favorite advice to the Union general when he got into a tight place. It is good advice to follow now. The times are tight, but keep pegging away.
