The Indians in some parts of Oregon, notably at Grant, have been offering ponies for sale at from $2.50 to $7.00 per head.

A. D. Childress, manager of the clearing house at Los Angeles, has resigned at the solicitation of the clearing-house banks.

The depositors in the Los Angeles City Bank, it is said, will not get 25 cents on the dollar, owing to the loose methods of business employed.

The Spokane Bar Association is urging the claims of Montana, Idaho and Eastern Washington to a sitting of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals and the location of Spokane as desirable for all concerned.

Charles Johnson, a member of an extensive gang of freight-car thieves working between San Francisco and Sacramento, has been arrested at the latter city. The other thieves will probably be taken in a few days.

Ling Sing, a Christianized Chinese, who has been employed on the revenue cutter Oliver Wolcott for ten years as the Captain's private steward, has been arrested on board that vessel at Etos Townsend for smuggling opium into the United States from British Columbia.

When the man's apartments were searched last night, the opium was found concealed beneath his bunk.

The people of Yuma and vicinity held a mass meeting recently, and unanimously agreed to petition the United States Attorney-General Olney not to appeal to the United States Supreme Court the Algodones land-grant case, recently decided in favor of the claimants.

The reasons given are that the settlers on the grant are perfectly satisfied with the decision.

Notwithstanding the world's great mechanical progress there are wine districts in France, Spain and Italy where the grapes are still taken with large beet and made into wine.

The British insurance companies during the year 1892 received in premiums $1,518,067, and paid out in losses $11,062,967. The expenses and commissions paid by the companies are placed at over $5,700,000.

A writer has figured out that the United States produces 2,200 pounds of grain to each inhabitant; Denmark, 2,905; France, 2,559; Germany, 1,200; Romania, 1,150; Spain, 1,100; France, 900; Sweden, 980; Argentine Republic, 890; Australia, 760; Germany, 700; Belgium, 670; Portugal, 530; Ireland, 500; Scotland, 400; England, 390.

In speaking of Oregon being unrepresented in the National Board of the Chicago Tribune of a late date remarks:

"The Oregonian's National Board of Commissioners is ill, and his alternate resigned. To this resignation the Governor paid no heed. Oregon's other Commissioner is not in the city, and the Governor's refusal to notify the President of the vacancy in the commission leaves Oregon without a spokesman. Oregonians are fearful that they will be ill in the nation's eyes, and in passing of awards, and have asked the National Commission to take such action as will result in Oregon having a voice in the body's deliberations."

One of the most important features presented to visitors is the magnificent educational exhibit, now fully open and complete, in the department of liberal arts, which is the State of Oregon. Territories are creditably represented. Particularly are the most distant States well represented, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and of these no exhibit is more attractive than that presented by the State of Oregon. Its specific characteristics are numerous and many of them unique, and at once hold the attention of the passer-by. In the department of ornithology there is a magnificent display of all the game birds of Oregon elegantly mounted. There are free-hand and mechanical drawings and photographs of the birds, and a large number of the higher institutions of learning the State University, the State Agricultural College, the Oregon State University lead in their exhibits. The entire exhibit is a tribute to the enterprise, skill and ability of the teachers and schools of the Web-foot State.

One of the most attractive exhibits to the public in the mines and mining building is the model or miniature hydraulic placer mine in the Oregon section, which as a drawing card to the general public is only surpassed by the silver statue of "Justice." The placer mine consists of a bed of gravel about fifteen feet long and six feet wide, with sluiceway through the middle. A small hydraulic ram throws a vigorous stream of water against the gravel bank, carrying the dirt down the sluiceway where the gold is caught by the riffle placed crosswise in the box. A number of Oregon placer-mining properties gave the gravel, 100 sacks of 150 pounds each coming from the following properties: Logrum & Baker, Centennial and Willow Springs in Willow Springs district; Davenport in the Davenport district; on the opening of some gravel from the Basin mine, the property of Captain George of Portland, was worked over; a clean-up was made after each bag was worked, but the gold was allowed to remain in the boxes in order to give visitors an insight into the system of placer-mining. A final clean-up was made late in the afternoon, which netted about one ounce of gold dust and two nuggets weighing about one-eighth of an ounce each. This special attraction is in charge of F. H. Rowe, superintendent of the Oregon mining exhibit.—New York Engineering and Mining Journal.
