FRIDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1893.

Entered as second class matter at the post office at Newberg, Oregon.

A NEWSPAPER war is imminent at Dallas. Sort of a three-cornered fight with an eleven em base.

THE people of California have a commendable way of referring to their reform school as the "state school."

A NEW company of the O. N. G. has been organized and placed in command of one Blumenrother. What peculiar names some of these American patriots have.

AN exchange fiend who read in one of our exchanges that an eleven pound girl had been born to Mrs. Maire, wanted to know if the new arrival couldn't properly be called a colt.

WHEN there isn't any new "compromise" scheme or railroad wreck to make scare lines of, the daily papers tell us that "Rio is bombarded again." There won't be much left of Rio soon, at the present rate.

THERE are fewer G. A. R. members in Idaho than in Oregon. Rev. Kellerman, the Salem preacher who sat down so hard on the G. A. R. last memorial day, has been appointed presiding elder of the Idaho district.

THE "channel to the sea" doesn't seem to be sufficiently wide to admit of much uncertain pilotage. The Peter Iredale, heavily laden with wheat, grounded two or three times near Tongue point in the Columbia last week.

IT IS quite the thing now for a railroad to get into a receiver's hands. The Union Pacific is the last added to list. For the encouragement of what few railroads are yet unreceived we might mention that we wouldn't mind receiving a railroad ourselves.

WHISKY will do a whole lot for a man if he once gets in its way. Franklyn Deye, and old newspaper man, who is said to be well educated, intelligent, a good elocutionist and able to speak several languages, was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary by Judge Burnett last week, for forging a check for $15.00. All because of whisky.

THE world's fair seems to be a pretty fair American show, but doesn't attract as much of the "world" as was probably intended. A second hand duke or two and a cigarette smoking princess from Spain, and a French gentleman, Mr. Shanks, from Dublin, are about the only real tony visitors that Americans have had an opportunity to see at the fair this year.

IF THERE is any one thing that is more pleasant than another to McMahan of the Salem Independent, it is to expose some scheme or trickery or evidence of rottenness in a public official. Just now he is after superintendent Downing, of the pen, and he makes some charges that would be very unpalatable to most people. If the charges are untrue Mc ought to be made to shut up, and if they are true, somebody else ought to be given a chance to practice on the prisoners a while.

IT IS stated that Fred Merrill, the bicycle man of Portland expects to perfect a "skycycle" or flying machine in which he will ride from Portland to San Francisco during the midwinter fair. We are informed that only a few minor changes are necessary to make the machine a success, but for all that, we are afraid that if the midwinter fair is to depend upon Fred's machine for success it will prove to be as great a fizzle as G. Cleveland's monster aggregation now on exhibition at Washington, D. C.

AT THE last meeting of the county court it was decided not to allow any claims in any Justice transcript in any criminal proceeding unless the prosecuting witness has given sufficient bonds for the costs of the prosecution, or the proceedings have been conducted under the direction of the district attorney. This, it is thought, will cut down the number of boarders at Sheriff Warren's hotel and thus save the county a big unnecessary expense. It has been so in the past that because of some little prejudice a case might be brought in Justice court, and the plaintiff, if he did not wish to stand trial and could not give a bond would be sent to the county jail only to be released, in a good many instances, when the district court convened, because there was no real ground for a case. The action of the county court is commendable, and will no doubt result in quite a saving to the county.

WHILE the senate isn't doing anything else lately it falls to making amendments to the Geary law, making class legislation in favor of the photographers.

THE Oswego Iron Worker thinks it would be much more sensible if the people of Oregon would give the new battleship Oregon a good library than to present a silver service. The library would be of benefit to all while the silver service would only be of use to the officers when they decided to make a splurge. The idea is worthy serious consideration.

THE fellows who have been all along working to force a new issue of government bonds have at last been partially successful. It hasn't been a question of gold and silver standard with them, but a question of more bonds to speculate in. By the compromise measure adopted at the cabinet meeting last week these fellows get the half-loaf which is always better than none, and while silver will still be bought and coined in a limited amount during Cleveland's administration, a hundred million dollars of 3 per cent bonds are to be added to our five hundred million interest bearing bonds now outstanding.

IT IS no doubt a very profitable business, this smuggling of Chinese and opium, provided always that neither the smuggler nor the officials get caught at it. The profit is not so great, however, when the little game is blocked, as in case of the steamer Haytien Republic, which is soon to be sold to pay the fines assessed against her by the U. S. district court of Oregon. We don't hear of anything being done with the officials at Portland who assisted the smugglers to land their cargo. A gang of that kind who would betray a public trust ought to be made to suffer for it more dearly than a black hulked free booter, but as a usual thing they do not get what they deserve.

ON THE ROAD.

Well, here we are on board the palatial Northern Pacific railroad train bound for the big circus at Chicago. The Northern runs a big train suited to all classes. You can take the palatial Pullman, the day coach, the smoker or the tourist car, as your purse or fancy dictates, all the same as you enter a meat shop and order a sirloin, porterhouse, round, a soup bone, or lastly a piece of liver, when your friends are not around. Travel has been heavy lately but we happen to have a light passenger list and consequently lots of room. It is really wonderful the number of people there are in the world of late years and they that come from everywhere and go to the ends of the earth. We have on board the typical woman who staid in Oregon a whole month, got enough of that horrid rainy country and is now on her way back to Minnesota. She knows more about Oregon than we can tell after thirteen years residence in the state and all argument is useless. Her meek husband, who seems to be along to look after the children, ventured the remark that it was the assurance of rains that made Oregon a great country but he bows to the will of the majority and takes the back track for Minnesota.

Mrs. Tait, of Moscow, Idaho, with whom Miss Anise Brown boarded and at whose house she was lately married, joined us at Spokane Falls. She is the lady who a few years ago, while going east over the Union Pacific, had her ticket stolen and was put off the train at Green River in the snow and slush at three o'clock in the morning. Every house in town was full, there being sixteen murder cases on trial that week, and she walked the streets until morning to keep warm. Rather an unpleasant experience for a woman in a town of that character but she pulled through all right and the railroad compromised with her by paying her $500 damages. The conductor and porter were discharged as they were thought to be guilty of the theft.

We kept our eyes on Pasco for a short time yesterday. Real estate men are said to be selling an occasional Pasco lot to eastern suckers. A Cincinnati man paid $1,000 for a vacant lot across the railroad from the town, no doubt thinking he was making a big profitable investment in the far northwest. He will be wiser when he comes out to see Pasco and realize on his investment.

Spokane Falls has made a phenomenal growth in the past few years and still seems to be on the move.

Passengers from the Palouse country say they have had heavy rains that have interfered very much with harvesting and injured grain very badly. Much grain is still not cut. Through Montana we see many fields of grain in the shock, while the mountain sides are white with snow and patches of white still remain in some places along the track. It was cool and bracing this morning with some ice but the sky is clear as June and the sun shining warm and pleasant this noon.

Pete Larsen, of Helena, the old time stage driver of by gone days is on our train. He retired of course with the coming of the railroad but he is ten times a millionaire. Those who know him say he lives in very plain style in Helena, on the plainest diet and thus keeps his health which many wealthy men fail to do. Nothing pleases him more than to get a few of his old time friends around him and relate incidents of the old days of the stage driver through this mountainous country. His incidents in connection with the vigilants would fill a volume. The roots and branches of one tree that stood at Helena and on which no less than thirty men were hanged, have been divided among the old timers as mementoes of days when juries and judges were never bought.

Cattle and horses along our route are in good condition and appear to be in good shape for a severe winter, should one come.

Passengers seldom see wild animals anymore while crossing the continent. A single coyote is all we have sighted so far but he looked hearty and well contented with his lot. Everybody on the train seems to be having a jolly good time and they all speak highly of the Northern Pacific and the accommodations they furnish the traveling public. The upholstered tourist cars are a great improvement over the old style and are models of neatness and comfort for those who desire to furnish their own meals, and get a good bed for a nominal sum.

A number of our party are bound for the World's Fair and are bent on having a good time. It is a slack time for venders of peanuts and "specimens," as all passengers appear to have salted all their change down in the bottom of their pockets for distribution at Chicago where it will do the most good. First call for dinner.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

The citizens of Corvallis and the faculty of the State Agricultural College have extended a kind and earnest invitation to members of the State Horticultural Society to be present at the October meeting in Corvallis, and are putting forth every effort to make their stay both pleasant and instructive. If those who are going will kindly write to the Secretary, an effort will be made to get reduced passenger rates. Notice must be given at once as the railroad company must be assured of a certain number. Reduced rates at the hotels have been obtained for the members, and it is hoped that many will avail themselves of the opportunity to attend the meeting.

Mrs. Dolph, the wife of the senator from Oregon, is said to be one of the most popular women in Washington society. Although she is middle-aged, and has a son and daughter married, she retains much of the beauty that made her a belle on the Oregon farm where Senator Dolph met her. Her black hair is unstreaked with gray, and her dark eyes have the brightness of youth and her whole face sparkles with life and energy to which years have only given greater depths and graciousness. Altogether she is in appearance and manner, just what every patriotic citizen thinks all middle-aged American women should be.—Detroit Free Press.

MALPRACTICE.

Our prisons and asylums are crowded with the victims of alcohol and narcotics as a result of physicians prescribing whisky for men and morphine for women. Some physicians and some schools of medicine do not prescribe these poisons, but enough do, whether they be quacks, irregulars or regulars to fill the land with inebriates and fiends as a result of such malpractice.

The physician who prescribes alcohol as a tonic or source of strength, or morphine as a sedative, or producer of sleep, is a back number in his profession and society should be protected against him. The O. S. I. A. and cures are full of misguided victims of such alleged medical science. There should be a law declaring it malpractice.—Capital Journal.

FROM OUR EXCHANGES.

Telephone-Register.

The court house is growing small. Already the accommodations are limited and the clerk advises the tearing out of the woman's department in the jail as it is never used, and connecting it with a door to the present office. This will give considerable more room and will make a well lighted apartment for the use of the deputy clerk that will be isolated and much more adapted to the prompt performance of work than is the present office.

R. Kesterson, of North Yamhill, brought to this office on Tuesday several ripe strawberries that he had picked that day. They were large and luscious and as a representation of the ability of the Oregon soil to produce anything at any time of the year, they stand unsurpassed. The vines have quite a number of berries upon them and it is possible that Mr. Kesterson will enjoy a dish of strawberries and cream with his usual dinner of turkey on Christmas.

Yamhill County Reporter.

Walter Kirk and Eugene Hoskins, two of the best young men of Newberg, think their town can't hold a candle to McMinnville in attractions for a Sunday visit. They were up last Sunday.

Al. Snyder, of Dallas, has been figuring on the hop product of his county, and has located 365,963 pounds, valued at $62,212.71. This does not include the eastern end of the county.

There is unmistakable evidence that times are getting better, locally. The wheat and hops the farmers have sold have put a good many dollars in circulation, and everybody has felt the benefit of it to some extent. Several patrons of the Reporter, that no doubt were hard up themselves, have had the goodness and foresight to drop in and relieve the financial stringency a little. In turn our painters, the paper dealer in Portland, and the local grocer and butcher, have each felt the stimulus of a portion of that six dollars in their business, and we are on good terms with the world once more.

The editor of the Chehalem Valley Times disagreed with a neighbor about a sunflower and whipped the fellow. Being short of funds, the newspaper man will edit his paper from the county jail for twenty days. The justice who pronounced the sentence will hear from his nibs in a future issue. He is promised a royal roast.—Harrisburg Courier.

Rev. Z. C. Battey, of Scott's Mills, preached at the Christian church last Saturday, will preach at Willamina next Sunday at 11 a. m. and at the Christian church in the evening. Rev. Battey is looking about Sheridan and vicinity with a view to the establishment of a church of the Friends here. He is pleased with Sheridan, and expresses himself as of the opinion that the Yamhill valley is the finest section of Oregon he has yet seen.—Sheridan Sun.

COLLEGE NOTES.

Sixty-one students are now enrolled.

Perlie Maycox, of Butteville, entered school Friday.

Cora Vann has left us to accept a position as teacher near Albany.

The boys have been making good use of the fine weather this week by playing ball.

You should subscribe for the Crescent. It is only 50 cents this year.

We miss the smiling faces of Dasie Stanley and Edgar Ballard this year. They now sing, "Bless me, this is pleasant, teaching public school."

Out of twenty-nine college students last year only ten are in school at present. We are sorry that this is the case. Let us be sorry enough to not let the same occur next year.

Last week's work is reported to have been the best in the history of the college. Certainly that is complimentary to both students and teachers.

Berta Kirk was a visitor at school Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. C. J. Edwards and Miss Abbie L. Miles, who were married at Mountain Home, near Scott's Mills last Tuesday, are both old college students, and as such we extend our most hearty congratulations.

STUDENT.

HARVEST HOME MEETING.

The "Harvest Home" meeting of the W. C. T. U. held last Saturday afternoon at the Presbyterian church in honor of Francis Willard's birthday was very interesting and the attendance good.

The little church was beautifully and neatly decorated with autumn leaves, ferns and flowers. Peering out from behind a drapery of our loved stars and stripes was the likeness of the noble face of the one to whom we had met to do homage. In every fold of the drapery in every arranged flower, in fact the decorations in general was shown the artistic taste of our Flower Superintenent.

The services opened by the congregation singing, "O Where are the Reapers," followed by prayer by Jane Votaw. Responsive exercises were then read as arranged in the hymnal. The singing was conducted by Mrs. White. A speech from our county president, Mrs. Whitmore, was very interesting and instructive, a copy of which we hope to obtain for the press. Mrs. Martin read a selection explaining for what purpose we had met, also statements in regard to Miss Willard's health. Her health she read was improving, her doctors stating that she would doubtless be herself again if rest and quiet continued the entire year, but unless such was the case her recovery would be doubtful. She is quite submissive, having even deprived herself of reading the Union Signal. Mrs. Cox read sketches from her early life making the reading lively and interesting by her pure clear voice and witty expressions. A duet was sung by Mrs. White and daughter. An opportunity was given for any wishing to become members of the union to join, to which a response of four additional members was given. God is continually blessing us with new soldiers. He is waking up many in our vicinity to the realization of the fact that the harvest is indeed ripe but the laborers are few, and volunteers are steadily filing in.

The session was closed by an invocation of the Father upon the union by Rev. Jas. Price.

FEMINA,

A BOOK FOR EVERY WOMAN.

This Work has the endorsement of the most prominent educators on the Pacific Coast.

The Rev. Edward B. Church, A. M., M. D., Principal of Irving Institute for Young Ladies, San Francisco, Cal., writes:

"MY DEAR DOCTOR:—I have taken great satisfaction in reading your book, 'Femina.' It is a book that is of incalculable value to mothers and wives; and, in view of the general ignorance of such matters that should be thoroughly understood by them, it is just the book to place in their hands. While in spirit it is scientific, its language is easily understood by the most simple, and the most sensitive cannot be offended. "Very sincerely yours,
