THE CALCIUM MAN'S VIEWS stage Luminaries From a Hitherto Un-discussed Point of Vision.

"Actors are curious folks," observed the calcium light manipulator of one of the up town theaters to a reporter the other night. He was breathing upon the reflector and then polishing it care-fally with a woolen rag. "Curious in what respect?" asked the reporter. "Oh, they're queer creatures in every way," returned the other. "Ought not I to know? I've been everything ronnected with a theater from usher to cene shifter, but Lord preserve me from being an actor! They get more money than most folks, but they never have a cent. Off the stage they're the biggest ranks in the world, and on the stage they're cranky enough, Lord knows. Now, look at me and my profession, for instance. Any one would think that I'd be in solid with the actors, seeing that I light 'em up in pretty poses and bring out the effective parts of the scenes. But, would you believe it, if these stage folks had their way I'd be bounced 20 times a week by the management. Everybody that hoofs it before the footlights kicks at me from the chorus to the star and from the second comedian to the supe.

"There's 200 gray hairs in my head, for which these scrpentine dancers are responsible. They're kickers with a vengeance, on and off the boards. Now, I guess I know more about the effects of lighting than they do, but whenever they come hopping on the stage I never catch 'em soon enough to their notions. When they swing around in the butterfly dance, they start off different every time, and if the light glances off 'en for the eighth of a second they're wild with rage. It's their conceit, you know. They want to look sweet 100 seconds to the minute. Then they complain that I catch 'em in the eyes and blind 'em, whereas it's the continual changing of their regulation poses that rattles me.

"Then, when it comes to the chorus, oh, my! If they had things their way, the leading lady wouldn't be illumi-nated at all. There isn't one of 'em that doesn't want me to show 'em up for a full minute for the benefit of their gentlemen friends in the audience. They besiege me every night for favors in this way, and I promise—oh, yes, I promise I'll light 'em. But do I do it?" The calcium man rubbed his forefiner and thumb in a suggestive way 'If there's a little balf dollar fee forthoming, they get a flash for 216 sec No fee, no flash!"-New York onds.

IRELAND AND DIXON.

Two Divines Express Themselves Upon the Strike.

SPEAK THEIR MINDS FREELY.

The Archbishop Blames Labor, and the New Yorker Advocates the Government Ownership of Railways-A Great Injustice Perpetrated.

CHICAGO, July 15 .- Archbishop Ireland of St. Paul, when asked to-day what he had to say upon the railway strike, spoke as follows:

"I do not desire to speak of the Chicago strikers, because in so doing I shall blame labor, while because of my deep sympathy with it I should wish to have never said but words of praise for it. But in a moment of social crisis, such as the one through which we are passing, it is our duty to speak loud and to make the avowal of the truths and principles which will save society and

"The fatal mistake which has been "The fatal mistake which has been made in connection with this strike is that property has been destroyed, the liberty of business interfered with, human lives endangered, society menaced and the institutions and freedom of the country put in most serious jeopardy. The moment such things happen all possible questions as to the rights and grievances of labor must be dropped out of sight and all efforts of law-abiding citizens and of public officials made to serve zens and of public officials made to serve in maintaining public order and guarding at all costs the public welfare. Labor must learn that, however sacred its rights be, there is something above them and absolutely supreme—social order and the laws of public justice. There is no civil crime so hideous, so pregnant of evil re-sults as resistance to law and the constitution of the country. This resistance is revolution; it begets chaos; it is anarchy; it disrupts the whole social fabric.

Labor, too, must learn the lesson that the liberty of the citizen is to be re-spected. One man has a right to cease from work, but he has no right to drive another man from work. He who re-spects not the liberty of others shows himself unworthy of his own liberty and incapable of citizenship in a free country. Riots and mob rule, such as have occurred in Chicago, do immense harm to the cause of labor, and set back its advance for whole decades of years. La-bor thereby loses the earnest sympathy of thousands of friends, and gives cour-age and triumph to its enemies. Worse

But all this must be done within the lines of social order and law. The remedy for these ills is a healthy public opinion, and h ir public legislation and all legitimate efforts in west tions, whether by single or unite ! for are laudable. For my own part I believe the large number of men who join strike are more to be pitied than to be blamed. They are led on by irresponsible and tyrannous chiefs. Labor unions have great statutes, but there is one marked evil in them, in that they put the liberties of tens of thousands in the keeping of one man or a few, who become their absolute masters, their despotic Czars.

"The solution to the differences be-tween capital and labor is necessarily complicated, and no one precise formula has been or can be found. A generous sense of injustice toward all, a deep love of one's fellows and attentive listenings to the teachings of Christ will lead on all sides to a better understanding and to happier mutual relations. Certain it is that, so far as it is possible, the laborer should not lack support for himself and family. He should not be overburdened either in weight or time of labor; he should be treated as a rational and moral being, with all the respect due his human dignity. His remuneration, if dimin-ished in periods of depression, should increase in periods of prosperity."

REV. MR. DIXON'S SERMON. New York, July 15.—Rev. Thomas Dixon, Jr., who finds a text for each Sunday's sermon in the events of the previous week, preached in Association Hall to-day of the strike. He said in part:

"This great uprising of the laboring classes, which has cost the country $1,-000,000 and is likely to cost it $5,000,000, had its origin in a great injustice perpetrated by somebody. It is impossible to imagine the laboring classes, after enduring the miseries consequent on the depression of the past year, leaving their workshops unless there was injustice somewhere. Three lessons, however, have been learned by the strike:

"The railroad managers were utterly

"The railroad managers were utterly incapable to handle the railroads the moment the strike was precipited; that mob violence and disorder will under no circumstances be tolerated by the Amercan people, and that the national gov ernment alone has the power to break such a strike and raise the railroads'

From these follows the logical con clusion that the national government should own the railroads outright. The railroads were built strictly for accommodation, and neither labor leaders nor railroad managers should have the power nor be permitted to interfere with the public rights. If the national governnent owned the railroads, it would high treason to do such a thing.

More Trouble for Lillian Russell. What a Chicago Journalist Says of the

New York, July 16 .- Among the refor views as to the Pullman strike was the following from Joseph Medill, editor of the Chicago Tribune:

"I believe the result of this strike will be of great benefit to the country. It is like a thunder storm that suddenly sweeps up, purifies the atmosphere and results in better supply of health-giving ozone. It will result in Congress devising laws whereby disputes between railroads and their employes will be harmoniously adjusted. I have great faith in the Anglo-Saxon race to govern them-selves. The people have been asleep until awakened by this great economic earthquake. I believe that in twelve months we will have laws that will pro-vide for the full settlement of future disorders. I think the contract system can be applied successively by the railroads. Employes should be engaged under contract and hold their positions so long as they abide by the rules of the company and perform their duties faithfully. No man should be discharged without due notice, and no man should leave the employ of the company without serving notice. I indorse the scheme evolved by the huge brain of Bismarck in the German empire."

Proceeding, he gives a detailed scheme for the complete regulation, through a pension-fund law for railroad employes, which should be made by Congress, which will provide for the retiring of men from active service at the age of fifty-five years on half pay for the rest of his life, and the remains should be of his life, and the pension should be paid to his family in case of his being killed; also to provide for the payment of a certain sum to employes who are ill 1884, an abstract of the census has been prepared, containing, however, only the results so far reached.

A previous act called for a digest of the census, which Colonel Wright considers unnecessary, and he recommends that Congress provide in some deficiency bill next December for dropping the digest and substituting for it a second edition of the abstract, extending its size to 300 pages, containing all essential totals and pages, containing all essential totals and comparing them with the tenth-census totals. The report concludes:

This work has not been and homes. This work has not been carried on as far as it was contemplated at the time. The remainder of the reports can be put in copy in a very short time and under the appropriations now available. In completing the eleventh census the plan laid down by my predecessor, that it should be purely a statistical census, has been adhered to. Provision should be made for the permanent binding of schedules to conform to the custom of the past, for which I will at the proper time make the requisite recommendations."

Spears Are Preferable.

PORT TOWNSEND, July 16 .- Captain McAllen arrived from Unga Island, Alaska, to-day. With the latter many wounded seals escape and die, but with spears it rarely happens any of the wounded escape.

What a Wedding Will Bring Forth. LONDON, July 16 .- A dispatch to the Standard from St. Petersburg says it is stated that the Czar has announced his intention to pardon on the occasion of the wedding of the Czarowitch and the Princess Alix of Hesse a large number of persons convicted of political offenses. The Czarina, it is also said, will found a charitable institution in honor of the Does Not Mean a Settlement.
