NEWBERG GRAPHIC.

ISSUED EVERY FRIDAY MORNING.

E. H. WOODWARD, EDITOR & PUBLISHER.

FRIDAY, MARCH 13, 1896.

Entered as second class matter at the post office at Newberg, Oregon.

John G. Carlisle appears to be in the hands of President Cleveland's presidential grooms man.

The admonition to, "beware of long haired men and short haired women" is worthy of consideration, to say the least.

It is reported that Mr. Clark of the North Yamhill Record has announced himself as a candidate for legislative honors on a free silver basis.

Mr. Patterson, proprietor of the Long Creek Eagle, has changed the name of his paper to the more high sounding name of Blue Mountain Eagle.

The Oregonian, which is usually pretty good on political forecasts, is now convinced that McKinley's nomination at the St. Louis convention is almost assured.

Nat Blum, convicted of smuggling at Portland, has been pardoned by President Cleveland, in consideration of the fact that he gave the rest of the gang away and thus secured their conviction.

State Senator, B. F. Alley, publisher of the Florence West having failed to sell his plant as he desired, has announced that he will move it to some other place. It is understood he will go to Baker City.

The exports to the United States from Sheffield, England, during 1895 were $750,000 larger than those of 1894. This is the way our free trade tendencies are benefiting the manufacturers and laborers of the United States.

J. B. Eddy wants the nomination for congress in the second district. This may be taken as conclusive evidence that the "Colonel" has abandoned all hope of securing a place on the railroad commission the third time.

Senator Vest, in a speech on the Cuban question, spoke of Spain as the toothless old wolf who had lost, one by one her litter, and was still clinging to this single remaining cub. Vest has a faculty for striking square out from the shoulder when he speaks and he always commands attention.

Judge J. F. Caples of Portland, who came very nearly receiving the nomination for congress at the hands of the convention that nominated Hermann the first time, is said to be a candidate for congress from the second district. Judge Caples would make an active, energetic, hard worker in congress.

Our neighbors over on the north of Chehalem mountain in Washington county seem to have candidates for congress of pretty near all shades of political opinion. So far as announced there are, Thomas H. Tongue, republican; S. B. Huston, democrat; W. D. Hare, populist, and there are several outlaying districts yet to hear from.

An exchange says: "A young lady walked into a store the other day and on selecting a piece of cloth asked what it was worth. "Four kisses a yard," said the polite clerk. The young lady stood abashed for a moment and then replied that she would take four yards. The cloth was cut off, nicely wrapped up and handed to the fair purchaser, who received it with a smile and said: "Send the bill around to my grandmother, she will settle with you."

L. Samuel, formerly publisher of the West Shore, but who for the past five years has been connected with the Equitable Life Insurance company has recently been appointed manager for this company for the Northwest, with headquarters in Portland. Mr. Samuel always has a good word for newspaper men and the boys all over the Northwest will be pleased to hear of his promotion. He is a hard worker at anything he undertakes and the Equitable people will have no cause to regret their action in his case.

The cramming process in our public schools has been much on the increase for several years, much to the detriment of common sense education, and now the plan of introducing military drill in the schools is being advocated. The very latest however, comes from the Troy Times which says: "It is not at all likely that the proposition to give public school children instruction in dentistry will be incorporated in a law, but the mere fact that such a plan has been urged shows the direction in which we are moving." Verily, the oft repeated saying that "the fools are not all dead yet," is a true one.

In the person of Prof. J. C. Hodson, Newberg has a candidate for the office of county school superintendent. Professor Hodson has been a resident of the state of Oregon for nearly twenty years, and during the greater portion of that time he has been engaged in teaching in the public schools of the state. After coming to Oregon, from his native state of Indiana, he resided near Newberg for several years, in the meantime atttending the state normal school at Monmouth and engaging in teaching. Five years ago he was called from his home near Lexington, Morrow county, to take the principalship of the Newberg public schools, and respecting the efficiency he has shown in this responsible position, it is only necessary to say that he has been elected to the same position for five consecutive years. He is a thorough school man of mature years, with a character above reproach, and his friends feel assured that if he should be elected to the position to which he aspires, he will fill it in an able and conscientious manner, and to the general satisfaction of the people of the county.

Walter Wellman in the Chicago Times-Herald gives the following views of a western congressman, which he thinks expresses the sentiments of the people throughout the country:

"I was not born yesterday, have been in politics a year or two, and they can't fool me about this presidential business. I am for another man, but McKinley is going to win." So said a western congressman whose state has a candidate of its own. It's a pity I can't give you his name. "Of course we are for our own candidate, and we are supporting him honestly, but we feel he cannot win. The bosses are against McKinley, but they can't beat him. The bosses are losing their power in the party, and I say this though some of them are my best friends. They have lost their grip, and the people are running the party. I have been doing some figuring myself, and have compared figures with the Reed, Allison and Morton leaders here. They say that McKinley will have from 325 to 375 votes on the first ballot, about 455 being required to nominate. These are votes that will stick to him. After the first ballot the favorite sons will drop out, one by one. Reed is practically beaten now, and will go down hill all the time. In order to beat McKinley it will be necessary to unite the field on some man. Suppose the effort is made with Allison. Many New England votes, twenty New York votes, the same number of Pennsylvania votes, the Illinois votes, votes in other states cannot be taken to Allison. Votes in western states can't be taken to Reed or Morton. McKinley will grow on every ballot. He will profit by every shake of the box."

The city sanitarian of Indianapolis has published what he terms an infallible recipe to distinguish good water from bad. He says:

Any person can make the simple test for chlorides, which is the worst of the injurious elements in water. All that is necessary is to add to a tumbler full of water about as much nitric acid as would fill a teaspoon (but do not measure in a spoon, if silverware is valuable) to prevent the precipitation of any chloride except chloride of sodium, which is the one indicating sewage. Then add, a drop at a time, silver nitrate, which is simply a solution of common lunar caustic, until about twenty-five drops have been added. If the water is white enough to show distinctly and make it as murky as if a tablespoonful of milk had been added, it contains enough chloride of sodium to condemn it for use. It should not be discolored enough to more than be perceptible if it is wholesome water.

Muddy or unclear water, he says, is not necessarily unhealthy. The clearest and most sparkling water is just as apt to be fatal to good health as that which shows color.

The April number of the Delineator is up to the average of that splendid magazine. In the literary department a theme of particular interest to most women is instructively treated in Margaret Nousse's article on the art of preserving youth. J. Bell Landfear describes a pretty "Rainbow" drill for children, and the general interest in bicycling is shown in an account of the latest attire therefor.

L. M. Parker authorizes the Graphic to state that he has business interests to claim his undivided attention, and consequently he is not a candidate for the official position of county recorder. This statement seems necessary from the fact that many of Mr. Parker's friends have urged him to make the race.

That one's associations have much to do with their general makeup seems to have been proven in the case of Mrs. Cleveland. When she was married to the president she was of slight build, but now it is stated that she tips the scales at 196 pounds.

A modern philosopher says the trouble with the country is, that there are too many $10 men looking for $100 jobs.

A Thankful Soul.

I take life jest as I find it.
If it's hot I never mind it;
Hunt around fer shady trees
An' jest whistle up a breeze!
If it's snowin',—why I go
Jest a skimmin' erost the snow!
(Ever try how good it feels
In a wagon off the wheel?)
Spring or winter, summer, fall,
I'm jest thankful fer 'em all!

Folks say this world's full o' strife;
That jest 'livens up my life!
When the good Lord made it He
Done the best fer you an' me,—
Saw the sky had too much blue,
An' rolled up a cloud or two.
Give us light to sow an' reap,
Then throwed in the dark fer sleep.
Every single drop of dew
Twinkles on a rose fer you.

Tell you! this world's full o' light,—
Sun by day an' stars by night;
Sometimes sorrow comes along,
But it's all mixed up with a song.
Folks that always makes complaint
They ain't healthy,—that they ain't!
Some would jest live with the chills
If it warn't fer doctors' bills!
Always findin' fault with things,—
Kill a bird because it sings.

I take life jest as I find it,—
Hot or cold, I never mind it;
If it's a sunshiny day
That's my time fer makin' hay;
If it's rainin', fills my wish,—
Makes the lakes jest right fer fish;
When the snow falls white as foam,
Then I track the rabbits home.
Spring or winter, summer, fall,
I'm jess thankful fer 'em all!
—Frank L. Stanton, in Demorest's Magazine.

Visited Cuba.

Albert Tozier, Secretary of the Oregon Press Association, passed through LaGrande on Sunday evening's train on his way home to Portland from attendance at the National Editorial Association in Florida. After the association adjourned Mr. Tozier spent several weeks in visiting various points of interest in the south, among other trips was one to the island of Cuba, whose people are now in a state of rebellion against Spain. He said that the existing conditions there at the time of his visit resembled the great railroad strike in this country the spring of 1894, more than it did an actual warfare. Although Mr. Tozier visited a large portion of the country he found no place that in his opinion was ahead of Oregon.—Elgin Recorder.

FROM OUR EXCHANGES.

Yamhill County Reporter.

G. S. Wright and Calbreath & Goucher started in on the job of spraying their 10 acre prune orchard the other day, but the alteration in the weather caused them to reconsider.

Tom Rogers' latest literary effusion appears in the current issue of the Amateur Sportsman. He describes a trip to Meadow Lake, and the sketch is illustrated with a view of the lake, a picture of two fishermen just in from a successful expedition and a full length portrait of W. F. Coulter in hunter's garb as "Uncle Brierwood."

We congratulate J. B. Gardner on the good news received Wednesday that his application for a pension, which has been long pending, was approved, and that he would receive sixteen months back pay and a pension of $6 per month in the future. This is some of the good work of Mr. Hermann at the Washington end of the line, assisted by good friends at this end.

There is considerable misapprehension with regard to the action of the county court last month, in undertaking to fix the pay of the county assessor's office at $1509 per year. Many have thought it amounted to a raise in the salary of the assessor, who is entitled under the law to three dollars a day for his services, or about $900 per year. The law makes no provision for deputy hire, and heretofore it has been customary to allow the same pay to deputies as to the principal. In effect the court proposes to limit the expense of deputy hire to $600 a year. The question is whether this is sufficient. It is necessary to employ three field men beside himself for fifty days to complete the assessment within the time required by law, and the assessor states that the office work necessitates an additional deputy at least eight months of the year. Others familiar with the work say that this is a fair and reasonable statement. The work both in the field and the office is of a character to require the best help obtainable, as errors in the assessment and tax rolls are liable to be very expensive. An erroneous impression seems to prevail as to the extent of the work in the assessor's office. It has grown very extensively during the last few years, not only keeping pace with the population and consequent subdivisions of lands, but new methods were introduced during Mr. York's term, which made the work much greater. Formerly, it is said, no pretense was made at assessing real estate under its technical description, and as a result in many instances taxes were non-collectible under the law. The present system requires the assessor to note every transfer made on the books of the recorder and convey the same to the assessment rolls. These are facts in the matter which the public ought to be cognizant of, and we have endeavored to present them without prejudice to the assessor's interest or the county court's effort at economical administration.

Dayton Herald.

We are informed that some peach trees are already in bloom. It is probable that the late cold snap has nipped the fruit in the bud.

The river was up booming the first of this week. The water only lacked about two inches of running in on the upper Toledo warehouse.

Matthew Senn, Jr. ran a raft of logs down the Yamhill on Tuesday, which he takes to Oregon City. J. Eldridge will also run down a lot of logs this week. These logs were cut above Sheridan, and are the first ever rafted down the South Fork of the Yamhill river.

The Pacific Northwest Immigration Board.

PORTLAND, Or., March 9, 1896.

To the People:

The Pacific Northwest Immigration Board has been established for the purpose of bringing to the Pacific Northwest such a class of producers as shall tend to develop its resources and increase its prosperity, and to that end has, thus far, been provided by the citizens of Portland with a fund of $30,000—a fund which it is hoped to largely increase by contributions from other sources.

The Board expects to be able to effectively carry on the work of bringing in settlers from the east, but it will be impossible for it to have its own agents in every county and precinct to attend to the locating of these settlers, and this part of the work must be done in each case, by the residents who are interested in each special section, and to this end local organizations must be established in each county, in order that the best results may be obtained and that each county may reap its full share of the general benefit.

It being impossible for a central board to attend to location in so large a section of the country, the work of this Board will be limited to advertising, as widely as possible, the advantages which this country, as a whole, has to offer; and to interesting the largest possible number of the producing classes of the east, and especially farmers, in it. Each enquirer will be supplied with an accurate, though brief, description of all the different sections, and allowed to make his own choice of the section which he prefers. Having made this choice he will be turned over to the local board of that section to be directed to and supplied with exactly what he wants.

This Board has been organized and supplied with funds, not for the purpose of booming any town or city, or promoting any private interest whatsoever, but for the sole and only purpose of promoting the general settlement and development of the country at large, a work in which every section has a vital interest, and which should be aided to the fullest extent in their power by the people of each section. The most effective means for each section to aid in the general work is by making itself as well known as possible, and by exerting itself to secure as large a share as possible of the newcomers.

It is difficult to say exactly when the eastern work will begin to bear fruit. We have reason to believe that we will not have long to wait for considerable results. The local organizations should be formed at once and perfect their preparations. It is the purpose of this Board to, in the near future, have one of its members, or a responsible agent, visit each county desiring to take part in the work, to make definite arrangements for co-operation. Meantime we invite correspondence from all sections interested. Address,

Poultry Meeting.

The poultry fanciers of Newberg and vicinity met last Saturday at the time and place adjourned too, and completed the organization, adopting constitution and by-laws and the election of permanent officers, adopting the name of Chehalem Poultry Association, as the name of the organization. The purpose of the organization is to foster and encourage the breeding of poultry, fancy and market, to the end that we may obtain the best results from information received, and the interchanging of ideas and thoughts upon the subject from practical experience.

C. F. Butler was elected president, L. Newlin, vice-president; S. Hobson, secretary, and G. Everest, treasurer. After completing the organization, the president read a selection, and gave some of his own experience in the poultry business, both of which were very suggestive, and led to an expression from nearly every one present upon the various topics mentioned. Ten names were received as members of the association. The association will hold its regular meetings on the first and third Saturdays of each month at 2 p. m. during the first six months of the year, and on the first Saturday of each month during the last six months of the year, at 2 p. m. The charter stands open to receive names as member of the association at 25 cents each. The association adjourned to meet in two weeks (March 21st,) feeling that it had been a profitable meeting. Come fanciers and join us.
