

NEWBERG GRAPHIC.

ISSUED EVERY FRIDAY MORNING.

F. H. WOODWARD, EDITOR & PUBLISHER.

FRIDAY, JUNE 12, 1896.

Entered as second class matter at the post office at Newberg, Oregon.

The price of wool is now but a fraction higher than the lowest ever touched.

October 7th to 13th inclusive has been fixed as the time for holding the State fair at Salem.

Newberg will probably take a half day off and go fishing on the Fourth. Our people seem inclined to let the other towns do the spread eagle act this year.

Massachusetts has 60,000 more women than men, while Iowa has 70,000 more men than women. Here is an instance where the reciprocity theory ought to be made to work admirably.

Thomas H. Tongue now appears to be elected by a small majority and the pigs are crying fraud. Had Vanlerberg been elected by the same majority all would have been lovely of course.

The New York Journal and the San Francisco Examiner, owned by W. R. Hearst, are to hold a relay bicycle race in July, from San Francisco to New York. Hearst believes in advertising his big city papers.

The fellow who "gets the wool pulled over his eyes" these days ought not to be compelled to pay very dearly for the experience. Wool is too cheap. A lot of 18,000 pounds sold at Heppner recently for 5 cents per pound.

If there is "room at the top" for all the three score of young attorneys who took the examination for admittance to the bar at Salem last week, the top must be pretty roomy, else the concern is liable to grow top heavy.

One of the ways to boom a town, is for everybody to clean up.—Stuyton Hill. Yes that's a fact. Every fellow should shave and put on a clean shirt at least once a week. While soil is quite a factor in the boom business, it shows off to the best effect in the wheat field or orchard.

The California delegation to the Republican national convention will "cut a wide swath" in St. Louis if they wear the uniform said to have been adopted by them. Their attire will include white straw hats, black alpaca coats, white vests and neckties and russet shoes.—Ontario Record.

The charge of fifty cents gate fee at the Inter-collegiate Field Day contest at Salem last Saturday was denounced by everybody. The people generally like to attend these contests and are willing to pay a reasonable price for admission to the grounds, but a fifty cent piece is not picked up by the average mortal at every turn these days and such a charge is simply out of all reason. The college boys who manage the affair next year will do well to go back to short division and divide the price of admission by two, and furnish programs free.

A train load of forty cars of corn with forty orators aboard was to leave Wichita, Kansas, the first of the week for the St. Louis convention, the corn to go to the cyclone sufferers and the orators to boom McKinley. The elements had spared the corn thus far but before the train left the track a streak of Kansas lightning struck the train and three of the cars and the depot were consumed by fire, while the orators were allowed to escape without the smell of fire on their garments. It has been thought for a long time that Kansas had a mighty queer kind of lightning.

And now comes the news that the St. Louis hotels are refusing the colored delegates to the national convention admittance. Just why the southern people who can't keep house without a half dozen colored servants around, should carry their old time "nigger" hatred to such an extreme is difficult to understand. If a colored man is good enough for a servant a decent one ought not to be a very offensive individual about a hotel. The vote of a colored delegate counts for as much as the vote of a white man in a convention and consequently it will probably be a good while before St. Louis captures another national convention.

The Los Angeles Herald says the recent storming and capture of the Republican headquarters by the southern end of the State has resulted in a story to the effect that a real beginning has at least been made in the direction of State division. A regularly organized campaign for two States will, it is said, be at once begun for submission to the people two years hence. The Republican leaders in the north are reported to be not only favorable, but anxious to bring this result about, fearing the continued political supremacy of the south under the present state of things. The plan is to give out promises of enough State institutions to invoke the active aid for division of every county in the south. With this idea in view, Riverside is to have the State capital, San Diego a penitentiary, and so on all along the line. The issue will have a majority vote of both sections before it can become a reality.

The day has come when the whisky element cannot be depended upon in politics. Public sentiment is against it. The candidate who depends upon the purchasing power of the liquor influence to get the suffrage of the people for office loses more than he gains. The riff-raff vote cannot be depended upon under the Australian ballot system. This class of voters has no respect for principle, and they will spend the candidate's money, drink his whisky and beer, smoke his cigars, and then vote the other way. A young voter went into an Oregon City saloon on the Saturday before the election, and when asked by the proprietor how he intended to vote, replied, that he intended to vote for the candidate who put up the most beer and cigars. The proprietor told him that was not the way to do; that he should take all the whisky and cigars he could get, and then vote for the other man.—Oregon City Enterprise.

It is generally conceded that the Chicago convention will be out and out for free silver. Julius Chambers, the Washington correspondent of the S. F. Examiner said a few days ago:

The administration abandons its money fight and surrenders the Chicago convention to free silver. The gold demagogue in Washington is with out or two exceptions, administration men, and they steadfastly refuse to discuss the situation. Secretary Carlisle confuses over-whelming defeat. He will not talk for publication, but it is known he is disappointed and humiliated. He regards the verdict of Kentucky as retiring him to private life. He said to day that if he held a commission from the state of Kentucky he would promptly resign, but as he holds office under federal authority he intends to serve out his term. The administration fully realizes the extent of its defeat. With the downfall of Carlisle even the President concludes further struggle against the silverites is futile. The administration based its contest for sound money on Carlisle and Kentucky.

There are few people, perhaps, who attended the World's Fair at Chicago who are aware that the great Chicago University is being built on the grounds of the Midway. A Chicago correspondent says of it:

Where three years ago, this summer, the shouts of the camel drivers echoed in the streets of Cairo, and dark eyed beauties languished in the shadowy recesses of the Turkish booths, where the gay, good-natured crowd of World's Fair visitors swept and surged like a great human river that touched upon the shores of every land, stands now the Chicago University. The grass grows green and soft as velvet along and over what was once the Midway Plaisance. Instead of the fantastic walls and towers that made up that magic wonder-land, there is a plain of level lawn, stately halls of learning that eclipse in architectural dignity all of the older schools and universities on this side of the Atlantic.

The Ashland Tidings says: "Marshal Petit, U. S. Indian agent, in July will sell all the buildings now standing at abandoned Fort Klamath, consisting of 1 bakery, 1 grainery, 1 saddle room, 2 barracks, 3 dwelling houses, 1 hospital, 2 commissary buildings and one boarding house. They will be torn down by the purchasers and soon the last vestige of old Fort Klamath will have disappeared, and all that will remain to mark the place where old Fort Klamath once stood, will be the graves of the four Mocho Warriors, Captain Jack, Sconchin, Boston Charley and Black Jim, who paid the penalty for their crime on the scaffold in 73 for the massacre of the peace commission in the lava beds of that year."

Through every newspaper office day after day go all the weaknesses of the world—all the vanities that want to be puffed, all the mistakes that want to be corrected, all the dull speakers that want to be thought eloquent, all the meanness that wants to get its wares noticed gratis in order to save the tax of the advertising column. Through the editorial and reporterial rooms all the follies and shams of the world are seen day after day, and the temptation is neither to believe in God, man or woman. It is no surprise to us that in this profession there are some skeptical men. We only wonder that newspaper men believe in anything.—Ex.

The North Yamhill Record in speaking of Jonathan Bourne says:

"And could he be chosen speaker of the house he would block the dirty work of the Simon gang with more ease and grace than any man we know of."

If Jonathan's past record is to be taken as evidence of what may be expected of him in the future, it is safe to say that if he blocks anybody's "dirty work," the blocking game will not have a specially sweet smelling savor. Jonathan is not in politics solely for his health. He is not built that way.

The Graphic stated last week that the later returns would probably show up to the advantage of Ellis and Tongue, republican nominees for congress, and such has been the case. Ellis and Tongue will be the congressmen from Oregon.

Although apple trees never bloom so full as they did in this community this year, the continued rains that came at that time was too much for the pollen and consequently we will have a short apple crop this season.

The indications now are that if there is any boiling done at the Chicago convention the sound money democrats will be the ones who will be forced to do it. The other fellows are undoubtedly in the lead.

A card received from E. R. Lake, secretary of the Oregon State Horticultural Society says a strawberry exhibit will be made at the meeting of the society in Corvallis June 16-17.

A call is out for a state convention of the Union Bimetallic party to be held in McMinnville July 9. Our friend Cal Cooper is liable to become famous yet.

Yamhill county will be ably represented in the republican national convention at St. Louis next week by Dr. Calbreath of McMinnville.

The prospect of McKinley's nomination seems to be a bitter pill for our English cousins, judging from the tone of their newspapers.

ON THE RIVER.

The Steamer Gypsy Makes Her Last Trip This Season.

The Eugene Guard says: "The O. R. & N. Co's steamer Gypsy arrived here last night at 19 o'clock, having made the run through from Corvallis during the day, bringing up a light load of freight, the river standing at a five foot stage. She came up from Le-floe Palmer Ayer's after dark. This is something unusual—navigating the upper river after dark, and shows that this portion of the Willamette is not the tortuous stream that many of the people attempt to make it out. This is the Gypsy's last trip for this season as the boat will be taken to Portland, her hull repaired and many other repairs made as she expects to run all summer between Portland and Corvallis. Her withdrawal is necessary as the repairs can be made, so as to place her in readiness when the river falls. It is likely the company will send one of their other boats here in about ten days, as considerable freight is promised; that time both on the up and down trips.

The Gypsy has made thirty-six trips to Eugene this season and has hauled an immense amount of freight, saving our people thousands of dollars. The boat has never met with the slightest mishap, thanks to the captain, Mr. Gordon. It might again be remarked here that the river is much better than many are disposed to grant. With a decent appropriation by the government the river could be made navigable to Eugene nearly every day in the year. Our people must work for this object, as river navigation has much to do with the upbuilding of a city.

FROM OUR EXCHANGES.

Yamhill County Reporter.

Last Friday night some miscreants rolled the large anchor boulder from the bridge just south of the Diamond farm on the Sherman road. The one who did it is likely to have trouble if found out.

An item of news not gratifying to many people hereabouts, is the decision of Pres Brownson to resign the chair of McMinnville college and accept an offer from California college at Oakland.

George Grayson of Sheridan has bought the North Yamhill and Trask river toll road, together with the hotel, stage stand and mill, and will take possession at once. George is a pleasant sort of a fellow and will make it pleasant for the wayfarer individual who chances to pull up at his mountain hostelry.

Considerable has been said about the probable intelligibility of Mr. Henry to the office on account of alleged loss of residence. Sheriff Henderson says that while there might be a legal question as to Mr. Henry, he would not contest the election if reasonably certain of success. He says the people voted for Mr. Henry and he thinks he should have the office unless there is more important objection than the desire of another person to retain it.

Dr. Rogers of Forest Grove exchanged pulpits with Rev. Thompson last Sunday, and those who heard him highly appreciated his earnest and practical preaching and will hope some day they may hear him again.

Dr. Calbreath intends starting on the 10th for St. Louis. The republican national convention to which he is a delegate convenes the following Tuesday, the 14th. There will not be a great deal for delegates to do, since the important question as to candidates and platform has already been settled in advance, but the doctor will have the satisfaction of that belongs to the majority, of seeing his favorite for the first place, McKinley, pass under the line. He would vote for Rice, for the second place, with the assurance that the vice-presidency would be acceptable.

Miss Nora Cooper, who has been attending the Washington agricultural college the past year, returns home tomorrow evening.

Dayton Herald.

Dayton is the banner republican precinct of Yamhill county, as shown by the large majority of republican votes cast here on Monday.

"Uncle Jimmy" Baxter is up from Portland visiting relatives and friends. Although away up in 80's, Mr. Baxter looks hale and hearty. He says that he feels about as well as he ever did, except that his joints are not quite so supple as when a boy.

H. B. Nevins lately lost about 500 pounds of meat. Some one broke the lock to his smoke house and carried off the meat during his absence from home. There was also a small quantity of meat taken from another party.

Carp on the Grass.

Carp are taking the country, and pond, mud hole, stream and coveys are proving a great nuisance. Down in Columbia county they are digging up the roots of the grass in the overgrown meadows, and the farmers who own land along the sloughs affected by the periodical inundations are wrathy and leaping curses on the head of the individual, who first introduced the prolific carp into Oregon waters. Complaint is made that they are devouring other fish that are native to the country, and they are spreading everywhere. In fact, they are eating as thick as popovers. Since "General" Coxe was in Oregon City, if the reports are true, they are feeding on the grass in the vicinity of the old circus ground on the hill. Lane Farr, the butcher, has a lively specimen of the carp about two and a half inches long in a can of water at his shop, which he found in the standing water that has collected in the ring of the old circus grounds on the hill. Mr. Farr says there are numerous tiny specimens of young carp in the same collection of water, and at first it was a seven day wonder where they came from. However, it is learned that some carp had been placed in a spring above the grounds, and it is probable that some of them had been washed down during a rainy day freshet, and are keeping up their reputation for multiplying and repopulating the earth.—Oregon City Enterprise.

Mr. James Perdau, an old soldier recently at Monroe, Mich., was severely afflicted with rheumatism but received prompt relief from pain by using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. He says: "At times my back would ache so badly that I could hardly raise up. If I had not gotten relief I would not be here to write these few lines. Chamberlain's Pain Balm has done me a great deal of good and I feel very thankful for it." For sale by A. T. Hill, Druggist.

The Delinctor for July.

The July number of the Delinctor, is called the summer number, and is remarkable on account of several new departures. First and foremost is the addition of four superb colored plates—three devoted to Ladies', Misses' and Children's Fashions, and one to Millinery and its accessories. The regular millinery department is also materially enlarged and improved. The magazine has been given a handsome new cover; its make-up is changed and it is printed on finer paper than hitherto. Another innovation is the first half of a love story by Julia Magruder. In addition to a complete illustrated resume of the season's fashions, this number is one making special appeal to young mothers, Dr. A. K. Schroeder discussing the care of the Baby's Health in Summer, Eleanor Brown giving a delightful description of a baby's first Reception Party, and an illustrated article being devoted to Infantile Atrophy. Woman's Opportunities are broadly considered by Mary Caldwell Jones, while the pursuit of Literature as a Profession is given experienced exposition by Agnes Heppner. Dr. E. J. LeViseur continues his talks on Beauty with instructions as to the Care of the Hair. In addition to a sprightly account of a Fourth of July Party, by Lucia M. Robbins, and a paper on the Furnishing and Decoration of Dining Rooms, by Frances Leeds, there are the usual well-stocked departments devoted to Tea-Table Chat, Seasonable Cookery, Household Sanitation, New Books, Fancy Stationery, and Embroideries, Lace Making, Knitting, Tatting, etc. With the added attractions of this Great Woman's Magazine, its subscription price of One Dollar a Year is more than ever a marvel.

How to Treat a Wife.

(From Pacific Health Journal.) First, get a wife; second, be patient. You may have great trials and perplexities in your business, but do not therefore, carry to your home a cloudy or contracted brow. Your wife may have trials, which, though of less magnitude, may be hard for her to bear. A kind word, a tender look, will do wonders in chasing from her brow all clouds of gloom.—To this we would add always keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. It is the best and is sure to be needed sooner or later. Your wife will then know that you really care for her and wish to protect her health. For sale by A. T. Hill.

Over 500,000 specimens of fossil insects have been collected from various parts of the world. Of these, butterflies are among the very rarest.

Did you ever think how readily the blood is poisoned by constipation? Bad blood means bad health and premature old age. DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills, overcome obstinate constipation.

The shortest name in the world has been developed by the war between Japan and China. It is that of Gen. I. A. Tartar commander, who has, perhaps, distinguished himself above other Chinese generals, having conducted a campaign—though a losing one—of some effectiveness.
