

The Evening Tribune, with free silver proclivities, is Portland's latest newspaper venture.

Teller's 16 to 1 plank was rejected in the St. Louis convention by a vote of 818 1/2 to 105 1/2.

Oregon butter at fifteen cents per roll ought to drive eastern lard and cottolene out of the market.

The Astoria fisherman's strike is off, the militia have been sent home and the men have resumed fishing.

Hon. Wm. McKinley at the age of eighteen shouldered a musket and took to the field in defense of his country.

Teller will not be the nominee of the Chicago convention. His bolt from the republican camp is of too recent date.

The democratic national convention meets in Chicago, July 7. The eyes of the nation are now turned in that direction.

A condensed report of the republican national convention, including the platform adopted, will be found on the first page.

Hon. Geo. H. Williams was elected president of the Oregon pioneer association at the meeting held in Portland recently.

Marcus A. Hanna has been chosen chairman of the national republican committee. The headquarters of the committee will probably be in New York.

The Capital Journal has long been over in the populist camp but not until recently would Hofer admit it. It has taken him a long time to figure out "where he was at."

The failing prize of $150 for the best oration delivered at the State University commencement at Eugene, was awarded to H. S. Templeton and the Beckman prize of $100 to Virgil Johnson.

The Heppner Gazette comes out for C. W. Fullon of Astoria for governor to succeed Lord, two years hence. This seems a little previous. Better wait until the November campaign is worked off at least.

They have a pretty shrewd set of pickpockets down in Portland evidently. One of them took $46 from Mrs. Duniway's pocket a few days ago while she was going down in an elevator in the Chamber of Commerce building.

Sam Hughes of Washington county will be the heavy weight of the legislature next winter. He tips the beam at 318 pounds. The honorable Sam will from necessity, avoid sitting in the laps of the lady clerks. None of them will be big enough to hold him.

Brother Snyder of the Transcript is wading through deep water since the adoption of the money plank of the St. Louis platform. He is solid for McKinley but the platform he stands on is not at all satisfactory. Al appears to be waiting for something to turn up.

The official vote of the state is: Supreme Judge, Bean, rep., 40,072; Gaston, pop., 26,131; Burnett, dem., 17,948. Congressman, first district, Tongue, rep., 19,356; Vanderberg, pop., 19,282; Myers, dem., 8,105; Christenson, pro., 1,315; second district, Ellis, rep., 15,533; Quinn, pop., 12,239; Northup, ind., 8,800; Bennett, dem., 7,255; McKechee, pro., 764. File this away for reference. It may be of value in the future.

The supreme court of the United States recently sustained the decision of the territorial court of Utah in overruling the challenge of a juror who admitted having read newspaper reports of the crime, and that these had made an impression on his mind, but who insisted that this impression could be removed by testimony.

This is a direct slap at the old theory that no one except the man who never reads a newspaper and who scarcely knows enough to go in when it rains, is competent to sit on a jury.

Over east of the mountains they have a very simple but effective way of persuading outside people to "keep off the grass," as the following from the Blue Mountain Eagle will show:

Crook county sheepmen met with a very rocky reception over on the South Fork in the southern part of Grant county near Lee last week, and as a result several bands of sheep turned their course and will not range on Grant county's range this year. The sheepmen were adopting the same tactics, and were going straight through the county regardless of whose rights they infringed on. The wagons, containing supplies to the amount of $1,500, were captured and all piled in a heap and burned. Such treatment not being conducive to the good health of the intruders, they turned their hands and retraced their tracks back into Crook county.

Like many other sections of Grant county, outside sheep will not bother this year, but if so, it will be a serious experience for the owners of the bands.

The following notice of the work of Mrs. Romick, who spent two years in Oregon and who is well known in Newberg, taken from the Whittier, (Cal.) Register, may be of interest.

Evangelist Mrs. Lida Romick preached at Friends church last Sunday.

Among the impressive points of her able sermon was her plea that Christians should guard against the division and estrangement sure to follow contention over politics. The value of her advice is certainly strongly supported by the lessons of experience and the best interpretation of Scripture teaching. Every thoughtful man must have positive political convictions where moral questions are involved, but he cannot make these a test of fealty to the Church of Christ or a standard of qualification in any department of its work without disastrous consequences. A strong cause will gradually win its way as surely as the pervading warmth of sunlight dissolves the icy bands of winter, but no power has been found to storm the citadel of human judgment and enforce uniformly of view, even on questions that seem clear beyond debate.

The next state election to follow Oregon is Alabama, which will vote on August 3. In September three states will vote—Vermont, Arkansas and Maine. Vermont will choose a governor September 1, to serve for two years, Arkansas, September 7, a governor for two years, and Maine, September 14, will elect a governor, who will also serve for two years. October 6, Florida's state election occurs, and the day following, October 7, a state election will be held in Georgia. The states that will choose state officers November 3 are: California, Connecticut, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Dakota, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin. All the states holding elections this year, with a few exceptions, will elect governors.

That great exponent of pure and undiluted Democracy, the Louisville Courier-Journal, does not enthuse over the Democratic convention in Kentucky. Col. Watterson breaks forth in the following lament:

They (the Democrats) have repudiated the only President the Democratic party has elected and seated for 50 years. They have repudiated the most distinguished of Kentucky's living sons and the greatest Democratic intellect in the United States. They have spit upon the fathers of the party whose names and organization they claim; have proclaimed Jefferson an ignoramus; Jackson, a conspirator; Benton, a knave, and Cleveland a traitor. For the faith handed down through a hundred years of glorious party history they have substituted a bad rejected by every intelligent civilization on the globe, and for the exponents of that faith, they have substituted such apostles of Populism as Stewart, such exhorters of socialism as Tillman, such evangelists of anarchism as Altgeld.

The per centage of illiteracy among immigrants to this country during the past year, by nationalities, is given thus, Sweden and Norway, 1; Germany, 2; France, England and Scotland, 3; Ireland, 7; Wales, 9; Russia, 26; Poland, 29; Austria-Hungary, 30; Italy, 44. The percentage of immigration from the various European countries bears a very close ratio to that of illiteracy. Austria-Hungary, Russia, Italy, Greece, and the other Mediterranean countries furnish by far the larger portion of the future voters that are being poured into this country, ready tools of the bosses' money or the anarchist's persuasion. The safety of this free country demands that this illiterate scum of Europe be absolutely kept out.—Milton Eagle.

FROM OUR EXCHANGES. Yamhill County Reporter. What came near proving a serious accident befell Mrs. Campbell Hendricks of Carlton Thursday evening last week. While riding her bicycle near the farm of John Hendricks she fell, and in the fall a coronary artery of the thigh. Though riding alone the accident was observed by friends not far away who hastened for the services of a physician. A painful wound was inflicted, but steady improvement is reported.

John W. Loder, a Yamhill boy who has been attending the Columbian university of law at Washington, D. C., kindly remembers us with a program and an invitation to the commencement of that institution. Mr. Loder's name appears in a list of 101 bachelors of law, and he is the only man in that lot from Oregon. Postmaster general Wilson awarded the prizes on this occasion.

Mrs. Wm. Bones was thrown from a wagon on Monday by a runaway team, and sustained a broken thigh. The accident occurred near the Eagle Mills. With her husband and brother-in-law she had gone into the mountains for a load of posts. While one of the men was driving down a hill Mrs. Bones raised an umbrella, which caused the team to run.

From a flock of 100 sheep Henry Gee says he has sold $110 worth of wool and mutton this spring and increased the flock to 120. He has fed no hay or grain, and according to his way of figuring the product of a moderate sized flock of sheep on a farm is all clear gain.

The pluck on east Third street has been torn up and gravel will soon be laid. Henry Betram furnishes the gravel on the bank at Dayton, and the city hauls it up from there. One thousand yards have been contracted for, and the total cost placed on the street will be $1.32 per yard.

One of the pleasant incidents of the G. A. R. encampment at Independence last week was the formal initiation and christening of a wee girl baby, the infant daughter of Mrs. N. E. Kozig of McMinnville, who was present with her man, a member of Custer Post, relief corps. The uphousenous title of Mary Allen Custer Kozig was bestowed upon the little one to grow up under distributing the honor equally between the department and post commander and the relief corps. This is said to be the first instance on record of an infant being christened in the Grand Army organization, and it took so well that there is likelihood of a light infantry brigade being organized in connection with several other posts.

Valley Transcript. Walla Harris, who came out from Sand Lake last week says the roads down Three Rivers and Big Nestucca are in passably good condition, and if the dry weather continues they will be in first class shape in a few days.

Yamhill to the front again: C. H. McKinney, of the McMinnville Camp Woodmen of the World, has been elected as a delegate to the Heena convention. This is quite an exalted position; but Charley will find it all right.

The sheriff and Clerk have decided upon their deputies. Charley Sealed will be Sheriff Henry's right hand man and county clerk Dukanfield will give Ward Sitton the deputyship in his office. Recorder Macy was not seen on the subject, but it is said that Newberg man will take a seat in his office.

Work of assessing the county is getting on admirably, so assessor Bones informs a reporter. Lewis Hoskins, of Newberg, Sam Laughlin of North Yamhill and Peter Bell of Sheridan, are assisting in the work and are covering the ground rapidly. Mr. Bones says they will well complete the field work by the end of the month.

Putting the county clerk on fees has been a pretty good thing for the county, but does not allow that officer to become a millionaire, by any means. During the 33 months that county clerk McKern has been in office there has been paid in fees $4,034.29. For the same period the clerk and his deputy have received $4,300, so that the fees have come within $265.80 of paying the clerk out of his pocket. Under the old fee system it cost the county from $2,500 to $3,000 per year to get the work done and the clerk got the several thousand dollars in fees besides. There is a big difference between them and now.

Dayton Herald. Jasper L Hewitt has accepted a position with J. W. Exon, in the feed and flour store. Mr. Hewitt has received the Christian paragon and has moved his family there.

Walter Hadley, grandson of J. B. Fason, of Dayton, graduated in the preparatory course at the commencement exercises this week, of Pacific College Newberg. Water thinks of attending school next year.

The school board of this district has again employed Prof. S. S. Duncan for another year as principle of the Dayton public schools. Miss Nellie Findlay has been employed as teacher for six months.

J. Bradley informs us that work will soon commence on the Willamette Valley telephone line between Dayton and Salem. This is good news and we hope to see the line speedily completed and in operation.

Road Master Hash is now having the roads in this vicinity made in good condition for travel. He has done a good job of grading on the street leading to Lafayette, and if he is able to get it covered with gravel this season it will make a fine piece of road.

An effort was lately made to have the city council of Dayton pass an ordinance to stop cows running at large in the city, but of no avail. The council would not pass such an ordinance. So Dayton will remain a cow pasture for a while longer, and the streets and walks "neatly" plastered over with a soft and "sweet scented" mixture, somewhat more disagreeable than mud for ladies to be in their skirts in, and walks to be smashed up by cattle running over them. This is progressive-retrogression.

Telephone-Register. Arthur Harris caught a crawfish the other day that measured just fourteen inches from jaw to jaw. This is the largest of the season.

Much road improvement is going on in the several districts of the county at present.

Agitation should be kept up for a coating of gravel in every case after the necessary leveling and grading has been completed.

The McMinnville college trustees elected the following faculty, last week: Rev. Harry Boardman, president; Prof. Brumbeck, sciences; Miss Rose Trumbull, music and education; Prof. Northup, languages; Miss Alice Dorris, assistant. The selection of Rev. Harry Boardman as president of the institution is a good one. Mr. Boardman is a young, bright, energetic man. He is a graduate of the college he now presides over. Prof. Brumbeck is from Centerville; Miss Trumbull from Albany; Miss Dorris from Eugene. Prof. Northup is the only one of the faculty left and his worth as a teacher is too well known for comment.

Bi-Metallic Convention. At the county convention of the free silver party held at McMinnville on last Saturday the following was adopted:

The Union Bi-metallic Party of Yamhill County hereby adopts the following address: To the People of the United States: The paramount issue at this time in the United States, is indisputably the money question. It is between the gold standard, gold loans, and bank currency on the one side, and the bi-metallic standard, no bonds and no government currency on the other. On this issue we declare in favor of a distinctly American financial system. We are unalterably opposed to the single gold standard, and demand the immediate return to the constitutional standard of gold and silver, by the re-creation by this government, independent of any foreign power, of the unrestricted coinage of both gold and silver into standard money at the ratio of 16 to 1, and upon terms of exact equality, as extended prior to 1873; and we demand a full legal tender, equally with gold, for all debts and dues, public and private.

We hold that the power to control and regulate a paper currency is inseparable from the power to coin money; and hence that all currency intended to circulate as money should be issued, and its volume controlled, by the general government, only, and should be legal tender.

We are unalterably opposed to the issue by the United States of interest-bearing bonds in time of peace and we denounce as a blunder, worse than a crime, the present treasury policy contemplated in a republican house, of plunging the country in debt by hundreds of millions in the vain attempt to maintain the gold standard by borrowing gold; and we demand the payment of all coin obligations of the United States, as provided by existing laws, in either gold or silver coin, at the option of the government, and not at the option of the creditor.

We therefore confidently appeal to the people of the United States to leave in abeyance for the moment all other questions, however important, and to concentrate their money power, by seceding, if need be, from all parties and affiliations, and unite in one supreme effort to free themselves and their children from the domination of the money power—a power more destructive than any which has ever been fastened upon the civilized men of any race in any age. And upon the consummation of our desires and efforts we invoke the gracious favor of Divine Providence.

Respectfully Submitted, J. C. Cooper, E. S. Craven, C. S. Clark, W. W. Walker, C. V. Kuykendall, committee.

The following delegates were elected to the state convention: C. S. Clark, C. Grissen, W. J. Garrison, Jr., Mr. Foster, R. Baird, P. M. Churchman, Geo. Olds, M. B. Hendrick, L. Hewitt, I. E. Holt, L. W. Harger, A. Smith.

We are anxious to do a little good in this world and can think of no pleasanter or better way to do it than by recommending One Minute Cough Cure as a preventive of pneumonia, consumption and other serious lung troubles that follow neglected colds. A. T. Hill.

The Youngest Members. A Salem correspondent writes to the Oregonian to inquire "the name and age of the youngest members of the house and senate of Oregon for the past four sessions." Unfortunately, there are no records from which to establish a certain reply. Representative Wilkinson, of Lane county was supposed to be the youngest member of the session of 1883. Senator Johnson of Linn county, who was elected in 1887, was undoubtedly the youngest senator of the 1885 session, and will likely have the same distinction in 1897. Representative Jeffrey, the populist "boy orator," was supposed to be the youngest member of the house of 1885, having been born in 1869, but the "blue book" informs us that Representative George Rinearsen was only twenty-four years old in 1885, so he was the youngest. Representative Jehu Gratke is said to be the youngest member-elect of the house. He hails from Clatsop county, and his age is about twenty-three.
