

NEWBERG GRAPHIC.

ISSUED EVERY FRIDAY MORNING.

E. H. WOODWARD, EDITOR & PUBLISHER.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 14, 1896.

Entered as second class matter at the post office at Newberg, Oregon.

An exchange gives the name of a Kansas man who is too indolent to sweat on a hot day.

The little city of Monmouth is infested with burglars and the Monitor wants some one to invent a trap to catch them.

Senator Stewart says, "all hell is for the Bryan ticket." This probably accounts for the unusual noise in the early part of the campaign.

The Globe-Democrat says that if Jefferson could come back it would make him sick to read the stuff that is being talked by those who claim to be following his teachings.

In a neighboring town a woman has been charged with living with a man who is not her husband, and consequently, the financial question is not in it in that place for the present.

Mayor Penoyer, of Portland, takes only half his salary but he wants all the offices, and there is where the kick comes in on the part of the boys who want a hand in dictating appointments.

A Kansas man is said to have taken out an accident insurance policy the day before his wedding. If he had lived in this country, he would simply have retained an attorney to institute divorce proceedings in case of an adverse wind.

The young man who is out on the hunt of a school to teach in Oregon this year, is liable to come home fully persuaded that there is something in the theory of over production. Even the "room at the top" seems to be limited this year.

Senator Dan. W. Voorhees of Indiana, the "tall sycamore of the Wabash," will not take part in the coming campaign. He is now 72 years old and his health is failing so rapidly that it is thought he will not live many months. For fifty years he has stamped the state in every campaign.

Albert Tozier, secretary of the Oregon Press Association, has been appointed health officer by Mayor Penoyer, for the city of Portland. It is said to have been an unsought honor but being strictly orthodox on the silver question Mr. Tozier can hardly afford to go back on his friend Sylvester.

The free silver advocates who are accustomed to quoting James G. Blaine, are respectfully requested to read a short article in this issue on what Blaine said respecting the free and unlimited coinage of silver, along lines that bear especially on the question as we have it before us in this campaign.

W. C. Squire, republican senator from the state of Washington, has announced himself for free silver and Bryan, while H. C. Wallace of the national democratic committee for Washington, has resigned because he can't support the Chicago platform. The campaign of education is on and men are finding their places.

The adobe pated galoot that gets up the Lafayette Journal asks the following silly question: "Why will not five dollars in silver buy just as much as five dollars in gold?" Any man in the newspaper business who hasn't any better sense than to ask such thoroughly absurd questions had better step down and out, for the public has no use for him. —Yaquina Bay News.

He has already stepped down and out and the little Journal has been laid out as a newspaper in the yawning, Yamhill county newspaper graveyard.

A half dozen plotters have now arranged things to make it easy for Bryan. They have agreed that the populist committee should not inform the candidate of his nomination at St. Louis! It reminds one of the old love story where Tom said to Sally: "If you love me say so, and if you love me and don't want to say so, just squeeze my hand—and she squeeze." —Myrtle Point Enterprise.

Toward the end of next September Queen Victoria will have been on the throne longer than any other English sovereign, and if the grand old lady wishes to turn over the care of State to a successor she can retire with a record as woman and as Queen that will form one of the brightest pages of history. In the common sense of statesmanship and the absolute honor of personal character she is a worthy contemporary of Abraham Lincoln. There is no need of higher praise. —Globe-Democrat.

A statement was widely published by the press a few days ago that President G. L. Green, of the Connecticut Life Insurance Company, of Hartford, had issued a circular letter to policy-holders, notifying them that in the event of the government adopting the free coinage of silver the company would be compelled to pay all claims in depreciated silver. F. W. Alsop, of Chicago, sent a clipping of this statement to Secretary of the Treasury Carlisle, with the request for an expression on the subject. He has received a reply from Mr. Carlisle, which is in part as follows:

"In case free coinage of silver should be established in this country, I presume that insurance companies and all other institutions would continue to make their payment by checks and drafts on banks as heretofore; but, in my opinion, the whole volume of our currency would sink at once to a silver basis, and these checks and drafts would be paid by silver dollars or their equivalent in gold or its equivalent, as is now the case.

"I presume no one supposes for a moment that it would be the duty of the government to attempt to keep the standard silver dollars coined for private individuals and corporations equal in value to a gold dollar; or in other words, that it would be the duty of the government to attempt, under a system of free coinage, to maintain the parity of the two metals. The dollars would be coined on private account and delivered to private individuals and corporations as their own property, the government having no interest whatever in them, and being therefore, under no obligation to sustain them by guaranteeing their value.

"Under our existing system, all silver dollars are coined on account of the government, and are issued by the government in payment of its expenditures and other obligations, and it would be an act of bad faith, therefore, to permit them to depreciate.

(Signed) JOHN G. CARLISLE."

If the Lane county papers continue to "give the news" outsiders will conclude that some of the towns in that county are liable to make good territory for active work along missionary lines. A couple of weeks ago the Eugene Guard told a story about some naughty young people from Junction City who disgraced themselves in Eugene and now comes the Junction City Times with the following report:

A very revolting sight was witnessed on our streets last Sunday. Two women, soiled doves, from Eugene, came down here and imbibed very freely of that which intoxicates. They staggered across the street and when about half way over, they stopped and indulged in the hilarious pastime of trying as to which could kick the highest. They should have been run in and fined the full limit of the law.

Lessons in free silver are being given by merchants in many of the large cities, who advertise that every purchaser of 50 cents worth of goods, will, on the payment of one dollar in Uncle Sam's money, receive the amount of his purchase and a new Mexican dollar in change. These Mexican dollars cost exactly 55 cents laid down in this country. Mexico is a free silver country.

WHAT BLAINE ACTUALLY SAID.

In speaking of the monetary question, James G. Blaine, the great republican leader and chief, said: "To remonetize silver now, as though essential conditions had not changed, is willfully and blindly to deceive ourselves. If our demonetization were the only cause for the decline in the value of silver, then remonetization would be its proper and effectual cure, but other causes, beyond our control, have been far more potentially operative than the simple fact that congress prohibited its further coinage. As legislators we are bound to take cognizance of these causes."

Again, he says: "If we coin a silver dollar of full legal value below the current value of the gold dollar, we are simply opening our doors and inviting Europe to take our gold. With our gold flowing out from us, we shall be forced to the single silver standard, and our relation with the leading commercial countries of the world will be not only embarrassed but crippled."

Again the statement continued: At current rates of silver the free coinage of a dollar containing 412 grains, worth in gold about 92 cents (and 33 cents) gives an illegitimate profit to the owner of the bullion, enabling him to take 2 cents worth of it to the mint and get it stamped as coin, and force his neighbor to take it for a full dollar. This is an unfair advantage to give the owner of silver bullion and one which defaults the man which is forced to take the dollar. It actually follows that if we give free coinage to this dollar of inferior value, and put it in circulation, we do so at the expense of our better coinage in gold; and unless we expect the invariable experience of other nations to be in some mysterious way suspended for our own peculiar benefit, we inevitably lose our gold coin. It will flow out from us with the certainty and with the force of the tides.

"What gain, therefore, should we make for the circulating medium, if on opening the gates for silver to flow in we open a still wider gate for gold to flow out? If we were to venture upon a dictum on the silver question, I should declare that until Europe remonetized silver we cannot afford to coin a dollar as low as 412 grains.

"Assurances from empirics and scientists in finances that remonetization of the former dollar will at once and permanently advance its value to parity with gold are worth little in the face of opposing and controlling facts."

FROM OUR EXCHANGES.

Yamhill County Reporter.

We believe there should be concessions made to bicycle riders on the sidewalks of the principal streets of the city. A width of twelve inches, the boards laid transversely with the boards in the walk would make ample room, the riders being required always to take the right-hand side of the street.

destroyed by frost or cold rains, it may interest to the horticultural student, that in this tree occupies a protected situation, there being some large fir trees on the west and south five or six rods distant. The idea of wind-breaks for Oregon orchards has not been much considered, because there is seldom lack of abundant fruit, but here is a suggestion that in some seasons they might be very profitable.

Valley Transcript.

Dr. Goucher started out to see Mr. L. P. Pond, who was ill, last Thursday evening, and when passing the brick mill west of town his black mare became frightened and ran away. The doctor jumped and escaped injury; the mare ran herself down, completely demolishing one wheel of the buggy.

Hon. M. B. Hendricks informs a reporter that he has received a little wheat at his warehouse at other points and that it is very fair grain. From what he has been able to glean, Yamhill county will have about a three-fourths yield.

Threshing is on in dead earnest. The first machine to start in this section, so far as we have heard, was that of Jerome Derly, which started on the farm of B. F. Sparks Friday morning. Late in the day Eliza Wright started up her machine on the Braly farm for C. G. Scott. Other machines are running in various parts of the county.

Inquiry elicits the fact that wheat is averaging about twenty bushels to the acre; but although it is yielding light it is of excellent quality. It is feared that some of the grain has been thrashed a trifle soon after the late rain, which may cause it to heat in the sacks.

Theories of cure may be discussed at length by physicians, but the sufferers want quick relief; and One Minute Cough Cure will give it to them. A sure cure for children. It is the only harmless remedy that produces immediate results. A. T. Hill.

Crop Bulletin.

The rains delayed harvesting, and may have done some slight damage to grain in shock on low land, but as a whole, the rain did practically no damage, except to delay work. Harvesting will begin again today and will be actively prosecuted. Some little threshing has been done and the results have been better than was expected. A more general spirit of encouragement prevails throughout the country. It must be admitted that the grain crop is not equal to former years, yet yields of wheat of 25 to 35 bushels per acre and oats 50 to 60 bushels per acre are commonly reported. Failures are spoken of when the yields are much less than those figures, yet there are few sections of the world that will produce wheat year after year and yield even 25 bushels of No. 1 wheat to the acre, and without manure added to the soil. As the greater portion of Western Oregon has always grown 25 or more bushels of wheat to the acre, a less yield causes the farmer to be discouraged. Spring sown grain has made some improvement since the rains, but much of it was so well advanced that the rains can be of but little if any benefit.

EASTERN OREGON.

The rain did no damage to the grain crop; in localities it delayed harvesting but not to any great extent. Harvesting continues and threshing will begin this week. Spring grain will be harvested within the next ten days. South of the mountains harvesting will be later. Through the main wheat belt, the wheat is yielding better than expected, though some of it is shrivelled; in some sections it will be graded as No. 2 wheat. The rains were of benefit to gardens and to some of the late sown grain.

Reports continue to indicate that the fruit crop will, as a rule, be better than that in Western Oregon. Many correspondents report the German and Italian prunes as having the best crop; just now at the women's colleges—and the usual entertaining departments of Tea-Table Chat, New Books, Seasonable Cookery, Smocking, Knitting, Tatting, Crocheting Lace-Making, etc.

My little boy, when two years of age, was taken very ill with bloody flux. I was advised to use Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and luckily procured part of a bottle. I carefully read the directions and gave it accordingly. He was very low, but slowly and surely he began to improve, gradually recovered, and is now as stout and strong as ever. I feel sure it saved his life. I never can praise the Remedy half its worth. I am sorry every body in the world does not know how good it is, as I do. —Mrs. Lina S. Hinton, Grahamsville, Marion Co., Florida. For sale by A. T. Hill, drugist.

School Fund Distribution.

The following is a statement of the number of school children in each of the counties of the state and the amount due each county under the apportionment:

Table with 3 columns: County, Number, Amount. Lists counties like Baker, Benton, Clatsop, etc., with their respective school numbers and funding amounts.

LAFAYETTE.

Our town is almost deserted, a great many of our people being at the coast, and others in the harvest field.

Dr. Michaux has moved his office to first door west of the drug store.

A. D. Hoskins has sold his harness and carriage to Mrs. Deal who has a man selling it out for her.

There are teams in sight almost continually going to or from the coast or mountains.

Grandma Perkins is very sick again with her old stomach troubles.

W. R. Derly has bought the Carpenter property on the corner at mortgages sale.

The Lafayette Journal has turned up its toes. Took too big a dose of free silver and it ruined its digestive organs.

Ed Close is running the engine in the flouring mill.

There are three steam saws running in town sawing cord wood once in two for 20c. per cord.

The Ferguson boys are shipping 300 cords of oak wood to Portland.

Dick and Guy Bird and Hugh Carey with their families are rustication on the beach.

Mrs. Boone is having a new picket fence built around her property, and other improvements made which help the appearance of Piety Hill wonderfully.

The whistle of the steam thrasher can be heard in all directions, and the farmers are making use of the fine weather.

Neal Westfield is laid up with a felon on his hand.

Lou Duncan has furnished rooms in the rear of the drugstore and has moved in and can be found there day or night.

M. O. Lowrsdale has gone to Trask river and Tillamook. Look out for some fish stories when he returns.

Uncle John Thompson is back in the post office again after a month's absence in the county clerk's office.

Our band is improving nicely and is adding new instruments and new music every week. POSKY.

Blood Will Tell.

The many different skin diseases such as ring worm, tetter, salt rheum, eczema, itching or an eruption of pimples, pustules, blotches, chaps or cracking open of the skin, scrofula, are directly the cause of impure blood. Wilbur's Blood Purifier is acknowledged to be the best medicine known for these of these unsightly complaints. Price $1.00 per bottle. For sale by all Druggists.

The September number of The Delinquent is called the Autumn Announcement Number, and is the handsomest and most striking issue of this sterling publication ever seen, containing no less than nine beautifully colored plates illustrating dress modes and millinery, including special plates of mourning and bicycle attire, and giving the first authoritative announcement of the coming styles for Autumn wear. Of especial value to young ladies having vocal aspirations is Clementine De Vere-Saggio's opinion on Singing as a Profession. Mrs. Mary Caldwell Jones puts much good sense into a discussion of the Abnæ of reading. A short story by Clinton Ross, called "The Lady of the Portrait," has a cleverly surprising finale.

The paper on Interior Decoration by Frances Lewis, is this month devoted to Kitchens, E. C. Vick gives practical and instructive explanation of Floral Work for Autumn. Carolyn Halsted describes the patriotic work of The Children of the American Revolution; Lucia M. Robbins tells about "A Progressive Rainbow Party"; Emma Haywood describes in detail the construction of embroidered handbags. There is an illustrated article on basket ball—the game so popular just now at the women's colleges—and the usual entertaining departments of Tea-Table Chat, New Books, Seasonable Cookery, Smocking, Knitting, Tatting, Crocheting Lace-Making, etc.

A New York florist recently was stung in the tongue by a small insect. The injury was so serious that the surgeon was compelled to cut the man's tongue out in order to save his life. This was tough luck, but it might have been worse. Suppose for instance, the florist had been a woman!

Oil of Gladness

Is a pleasant, palatable preparation, entirely free from all oily taste, and may be administered internally or applied externally. It will remove all pain that "human flesh is heir to," if properly applied, and might be rightly termed "a panacea for all ills." Price 50 cents. For sale by all Druggists.
