ISSUED EVERY FRIDAY MORNING.

E. H. WOODWARD, EDITOR & PUBLISHER.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1896.

Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice at Newberg, Oregon.

The democrats carried Arkansas by about 60,000 majority.

An eastern exchange suggests that the demonization of horses by the crime of bicycles may have had something to do with the price of oats.

It is claimed that the corn crop in Nebraska will be in the neighborhood of 175,000,000 bushels. This will be a heavy blow at populism.

At the Indianapolis convention the gold democrats nominated Gen. John M. Palmer of Illinois for President, and Gen. Simon B. Buckner of Missouri for Vice President.

The Headlight says: Raising Hades about politics and cussing the country in general may be very congenial pastime for some people, but raising calves pays vastly better in the end.

A little man with a big argument is bigger than a big man with a little argument.—Cap. Journal.

Yes, and a big man with a big argument is a bigger man than either of them.

Those who are versed in "Injun" signs say we may look out for a hard winter. All signs are liable to "fail in dry weather," but it is good husbandry to lay in a stock of dry wood in Oregon before the winter dews begin to fall.

The great log raft constructed on the Columbia river reached San Francisco after a five-day battle with the waves. Since river men have learned how to put a raft together properly to make the trip it is likely that a big industry in this line will be built up.

THE CORNERING OF MONEY.

One of the favorite complaints of the free silverites is that under the present system the bankers and capitalists are permitted to "corner" the supply of money, and prevent it from being used for business purposes and the promotion of general prosperity. The folly of this view is so plain that any man who knows enough to pitch straw should be able to see it. Money is worth nothing to the bankers and capitalists when it is withdrawn from circulation and locked up in their safes and vaults. That kind of cornering simply means the voluntary surrender of chances of profit, and men of that class are not in the habit of having fun with themselves in that way. It is to their advantage to keep their money employed, and not to let it lie in idle piles for the purpose of annoying those who would like to have it. They favor the largest possible use of money, not from pitiful or philanthropic motives, but because that is their source of gain. It is their constant study to maintain the activity of their capital, for the simple reason that when it is inactive it yields them nothing. There are times, of course, when banks are slow to lend money or capitalists to make investments, an account of conditions of disturbance and uncertainty; but it is nonsense to say that they deliberately go to work to prevent the use of money when the conditions are reasonably safe. They are more apt to take risks that they should avoid in that relation than to neglect good opportunities. Their prosperity is dependent upon that of the people at large; their money is productive only when it is helping to advance the welfare of others. The banks are themselves constant borrowers. Their depositors are their creditors, and the money thus borrowed is loaned out at a rate of interest that gives a profit for the trouble and hazard in the case. The more they can borrow in that way, the more they have to lend, and they borrow it only to lend it, not to put it aside and gloat over the possession of it. They must keep it in motion, or it will profit them nothing. The thing that they most dread is its accumulation on their hands without the chance to employ it. All talk about the cornering of money in the sense of arbitrarily preventing the use of it is obviously ridiculous, therefore, when the fact is considered that the business of bankers and capitalists is to avert that very result, and to make as much profit as they can on loans and investments.—Globe-Democrat.

Sound Money and Prices.

A Presidential candidate on the stump ought to be very careful to have his statements accurate. At Newton Mr. Bryan said: "If we have a gold standard prices will go down." Effect was given to the gold standard by the resumption of specie (gold) payments in 1879. The average export price of wheat in that year was $1.07. In 1880 it was $1.25; in 1881, $1.11; in 1882, $1.19; in 1883, $1.13; in 1884, $1.07. In 1879 the export price of cotton was (without fractions) 9 cents. In the six years following it ranged from 10 to 11. It was 10 again in 1880 and 1881, just as wheat was $1.03 again in 1882. The export price of butter was five cents higher in 1884 than in 1879, and that of cheese nearly one cent higher.

Wages also steadily advanced after the gold resumption in 1879, and the country prospered in the main until 1892, when inflation by cheap dollars and Treasury notes, combined with the extravagance of Congress, brought disaster.—N. Y. Sun.

The Poor Silver Miners.

So much has been said about the poor "silver miners" and about rich men supporting McKinley and Hobart, the following list of "poor silver miners" prepared by the Atchison, Kansas, Globe, will not be uninteresting:

Meeting of County Horticultural Society.
As per announcement the County Horticultural Society met in the Hoskins' building on Tuesday about 10:30, the secretary calling the house to order, but surrendered the chair to 1st vice-president I. T. Moore of Dayton, who in turn was soon relieved by the arrival of President Lowndale.

All seats were being occupied and still more to follow, the Odd Fellows hall opposite was very kindly offered and the company filed across the street to that very neat and comfortable room, which by the way is rather better quarters than it has been our good fortune to occupy at previous meetings.

Mr. E. H. Skinner read the first paper, entitled "Horticulture for the Farmer," which, as we always expect from him, was full of good thoughts well expressed. He shows that the farmer, who should have a well selected and abundant supply of fruits, has the same need of information that he may properly care for his small orchard, as the fruit grower with his large plantings.

A general discussion of the paper followed which was prolonged to near the noon hour. At 1:30 p. m. the committee on nomination reported, recommending the re-election of all the old officers, which was agreed to.

Commissioner Doseh was then called upon to read a paper, "Hints on Horticulture," in which a number of topics were well presented, such as, horticultural education in our schools, how to keep our boys and girls on the farm, effects of good literature, foreign methods of drying fruits, dynamiting soils, etc. The latter topic called out quite a discussion, the trend of which was that in our locality, tile draining is of much more benefit to the soil than loosening with explosives would be.

Prof. Cordeley of the Agricultural College, next read under the caption of "Some Insects of the Season," a paper which will appear later in the horticultural press. The professor's instructive reading and gentlemanly bearing commended him to us as a worthy acquisition to our Horticultural ranks.

C. E. Hoskins spoke for a short time on Evaporation, which being so important a part of our work and the drying season now being at hand, everybody wanted to tell or hear some new thing. Besides most of our previous membership, and others mentioned above, we note the presence of Geo. H. and E. S. Greer of Dundee who left their auto-graphs and fees, Samuel Davis, C. Hes-ton and others from the same locality. Mrs. Lowndale, LaFayette, and a number of ladies from Newberg and Springfield.

A Floating Hospital.

Tens of thousands of child lives are saved in New York City every year through the good work of St. John's Guild, the Children's Aid Society, and similar organizations. St. John's Guild does the most extensive summer work among the children. From June till the last of September the great Floating Hospital of the Guild makes daily trips through the bay and out into the ocean, stopping at the Seaside Hospital on the south side of Staten Island to take aboard small convalescents and leave the small patients who take their places. The magnitude of the work will be appreciated when it is known that nearly sixty thousand mothers and children were given the benefit last season of medical treatment in the Floating Hospital and the pure exhilarating salt breezes of the bay and ocean.

These children are gathered from the city's highways and byways by the Guild's workers; earnest, self-sacrificing women and men who spend much of their time in the hot streets and sweltering tenements of slums, searching out the little sufferers. The mother is given a card to one of the Guild's physicians, who ascertains accurately the child's condition; for there are many more applicants than can be taken, and the aim of course is to care for those children who most need the care. If upon examination the child is found ill or weak enough for treatment, its mother is given a card of admission to the Floating Hospital. From "Summer Aid for Helpless Children," in Democrat's Magazine for September.

LAFAYETTE.

The farmers are still harvesting and threshing their spring grain.

The mill and warehouse here will get fully as much grain as last year.

Joe Huston, Jr., is visiting his brother Alfred at Independence this week.

Miss Belcher of Portland is visiting her grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Belcher.

M. O. Lowndale has raised some very fine peaches this year which he is selling in town.

Dr. Courtney and family have just arrived from the beach looking and feeling much better.

Guy Bird is having an addition built to his dwelling. Ike Sampson and Will Shaw are the mechanics.

Charley Bryan is moving back to town and will occupy the Hawkins' property near the Essex house.

Mrs. Talent the lady from Salem died Saturday night and was buried in the Masonic cemetery on Monday.

W. C. Rudder of South Bend, Wash., is here visiting his daughter Mrs. Chas. Bryan. He is in very poor health.

Hull Johnson has his building up at the mineral spring and all enclosed and will be quite a house when finished.

Olds Bros. started with a full crew to picking hops this morning. Even at the low price of 25c. a box this will help those who pick to prepare for winter.

A Lie Nailed.

Consumption and bronchitis are not by any means the same, although it is hard to distinguish one from the other. Bronchitis is an inflammation of the lining of the wind tubes or air vessels of the lungs, causing soreness of the same, cough, sore throat, hoarseness, difficulty of breathing, spitting of matter and sometimes blood. Thousands die annually with this dread disease. Wilbur's Cough Cure will cure. Price 50 cents. For sale by all Druggists.

Real Estate Transfers.

These transfers are furnished by the Yamhill County Abstract Company at McMinnville, Oregon. They have the only set of abstract books in Yamhill county and do a general title transfer business, and solicit your correspondence and orders.

Oil of Gladness.

Is a pleasant, palatable preparation, entirely free from all oily taste, and may be administered internally or applied externally. It will remove all pain that "human flesh is heir to," if properly applied, and might be rightly termed "a panacea for all ills." Price 50 cents. For sale by all Druggists.

The Elgin Recorder says: Donald McKay, an old Indian scout from the Umatilla reservation, was a caller at this office last Saturday morning. He was on his way to Wallawa county with a number of Umatilla Indians and having just learned of the death of John McBean, the interpreter at the Umatilla agency, wanted a copy of the East Oregonian containing the particulars. Donald is one of the oldest characters of this section of the Northwest. He is a brother of the late Dr. McKay and has been a government scout in all the principal Indian wars of this section since its settlement by the whites. He is an old man now and so badly crippled that his services would be of little value to his pale-faced friends as a scout should the occasion again arise, but his services in the past should be gratefully remembered.

If you have ever seen a little child in the agony of summer complaint, you can realize the danger of the trouble and appreciate the value of instantaneous relief always afforded by DeWitt's Colic & Cholera Cure. For dysentery and diarrhoea it is a reliable remedy. We could not afford to recommend this as a cure unless it were a cure. A. T. Hill.

A Coinage Query.

If a dollar be a dollar—honest coin—without deceit—one may melt it, one may smelt it, but its value won't retreat.

Melt ten dollars—silver dollars—in unbroken melting pot, and the silver "slag" resulting, only sells for "five the lot."

Melt gold dollars—melt an eagle—in aforsaid melting pot—and the golden "slag" resulting quickly sells for "ten the lot."

Will you tell me, kindly tell me, how these dollars equal are—if a little glowing furnace puts on only a scorch?

There was never yet equation that demanded legislation to establish right to be; an equation is equation, else it is fallacy!

I am thinking, quietly thinking, that a poor man has poor sense if he votes to have a dollar that will melt to fifty cents.—Ontario, (Cal.) Record.

Elm Hill, Lumber City, Pa., writes, "I have been suffering from piles twenty-five years and thought my case incurable. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve was recommended to me as a pile cure, so I bought a box and it performed a permanent cure." This is only one of thousands of similar cases. Eczema, sores and skin diseases yield quickly when it is used. A. T. Hill.

A Chance to Make Money.

I have berries, grapes, and peaches, a year old, fresh as when picked. I use the California Cold process, do not heat or seal the fruit, just put it up cold, keeps perfectly fresh, and costs almost nothing; can put up a bushel in ten minutes. Last week I sold directions to over 120 families; anyone will pay a dollar for directions, when they see the beautiful samples of fruit. As there are many people poor like myself, I consider it my duty to give my experience to such, and feel confident any one can make one or two hundred dollars round home in a few days. I will mail sample of fruit and complete directions, to any of your readers, for eighteen two-cent stamps, which is only the actual cost of the samples, post- age, etc., to me.

"People who live in glass houses," began Mrs. Tibbitts.

"People who live in glass houses," interrupted Mr. Tibbitts, in a man's dogmatic way, "should pull down the blinds."

And the amendment had to go that way.

Blood Will Tell.

The many different skin diseases such as ring worm, tetter, salt rheum, erysipelas, eczema, itching or an eruption of pimples, pustules, blotches, chaps or cracking open of the skin, scrofula, are directly the cause of impure blood. Wilbur's Blood Purifier is acknowledged to be the best medicine known for any of these unsightly complaints. Price $1.00 per bottle. For sale by all Druggists.

Puffington (criticising Grimshaw's gift)—"Woe! my soul and body, Grimshaw, this cigar is villainous! It smells like a combination of brimstone, red pepper, false hair and several other ingredients that I cannot identify. What brand is it any how?" Grimshaw (calmly)—"It is called the 'Mrs. Lease'."

For the Kidneys.

"I am 65 years old; have had kidney disease and constipation for 25 years. Am now well—used your S. B. Headache and Liver Cure one year. Used 6 bottles at 50 cents each. J. H. Knight, Rutledge, Or." For sale by all druggists.

Hunters say the crop of China pheasants is short, compared with last year's hatch and the birds are rather young yet. The long continued cold rains in the spring were no doubt responsible for it.

Don't trifle away time when you have cholera morbus or diarrhoea. Fight them in the beginning with DeWitt's Colic & Cholera Cure. You don't have to wait for results, they are instantaneous, and it leaves the bowels in healthy condition. A. T. Hill.

Some fellow with evil intent climbed a telephone pole between Newberg and Dayton a few days ago and connected the wires with a fine wire. This stopped all communications until the trouble was located by Al Cornell and removed.

The New Book Spoon Free to All.

I read in the Christian Standard that Miss A. M. Fritz, Station A, St. Louis, Mo., would give an elegant plated book spoon to anyone sending her ten cents. The book spoon is a useful thing. I showed it to my friends, and made $100 in two hours, taking orders for the spoon. The book spoon is a household necessity. It cannot slip into the dish or cooking vessel, being held in the place by a hook on the back. The spoon is something that housekeepers have needed ever since spoons were first invented. Anyone can get a sample spoon by sending ten cents stamps to Miss Fritz. This is a splendid way to make money around home.
