

NEWBERG GRAPHIC.

ISSUED EVERY FRIDAY MORNING.

E. H. WOODWARD, EDITOR & PUBLISHER.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1896.

Entered as second class matter at the postoffice at Newberg, Oregon.

The solid South is broken.

Poor bleeding Kansas has decided to open the wound still wider.

The fight is over and the campaign button of 1896 is rapidly going out of circulation.

Poor Tom Watson was a much abused candidate, but he can now arise and say "I told you so."

The electoral vote of Kentucky is now added to the McKinley column, making a total of 277 votes, with Wyoming and South Dakota still to hear from.

One thing is settled very conclusively for the next four years, at least. The Bryan campaign button can't be kept at a parity with the McKinley button.

The cabinet-makers are already getting in their work as best they can, and they are likely to keep busy up to March 4, when McKinley will speak for himself.

The defeat of Breckenridge in Kentucky, is a victory for common decency, and it is to be hoped that this will be the last heard of the old sinner in public life.

In the recent election, Chicago cast more votes by a good many thousand than New York. The New Yorkers will now tumble over each other in their haste to consolidate with Brooklyn.

One of the greatest victories for law and order in the recent campaign was gained in the defeat of Altgeld in Illinois. Altgeldism has been given a black eye and the people rejoice.

Siegel Cooper & Co. who run a department store in New York offered Bryan $25,000 a year for his services, but he declined the offer. He has evidently decided to go out of the show business for the present.

The Atlas Engine Works, of Indianapolis, Ind., has at present running on the Pacific coast, 435 engines of their make and 806 boilers. Is there any other make that can equal this, asks the Commercial Review?

The impression prevails that one or more gold democrats will be given a place in McKinley's cabinet, in recognition of the services of the sound money democrats in the campaign for the gold standard and good government.

Over in Willows county a political discussion lasted for five hours, and so far as known the audience survived, but it must be remembered that Willows county has a high dry atmosphere which is conducive to death and long life.

The holders of gold coin are now digging it up in fact as well as in name, for the dispatches state that gold deposits are being made daily at the banks in muddy sacks, showing that it was buried in the earth until the election demonstrated that it was safe to deposit it again.

In the government supplies for Indian schools, soap always cuts a large figure, the idea being of course that soap is a great civilizer. The Boston school board is taking a step in the same direction by providing bathing facilities for pupils of the public schools, where such accommodations are not provided in the homes.

Plagiarism has become so common among East Oregon newspapers that they are afraid to copy witticisms from a neighbor and give proper credit, for fear it has been stolen from another brother. In most instances, however, they are right, for Eastern Oregon editors, as a general rule, handle the shears to perfection.—Blue Mountain Eagle.

The presidential electors meet in their respective states on the second Monday in January and vote separately for president and vice president, after which the result is forwarded to Washington, directed to the president of the senate. The final count is made by the senate and house of representatives jointly assembled, on the second Wednesday in February.

It is reported that citizens of Woodburn, who have for years fought against licensing saloons in that town, are now favoring letting them in. Without saloons, Woodburn has forged ahead of any other town in Marion county outside of Salem. Then why should this backward step be taken now? The substantial citizens of Woodburn will do well to stand firm against the blighting influences of the saloon, and maintain the already well earned reputation of the little city for snap and enterprise.

The King of Sweden and Norway, Oscar II, has been chosen by treaty between the United States and Great Britain as the fifth official arbitrator of the Venezuelan boundary question. The other arbitrators, four in number, are to be designated, two by the lord chief justice of England, and two by the chief justice of the United States. King Oscar is known as the "Giant King," as he stands six feet three inches in height. He is said to be a man of great judicial temperament and of eminent fairness.

WONDERFUL CAMPAIGN OF 1896.

[Chicago Times-Herald.]

The campaign just closed will pass into history as the most remarkable political contest in the annals of the republic. The post-bellum campaigns may have been marked with more pyrotechnics, more torchlight processions and more martial music, but no previous campaign ever appealed with such forceful directness and power to reason and popular intelligence.

That the campaign on the part of the sound-money advocates was predicated upon a sublime confidence in the patriotism and intelligence of the people was attested by the distribution, at enormous expense, of millions of leaflets and pamphlets on the currency question. Whatever may be the outcome of the contest, it must always be said, to the everlasting honor of the adherents of Major McKinley, that they staked their hope of victory on the proper presentation of their cause to the reading masses of the country; that they appealed to reason instead of prejudice, to patriotism instead of cupidity.

It is an augury of a hopeful and happy era in American politics when the managers of a great party decide to invade the homes of 13,000,000 voters through the agency of the printing press. It is a cheering and uplifting portent of more rational political methods when a great party interested to the political analysis of sharp logicians and the keen scrutiny of clever scholars and recondite historians. These are the tests which the republicans have met. They have challenged the scholars, the financiers, the men of the market-place and the toilers. Their defenses have been impregnable.

Not the least remarkable feature of the great battle of 1896 which will make it memorable in the history of our politics are the speechmaking records of the two leading candidates. Each has conducted a campaign without parallel in any previous contest. From his own dooryard in Canton, Major McKinley addressed visiting delegations from every section of the country, numbering thousands of voters and representing nearly every form of productive industry. These visitations have been continuous and uninterrupted, sometimes numbering as many as 24 speeches in one day. To each delegation Major McKinley has had something new to say. To each he has made a masterly appeal, constructed with special reference to the needs and interests of the industry represented. His never-failing response to this daily exaction has furnished an astounding revelation of the remarkable resources of the man. Rich in historical allusion, abounding in sparkling metaphor, pregnant with solid and unassailable logic, defended by statistics of high authority, his appeals stand unmatched in the history of American campaign oratory for faultless rhetoric or for lofty and dignified argumentation.

Mr. Bryan's rear-platform speechmaking tour, in which he made over 457 addresses in 29 different states, traveling thousands of miles, furnished an exhibition of marvelous physical endurance unprecedented in the campaigns of this country.

It has been a wonderful campaign—wonderful for the intense zeal of the plain people, wonderful for the active participation of the business and professional classes, wonderful for its peaceful arbitration of a great economic controversy involving the welfare of 70,000,000 people.

Governor Lord's Thanksgiving proclamation is not calculated to bring the state of Oregon into notoriety, as Penoyer's Thanksgiving proclamations did, but then Oregon has had all the Penoyer notoriety the credit of the state can stand for awhile. The city of Portland is getting a dose of it this year, under Penoyer's mayoralty, such as the people will not forget.

Elder Alton W. Steers writes from Portland, Or.: "There is no medicine for the throat and lungs that I can recommend to ministers, public speakers and singers, with the confidence that I can the S. B. Cough Cure." 50 cents per bottle. For sale by all druggists.

The Wheat of the World. Wheat is everywhere a staple. It is raised more or less in all countries and consumed also. The wheat crop of the United States this year is estimated at 435,000,000 bushels. Of this 375,000,000 will be needed for home consumption and next year's seed. There is an additional 70,000,000 bushels left over from last year. That gives the United States a surplus of 150,000,000 bushels, or it means from $100,000,000 to $125,000,000 will be brought to this country because of our wheat sales.

England is by all odds the greatest wheat buyer in the world. She consumes every year 225,000,000 bushels of wheat and raises only 35,000,000 bushels. There is a demand for 200,000,000 bushels which must be supplied from abroad. This supply comes in order named from the United States, Russia, the Argentine and India.

The great wheat producing countries of the world are, in the order named, the United States, Russia, France, India and the Argentine. This year the United States will have a surplus, with last year's added, of 150,000,000 bushels. The condition of Russia is unknown. It is estimated, however, that she will be 100,000,000 to 150,000,000 bushels short of a normal crop. Russia may be compelled to buy in the world's markets instead of selling in them. The Argentine will have no wheat to export. Two years ago she poured 61,000,000 bushels on the markets of the world. This year heavy rains and locusts have destroyed much of the growing crops and the surplus of other years is said to have been consumed already. The normal crop of India is in the neighborhood of 230,000,000 bushels. This year it will not be 181,000,000 bushels, making a shortage of 50,000,000 bushels. India is now buying wheat in San Francisco. Australia exports about 10,000,000 bushels of wheat annually, but this year she will have to import in small quantities.

We believe that prices will go much higher than they are now. We cannot see how it can be otherwise.

Oil of Sassafras. Is a pleasant, palatable preparation, entirely free from all oily taste, and may be administered internally or applied externally. It will remove all pain that "human flesh is heir to." If properly applied, and might be rightly termed "a panacea for all ills." Price 50 cents. For sale by all Druggists.

Largest Mule Deal Ever Made.

The largest mule deal that ever took place in this country occurred at Salt Lake City in 1861, when at public auction Ben Holiday of Oregon bought from Uncle Sam 4,500 head of big stout Iowa and Missouri mules. These fine hybrids had been taken to Utah in the famous expedition against the Mormons, which crossed the plains in 1857 under the command of Albert Sidney Johnson. When the expedition proved a fizzle and had to be recalled, the government found it had no use for so many mules and they were consequently culled and ordered sold. They were put in lots of 50 and sold at prices ranging from $50 to $100 apiece. Ben Holiday had the stuff to pay for the subtotals and seeing a speculation in them he took the whole cavalcade at his own price. On the first day of June the mules were started on a drive to California. They were driven in bands of 500, a week apart, and only 500 were kept in Utah for sale there. The mules were readily sold in lots to suit purchasers at the average price of $500 per head, and Holiday cleared out more than $1,000,000 on the dicker, which goes down in history as the biggest mule deal on record.

Blood Will Tell.

The many different skin diseases such as ring worm, tetter, salt rheum, erysipelas, eczema, itching or an eruption of pimples, pustules, blotches, chaps or cracking open of the skin, scrofula, are directly the cause of impure blood. Wilbur's Blood Purifier is acknowledged to be the best medicine known for any of these unsightly complaints. Price $1.00 per bottle. For sale by all Druggists.

Wanted—A Companion.

[Advertisement in a London paper.] "Andy in delicate health wishes to meet with a useful companion. She must be domestic, musical, an early riser, amiable, of good appearance, and have some experience in nursing. A total abstainer preferred. Comfortable home. No salary." A few days after the advertiser received by express a package labelled: "This side up—with care—perishable." On opening it she found a tabby cat, with a letter tied to its tail. It ran thus: "Madam—in response to your advertisement, I am happy to furnish you with a very useful companion which you will find exactly fitted to your requirements. She is domestic, a good vocalist, an early riser, possesses an amiable disposition, and is considered handsome. She has had a great experience as a nurse, having brought up a large family. I need scarcely add that she is a total abstainer. As salary is no objection to her, she will serve you faithfully in return for a comfortable home."—Youth's Companion.

A Lie Nailed.

Consumption and bronchitis are not by any means the same, although it is hard to distinguish one from the other. Bronchitis is an inflammation of the lining of the wind tubes or air vessels of the lungs, causing soreness of the same, cough, sore throat, hoarseness, difficulty of breathing, spitting of matter and sometimes blood. Thousands die annually with this dread disease. Wilbur's Cough Cure will cure. Price 50 cents. For sale by all Druggists.

The latest from New York is the reported rupture of an engagement between a young woman and a young man because the latter insisted on wearing motto buttons. With the motto button breaking up engagements, the suspender button breaking up marriages and the collar button doing business all the year round it's about time we took to wearing hooks and eyes.

Cures Cramp.

"My three children are all subject to cramp; I telegraphed to San Francisco, got a half dozen bottles of S. B. Cough Cure. It is a perfect remedy. God bless you for it. Yours, etc., J. H. Crozier, Grants Pass, Or. 50 cents per bottle. For sale by all druggists.

An unclaimed letter remains in the post office for H. McPolen.

Good advice: Never leave home on a journey without a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For sale by A. T. Hill Druggist.
