

NEWBERG GRAPHIC.

ISSUED EVERY FRIDAY MORNING.

F. H. WOODWARD, EDITOR & PUBLISHER.

FRIDAY, APRIL 16, 1897.

Entered as second class matter at the postoffice at Newberg, Oregon.

Hon. D. W. Voorhees, the veteran Indiana senator, died in Washington city on Saturday April 10 at the age of seventy-six.

The free silver republicans, a part of the lost tribe, so to speak, will meet in national convention in Chicago June 8. Colonel Cal. Cooper of McMinnville, will be on deck of course.

General Coxe says the peoples party is practically dead. He states that a new party, will be organized at Nashville next July. Its principles will be the government control of railroads and the issue of non-interest bearing bonds, abolishing gold.

The Lebanon Advance says the woman who thinks more of the ballot than she does of her baby will never boost this old nation forward many notches. But the Advance must recollect that the new woman is not supposed to have a baby to bother her thicker with.

The manufacturers association of Portland bent out sugar beet seed to 300 farmers scattered throughout the state with a view of testing out soil for beet sugar raising. Vilmorins improved sugar beet seed is the quality distributed and it is hoped that the percentage of sugar shown will be high enough to warrant putting up a factory somewhere in the valley.

The play number of the Delineator, which is called the commencement number, will be of special interest to this season's school graduates as it contains a lengthy illustrated article on the appropriate attire for graduates. The literary miscellany of the number is excellent, and taken altogether it ranks with the best numbers of this high class ladies magazine.

Senator Morrill, of Vermont, who will be eighty-seven next month, served twelve years in the house and last month he began his sixth term as senator. Out west here merit don't cut much of a figure. The senator who has been tried and found worthy must take his chances along with the untired politician. We run things more on the boom plan than they do up in the New England states.

It was an Iowa man who gave voice to the following gospel. "Would you take a dollar for what you have gained from your family newspaper since you paid the last dollar? If not you owe a debt of gratitude beside the money. Your home paper is one of the best, truest and most helpful friends. And by the home paper I mean one that has stood by you for years, and has ever been a safe counselor. If you owe the editor a dollar go and pay it to him now, and while doing so ask him if there is anything else you can do for him that will aid him in making the paper a still better friend and still better companion or your wife and children."

Representative Thomas H. Tongue writes to a friend at Independence as follows: We have just passed appropriation bills which contain a liberal amount for carrying on the work on the Willamette and Yamhill rivers. During the summer and after adjournment of the present congress I want to study carefully the improvements needed on the Willamette river and want to go over the river carefully from one end of it to the other, where these improvements are needed and likely to be made. At that time I shall want to see you and other good citizens of Independence. If the Willamette river is not properly taken care of I will assure you and my friends it will be no fault of mine.

Ex-President Harrison will conclude his series of papers on life in the White House in the May Ladies Home Journal, and take a respite from his literary labors which have so profitably and congenially occupied him for more than a year. General Harrison is the first president to show the public through the White House, "upstairs, downstairs" etc., and to detail the presidents daily routine, and the social and domestic phases of life in the Executive Mansion. He is also the first Chief Magistrate to crystallize his knowledge and the experience gained as Chief Executive in a series of lucid, instructive and interesting magazine articles on the functions of our government, such as were "This Country of Ours" papers.

D. H. McMahan, the well known Salem politician and newspaper man, has invented and patented a fish line attachment upon which he expects to make a fortune.—Roseburg Review.

It is to be hoped that he will make his fortune. He has been cutting bait for a long time.—Junction City Times.

McMahan has also been endeavoring to cut a wide swath for a long time. As publisher of the Woodburn Independent he apparently succeeded quite well, but when he moved up to Salem to show the boys how to dish up news of a sensational character he made the mistake of his life, for it only took him a few months to blow in five or six thousand dollars and loose his plant. He succeeded better as a big man in a little town than he does as a little man in a big town.

SPIRIT OF THE PRESS.

What the Papers Are Saying on Current Topics.

Common Sense in All Things.

Two young men, members of the senior class of a college in Ohio, are said to have entered into an agreement to wear overalls and flannel shirts on graduation day. The sons of farmers and wish to show that they are not only not ashamed of the agricultural calling, but are ready to boast of their connection with it. If carried out it will be a boyish performance of which they will well be ashamed when they have acquired a little of the sense that comes with years. No occupation is made more dignified by unnecessary display of the tools or paraphernalia belonging to it. These same farmer boys would not think the better, for instance, of Mr. Edison himself if he should come direct from his laboratory to their college platform in his work-day clothes and shirt sleeves; nor would they look with favor upon a sculptor who should appear before them on a formal occasion covered with the apron or other linen garment that protects him from the clay with which he works. They would consider such a proceeding either a silly affectation of simplicity or a mark of disrespect to the audience. Their own case is no different. No one thinks less of a farmer because he wears flannel shirt and overalls while at work; it is a suitable attire for the occasion, and leaves no room for comment. It is not a suitable costume to be seen on the platform of a public hall. If the wearer has no other he may be excused, but if he wears it in a defiant boastful spirit as being "good enough for any one," and as a proof that he is not "above his business," and will not be a "dude," he makes a great mistake. Self-respect and respect for others alike call for a reasonable conformity with custom in the matter of attire when one is bidden to formal gatherings of his fellow-creatures. To do otherwise of deliberate purpose and not of necessity is to set ones individual judgment and taste above that of people in general, which is certain to create an unfavorable impression, and properly so, if the clothing worn is unsightly and slovenly. If the two farmer boys wish to exalt their calling they will do better to appear in fashionable attire than to flaunt their working clothes in the face of the public as if they were a little ashamed of them, but wish to pretend otherwise.

No Reappointments.

It has become generally understood at Washington that President McKinley will not consider the applications of men for office who held positions under the Harrison administration. It is said the president has plainly stated this intention on several occasions. The line of policy is a good one. There is a large class of men who, having held one office, deem that a good and sufficient reason why they should have another, and thus become fixtures at the pie counter. If any offices are to be distributed as rewards for efficient service, they should be made to go around, as far as may be. A man who held a snug position under the national government for four years under President Harrison, should be satisfied, and willing to step aside, to let some new and also deserving man have a show.—Toledo Blade.

Where Are They At?

The Populists are broken up on the tariff question. One of them voted for the Dingley bill, and many of them refused to vote one way or the other. Probably some of these favored the measure, but were deterred from declaring for it by fear of their constituents. It is clear that the protection cause is gaining strength all over the country. It is splitting all parties except the Republican, which solidly favors it.—Globe Democrat.

Protection Wanted.

Some Democrats from Texas want a high duty put on wool, and some of those from South Carolina think that cotton ought to be protected. This is a typical Democratic eccentricity. Democrats like to have a duty put on the products of their own localities, but want to have the products of the rest of the country let in free. From his party's view point Gen. Hancock was right when he said the tariff was a "local issue." And yet a good many Democrats, especially in the South, are coming squarely over to the protection side. Of course when they get all the way over they will cease to be Democrats and become Republicans.—Globe Democrat.

Figures on Greater New York.

Of vast proportions the new city will be—the population, 3,500,000; the assessed valuation, $2,307,001,000; the bonded debt, $213,000,000; and the annual tax levy, $35,000,000. As a manufacturing center alone the Greater New York excites wonder—the capital employed in this way being $900,000,000, and the number of people employed aggregating an army of almost half a million. The annual wage roll of the factories amounts to about $330,000,000. The city will contain 114 national and state banks, aggregating a capital of $70,000,000, with a surplus of $50,000,000. The deposits in the savings banks alone amount to nearly $500,000,000.—Baltimore News.

No Limit to His Greatness.

What will that man Gladstone do next? Not more than a week or two ago he paused in his old recreation of chopping down trees at Hawarden to administer a brain-clout to the Cretan policy of the Salisbury ministry. At his age the effort was something more than remarkable. It was phenomenal. Yet it seems to have been made by him without the slightest difficulty. And comes the news, vouched for by seemingly good authority, that he has mastered a bicycle and cuts pigeon-wings on the bicycle, not on the ground—in the roads of Hawarden Park! Perhaps the next we hear of him he will be putting the shot or throwing the hammer in a contest with college athletes.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The Office Seeker Dates Back to Washington's Day.

The scramble for office that is now going on caused Robert Lincoln O'Brien, a Boston newspaper man, who is fond of "delving deep into musty lore," to recall the days of President Adams, the first of our chief magistrates to acquire office as a party leader and on party issues. Mr. O'Brien finds that Philadelphia seems then as now, to have been something of a political storm center, and to have contained a good many citizens anxious to serve their country for a reasonable consideration. Frederick A. Muhlenberg wanted to be treasurer of the mint, and took pains to explain to the President that a "series of misfortunes to a son-in-law of mine occasioned by french Captures have affected me very materially, and being at present out of public employment, I have both leisure and inclination to attend to the duties of this or any other office you may think proper to honor me with, whilst at the same time it would afford me some aid in a situation I have never been accustomed to."

Dying on the Range.

The Blue Mountain Eagle says: The question as to what would be the best use that the horses of Eastern Oregon can be put to was for the past three months and is at present being rapidly settled, as that class of man's wealth has perished this winter in countless numbers. Roaming over the range in Grant county, and in fact all of Eastern Oregon are numberless bands of horses that are dying from starvation and exposure. The winter that we have just passed through has been an unusually long one, and at times most severe in the mountainous regions, and even cattle have been taken care of, have suffered some. The approach of winter last fall found the range absolutely barren, there being but very little vegetation to sustain life of any nature. The Eagle is informed by a resident of Fox valley that many strange horses have collected in the valley during the past winter, and have perished for the necessary wherewith to sustain life.

From Slide creek word comes that many a carcass of what was once a beautiful animal can be found on the range in that locality, and especially up in the mountains near the head of Slide creek. The few that are left on the range are so thin in flesh that they scarcely make a shadow.

Avoid Consumption.

By stopping that cough. We know of no better remedy for coughs and colds than the S. B. Cough Cure. 50 cents per bottle. For sale by all druggists.

Don't Mutilate Coin.

The new law relating to the passage of mutilated coins is very rigid, and its provisions should be carefully read. It provides that a passage of defaced or mutilated coins or the mutilation or defacement of coin for any purpose, shall be held a criminal offense, punishable by imprisonment for a period of from one to five years, and a fine from $100 to $2000. Under this law the custom of presenting ladies with gold or silver coins, with the initials of the donor engraved thereon, to be worn as bangles, will be a criminal offense.

Your Last Chance.

Croup and whooping cough are childhood's terrors; but like pneumonia, bronchitis, and other throat and lung troubles, can be quickly cured by using One Minute Cough Cure. A. T. Hill.

Many savages think that fire actually dwells in stone and wood, because, from these substances, it can be obtained by striking and friction.

Unconditional surrender, is the only terms those famous little pills known as DeWitt's Little Early Risers will make with constipation, sick headache and stomach troubles. A. T. Hill.

The bicycle has increased the demand for false teeth, and more particularly for gold crowns. Accidents frequently result in the loss of a grinder or two.

PERSONAL—The gentleman who annoyed the congregation last Sunday by continually coughing will find instant relief by using One Minute Cough Cure, a speedy and harmless remedy for throat and lung troubles. A. T. Hill.

During 1896 only one passenger was killed for every 100,000,000 miles of travel. The number of railway employees killed during the year was larger than usual, being 318.

Not only acute lung troubles, which may prove fatal in a few days, but old chronic coughs and throat troubles may receive immediate relief and be permanently cured by One Minute Cough Cure. A. T. Hill.

One quarter of the people of New York have never been outside the city, and most of them think that the region west of the Mississippi is virtually a wilderness or inhabited by semi-barbarians.

It should be made a matter of public knowledge that DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve will speedily cure piles of the longest standing. It is the household favorite for burns, scalds, cuts, bruises and sores of all kinds. A. T. Hill.

The cheapest summer resorts are in the mountains of Japan. There are mineral springs there to which peasants bring their own bedding and rice, paying only three cents a day for lodging and use of water.

Thirty years is a long time to fight so painful a trouble as piles, but Jacob Mitchell, of Unionville, Pa., struggled that long before he tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, which quickly and permanently cured him. It is equally effective in eczema and all skin affections. A. T. Hill.

Labor is cheapest in India, where the wages of the laboring class average something like 3 halfpence a day. A fairly skilled journeyman can earn about 12 shillings a month, and a good mechanic about 16, or twice the pay of a native soldier.

When a cold is contracted, cure it at once. One Minute Cough Cure will set you on the road to recovery in a minute. It will cure pneumonia, bronchitis, croup and all forms of lung and throat troubles. A. T. Hill.

When a child dies in Greenland the natives bury a live dog with it, the dog to be used by the child as a guide to the other world. When questioned with regard to this particular superstition, they will only answer: "A dog can find his way anywhere."

When the spring time comes, "gentle Annie," like all other sensible persons, will cleanse the liver and renovate the system with DeWitt's Little Early Risers, famous little pills for the liver and stomach all the year round. A. T. Hill.

In the pocket of Superintendent Morrison, who was recently killed at Cygnut, O., in a nitroglycerine explosion, there was found a silver dollar, in the face of which a ten cent piece had been imbedded by the force of the explosion. On the other side of the dollar is the plain imprint of the opposite side of another dollar.

For the Kidneys.

"I am 65 years old; have had kidney disease and constipation for 25 years. Am now well—used your S. B. Headache and Liver Cure one year. Used 6 bottles at 50 cents each. J. H. Knight, Rutledge, Or." For sale by all druggists.

A Chicago man who has sued a street-car company for $5,000 damages for killing his $2,000 St. Bernard dog, which was said to be one of the largest in America, brought into court as one of his exhibits a handsome rug made of the skin and the head of his dog. The jury were seemingly greatly impressed by its appearance, but gave a verdict for the company.

A Lie Satisfied.

Consumption and bronchitis are not by any means the same, although it is hard to distinguish one from the other. Bronchitis is an inflammation of the lining of the wind tubes or air vessels of the lungs, causing soreness of the same, cough, sore throat, hoarseness, difficulty of breathing, spitting of matter and sometimes blood. Thousands die annually with this dread disease. Wilbur's Cough Cure will cure. Price 50 cents. For sale by all Druggists.

In the soda water business in this country there are $50,000,000 invested. It was John Manners, of New York, who originated, in 1832, the idea of charging water with carbonic acid gas. The name of that great benefactor of mankind—presumably a woman—who first suggested the idea of dropping some ice cream into a glass of soda water has not been preserved for history. The Dead sea is one of the greatest freaks of nature. Its water level, 1,291 feet below that of the Mediterranean, while its bed is 1,300 feet below its own surface, making the depression 2,000 feet. The water is so saline and has so much buoyancy that it is not possible to dive in it. When one wades out beyond the depth of his waist he is immediately lifted off his feet and floats like a cork.
