Mills and Cooper who took the contract for moving the Christensen & Sawyer building around on First street were very successful in the work. The building was put in place at the new location last Tuesday.

Attorney Clarence Butt gained A. M. Mauritzen's suit for him at Portland last week getting judgment for $85 with costs added. Mr. Mauritzen is highly pleased with Attorney Butt's management of the case.

All the machinery of the Sherwood brick factory has been sold and is now being taken out and shipped away. The factory made Sherwood a busy little village when it was first established but that is now a thing of the past.

Mrs. H. D. Clark and seven children arrived here from Marion, Minnesota, on Wednesday and are visiting for the present with her brother, Dr. H. A. Cornell. Mr. Clark the husband will come later when they will select a home somewhere in the valley.

Andy Winters, who has stuck to his knitting so closely all his life since being brought to this community by his parents when a very small kid, that he has scarcely ever been farther away from home than Portland or Salem is thinking seriously of making a break and taking a trip into Eastern Washington and Oregon to get a breath of fresh air and to take a look at the outside world.

For some time I have suffered with rheumatism and tried every imaginable remedy, without effect. Mr. F. G. S. Wells advised me to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm, telling me that it had cured many cases of long standing like mine. I have used four bottles and feel sure that one more bottle will make me cure complete.—A. P. Kosta, Claremore, Ark. Sold by C. F. Moore & Co.

Farmers! You are losing money by not seeing C. B. Wilson before selling your produce. I am paying highest market price in cash for poultry of all kinds and eggs and produce.

Jesse Hobson, who has been through the southern part of the state on a canvassing tour for the Scribners, publishers, has now reached San Francisco and is making a canvass of that city.

Farmers who have fat stock to sell will find Stanley & Cooper in the market ready to buy, and families who like juicy steaks and tempting roasts will always find the best market affords at their meat market.

F. A. Morris left here on last Monday for Chicago, on a short business trip, expecting to be gone about fifteen days. He will probably take a run down to his old home in Parke county, Indiana, of two or three days, before he starts home.

Mr. G. B. and Mrs. Milloy of Albany were in town a short time Thursday morning on their way home from a short visit with relatives at Lafayette. Mr. Milloy is one of the proprietors of The Linn County Republican, and made this office a short call while here.

E. X. Sopher, of Minnesota, the gentleman who traded for the Hans Peterson property on North Meridian street some time ago arrived here a few days ago with his son and both are stopping at the Newberg hotel for the present. Mr. Sopher seems well pleased with Newberg and talks of sending east for his family.

At the Friends church next Sabbath the subject of the morning service will be "God's Commission to Jonah." In the evening service, "The Young Man that the World needs." All in town who have no church membership here, nor a regular place of church attendance are very cordially invited to join us in our worship services. C. E. Lewis.

The Hoskins brothers will retire from the confectionary and bakery business, Gord Worden having bought them out. It is too long a story for Gord down on the river and he took this opportunity to get into business again. Success to him in the undertaking. Charley Hoskins will teach a term of school this spring at Oretown, Tillamook county, where he can sniff the salt sea air.

Johnson's Uncle Tom's Cabin showed here to a good house Wednesday evening. They were all right—at least that's what everyone says, and it must be true. Geo. Harris was desperate; Legree was just simply awful; Phineas "whoed Emma"; Marks the union liar; Loker, Shelby, Miss Ophelia, little Eva and Chloee were all there, and Topsy—was superannuated and heavy on her feet but done very well considering her years.

From all over the country comes word of praise for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Here is a sample letter from Mrs. C. Shep, of Little Rock, Ark: "I was suffering from a severe cold, when I read of the cures that had been effected by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I concluded to give it a trial and accordingly procured a bottle. It gave prompt relief, and I have the best reason for recommending it very highly, which I do with pleasure." For sale by C. F. Moore & Co.

Frank E. Vestal took the civil service examination some time last season for the postal service but his grades never came to hand until after he had gone to Douglas, Alaska. He received very satisfactory grades, however, and on Wednesday evening a letter came from chief of the railway mail service at Portland instructing him to report for duty at Portland on March 22. Frank is now at Douglas and he may lose his opportunity for a place in the service. His friends however will do their best to get the place held for him until he can return home.

Harrison Crater arrived home from Honolulu the first of the week where he went in company with C. E. Hoskins and family to spend the winter. He was delighted with the trip and says Honolulu is a most splendid place for a man who has plenty of money to spend, but a very poor place for one who has no business established and who must depend on his work for a living. Mr. Crater says he experienced some of the roughest weather when on the way home that he has ever seen at sea but the good ship finally arrived safely in port at San Francisco, without serious loss.

Musical recital at the college on Tuesday evening of next week. Admission 15 cents.

Frank Taylor is expecting his mother out from Indiana at an early day to spend the summer.

George Metcalf went up to Ballston, Polk county, last Saturday for a visit of a few days with relatives.

J. M. Tice has rented his residence on River street to E. C. Ward and will move to Portland about the first of next month.

E. X. Harding and W. C. Kertson, of Gaston, have been in town during the week working in the interest of the order of United Artisans.

Miss Altmatt, assisted by the best musical talent of Newberg at the college on next Tuesday evening. It will be an entertainment well worth attending.

The McMinnville post office, after a long heat, goes to James McCain, or rather to his daughters who it is supposed will have charge of the office. Jim would hardly submit to being tied down to run a post office.

W. S. Allen, of Dundee, who was in town a few days ago said that he had just finished a job of putting up a windmill and an 8000 gallon tank on the Hansen fruit farm on the Red Hills back of Dundee. Mr. Hansen, whose home is in Omaha, Nebraska, expects to put up a fine residence on his place, probably this season.

W. G. Berry, of San Jose, California, the son-in-law of Mrs. Lizzie Judd who is well known in Newberg, stopped off here last week while on his way to Chicago and has been visiting with Mrs. Berry's relatives in this community. If he goes into business in Chicago as he anticipates his family will follow him later. Mr. Berry is a mechanical dentist by occupation.

The revival meetings at the Evangelical church are growing in interest. Some supernatural things are being done, and there needs to be more of the supernatural and there is high expectation of such results. Services every night and at 2 to 3 p. m. each day, and three services on Lord's day, with communion service following the morning preaching.—G. L. Sheppardson, Evangelist.

Samuel Parrett, of Dundee, who returned from a trip to The Dalles and Goldendale, Washington, the first of the week was in town Tuesday afternoon and stated that he was well pleased with the country east of the mountains and that he contemplates moving his family to The Dalles about the first of next month. When they are located he will look about and choose a location for business. Mr. Parrett is one of our substantial citizens in this part of Yamhill and his friends will be sorry to see him leave the county.

Will Vestal arrived home from LaGrande, Union county, last Saturday evening fully convinced that Yamhill county is still a pretty good place to cast one's lot. He says many people have rushed to LaGrande on account of the proposed building of the beet sugar works, with a view of getting a steady job only to be disappointed. The town and country already has an over supply of day laborers and there is little to encourage strangers to go there—hoping to get work. Two or three of the Newberg boys have work, while others are waiting for something to turn up.

The Chas. K. Spaulding logging company has recently purchased an engine of immense power, which, with a mile of cable will be used in drawing logs from the timber to the river. The engine will be stationed on a big scow which will be towed to the point where the engine is to be used. From a drum on the scow a wire cable will run out into the timber where it will be hitched to the logs and the engine is supposed to do the rest. The engine will also be used in pulling logs from the sandbars when the big log drive is being made in the summer. Others have used these engines in hauling logs with great success and the company believes the right cord has been struck in making this purchase.

Daniel Adolph, a Russian German who lives out southeast of town has recently furnished the young and rising generation in the community an example of the way in which farmers got on in the Mississippi valley forty years ago on the exchange of but very little cash. Mr. Adolph was in town a few days ago driving his team to the wagon with the team dressed up in harness of his own manufacture. He raised the cow, killed her for beef, tanned the skin at home and then made the leather up into a good, strong set of double harness. This is a fair sample of the way our fathers engaged in manufacturing to meet the wants of the family. Their wants were not so many nor so varied as ours are in this day, but they were happy and contented and that is about all that can be gotten out of this life anyway.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard H. Rees who have lived on the same farm near Butteville, Marion county, for more than forty years have been in town during the week visiting their daughter, Mrs. Wm. Hendershot. Mr. Rees, although eighty years of age has a bright, active mind and as he is a close reader of the papers he is an interesting talker when it comes to discussing current events as well as when touched upon on the early history of Oregon. He has a manuscript which he has prepared, pertaining to the early history of the great Northwest for which he has been offered a handsome sum. He has also been a frequent contributor to the Oregonian and other papers of the state. Mr. Rees' brother, D. S. Rees, with his wife, of Des Moines, Kansas, are also here visiting. The two brothers had not met for fifty-seven years and consequently they were almost the same as strangers, but they are enjoying themselves living their boyhood days over again. Both are old school republicans without any pretense and if they remain at the Newberg Hotel many days land-lord Hendershot is liable to experience a change of heart.

Luck Follows Misfortune

That seeming misfortunes are often blessings in disguise was proved conclusively to one of the guests in a Philadelphia hotel a few days ago. He lost a valuable diamond stud in the waste pipe of a bath tub in his suite of apartments. On hearing of the loss the proprietor allowed the pipe to be taken up at the expense of the loser. A plumber did the job for $10, and the guest not only recovered his stud, but also found in the bend of the drain pipe a diamond ring. Being an honest man, he gave the ring to the proprietor who advertised the find in several papers. As no one came to reclaim the ring the proprietor, with an equally commendable sense of honesty, returned it to the finder. Needless to say, the loser of the stud was highly compensated for his trouble, as the ring was valued at $150. The fortunate man gave the plumber a crisp $20 note extra, as the brilliant find was partly due to that worthy.—Philadelphia Record.
