

Hood's Sarsaparilla

A Rosy View of Klondike.
Mr. Ogilvie, the Canadian government surveyor, now visiting England, has a notable interview in the London Financial News. He declares that there are $20,000,000 in sight today at Klondike, tested and proved, not to speak of what may be found next year or the year after. It will take years merely to prospect the country. It may be said that there is not more than one-fifth or one-sixteenth of the territory prospected. Mr. Ogilvie has no doubt that there now exists in the region a field which will require the labors of at least 100,000 men several generations to thoroughly test and examine.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and restoring nature to its normal state. Write for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J. CROCK & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, 75c. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

ARCHITECTURAL SPLendor.

At the Trans-Mississippi and International Exposition at Omaha From June to November of This Year Will Be Seen Many Artistic Decorations, Beautiful Landscapes and Famous Bits of Statuary and Paintings.

MINES AND MINING BUILDING.

The Greek Ionic style of architecture characterizes the mines building. The order is of heroic proportions, carried out with great artistic care in every detail. The principal feature of the building is a circular dome 150 feet in circumference, rising to a height of 75 feet. The dome is supported on a circular row of fluted Ionic columns, and the space enclosed by them and under the dome is open, forming a grand, open, domed vestibule for an approach to the building. The inner dome is richly designed with ribs and panels and is to be decorated in colors, while the outer is formed by a series of steps rising in the form of a cone to apex, which is crowned by a richly decorated base for a flagstaff. The outer row of dome columns is detached and the entablature is broken around them at the base of the dome, and over each column is a statue and pedestal having as a background the stylized of the dome. This treatment is very monumental in effect, and while in good taste and harmonious with the architectural style it is at the same time original and interesting. Over the doorway leading from this vestibule into the building are three large panels between the pilasters to receive paintings which will be emblematic of the character of the exhibits. Flanking the entire dome are beautiful Ionic colonnades which form covered ways along the entire facade, stopping at the corner towers. Over these colonnades are balconies capable of holding large numbers of people and opening from the interior galleries of the building, affording a fine point from which to obtain an elevated view of the lagoon and the beauties of the grand court. The four corners of the building are marked by square plain towers surmounted by ornate, open colonnaded pavilions, circular in form and to serve for electric lighting. The building was designed by S. S. Beman of Chicago.

A VERITABLE DREAM CITY.

Nothing beneath the sky is unworthy of the artist's attention. The exterior decoration of the buildings at the Trans-Mississippi and International Exposition, to be held in Omaha, promises to be both unique and attractive. While the individual buildings will show in their decorations some approach to modern ideas, the statues adorning the grounds will be exact copies of the famous figures of antique art. The stately figure of the Venus de Medici, an Apollo or a Pan, will lighten the grounds with their classic beauty and their delightful mode of reproducing the antique will prove not only the most beautiful that can be conceived, but, as well, the most instructive.

With the natural advantages in landscape gardening that are possessed by the grounds, the lake, the sloping bluff tract, with the river so many feet beneath—the emerald turf and the superabundance of nature's fairest flowers—all these, together with the imposing bits of statuary that will dot the grounds, should make it a veritable garden of the gods.

The primary theory that will be demonstrated in the decoration of each building is that the statuary, the relief and decorative work generally will be symbolic of the exhibits contained therein. Nothing beneath the sky is unworthy of the artist's attention. Beauty is everywhere, in everything, if our genius but lead us to seek for it.

Perhaps the most unusual of all the designs in decorating to be seen is that which adorns the electricity building. The general architectural plan of this structure is one of classic simplicity, though the decoration shows a happy blending of modern ideas. All the crests, scroll work, ornaments and panels are suggestive of machinery and the science of electricity. Clever designs in cog wheels are seen about the corners and an heroic figure piece of "Man Controlling the Forces of Nature" is placed above the spacious entrance. The first group shows "the struggle," and an immense American lion is seen fiercely wrestling with two female figures of colossal size. The second group shows "the victory," the upright figure of man, triumphant, one foot resting on the prone figure of the defeated enemy, while the third and largest group—which will occupy the central position immediately over the entrance—typified "The Supremacy of Man" for here in an immense chariot is the triumphant victor, driving with reins drawn taut, his now docile and obedient steeds—five great lions. The figures are all full of strength and life and promise to form a fitting adornment for a beautiful building.

The decorations which will enhance the agricultural building are not less attractive. This great building is, in its immensity a fit garner house for the granary of the world. It is finished in ivory, but garlands of flowers and festoons of cereals are thrown into bold relief by being finished in their natural hues. Medallion ornaments of barnyard fowls are placed at intervals, while larger medallions of our nation's representative bird—the eagle—will also appear in connection with the ornamentation. On either side of the great main entrance are figures taken from Millet's famous paintings, the "Digger" and the "Sower." Immeli-

IN THE DEPTHS OF HADES.

The Prototype of Regions Infernal to Be Shown on the Midway.

When the conversation turns upon the Trans-Mississippi Exposition, some one is sure to ask, "And will there be a Midway?" and then reminiscences will be the order of the hour, and again you will see the red faces of the Turks, the bewitching smile of the Parisian coquette, the haughty glance from the dark-eyed houri of the Orient, the seductive dances of the Spanish señoritas, the slow revolving of the massive Ferris wheel, the little nooks from the other corners of the earth, the swaying, sleepy camels with their loads of laughing, living freight, the queer meals with egg-shell china and chopsticks served by a shy, dainty bit of Occidental beauty; again you can hear the musical songs of unknown tongues—the monotonous chant of ceremonies in strange religions, the lusty call of the "Orangeade" boy, the enticing shouts of the fakirs, the growling of savage beasts whose tricks are almost human, the hum of thousands of voices—and all the rest that went to make up that ever-changing kaleidoscope of strange voices, strange people and strange sights. We had never thought to see it like again, but, after all, there was nothing that could not be duplicated and, if one may judge from the extensive preparations that are under way, we shall see in Omaha, not only a reproduction of the most interesting features of the Midway, but many novel ones and—breathe it gently—minus the hump and fake features which were at one time the bane and the characteristic of the Midway Plaisance.

If one has any curiosity as to their ultimate destination after this life, they have but to enter a small building which represents one of the Egyptian pyramids and is called "Night and Morning." This building is 140 feet square and 100 feet high, and in this space there is warranted to be crowded sufficient celestial joys and awful terrors as to make a trip through it one to be never forgotten. On entering, one is immediately lost in a labyrinth which represents the journey of life from the cradle to the grave, and whether one walks quietly along through pleasant paths with delightful views, or becomes lost in dark byways in the midst of terrible scenes, depends entirely upon chance. When at last he has reached the end of the labyrinth he is confronted by a winding flight of golden stairs, which will lead him straight to the Elysian fields, and on his left he will see an elevator which plunges him down to the lower regions. It will be a safe guess to reason that the visitor will take the elevator first, and after descending 200 feet he will find himself in an exact duplicate of Dante's Inferno, with all of Dore's horrible pictures realistically reproduced. In the cafe he will find coffins transformed into tables, widows and orphans in gloomy weeds who are enacting the parts of waitresses, the menus printed in white on black cards, and all the symbolic gloominess that goes to make up the infernal regions. If, on the other hand, the visitor prefers a "Heavenly" meal, he has but to ascend the golden stairs, to be ushered into a beautiful room, hung with satin draperies of white rose color, to find the tables of golden harps, the waitresses white-robed angels with wings and everything lovely.

The Zolnay fountain, which will be situated in the lake which widens into trefol and is well called "The Mirror," with the great government building in front, the sweeping colonnades encircling it on either side, and the gushing fountain in the center—will form one of the prettiest bits of scenic effect on the grounds.

The numerous colonnades which connect the buildings is a feature both original and artistic. They will form one almost continuous shaded walk, where one may make the entire round of the principal buildings and yet be sheltered from the rays of the sun.

The color scheme, too, is an unusual feature which should not be overlooked when discussing the exterior decoration. While the general tone of the buildings will be that of old ivory, it is the intention to finish one-third the height of the colonnades—as well as about the corners, doorways and windows—in full Pompeian colors.

There will be other novelties in infinite variety and, altogether, they promise to make the Trans-Mississippi Exposition one of the most beautiful and attractive that has ever been held anywhere. ELSIE REASONER.

EXPOSITION NOTES.

A startling amusement which might be termed "unique" is called "Rolling the Ball," and is supposed to succeed the well known "Rolling the Chutes." A sloping railway, some immense barrels provided with seats, and a willing populace seem to be the only necessary adjuncts. Those who are sufficiently curious may enter the barrel, and strapped to the seat, are allowed to roll merrily down the hill. This unusual form of amusement is said to be exhilarating and not at all unpleasant.

The scenic canal will be a stretch of water 300 feet in length and 8 feet wide, bordered with panoramic pictures with real foregrounds. The scenery will represent in a realistic manner many of the famous spots in the west, including California's rarest views, and nooks from Yellowstone Park and Yosemite valley.

The German village will contain the typical German booths and shops, with the best type of German architecture exemplified in the buildings.

CO-OPERATIONS OF CUBANS.

Washington, April 23.—Brigadier-Generals Nunez and Castillo, of the Cuban insurgent army, are now associated with the active work of the Cuban delegation here, and their recent conference with Major-General Miles, commander of the army, is looked upon as suggesting possible co-operation of the insurgent forces in the event of an attack by the United States troops on the Spanish forces in Cuba.

At the Cuban legation, no statement would be made as to the conference, but Senor Albertino, first secretary, said the Cubans would most gladly co-operate with the United States forces, if co-operation was desired. At present, he said, there were 25,000 Cubans in arms, and there would be a general uprising as soon as the forces began to attack Havana.

AN ALLIANCE POSSIBLE.

New York, April 23.—A Herald dispatch from Washington says: Henry White, secretary of the American embassy in London, is here on a diplomatic mission in connection with the relations of this government with that of Great Britain, and the particular relations growing out of the situation between this country and Spain. One official high in administration circles said that Mr. White is here in connection with the preparation of a new treaty between the United States and Great Britain, something on the line, he believed, of the arbitration treaty which failed last year. He only knew that some kind of negotiations were in progress, and that Mr. White is here in connection with them.

Cheers in Common.

London, April 23.—Replying in the house of commons to Sir Arthur Bower Norwood, conservative, Mr. Balfour, the government leader and acting secretary of state for foreign affairs, said that in regard to neutral vessels, the government had received from the United States a notification that it would adhere to the principle of the treaty of Paris. The announcement was greeted with cheers. Mr. Balfour announced that no answer on the subject had yet been received from Spain.

Frenchmen Side With Spain.

London, April 23.—The Paris correspondent of the Times says: There is not a single French paper, nor even, I believe, a single Frenchman, who supports the United States. The news from Spain indicates that the national subscription will total £30,000,000. It is said that all able-bodied men are ready to take up arms. All the Spaniards that I meet are convinced that serious resistance is useless, yet they are all convinced that Spain will not yield, but will fight all the more admirably because the fighting is for honor.

Passed the Senate.

Washington, April 23.—Three important measures were passed by the senate this afternoon, each of which related largely to the national defense. The sundry civil bill, which has been pending for weeks, and which carries a large amount of money, intended to be used in the strengthening of the country's defenses, was finally passed. The naval appropriation bill was immediately taken up and practically completed. A joint resolution was adopted, giving the president power to prevent the exportation of coal and other war material.

The Spanish Cortes.

Madrid, April 23.—In the Spanish senate today, Marshal Martinez Campos asked the minister for foreign affairs, Guillou, to make a statement regarding the relations of Spain and the United States, whereupon the latter replied that the relations were broken off. The ex-captain-general of Cuba then made a patriotic speech, in which he declared that Cuba will never lose her Spanish sovereignty.

Charles Flester Sentenced.

Grants Pass, Or., April 23.—Judge Hale this afternoon pronounced the death sentence upon Charles Flester, the wife-murderer, fixing Friday, June 10, as the date of execution. Flester broke completely down and wept like a child. Flester drowned his wife in a pool of water in May, 1895.

Naval and Military Preparations.

Washington, April 23.—With the actual beginning of war, military and naval preparations were vastly stimulated today. The navy bought a ship and number of yachts. It secured some more material for guns and renewed orders for haste in the construction of guns. Orders were sent to the squadrons to guard their movements and the preliminaries of a blockade were executed.

Cubans Refuse a Conference.

Havana, April 23.—It is understood the insurgents have refused to confer with a delegation of the colonial government.

TO SUCCEED GARY.

Charles Emory Smith Named for Postmaster-General.
Washington, April 23.—The president sent this nomination to the senate today: Charles Emory Smith, of Pennsylvania, to be postmaster-general, vice James A. Gary, resigned. It is stated at the White House that the resignation of Postmaster-General Gary had absolutely nothing to do with our foreign complications. It was owing entirely to the condition of Gary's health. He has been suffering from a general breaking down of the system. The new postmaster-general is editor of the Philadelphia Press.

Cigars of Paper.

A German chemist announces that he has discovered a method of making cigars, without the use of tobacco. He proposes that people shall smoke paper instead of tobacco, but it is a paper which has been previously soaked in a preparation, of which he is the inventor, which will give the smoker precisely the same sensation as though he were smoking "real" tobacco. He declares that his formula will give forth an aroma equal to that which perfumes the air when a fine cigar is smoked.

FABULOUS WEALTH.

The "incalculable mineral wealth" of newly found mining regions largely run by syndicates and promoted by transportation companies is in too many instances really a fable. The products of industry in legitimate fields of enterprise nearer home are far surer and promise more stable results. No one will go unwarded in the matter of improved health who uses regularly Hostetter's Stomach Bitters for malaria, dyspepsia, constipation, biliousness, etc.

Insuring German Workmen.

Under the laws which compel both German employers and employees to contribute to sick funds, accident funds and funds for the aged and incapacitated, about $200,000,000 have been paid during the last decade to 25,000,000 employees. The sums paid in during that period amounted to $400,000,000, of which the masters contributed $240,000,000 and the men $220,000,000. Many large firms have also private pensions and other funds to which they contribute liberally, and profit-sharing prevails to some extent.

AN OPEN LETTER TO MOTHERS.

We are asserting in the courts our right to the exclusive use of the word "CASTORIA," and "PITCHER'S CASTORIA," as our Trade Mark. I, Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Hyannis, Massachusetts, was the originator of "PITCHER'S CASTORIA," the same that has borne and does now bear the facsimile signature of CHAS. H. FLETCHER on every wrapper. This is the original "PITCHER'S CASTORIA," which has been used in the homes of the mothers of America for over thirty years. Look carefully at the wrapper and see that it is the kind you have always bought, and has the signature of CHAS. H. FLETCHER on the wrapper. No one has authority from me to use my name except the Century Company of which CHAS. H. FLETCHER is President.

A LETTER TO WOMEN.

A few words from Mrs. Smith, of Philadelphia, will certainly corroborate the claim that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is woman's ever reliable friend.

"I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly. For nine weeks I was in bed suffering with inflammation and congestion of the ovaries. I had a discharge all the time. When lying down all the time, I felt quite comfortable; but as soon as I would put my feet on the floor, the pains would come back."

"Every one thought it was impossible for me to get well. I was paying $1 per day for doctor's visits and 75 cents a day for medicine. I made up my mind to try Mrs. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has effected a complete cure for me, and I have all the faith in the world in it. What a blessing to woman it is!"—Mrs. JENNIE L. SMITH, No. 324 Kaufman St., Philadelphia, Pa.
