McAdams finds that he can't endure the dust of the flour mill and consequently he has sold his interest in the Newberg flour mill to a German, of Portland, whose name is F. Fuchs. Later—On further inquiry it is learned that Mr. McAdams will keep the books and do some outside work for the next three months and if he can stand it he will remain here.

Prof. Edwin Morrison was in McMinnville one day last week making an examination of the different acetylene light systems in use in that city. He was so well pleased with O. O. Hodson's system that he accepted the agency for it and ordered a model which he hopes to have in operation in a few days. Prof. Morrison is a practical chemist and with a little study would be fully able to get up a system of his own, consequently he will be a good man to handle an agency.

The foot ball game played here Saturday afternoon between a made up home team and the Portland Y. M. C. A. team was not such a Waterloo in favor of the visitors as they had anticipated, the score being five to nothing in their favor. It was a surprise to everybody that the boys were able to hold the score down so close, seeing they had not practiced together at all, and many think they would be able to defeat the Portland team with good drill. Taken altogether Saturday's game was quite interesting.

The Kindergarten Christmas Tree. The Christmas festivities began early Friday morning at Mrs. Dunlap's Kindergarten school on Center street where the patrons and a number of friends had been invited in to witness the exercises. Mrs. Turner and daughter assisted Mrs. Dunlap with the music, the little ones marching in and keeping step to the same. Mrs. Dunlap formed a circle with the children and entertained the visitors for a half hour with songs and exercises after which she seated herself in the circle and related the story of the birth of Christ so beautifully and so simply that none could fail to understand and be charmed with it. The room was then darkened, the tapers on the beautifully decorated tree were lighted and Mrs. Dunlap proceeded to remove the contents of the tree. Taking first the daintily prepared little stockings of candy, she handed them to the children to give to their little visiting friends. She then gave each of the children a very pretty little basket filled with choice candies.

To say that the children were delighted but feebly expresses it, but the way they chattered and skipped about the tree showed how they were enjoying it. The close attention the children pay their teacher, the willingness with which they comply with every request and the accuracy with which they perform every duty all goes to show the excellent training they are receiving. The one expression of the parents present was "how surprising the amount they have learned in so short a time." I do not know but that the parents were delighted, if possible, more than the children. Mrs. Dunlap has been connected with Kindergarten work for a number of years, preparing many young ladies for the work of teaching, our primary teacher in the public school, Miss Inglis, being one of the number. We congratulate the parents of Newberg who have small children that they have been able to secure the services of so able a teacher and one whose every movement shows a degree of culture and refinement which tells on the lives and actions of the little ones who are placed under her care. ONE OF THE VISITORS.

Chase came home from Spaulding's logging camp to spend a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Cash are holding revival meetings at the school house. It is hoped they will meet with success. Charley Wills, Henry Chase and Hiram Johnson, and their families met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Johnson and enjoyed their Christmas dinner on the 24th.

Two Pointed Questions Answered. What is the use of making a better article than your competitor if you can not get a better price for it? Ans.—As there is no difference in the price the public will buy only the better so that while our profits may be smaller on a single sale they will be much greater in the aggregate. How can you get the public to know your make is the best? If both articles are brought prominently before the public both are certain to be tried and the public will very quickly pass judgment on them and use only the better one. This explains the large sale on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The people have been using it for years and have found that it can always be depended upon. They may occasionally take up with some fashionable novelty put forth with exaggerated claims, but are certain to return to the one remedy that they know to be reliable, and for coughs, colds and croup there is nothing equal to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For sale by C. F. Moore & Co. druggists.

FROM THE COUNTY PRESS. Transcrip. In the neighborhood of thirty men left this city with B company, last spring for examination for enlistment for the war. The City Stables changed hands last Saturday, Ed Wing, the new proprietor taking charge. Sandusky Wilson and family will remove to Goldendale, Wash., in a day or two, where he has acquired 240 acres of good land in the trade. Besides this a swap of household goods was made. "Dusky" was one of the cleverest fellows that has struck town, and he and Watt Henderson made a good team in public favor in the lively business, and our hope is that the new proprietor may do as well. Good-bye, Mr. Wilson and family; welcome Mr. Wing. Ed Helmar still continues at the old stand.
