THE WAR IN SAMOA.

Anekland, N. Z., April 29 .- Partained in advices received here from Apia under date of April 18, show that a battle between friendly natives and rebels took place at Vailelo, and that the latter lost 100 men in killed and wounded.

Further details of the death of Ensign Monaghan, of the cruiser Philadelphia, and Lieutenant Lansdale, of the same vessel, have been received. They show that Monaghan was beheaded before he was dead. A deserter of the Mataatan force says Monaghan and Lansdale were retreating when they were discovered by the chief and his wife, who were looking for dead men. They gave the alarm and Monaghan was shot while continuing the retreat. Later it appears the rebels returned and killed Lansdale. Monaghan fought until he was wounded, and he was then beheaded. Suatelle, the principal rebel chief, ran away and told his people 100 British had been killed. Mataafan desert ers assert that the Germans sent cartridges in bags of rice and sugar along the coast in December. Admiral Kautz, it is asserted in the advices received, fired a blank shot April 8 across the bow of a German schooner which was entering Apia harbor without reporting.

The rebels who were in possession of the late Robert Louis Stevenson's house and some forts were attacked in the rear by Tamasese friendlies who killed three of them and wounded others. One friendly native was killed in the fight.

Spokane, May 2 .- A Wardner special to the Spokesman-Review says: Wardner today has been the scene of the worst riots since the ealy labor war of 1892. One man is dead, another is thought to be mortally wounded, and property valued at $250,000 has been destoyed by giant powder and fire. The damage was done by union men and sympathizers from Canyon creek, about 20 miles from Wardner. This morning a mob of from 800 to 1,000 men, all of them armed and many of them masked, serzed a train at Burke, at the head of Canyon creek. There were nine box cars and a passenger coach, and they were black with the mob. The visitors brought with them 3,000 pounds of giant powder. After a parley of two hours, 140 masked men armed with Winchesters, Burke in the lead and Wardner following, started with yells for the Bunker case of Annie E. George, on trial for Hill & Sullivan mill and other buildings, a third of a mile from the depot. They sent pickets ahead, and one of these pickets fired a shot as a signal This was misunderstood by the main body of the mob, who imagined that non-union miners in the mills had opened fire on them, and they began firing on their own pickets. About 1,000 shots were thus exchanged between the rioters and their pickets, and Jack Smith, one of the pickets, formerly of British Columbia, and a and gave him a word and nod of noted figure in drill contests, was shot dead.
