

NEWBERG GRAPHIC.

ISSUED EVERY FRIDAY MORNING.

S. H. WOODWARD, EDITOR & PUBLISHER.

FRIDAY, MAY 19, 1900.

Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice at Newberg, Oregon.

Carnegie surrendered to the steel trust but it is safe to say that he dictated the terms. Andrew is built a good deal that way.

It is now given out that President McKinley contemplates making a trip to the coast to be present at the home coming of the soldiers from Manila.

It is evident that Penoyer has made up his mind that the "accursed gold standard" has come to stay as he is arranging to start up his big sawmill which has been idle so long.

Our neighbors over at Dayton have raised a bonus for a flouring mill and this long looked for manufacturing establishment seems to be in sight. Dayton is a good point for a flouring mill and the man who engages in the business there ought to be able to succeed.

Mrs. Lease is lecturing to very small audiences in New England on "The Legal Status of Women" at 15 cents a head. Mary Ellen is too mannish in her speech to attract on a subject of this kind. Her strong hold is in denouncing men before an aggregation of long haired Kansas boys.

Governor Geer was a little too long headed to allow himself to be entrapped by those who were demanding the early return of the Oregon volunteers from Manila. It is easy to conjecture the kind of a record which would have been made for Oregon had Penoyer been in the governors chair at this juncture.

The men who clamored the loudest for blood at the critical time when the administration was straining every point to avoid war with Spain, are now doing their best to embarrass the administration in its efforts to bring order out of chaos in the Philippines. History will not record the names of these men as the patriots they are claiming to be.

The Oregon Experiment Station has succeeded in destroying the San Jose Scale by inoculating it with a fungus disease. Pure culture of this fungus will be prepared and so far as possible will be furnished free of charge to those fruit growers who wish to test this method of destroying the Scale. Full directions for carrying on the work will be sent out with each sample of the disease. Applications for the materials should be made to the Oregon Experiment Station, Corvallis, Oregon.

The following exhortation, from a western exchange is sound doctrine and perfectly applicable to the residents of any town anywhere in the country: "If you want your town to improve, improve it. If you want to make your town lively, make it. Don't go to sleep but get up and work for it. Push. Get it. Advertise it. Talk about it and talk favorably. If you have any property, improve it. Paint your house and clean up your back yard. Make your surroundings pleasant and you'll feel better and your property will be worth more dollars in the market. If you are doing reasonably well advise your far away friends to come and invest near and home interests. Trade at home; help your home dealers. Keep your money at home as much as possible and it is likely to help you in return. Successful towns have been made successful by the property owners pulling together. Public improvement is an investment that pays. Don't waste your time over some dirty neighborhood quarrel and hold back your aid for some good object through spite, but work for some good and you will find yourself benefitted. Get at it. Wake up. Hustle. There is no time to be lost and every little helps. Toot your horn and toot it loud."

EDITORIAL AFTERTHOUGHTS.

Globe Democrat. The Philippine angels are afraid to rush in where Col. Funston treads water.

Spain is building a new navy, and will have sense enough this time to have it fully covered by insurance.

No particular harm would result from sending the Atkinson pamphlet to Fred Funston—he could soon send it through it.

We may as well have two canals uniting the Atlantic and Pacific oceans so that Algeld and Harrison can travel by different routes.

A sham battle between Roosevelt's rough riders and Funston's furious fighters would be a good drawing card for the fall festival season.

If the army beef was chemically treated it is now the opinion of General Miles that the formula included a plentiful supply of tobacco snuff.

A Boston editor wisely advises Gen. Aguinaldo to "pass the buck and throw up his hands." These are words of pure Christian sympathy.

A palmitist predicts that Gov. Pligree will live to be 95 years old. This will at least enable him to see a good many other men elected to the presidency.

Breakfasters on ship this season that they will have no difficulty in holding their own with the summer oyster lately discovered in New England.

In the popular denunciation of college professors an honorable exception should be made in favor of Dr. E. Benjamin Andrews, who has seen the error of his ways and has become a United States rooster.

Hon. Thomas B. Reed is sarcastic to a fault. He declines to have anything to do with the Czar's universal peace convention on the ground that he does not feel at home in a deliberative body.

Gen. Lawton's mode of fighting seems to be patterned after that of the great Confederate chieftain. Gen. Forrest, who declared that the way to capture and hold a strong strategic point was to "get thar fastest with the mostest."

Having no immediate personal use for Lake Michigan, Secretary Alger has granted permission to the Chicago Canal Commissioners to tap it. In addition to all that Gen. Merritt has said in praise of the War Secretary, something must now be conceded to his generosity.

Admiral Dewey has made only one mistake since the war broke out, and that was in recommending that a statesman be sent to the Philippines. The blunder is excusable, perhaps, because Dewey has been away from home so long that he has forgotten how a statesman looks.

A Crack University.

Candor compels the remark that the University of Chicago, an institution topephay with millions that it lacks the common sense to use for the purpose intended, has become a retreat for mental freaks and political malignants. Other universities are afflicted with one or two eccentric professors who ridicule patriotism and revile their country, but the University of Chicago has no less than twenty-five professors who took part in a mass meeting at which the President of the United States was denounced and hissed. The contrast between these high salaried professors, with little to do except abuse and slander the Government of the United States, and the volunteers in the Philippines, who have been charging into battle and crossing rivers under fire, because they love the flag and the government, is most striking. The staffed professors, whose insouciance grows with their sinecures, though twenty-five strong, are not held by the American people to be worth as much to the nation and to society as a single soldier in Luzon.

It is said that the University of Chicago has seventy-five other professors who are not similarly anxious to play the role of men without a country. But the twenty-five on the other side are a disgrace and an impeachment of those willing to associate with them. There must be something radically rotten in a university with twenty-five professors who meet in public to hiss the President and talk treasonable stuff to the world. The University of Chicago needs an earthquake of righteous indignation. Its superfluous millions are breeding a peculiarly noxious kind of vermin. If there is no way to get rid of the creeping things the institution will be judged accordingly. It has an instructor for every fifteen pupils. One individual gave it over $7,000,000. It appears this year for $9,000,000. Its fumigation would cost about $100, and this will be a large enough gift under the circumstances.—Globe Democrat.

House Cleaning and Science.

Housekeepers may now have an inning. From time out of mind they have been performing annually or semi-annually the rite known as house cleaning, and have received only complaints and ridicule and even revilings from the male members of the community. Undeterred by opposition, however, they have gone calmly on their renovating way, and at last have their reward in a word of encouragement from an authoritative source. The president of Chicago's Board of Health, is issuing sanitary advice for the spring, recommends that housewives take advantage of the mild weather to sun and air every part of their buildings, and to cleanse thoroughly every nook and corner. By so doing, he says, they will get rid of germs of all kind and so insure the healthfulness of their families. He talks, manlike, as if he had discovered the art of house cleaning all by himself, but the women, used to such an assumption of masculine superiority, pay no heed to the manner, but smile in triumph at the support the official advice affords to their own practices. It is true that in house cleaning their object heretofore has been to get rid of dust and dirt, and not microbes, but if, by the same process, they can be scientific and hygienic, and all that, so much the better. The result of the airing and scrubbing will be the same, and what reasonable man can object to having germs cleared out of the premises, however willing he may be to tolerate mere dust?—Indianapolis Journal.

The High Tide of Prosperity.

During the past few days the larger papers of the country have had long reports of the unprecedented prosperity of the past year and the remarkable activity which marks the leading industries of the country. The labor of the country was never so fully employed as at present. Industries which were languishing two years ago, unable to sell their output, now find themselves unable to fill their orders. The volume of business measured by bank clearances has far exceeded all previous records and is still increasing by leaps and bounds. With the balance of trade so largely in our favor and the output of the world's gold mines doubling every four years, the United States seems to be in a position to double its output of goods and services. It is the best record for our country since the war.

shown in the remarkable change that has taken place in the foreign trade in iron. During the year 1899 we imported $71,296,699 worth of iron and iron goods and exported $14,716,542 worth of such merchandise. During the last fiscal year we imported 123,629,431 and exported $70,406,865 of iron goods. That is, in the iron industry we have turned a balance against us of $53,559,175 to one in our favor of $57,789,454—a change of $214,339,629 in our favor in the foreign iron trade in less than twenty years.

When we consider business failures, the record goes to prove the general prosperity. During the first quarter of 1899 the number of failures in the United States was 4,512 with total assets of $35,152,791, and liabilities aggregating $62,513,529. The number during the first quarter of 1899 was 2,779, the assets $14,395,491 and the liabilities $31,221,658, with the largely increased volume of business the losses by failures were not half as large the first quarter of 1899 as they were in the corresponding quarter of 1896.

These facts seem to have paralyzed the professional calamityite.—Indianapolis Journal.

Effects of Dipping on Small Prunes.

Under the caption "Points on prune dipping" the chemical department of the Oregon Experiment Station describes some experiments which seem to show that the smaller sizes of petite prunes are not easily affected by the process of fruit dipping. In the experiment reported this held true even though the lyce solution was made stronger than is usually the case. When the solution of ordinary strength was used the fruit failed to check and when the stronger solution was used these small prunes only cracked deeply, or the skin peeled off badly, which was also the case when the weaker solution was increased. This fact serves to emphasize the necessity of not allowing the trees to overbear and thus produce undersized fruit, or of separating such fruit from the rest, and if to be dried subjecting it to the pricking process instead of dipping—or it might be made into secondary fruit products. It would also show that the process of lyce dipping has little to do with softening the skin of fruit as only the softer skinned fruit checked, that which was tough resisting the action of the lyce so far as a proper check was concerned. The California Station has also shown that it is this small fruit which produces the undesirable "frogged" condition of the fruit.

This bulletin also discusses the various brands of concentrated lyce found on the market in 1898 and presents a table showing the relative strength of the various brands calculated to the same unit of solution. The publication is useful to horticulturalists and may be had free of cost by addressing the Experiment station at Corvallis.

Dr. S. W. Her who has had the subscription paper in circulation for the raising of the bonus for the building of a flouring mill here, informs us that the bonus has been made up. The doctor, who is one of the interested parties in the building of the mill, says as soon as a site for the building can be located—which will be this week—work will be commenced on the mill and pushed to completion.—Dayton Herald.

Dangers of the Grip.

The greatest dangers from the grip is of its resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for the grip we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia which shows conclusively that this remedy is a certain preventative of that dangerous disease. It will cure the grip in less time than any other treatment. It is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by C. F. Moore & Co. druggists.

The new Oregon session laws published in pamphlet form show the salary of the county clerk of Yamhill county reduced from $1,800 to $1,000 per annum, and his deputy hire. The latter feature was known to have been enacted, but the reduction in the salary was not, and there has evidently been a mistake either on the part of the printer or in the docketing.—Reporter.

J. D. Bridge, editor and proprietor of the Democrat, Lancaster, N. H., says: I would not be without One Minute Cough Cure for my boy, when troubled with a cold or cough. It is the best remedy for croup I ever used. C. F. Moore & Co.

The Miser. Many a man with his whole soul immersed in business and money-getting is like the miser whose spring door shut and locked him in forever. Men work and slave and worry and get sick and broken down, forgetting all they regulate, health is worth more than that a happy, home is rather than great till they hear door of disease spring to and shut them off from all the bright hopes they labored for.

A sick man cannot be happy; he cannot accomplish the work he has to do in this world; he loses the very money he is striving for; his ambition defeats itself. Any man who discovers that his strength and energy are giving way has an unfailing means of regaining his physical health and stamina in a few days. It is potent restorative power of that wonderful "Golden Medical Discovery" originated by Dr. R. V. Pierce. After building up the world-famous specialist in diseases of the nutritive organism.

Among the thousands who have consulted him for relief is the case of Mr. Newton B. Blake of Tiptonville, Tipton Co., Miss., as shown in the following letter: "I have been afflicted with the disease of my throat since the winter of 1898. In December 1898 my health began to fail. I tried many different kinds of medicines and the more I took the worse the disease grew. Finally in April when I was busy with the farm work my health got so bad that I could not hold out to work one hour. My breath became short and I was weak and nervous, and sometimes would not sleep. I was unable to work. I tried one of the doctors in the vicinity of Tiptonville, Miss., and he prescribed for me a course of medicine. I secured restorative power of that wonderful 'Golden Medical Discovery' originated by Dr. R. V. Pierce. After building up the world-famous specialist in diseases of the nutritive organism.

Torpid liver and constipation are surely and speedily cured by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They regulate the bowels, tone up and invigorate the liver, stomach and bowels. No substitute urged by mercenary dealers is as good.

Bismarck's Iron Nerve

Was the result of his splendid health. Indomitable will and tremendous energy are not found where Stomach, Liver Kidneys and Bowels are out of order. I want these qualities and the success they bring, use Dr. King's New Life Pills. They develop every power of brain and body. Only 25 cents at C. E. Smith's drugstore.

The Crop Outlook.

The outlook for fruit and grain in Western Oregon is sized up by Mr. Paine as follows: Weather—Cool, cloudy weather and frequent rains prevailed during the past week. The mean temperature averaged 59°, which is 2° lower than for the preceding week and 9° lower than for the corresponding week last year. The maximum temperature ranged from 59° to 70° and the minimum from 34° to 48°.

Crops—The reports indicate that injury has been done to the prune crop, especially to the Italian variety. From some sections the reports indicate an absolute failure; from others, that a fair crop will mature. The bloom was as full as usual, but the fruit began to fall from the trees. The Italian is the principal variety of prunes grown, and a short crop in that variety means a shortage in the total crop. The actual condition cannot be determined for a week or two more. The injury is supposed to have been done by the February freeze, assisted by the cold winds of April and May. The peach crop now promises to be good in the southern counties, but not an average in the northern counties. Cherries are setting fairly well; while dropping prevails, a good crop is expected. Apricots and quinces are undoubtedly injured and a shortage will result. Pears and apples appear to be in about normal condition. Strawberries are ripening in the southern counties. The first box was received on the 11th inst. from Roseburg. All berries promise a normal yield.

The grain crop is in good condition; fall and winter sown grain are making slow, but strong, growth. Spring plowing and seeding continue. Much of the low land is yet too wet to plow. Unless adverse conditions prevail during June, the grain crop will be as good as its usual yield, the spring acreage being greater than in normal years.

Garden making continues. The soil is yet too cold for rapid growth, but no adverse conditions prevail. Early spring vegetables are becoming more plentiful. Corn planting is being pushed. A large acreage of potatoes is being planted. Hops are making remarkably strong and healthy growth; hop yards should now be cultivated, but the soil is too wet. Grass is making a good growth and a large hay crop is almost assured.

Warmer weather, less rain and more sunshine are greatly needed.

Pneumonia, la grippe, coughs, cold, croup and whooping cough readily yield to One Minute Cough Cure. Use this remedy in time and save a doctor bill—or the undertaker's. C. F. Moore & Co.

That was a remarkable escape Wm. Smith's 3 year old son Arthur experienced last Friday. Mr. Smith was plowing near the north limit of town, and the little boy left home on the Baker farm to join his father, climbing up on a load of wood to ride with Mr. Cockerham. The wagon passing through a rut in the road threw the boy off. He fell in front of the hind wheel, which passed over his leg below the knee. The wonder is that the leg was neither crushed nor broken, though the wagon contained a cord of fir wood and had narrow tires. The leg was bruised some, but no lasting injury will result.—Reporter.

NEARLY FIFTY-EIGHT YEARS OLD ! !

It's a long life, but devotion to the true interests and prosperity of the American People has won for it new friends as the years rolled by and the original members of its family passed to their reward, and these admirers are loyal and steadfast today, with faith in its teachings, and confidence in the information which it brings to their homes and firesides. As a natural consequence it enjoys in its old age all the vitality and vigor of youth, strengthened and ripened by the experiences of over half a century. It is "The New-York Weekly Tribune," acknowledged the country over as the leading National Family Newspaper. Recognizing its value to those who desire all the news of the State and Nation, the publisher of "The Graphic" (your own favorite home paper) has entered into an alliance with "The New-York Weekly Tribune" which enables him to furnish both papers at the trifling cost of $1.50 per year. Every farmer and every villager owes to himself, to his family, and to the community in which he lives a cordial support of his local newspaper, as it works constantly and untriflingly for his interests in every way, brings to his home all the news and happenings of his neighborhood, the doings of his friends, the condition and prospects for different crops, the prices in home markets, and, in fact, is a weekly visitor which should be found in every wide awake, progressive family. Just think of it! Both these papers for $1.50 a year. Send all subscriptions to
