

NEWBERG GRAPHIC.

ISSUED EVERY FRIDAY MORNING.

F. H. WOODWARD, EDITOR & PUBLISHER.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 4, 1899.

Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice at Newberg, Oregon.

The only human in the world lower in the scale than an unfaithful wife is an unfaithful husband.

The Fourth of July casualties reached 33 killed, 1962 seriously wounded and 3000 slightly injured, but we only celebrate in this way once a year.

The cool, pleasant summer weather we are having is rather trying on a good many people who are anxious for an excuse to get away and go to one of the many seaside resorts.

The author of "The man with the hoe" did not exactly get his start in Yamhill but the starting place is not far away. He is a native son, his birthplace being Oregon City and he comes of Quaker ancestry.

So far as reported no Newberg baby has been named for Dewey. The name in fact has been "thrown to the dogs" and there is more than one pup about town that wags his tail in a knowing way at the call of "Dewey!"

Sam Jones was paid a round three hundred dollars for his chautauqua lecture on "Getting There and Staying There." The proof is quite conclusive that Sam got there in pretty good shape from a financial point of view on this particular occasion.

Penoyer says he thinks Bryan will scarcely be nominated again but he will be in a position to name the man. He says however that if the democrats nominated by a simple majority as the republicans do, instead of by a two-thirds vote, Bryan would go in easy. Sylvester still has an interest in politics if he is out of the harness at present.

For a long time now Oregon newspapers have been careful to inform intending immigrants that Oregon offers no inducements to immigrants without money. At the present time, however, the man without means but willing to work is very much in demand in this state. Farmers especially find it almost impossible to secure as many hands as they need.—Rural Northwest.

Farmers who keep wheat after the first of August will have to pay storage a second time. The Democrat has for years been advocating that the best rule to follow as a practice is to sell wheat on the first high price after harvest. Keeping wheat means extra storage, insurance, etc., and a general entanglement of one's business affairs, except in the case of men of wealth who have money to speculate upon.—Albany Democrat.

The visit of Secretary of Agriculture Wilson to Oregon and Washington is in line with the methods which he has followed during his term of office. He has now visited nearly every portion of the Union to gain a knowledge of agricultural conditions by personal observation and local inquiry which can be had so thoroughly in no other way. Naturally he suggested that Oregon and Washington should give greatly increased attention to dairying, not only to fully supply the home markets but also to be ready to meet a fast growing demand for dairy products in the Orient.—Rural Northwest.

In an editorial on "Proofs of Prosperity" the N. Y. World which is good democratic authority says: Along the Union Pacific, the Burlington, the Rock Island, the Missouri Pacific and the Chicago and Omaha railroads in Nebraska dozens of new elevators are being rushed to completion to take care of the grain crop. In Pittsburg it is said that every blast furnace is producing to its full capacity. In the coke regions every oven is producing. The activity extends all through the iron business. There is not enough pig-iron to meet the demand. No new orders for rails can be filled this year. Structural iron, which sold at $18 a ton before the boom, is now selling at $32 and is expected to go to $40. The lumber business of the past year in the northern central district is the best on record. Hardwood has advanced from $22 a thousand feet to $32 and $34, and the prices of all grades of lumber make a new record. The exports of domestic merchandise for June were $91,828,732, a gain of about $2,000,000. Our copper production of last year, which was the largest ever reported, will be exceeded this year. The postoffice receipts of fifty leading postoffices for June aggregate $3,430,301, an increase of $136,193 over the exciting month of June last year. Finally, the immigration statistics for the fiscal year ending June 30 make a remarkable showing of 134,463 immigrants in the last three months, or at the rate of over half a million a year, a record not reached since 1893. There is no doubting the meaning of these figures taken from so many different sources. They mean a general, normal and stable prosperity, which is the best kind of prosperity that a country can have.

Ingersollism Illustrated.

In the faith of the Christian the soul parts company from the body in death. The being who has been the object of love and responsive to it, who has been capable of thought and achievement, is not extinguished to those who believe in immortality. They see in death a veil drawn between earthly existence and the continuing life of the soul. To the materialist the steppe of the heart-beat ends all. The persons in whom affection and friendship are centered may, as he is convinced, be wholly exterminated in an instant, leaving nothing but memory without hope, and a sad remnant of clay that must be resigned to the chemistry of nature. Under such circumstances the materialist clings with desperate tenacity to the rigid form which he believes to be the last visible or invisible token of past associations. The corruptible is all that remains to his vision, and the unspeakable consolation of the Christian he condemns and rejects. In the event of death materialism has no rites to offer except those that shape themselves into an eternal farewell. There may be eloquent tributes to a precious past, but the one upon whose body the earth closes is denied a future and the cruel epitaph is "The End."

Col. Ingersoll's death was instantaneous. One moment he was the man of genius, with millions upon millions of thoughts and memories in his brain, with the fondest devotion in his heart for his family, and yet, if materialism is to be credited, all perished the next moment when the tide of life suddenly stood still. The body was worn out, but what of that mysterious essence and power that was Ingersoll? Was it turned to nothingness in the twinkling of an eye, utterly destroyed when the mechanical forces of the body were arrested? The materialist assumes that it was, though as powerless to prove it as he is to disprove the converse. There has been a hesitation as to the disposition to be made of Col. Ingersoll's remains and as to the ceremonies of his funeral that is significant. Materialism is confounded in the presence of death and its own barren version of it. There is something even in the heart of skeptics warning them that their creed does violence to the deepest promptings of the human mind.—Globe-Democrat.

Family Medicine Chest.

Here are a set of suggestions which Mrs. Emma Paddock Talford, an authority upon all matters pertaining to good housekeeping, recommends to be pasted up on the inside of the closet door to be referred to in a hurry, so says an exchange:

In case of fainting, place the body in a horizontal position, with the head low; sprinkle cold water on face, neck and chest; loosen the clothing, and expose the patient to fresh air. Camphor or ammonia applied to the nostrils will also prove efficacious, though the latter must be used with caution.

Broken limbs should be placed in natural positions and the patient kept quiet until the arrival of the physician.

Cramps in the stomach usually yield to a teaspoonful of ginger, stirred in a half glass of hot water, in which a half teaspoonful of soda has been dissolved. Nervous spasms are usually controlled by a little salt taken into the mouth and allowed to dissolve.

A patient suffering from sunstroke should be carried into a cool room, and cloths wrung out of cold or ice water applied to the head. These should be large enough to envelop the whole head and changed often. A bladder, or bag of iced silk, partially filled with pounded ice and placed on the head is very beneficial.

For nose bleed, bathe the face and neck with cold water, and rolling a little piece of white paper in a tight roll, place it under the upper lip, where it will press against the gum. If the bleeding does not readily yield plug the nostrils with a soft roll of cotton cloth.

For neuralgia, apply hot, dry flannel, as hot as can be borne.

For poison by poison oak or ivy, take a handful of quicklime, dissolve in water, then paint the poisoned part with it. Two or three applications will ordinarily cure the most stubborn case.

For stings of insects, examine the parts with a magnifying glass, and if the sting is left in the wound extract it with a small pair of tweezers or a sharp penknife. Then apply diluted ammonia, camphor, mud, baking soda, moistened, or even onion juice.

For the bite of a dog or cat the wound should be thoroughly sucked, then the piece which has come in contact with the animal's teeth cut or cauterized with a hot knitting needle, a tight bandage wound closely about the wound to obstruct the circulation, and the wound itself washed in warm water as long as it will bleed. The same treatment will apply to the bite of a poisonous snake.

For burns, the most important point in their treatment is to at once exclude the air. Sweet oil and cotton are standard remedies, or flour and oil. Do not remove the dressing until the inflammation subsides.

If an artery is severed, tie a small cord or handkerchief tightly above it, and inserting a round stick, improvise a tourniquet to hold the flow in check until the surgeon arrives.

Hemorrhages of lungs or stomach may be checked by small doses of salt and perfect quiet.

A sprain should be treated at once to an application of water as hot as can be borne. This may be showered upon it, or cloths wrung out of hot water applied frequently.

For croup, immerse hands and feet in hot mustard or soda water. Great relief is sometimes experienced from drinking water as hot as can be borne.

For sudden attacks of dysentery or colic give equal parts of tincture of rhubarb, essence of peppermint and camphor. Dose, ten to twenty drops in a wineglass of sweetened water at intervals of fifteen minutes.

For acute asthma or nausea, spread a plaster with lard, sprinkle with black pepper, allspice and cloves, and lay on chest or pit of stomach, as the case may be.

For apparent death from lightning, dash cold water freely over head, face and whole body. If this does not revive the patient, place the body in a freshly made opening in the ground, in a half sitting posture, with his face toward the sun, covering him all over excepting the head with fresh earth.

For poisoning by acids, administer copious draughts of tepid water or tickle the throat with a feather or something similar to excite vomiting. Then give warm soups and magnesia or chalk, dissolved in warm water, or wood ashes, soda, gruel, linseed tea or rice water, whichever can be reached first.

For poisoning by alkalies, give diluted vinegar or sour milk, lemonade, sweet oil or any mucilaginous drink.

For arsenical poisoning, induce vomiting as quickly as possible, then administer a spoonful of peroxide of iron. If a druggist is not near enough to get this in a hurry, give iron rust stirred in sweetened water, or whites of eggs and water, or soap suds.

Gordon, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Nichols, who was so severely scalded last Sunday by falling in a tub of hot water, is recovering from his injuries, and doing as well as could reasonably be expected. The scalds were very severe, but it is expected the little fellow will soon be around as usual, having received careful medical treatment.—Dayton Herald.

Hamilton Clark, of Chauncey, Ga., says he suffered with itching piles twenty years before trying DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, two boxes of which completely cured him. Beware of worthless and dangerous counterfeits. C. F. Moore & Co.

Last Wednesday the belongings of McMinnville's soldier dead, Frank Hibbs, Ben Clark, Louis Miller and Ralph Odell were received by their parents. They consisted of blankets, clothing and a good sized chest of curios etc., which the boys gathered up before their death. It was a sad receipt; and yet in days to come they will call up many sweet remembrances of those who laid down their lives on their country's altar.—Transcript.

That Throbbing Headache.

Would quickly leave you, if you used Dr. King's New Life Pills. Thousands of sufferers have proved their matchless merit for Sick and Nervous Headaches. They make pure blood and strong nerves and build up your health. Easy to take. Try them. Only 25 cents. Money back if not cured. Sold by C. E. Smith, druggist.

Word has been received recently from the Laughlin brothers now operating in the Klondike. From the information received it is ascertained that the boys have realized comfortable fortunes from their two years experience in the land of gold nuggets, and big icebergs. This is most gratifying news to the boys' many friends in this locality and it is hoped they will soon come back to this community to enjoy in peace and comfort their good fortune.—North Yamhill Record.

DeWitt's Little Early Risers did me more good than all blood medicines and other pills, writes Geo. H. Jacobs, of Thompson, Conn. Prompt, pleasant and never gripe—they cure constipation, arouse the torpid liver to action and give you clean blood, steady nerves, a clear brain and a healthy appetite. C. F. Moore & Co.

Last Friday a painful accident happened to Mrs. Wm. Newman, living on the Young place, near the North Yam-

The little Dutch boy who stopped the leak in the dike with his finger saved his country from overwhelming destruction. You have read about him in your school readers, how he was walking along the dike when he heard a faint sound of trickling water, and knew at once that a leak had sprung in that great embankment which saves Holland from the devastations of the hungry sea. It was early in the night, and no one was near at hand. The leak was small when he found it, but he knew that the action of the water would enlarge it long before morning, and wash away the entire embankment, inundate the country and destroy his own and thousands of homes. So he bravely put his finger in the crevice, and kept it there all the long night through, until help came and the opening was properly stopped. He had saved his country.

Equally insignificant is the entrance of disease into the human system. The beginnings of the most terrible ailments are so small they can be easily stopped at the start. Your health is a dike which keeps out the invasions of dangerous and devastating disease. Whenever it breaks down, no matter how slightly, there is an opening for disease to enter. If the opening is not watched, it will grow larger until the sweep of disease overwhelms you, and health and perhaps life is destroyed forever.

Fortify your health with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and you can defy ill-health. You can make your health so strong a bulwark that disease cannot find a crevice through which it can creep. Taken in time, Dr. Pierce's remedies prevent greater and more serious troubles. Hundreds write daily to Dr. Pierce, telling him how their remedies have saved them and made them strong.

Constipation causes and aggravates many serious diseases. It is speedily cured by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

hill bridge, on the LaFayette road. She was leading a horse, when the animal jerked back and losing her balance the lady fell alighting on her right arm and breaking both bones of the wrist. Dr. Goucher was called and reduced the fracture, leaving the patient as comfortable as possible. Mrs. Newman is a very old lady and some fears are entertained that this may cripple her the balance of her days.—Transcript.

Our baby was sick for a month with severe cough and catarrhal fever. Although we tried many remedies she kept getting worse until we used One Minute Cough Cure,—it relieved at once and cured her in a few days.—B. L. Nance, Prin. High School, Bluffdale, Texas. C. F. Moore & Co.

Prof. Wm. Scott and wife returned from Gladstone Park last week, where they were attending the Chautauqua meeting. By the way, Billy was to have played in a game of ball with the Y. M. C. A. nine of Portland against the Chemawabs; but he didn't do it. The Indians kept him too well and speedily entered a protest and shut him out. The Prof. umpired the game and was also judge of athletic sports. He tells a reporter of a wonderful feat of young Heater of Newberg, who made a vaulting jump of 10 feet and 5 inches and says he could have made 11 feet if necessary.—Transcript.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure thoroughly digests food without aid from the stomach, and at the same time heals and restores the diseased digestive organs. It is the only remedy that does both of these things and can be relied upon to permanently cure dyspepsia. C. F. Moore & Co.

An improvement is soon to be made in the railway mail service of McMinnville. About the first of August a mail car and clerk will be put on the Independence express train, which arrives from Portland at 7:30 p. m. and passes this station at 5:50 in the morning, going to Portland. This will be a great convenience to the public and especially to business men. When this car is put on, mail will be carried to and from all the postoffices along the line, just the same as is done on the Portland and Corvallis train. In other words, it will be a regular mail train. This change should have been made long ago, but the local postal authorities in Portland have been so slow to appreciate the needs of this west side country. It will reduce the use, and therefore the expense, of telephones considerably.—Telephone-Register.

Mrs. H. L. Heath and son Bertie returned Tuesday morning from their visit to San Francisco. The boys are reported as looking quite well for the most part, and mighty anxious to get home. They are surprised at the inadequate idea the home folks have of the magnitude of the undertaking before the government to suppress the insurrectionary Filipinos. They say we have not been told the whole truth of the situation. At the present rate of fighting it will take years and years to get the natives under subjection. They blame Gen. Otis for this. Capt. Heath is bringing with him a Filipino boy, Manuel Robles, aged 13 years, bright as a new dollar, but the homeliest Filipino on the islands, according to Chaplain Gilbert. The little native has been in demand in San Francisco to lead the cake walks, and an effort has been made to secure him as an attraction at the Omaha exposition. There is a probability of his being kidnapped before Capt. Heath can get him home. When the soldiers marched through San Francisco, Manuel looked up at the tall tower of the Call building, then at the crowds of people, and remarked, "Filipino no use to fight 'Mericans!" The soldiers will be mustered out on the 7th of August, and will start home at once, expecting to get here about the 10th or 12th. Tom Warren is recovering from a spell of malarial fever, Will Ungerman is looking bad for him, who used to be so rosy, and Frank Thompson's face is not disfigured as badly as one would expect. They will come home laden heavily with souvenirs of war.—Reporter.
