The ladies of the Baptist church don't give entertainments very often, but when they do, the public has learned to expect good ones. The Wilder concert given Monday night in Crater's hall was no exception, for a full house greeted the Portland musicians. This entertainment was something new in Newberg in the way of musicals, and the big Wilder harp was doubtless one of the leading attractions. The audience was left in no doubt of the fact that the Wilder quartette can give music, and good music. It was first class in every particular, the only fault being, if any, that the music may have been a little above a Newberg audience. The great strength of the quartette seemed to be in the fact that it was so well balanced. Neither of the four instruments was too prominent, but each blended its own individuality into the one harmony. Miss Alderson, representing home talent, was heartily received in the rendering of her vocal solo. The ladies having in charge the entertainment, may congratulate themselves on its general success.

Epworth League Resolutions.

Whereas, The Salem District Epworth League Convention has been so graciously received and provided for by the Epworth League Chapter, Pastor and people of Newberg,

Resolved, That we are most heartily grateful for their reception and for the boys of the Junior League who piloted us to homes where we have been so bountifully provided for.

Resolved, That we tender our thanks for the devotion and energy of our District President and Presiding Elder, as well as the faithful services of the other district officers and helpers.

Resolved, That we thank all who have contributed to the success of this convention, and most of all our Heavenly Father who has permitted us to receive these "showers of blessings" and the privilege of carrying "mercy drops" to our home chapters of beloved Leagues.

It may not be generally known that the Epworth Herald, the organ of the Epworth League, has the largest circulation of any denominational paper in the world.

We therefore resolve, That we will do all we can to increase its circulation among our chapters.

Respectfully submitted,

CARRIE C. ROYAL, ETHEL E. GARDNER, FRED C. THOMPSON.
