ISSUED EVERY FRIDAY MORNING.

E. H. WOODWARD, EDITOR & PUBLISHER.
W. C. WOODWARD, ASSOCIATE EDITOR.

FRIDAY, APRIL 6, 1900.

Entered as second class matter at the postoffice at Newberg, Oregon.

The Oregon "atmosphere" seems not to agree altogether with Mr. Bryan's talking apparatus. Think of its effect when the votes are counted!

Those fellows who are antagonizing expansion abroad and cite us to our own country as a field for expansion are the lads who stand with their hands in their pockets and never raise a finger toward development of our country's resources. Opposed to home expansion it is natural they should oppose it abroad.—Eugene Register.

Dewey, having expressed the opinion that "the office of president is not such a difficult one to fill after all" announces his willingness to run for the presidency, on some ticket, it seems he is not particular which. How the mighty have fallen! It would be a Dewey ticket, a Dewey platform and a "dewey" day for the United States if Dewey were elected.

A citizen of Newberg, whose business depends largely on the success of our business men, and who has generally been considered as astride the fence, politically, was heard to remark the other day that he voted for McKinley four years ago, but would not again. Where four years ago that man could scarcely exist, to-day he has all the business he can attend to with hired help. Somebody's memory is very deficient, or else somebody can't stand prosperity.

The now famous "Miller case" has passed into history. It has been a source of much contention and no little festering. C. F. Miller, a druggist of this city, was convicted before the recorder of selling liquor contrary to the ordinance in such cases made and provided. The evidence was conflicting in character, but the recorder deemed it sufficient. The case was appealed to the circuit court and tried before a jury on Monday. The jury disagreed, and now by stipulation of the interested parties the case is dismissed and the city pays the costs. It has been observed for some time that it is next to impossible to secure a conviction for alleged offenses of this character unless the testimony for the prosecution is given by persons of standing in the community, especially when there is a strong pro-liquor sentiment extant; and it is in this condition that many people advocate licensed liquor selling. So far, so much. It may not be well, however, to run away with the idea that Forest Grove temperance people will allow flagrant violations of the liquor ordinance to be made without some effort to punish them. If there is an individual in the city who has been observed to keep his claws hidden.—Forest Grove Times.

The same here.
An Able Defense by Mr. Tongue.
In a personal letter received from Mr. Tongue the first of the week, he stated and explained very clearly and ably his position in reference to Porto Rico. He shows up some sides of the question which are generally overlooked, and in justice to him and the constituency he represents, we reproduce the following.
"It is impossible to comprehend what an immense amount of misrepresentation there is about Porto Rico. Everybody agrees that we ought to have free trade with Porto Rico. Everybody agrees that we shall have it in a short time, but we are confronted with a condition. The Island has no local government. It can enact no legislation for collecting taxes. If it could do so, the coffee plantations and the coffee industries for last year and this have been so injured that the collection of taxes would be very burdensome. It is alleged that it would be disastrous to attempt to enforce the internal revenue laws. The working people there earn about 30 cents per day and in many instances are working but two days in the week. All of them use a cheap form of cigar, and in the place of tea and coffee use rum that they purchase for 40 cents a gallon. Add to these articles the price of our internal revenue taxes which are very high, would prohibit this class of people from buying those articles and Gen. Davis says would probably produce a riot. Now under these conditions, what is the best way? To raise revenue temporarily until the present distress is over and until Porto Rico has a legislature of its own. This is the only question that is involved in the bill. The bill was introduced for the purpose of helping Porto Rico. As originally introduced, it is true, it did not look that way on its face. It looked a little like it meant protection in a very small insignificant way. I did not hesitate to express myself as absolutely opposed to entering upon an era of protection against the products of Porto Rico. I felt very strongly on that subject, and do yet. In deference to the opinion of such men as myself, the title of the act was changed and now is entitled: "An act temporarily to provide revenue for the relief of the Island of Porto Rico and for other purposes." At our request also a section was added which is as follows:
"Section 5. This act shall be taken and to be provisional in its purpose and intended to meet the pressing and present need for revenue for the Island of Porto Rico, and shall not continue in force after the first day of March, 1902.

In all the adverse comments upon this bill, I have not seen this section referred to, nor the title of the act. There is no question of principle involved in this bill, except the one raised by its opponents as to whether it is in conflict with the constitution. Nobody suggests a better way to raise the taxes under present conditions. There may be better ways, somebody ought to suggest them. The constitutional question, of course, is the proper one for the Supreme Court, and I think any one will concede at least that there is enough ground for an honest difference of opinion that it will do no harm to have it go to the Supreme Court as quickly as possible. The claim that it is for a protective measure is too ridiculous for consideration, a 15 per cent tariff could protect nobody. Remember that this is not a 15 per cent tariff, but 15 per cent of the Dingley tariff. For instance, meat going from the United States into Porto Rico would pay three tenths of a cent per pound. Coarse raw sugar coming from Puerto Rico into the United States would pay about one seventh of a cent per pound. The principal duties would be paid upon sugar and tobacco coming from Puerto Rico here. Nearly all of this is in the hands of wealthy men who will be immensely benefited by the taking off of the 85 per cent of the Dingley tariff. These interests prosper under full Dingley tariff and shipped their surplus products into the United States. It is singular that these people who are so noisy about Puerto Rico and so much interested in doing something for Puerto Rico, should be perfectly motionless while for two years we have collected 100 per cent of the Dingley tariff from the people of Hawaii and have put it into the federal treasury, not devoted to their government, as we are devoting this to Puerto Rico."

THOS. H. TONGUE.

ENTHUSIASTIC DAIRY MEETING.
The Chehalis Dairyman's Association addressed by C. H. Markham and Dr. Withycombe.

The Chehalis Dairyman's Association was particularly fortunate last Friday in having the privilege of listening to two such men as C. H. Markham and Dr. Withycombe, the former of the Southern Pacific and the latter of the Oregon Agricultural College. The meeting was held in Craters hall, and a good audience of farmers and dairymen were out to hear the speakers.

Mr. Markham said he had no apology to offer for leaving his business and traveling around over the Willamette valley in the interests of the dairy industry. He said: "Your interests are our interests, and your prosperity is our prosperity. This new industry is coming to the front all through the country and is destined to become one of our greatest resources. The best results are obtained where the business men manifest an active interest. As to markets, there is no fear of overproduction. We do not even supply our home market, to say nothing of the unlimited foreign market which is continually opening. Besides this, the cost of producing dairy products is enough lower here to allow us to compete in Eastern markets with Eastern dairies. This is a propitious time for dairying because of the low price of wheat, the high price of stock and the unlimited market for dairy products. As an inducement and encouragement in this work, we give special freight rates to dairymen, so that whether they have a creamery close at hand or not, they can ship at little cost."

The real beneficial and practical address was made by Dr. Withycombe. He is a man of wide and thorough experience and demonstrated that he knew absolutely whereof he spoke. His address inspired new confidence in those already engaged in dairying and certainly set others to thinking along this line. He said in part: "Commercial and industrial conditions are rapidly changing. The farmers have not kept pace with the times but are in the old rut. This is a great mistake. To succeed, they must adapt themselves to changing circumstances. They should be careful to keep up their soil fertility which is their capital stock. By continual grain raising they are depleting it and will come to the need and expense of using fertilizers as in the East. Dairying is the solution of the problem. It takes nothing from the soil and brings much to it. It goes well with fruit raising. As far as competition is concerned we can compete with any place. This is a great country for raising dairy foods. We can beat grass countries because the soiling system is ahead of the pasture system. Brains are as necessary in dairying as in any other occupation. Dairymen should keep good cows, for there is the secret of the profit. They should also take good dairy papers and keep up with the most improved methods."

After his address, many questions were addressed to Dr. Withycombe all of which he satisfactorily answered. He gave much practical information, and the farmers and dairymen will heartily welcome him back again if he will consent to speak to them again.

Mrs. Rorer on the Servant-Girl Problem.
Mrs. Rorer's solution of the servant girl problem will be presented in the May Ladies' Home Journal. She will tell "How to treat and keep a servant," fixing the responsibility for the unsatisfactory domestic service that makes housekeeping such a hardship today. It is Mrs. Rorer's contention, and she thoroughly maintains her point, that it is no more difficult to obtain efficient employees in the home than it is for any other kind of work. But the point of view of mistress and maid must be materially changed first.

Remarkable Cure of Rheumatism.
Kenna, Jackson Co., W. Va.
About three years ago my wife had an attack of rheumatism which confined her to her bed for over a month and rendered her unable to walk a step without assistance, her limbs being swollen to twice their normal size. Mr. S. Maddox insisted on my using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I purchased a fifty-cent bottle and used it according to the directions and the next morning she walked out to breakfast without assistance in any manner and she had not a similar attack since.—A. B. Parsons. For sale by C. F. Moore & Co.

County Sunday School Convention.
The eighteenth annual session of the Yamhill county Sunday school convention met in Carlton, Thursday March 29, and held over Friday. All reports received seem to indicate that this was the most enthusiastic convention yet held, and the Newberg delegates came home bubbling over with enthusiasm. Those from here appearing on the program were, Frank Daach, who responded to the address of welcome; Mrs. E. M. Miles read a paper on "The Worker's Personal Influence"; W. M. Manning conducted one of the devotional services; Mrs. G. W. Cutts read an article on "New Methods in S. S. Work"; Rev. J. F. Day delivered an address on "The Relation of the Parent to the Sunday School." An exceptionally good address is reported from Rev. H. Ferguson of Portland, on the subject, "The Influence of S. S. on National Character."

The statistical secretary reported forty schools in the community, with over three thousand members. It is a cause of some pride to know that of these forty schools the Friends Sunday school of this place is the largest. The success and organization of the work in the county is due a great deal to the able leadership of the president, Mrs. Edwards. She is now beginning on her third term of office.

The following officers of the county association were elected for the ensuing year:
President, Mrs. M. E. K. Edwards of Newberg.
Vice President, R. Baird of North Yamhill.
Secretary, Mrs. C. F. Mills of McMinnville.
Statistical secretary, Rev. W. C. Scott of LaFayette.
Treasurer, A. T. Henry of LaFayette. Superintendent of normal work, S. Hoffman of Dayton.

Remarkable Rescue.
Mrs. Michael Curtain, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement, that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from first dose. She continued its use and after taking six bottles, found herself sound and well; now does her own housework, and is as well as she ever

MISS Maud Kenyon,
Of 1533 Orange Street, Los Angeles, Cal., writes: "I had been afflicted with my eyes for over a year with such a dreadful itching and inflammation that I could not use them for anything. Physicians had given me many different remedies which were like using so much water; they measured my eyes for glasses, which I got and wore for some time, but they did not benefit me in the least. My mother desired me to write to Dr. R. V. Pierce and explain the condition of my eyes. I did so, and after following your advice, and using eight bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription' and eight of the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' can say my trouble is entirely cured. I would advise any one so afflicted to try these wonderful medicines. My health was never so good as it is now, and I shall never tire of praising Dr. Pierce's medicines." Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter and secure a specialist's advice free of charge.

The remains were brought to Newberg on Tuesday evening's train for burial in the family lot in the cemetery near town. The deceased was born in Knoxville, Tennessee, in 1827, came across the plains in 1850 to the gold fields in California, and from thence to Oregon in 1852. He was married in 1861 to Miss Prudence Hunt who survives him. He also leaves one son and four daughters, Mrs. J. L. Vickery, of LaFayette; Mrs. H. C.
