A big newspaper works on a "cheap little" plane when it won't give a man credit for what he does, but works up a case against him on its own perverted presumption.

The opposition papers are having a sorry time trying to keep the Porto Rico bugaboo boosted up as a campaign issue. It is taking lots of propping and it will all be knocked out before election time.

Yamhill republicans put up a strong ticket Tuesday, and the universal harmony and good will which existed throughout the convention speaks volumes for the kind of support the republican nominees may expect on June 4.

The Fusioneratic papers are now enjoying the rather pleasing and harmless diversion of publishing bombastic eulogies of their candidates under heads reading "He will be elected." It will remain for the rest of us to say "He is elected."

If the opposition can find a sufficient trace of "ring" and "boss" rule in the nomination of the republican ticket Tuesday to make a fight on "bossism," it is welcome to its discovery. From top to bottom from the standpoint of bossism at least the ticket will bear the scrutiny of the Yamhill voter.

We thought they would come around to it finally. A rank fusion organ of the state deserves credit for the discovery of the fact that Mark Hanna is the real promoter of the Dewey boom for the presidency. Poor Marcus! This last sensational disclosure of his moral perversity may prove fatal.

When wheat brings less than fifty cents, when hops do not bring the cost of picking and when there is not much fruit to bring at all, the time is certainly opportune for turning attention to other industries. This community is particularly favored in having an especially remunerative industry offered to its farmers. All that is now lacking is the energy and faith to "lay hold."

Grover Cleveland meant something, when, in a letter to the Brooklyn democratic club he said "There has never been a time when false leadership of our party and a departure from simple democratic faith have not been quickly discovered and ruthlessly rebuked by listless support, pronounced defection and bitter defeat. These consequences have thus far been so inevitable that the lessons they teach cannot be disregarded without inviting calamity." Democracy is running after false gods, and Mr. Cleveland makes himself unpopular with his quondam party by his courageous and persistent attitude in "keeping the faith."

These beet sugar factories seem to want the whole world, 5000 acres of land as a bonus. That means at least $100,000 in a desirable location.—Albany Democrat.

This choice bit of information (?) very appropriately appears in the "miserable" column of the Democrat and is a good sample of the reliability of a certain type of Oregon journalism. We would suggest that 5000 sugar beet acreage hardly means turning over the deeds of that amount of land to the sugar capitalists, as any primary department school boy would know. Newberg is only asked a building site of fifty acres, which will scarcely come at $3000 an acre according to the Democrat's astronomic figures. Albany evidently is a trifle sore over the fact that a sugar factory is not headed in her direction.

A Beneficial Feature of the Beet Sugar Industry.

One of the greatest, if not absolutely the greatest, blessing of the beet sugar industry is that it is pre-eminently an agricultural industry. Whereas, other great industries, almost in every instance, are established in the centres of dense population, or the large cities, the beet sugar industry scatters its factories over the country, in the very heart of the farming districts. The special character of the raw material, which is not a marketable product in the same sense as other commercial crops, obliges the factories to be established as near as possible to the localities where this material is raised. The benefit of this circumstance will easily be understood when one considers how immense otherwise would be the risk of the farmer in raising a crop which is not marketable, like the sugar beet, unless he was sure beforehand that he could sell and deliver his beet crop at a profitable price. In fact, without this security sugar beet culture would prove absolutely impossible. On the other hand, the factory has an equal interest to receive the beets freshly harvested from the farmer and would in its turn be impossible without the assurance of a supply of beets. It is difficult to name another industry where the mutual interests of the producer of the raw material and of the manufacturer are so intimately interwoven, and in no country of the world are the local conditions so favorable to the rapid development of an industry of such vast importance to the general prosperity of the country.—John C. Veenhuizen in Beet Sugar Gazette.

OREGON POLITICS.

It is an off year, indeed, in Oregon politics, when some new features or phases of party management or policy is not developed. In almost every campaign something new or interesting turns up politically in Oregon. At the National capital the oldtimers in official life are always looking for something to happen out of the ordinary in Oregon politics. One of Oregon's first Senators became a candidate for vice-president. Another Oregon Senator, reputed the most eloquent orator in the land, resigned his seat to take command of a regiment, and was killed immediately afterward in the Ball's Bluff blunder. The great Tilden-Hayes electoral contest was largely fought over an Oregon vote. Oregon furnished a member of Grant's Cabinet, and a former Senator, whose rugged sense and rude wit gained for him a national reputation. Oregon's constitution prohibited the entrance into the state of negroes or mulattoes, and welcomed "the left wing of Price's army." After the war, Oregon elected several republican governors, and then—Pennoyer. Oregon has furnished several Senatorial deadlocks, and twice has elected a senator at almost the last minute of the session. Oregon finally sent to the Senate its only Hebrew member—and now certain citizens and democrats of Multnomah county have nominated an interesting and in a political aspect rather a curious legislative ticket. Some democrats are displeased with it, some republicans are a little afraid of it, and whatever happens to it, there is the satisfaction of realizing that Oregon is keeping up its reputation, in a small way at least, and doing something politically that is unique if not startling, and that is worth the dime admission to the performance.—Telegram.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

The republican surplus in the national treasury is the latest cause of democratic insomnia.

July corn is now worth about 40c a bushel and Col. Bryan has withdrawn all his previous estimates for correction.

Senator Hoar's frequent assertion that he can see the end of the republic suggests that he has put off a visit to his optician too long.

Dewey remarks that he is a democrat but never voted in his life. This variety, if it maintains the rule, has much to commend it.

By the imprudent action of the Admiral's wife the cause of woman suffrage has received a blow from which it will not recover in a thousand years.

Col. Watterson rises to remark that "No platform can stay the movement of mankind." The Colonel should stick to that proposition. It has but one side.

The man who may be selected to present President McKinley's name to the Republican convention will find that most of his work has been done in advance of the meeting.

Mrs. Dewey has evidently taken the Admiral from salt water, in which he was at home, and got him into hot water, in which he is "at sea."—Forest Grove Times.

Why should not the candidate for the vice presidency on the republican ticket come from Oregon? There is a movement on foot to secure this place for the Pacific coast. In this case, it should by all means fall to the Webfoot state, Oregon was the only white place on the map of this vast region, after the election of 1896.—Statesman.

We have all heard about taxation without representation, but it does not apply to Porto Rico. Indeed that little island so far has paid no taxes into the general fund. All the money collected has been spent in the island. And the law that lays a local tax provides representation same as Oregon had prior to 1850. Indeed Porto Rico has representation without taxation.—Hillsboro Independent.

cess of republicanism stands for a continuation of the McKinley prosperity that now stalks abroad in the land. It's either the embalming fluid of Bryanism or the rich red blood of McKinley prosperity that the people have for their choice.—Ashland Tidings.

Our democratic friends are gradually overcoming their prejudice toward the "money power." Their nominee for Congress in this district is the Hon. Bernard Daly, a Lakeview banker, who won over our own Captain Heath by a vote of 60 to 69. And it is understood that the populists, except a few middle-of-the-roads, have agreed to fuse on this kind of a layout. It's tough, but they like it, you know.—Sheridan Sun.

At the June election the amendment to the state constitution conferring the election franchise upon women will be before the people. It stands little show of being ratified by the voters of this state. There are, of course, some advocates of the amendment among the women but much the greater number of thinking women are of the opinion that the duties and responsibilities of women should not be added to, but on the other hand the women should strive to accomplish all they can for society in their proper sphere and with their present privileges and opportunities.—Portland Chronicle.

Growing Volume of Money.

For each capita in the United States the amount of money in circulation is $26.12. In 1896 the figure was $21.53. An increase of over 20 per cent in the per capita within four years, making due allowance for increased population, should satisfy any one except a Populist who wants paper money to trundle around by the wagon load. More than $2,000,000,000 of money are now circulating in this country, the increase in four years reaching $492,000,000. All these dollars are recognized throughout the world as equivalent to gold. Four years ago the gold circulating in the United States was $489,000,000. Now it is $785,000,000, an increase of 60 per cent. Has silver fallen back? Not a bit of it. The amount of silver and silver certificates in circulation has increased in four years from $558,000,000 to $631,000,000. For the first time the money in circulation has passed the $2,000,000,000 mark and every dollar is worth 100c in gold.

Here is a republican triumph of great magnitude, so large, in fact, that the democratic papers never refer to it. They advocated free coinage as the only road to an increased volume of money. But in less than four years after the Chicago platform was offered to the people as the true system of finance the circulation has increased by nearly $500,000,000. The paramount democratic issue in 1896 was, as events have demonstrated, a huge blunder, an absolute reversal of everything that could insure the prosperity of the country. It takes nerve in the presidential candidate who led that cause to come forward again and offer his views on public questions as worthy of confidence. Sound judgement in a leader is essential. If he has been identified with a radical error, one proved beyond question, he cannot be trusted to point the way in other ones. What Bryan declared was the worst financial policy is unmistakably the best.—Globe-Democrat.

It's Time Wasted

And strength wasted, to try to push back the rising tide with a broom. It's just as great a waste of time and a far more serious waste of strength to try to push back the rising tide of disease with the "nervines," "compounds" and "nerve foods" which simply drug the nerves into a drunken stupor. They make you feel good! So does whisky, while the feeling lasts, but the reaction is dangerous and deadly. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a temperance medicine. It contains no alcohol, opium, cocaine or other narcotic. It strengthens the body by purifying the blood and increasing the supply of that vital fluid. It heals diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition and thus removes the obstacles to a perfect nourishment of the whole body.

through time 11 hours. Train No. 2 leaving Portland at 9:15 a. m., beginning on the date named, will be known as the Chicago-Portland special. Its equipment will be new, making it fully the equal of any train now in service from the Pacific coast to the East. There will be but one change of cars to all Eastern points. The full time will be three days through to Chicago, or four days and two hours to New York.

The second train, known as No. 6, will leave Portland at 6:20 p. m., connecting at East Portland with the Southern Pacific's overland train from San Francisco and will carry through equipment to Chicago via the Union Pacific and the Chicago & Northwestern, and also the equipment for the Washington division of the O. R. & N., in connection with the Great Northern for St. Paul. This train will reach Spokane at 10 a. m. The new schedule as arranged, will supply the most complete service ever furnished on the O. R. & N., as provides increased service in Eastern Oregon, where it is greatly needed and gives immediate connection with the Washington division at Pendleton.

No. 2 will arrive in Chicago at 9:30 a. m., No. 6 at 7:45 a. m., as at present. The westbound train out of Chicago, corresponding with No. 2, is No. 1. This will arrive in Portland at 4 p. m. The train corresponding with the eastbound No. 6 is No. 3, out of Chicago. This will reach Portland at 7:30 a. m. Westbound train No. 1 will leave Chicago at 6:30 p. m., and Omaha at 8:20 a. m. the following day. The time will be reduced 2 hours and 45 minutes. No. 3, westbound train will leave Chicago at 10:30 p. m., and Omaha at 4:25 p. m. the next day. Consult the nearest ticket agent for detailed information.
