We hear that young Fred Cooper of McMinnville who has been making a reputation as an amateur cartoonist on the "Campaign" has received a very flattering offer to do work in that line for a San Francisco daily. This will necessitate the suspension of the Campaign, but the real campaign will probably go on in old Yamhill just the same.

The Hobson Mercantile establishment of Sumpter, owned by Hon. W. H. M. H. Pinney's horse made a little excitement Tuesday morning by taking a lively spin up First street. It took fright at some sacks of wool out in front of Howard Williams' barn, and when Mr. Pinney pulled down on him, the lines broke. A little lumber which was on the wagon, and two coops of chickens were quickly unloaded, and the frightened animal tore up the street. People made haste to give all the road, but old "Tuesday" Nelson, who had driven up in front of the postoffice, stood his ground, and had an unpleasantly close shave, the wagon striking his hind wheel. The run-a-way was captured in the upper end of town, uninjured.

Word comes from Southern California that Uncle Jimmie Vestal has been in very poor health ever since going there, and as a result he and Mrs. Vestal and also their daughter Mrs. Emma Hill, may be expected back here again some time next month. So far the change has proved very beneficial to the health of Mrs. Vestal.

Jim Everest had quite an experience up about Willamina the first of the week on the way out from Tillamook. Some of the highways are evidently not in the best condition up that way, for the horse Jim was astride got stuck in a bad place and mired down to his shoulders, and it took no little diplomacy to get him extricated with the aid of a rail. The animal still showed some of the effects next day.

Much regret is expressed at the sudden departure of Elwood Scott and family for the scene of Mr. Scott's labors at New Market, Canada. Carthage is the scene of near seventeen years of work. President Nowlin Resigns.

After having devoted nearly ten years of the best part of his life to the work of building up Pacific College, President Thomas Nowlin has tendered his resignation as president of the college, to take effect at the close of the present school year. It has been with great reluctance that the board has accepted his resignation and many regrets at his decision in the matter are heard from our citizens. He resigns to accept the vice-presidency of the Wilmington, Ohio college and will leave here with his family early in July. On the close of Pacific College he will go to Whittier, California, to attend Friends Yearly meeting but will return in time to attend Oregon Yearly meeting. The board of managers of Pacific College is making a canvass of available college men to fill the vacancy and expect to be able at an early day to announce to the public who the new president of the college shall be. In the meantime other preparations for next year's work are being made and all the friends of the college are earnestly requested to put forth every effort possible to increase the attendance.

An Epidemic of Whooping Cough.

Last winter during an epidemic of whooping cough my children contracted the disease having severe coughing spells. We had used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy very successfully for group and naturally turned to it at that time and found it relieved the cough and affected a complete cure.—John E. Clifford, proprietor Norwood House, Norwood, N. Y. This remedy is for sale by C. E. Moore & Co., druggists.

Joubert's Piety.

The resemblance which has been traced between General Joubert and Stonewall Jackson as military leaders might be traced between them as men. In both, character was dominant, and the character was that of a sincere and spiritual Christian. "Kruiger is an Old Testament Christian; Joubert is a New Testament Christian," said one who knew them both well. Joubert's religion was as practical as Stonewall Jackson's. The religious services in his camps were thoroughly characteristic. Mr. Davis says he will never forget the deep impression of reality which they made upon him. He sang "Old Hundred" with his men before they went into battle with all sincerity, just as he showed mercy to the enemy, and respected their dead after the battle was over. His honesty was as aggressive as his courage. He had a keen sense of honor.—From "The Military Leaders of the Boers" in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for May.

Death of F. H. Barnhart.

F. H. Barnhart, editor and publisher of the Sheridan Star died from a severe hemorrhage at McMinnville on last Saturday evening, at the age of 51 years. Mr. Barnhart was best known to the people of Yamhill county as the publisher of the Reporter, he having conducted this paper in a very able manner for nine years, ending a little more than a year ago when he sold the plant, owing to ill health. The writer became acquainted with him soon after he came to Oregon from Kansas in the year 1890, and beside being a close reader of his paper all these years it was always a pleasure to meet him in his office, where, in spite of long continued failing health he was always found devoting his time and attention to business with a determination that insured success. Always cheerful and contented and never inclined to dwell on his physical infirmities while conversing with his friends, his example was well worthy of emulation.

He always spoke of Newberg by way of commendation and in a conversation held with him a short time ago he spoke in high terms of our citizens for their push and enterprise in reaching out for manufacturing interests that would benefit the town. Mr. Barnhart was a Christian man, a member of the Christian church, of McMinnville, and a man who lived up to his profession, in that he published a good, clean newspaper. In his death the newspaper fraternity of Yamhill county loses one of its number who was an honor to the profession; an honest man, a patriotic citizen and a clean journalist. The writer loses a friend who was highly esteemed while living and is mourned as only a true friend can be. To the widow and fatherless, words of tongue or pen are small comfort. May God bless and keep them in their lonely hours.

Spanish War Buttons.

When Manila was captured, the Second Oregon was the only regiment to enter the city and receive the surrender of the Spanish army and arms. A number of fine old bronze cannon were captured at that time. One of them was brought home and this splendid old bronze, cast in Spain more than a century ago, is now being made into souvenir buttons by a committee of the volunteers, and the buttons are being sold for the benefit of the fund to erect a handsome and artistic monument to the memory of the soldiers of Oregon who lost their lives in the Spanish and Filipino War. The button is made with a button back for men and boys and a pin back for ladies and girls. The genuineness of the buttons is attested by the certificate of Brigadier-General O. Summers. This is a valuable souvenir of the war, such as every adult and child in Oregon would be pleased to possess, especially as the entire proceeds of the sale will go to erect a splendid monument to serve as a perpetual object lesson in patriotism to the youth of the state. The buttons sell in any quantity at 25c each. The secretary of the committee is Captain H. L. Wells, Box 347, Portland, Oregon.

The Schoolgirls and the President.

Easter vacation days have been busy times at the White House in Washington. The "oldest resident" of the mansion, whose memories reach back through many administrations, cannot recall a time when there have been so many bright American school girls among the list of callers. They came in twos, they came in fours; but more often as a well-organized battalion of American beauty, under the chaperonage of a sweet-faced teacher. It was indeed impressive to note the ease, grace and intelligence of these American girls when calling on the President. In their jaunty caps or dignified mortarboards, with long braids and navy blue bicycle skirts, no European court, with all its staidness and display, could outline the winsomeness of American young women at the executive mansion. From their very entrance, their bright eyes captivated all beholders, and they ascended the great staircase and swept into the waiting room with all the grace of queens. There have been scores and scores of delegations keeping the President busy this month, but when he received the school girls he was at his best; courteous, gallant and chivalrous as any cavalier of the olden time.—"The National Magazine" for May.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS.

THE "NECESSARY" MAGAZINE.

The best-informed men and women in the world use the AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS to keep well informed, and call it the "necessary" and "indispensable" magazine. In the busy rush of to-day ambitious men and women must know about the important questions of the month, and not only this, they want to know about them at the right time. When the whole country is puzzled over the gigantic combination of trusts, a well-informed article is printed in the AMERICAN MONTHLY, giving the facts, and its editor discusses the theory; when the Dreyfus affair is in everyone's mouth, the best story of Dreyfus and the great case comes out in this magazine.

Every month, in "The Progress of the World," Dr. Albert Shaw gives a comprehensive picture of the world's history during the previous thirty days. In the departments, the valuable articles and books that have been published during the past month are reviewed and quoted from, so that the readers of the AMERICAN MONTHLY can get the gist of them. In every issue nearly a hundred pictures are printed, including the portraits of the men and women who are making the history of the month.

To be thoroughly well informed helps any man or woman in his or her work. A subscription to the AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS represents an investment for the best kind of profit, as well as entertainment. One subscriber has just written: "Count me a life subscriber, and when you send me a number beyond the limit of my subscription and secure no renewal from me, consider it a notice of my death."

Price 25 cents per number, $1.50 a year. A sample copy will be sent on receipt of ten cents in stamps.
