Vote for Tongue for congress and return a man who has proven himself to be an energetic representative of the people.

Butt has had experience in the legislature and Tongue in congress and both have proven themselves worthy of the confidence of the people. Vote for them on the fourth of June.

If this is a "campaign of education" the instructors must be conducting it on the quiet. While voters seem to have registered pretty generally very little public speaking is being done and candidates appear to be making a still hunt.

Congressman Thos. H. Tongue has been honored with the invitation to give an address in Washington, D. C., on Memorial day. And some people will try to convince you in the next few days that Mr. Tongue cuts no figure in the nation's capital.

A good old dyed-in-the-wool Southern Democrat will lay awake nights planning some scheme to disfranchise the negro, and will look on cheerfully and see him lynched, thinking nothing of depriving him of the right of trial. But only mention the Porto Rico tariff bill and he more than agonizes over the "injustice and oppression" heaped upon the black Porto Ricans. He evidently believes that charity begins in Porto Rico.

The anti-imperialists make a business of expressing horror at the thought of bloodshed in the Philippines, and cheerfully doom the nation to premature destruction for carrying on a carnage of blood. And in the very next breath they are soundly berating President McKinley for not going to the assistance of the slave-owning Boers in their war against England, which action would throw us into such a turmoil of foreign war as has never been seen. This is a fair sample of the consistency of the class which is chronically "agin th' government."

Bryan, the pope of the democrats, issues the bull that silver is subordinate to no issue, and the abject priests of democracy cry "The pope can do no wrong," therefore silver is the leading issue. Then they turn to the voters with the plea that the republican financial bill has removed all danger of silver legislation anyway, so they may support them without fear of base repudiation. In short "We believe in free silver, but the republicans have protected you from its fallacies, so you may support us without fear of our redeeming the pledges of our platform." Can it be that the old democratic party has fallen to this plane of politics?

The seat of power in Congress has shifted from Maine to Iowa. No other single state has so strong and influential a representation, and it is due somewhat to the same causes that gave the Pine Tree State such an influence, with Blaine, Reed, Dingley, Manley, Hale, Frye and others. When capable representatives are continued in Congress term after term, a spirit of co-operation predominates in the delegation. When it becomes a political family affair there are always some plums coming that way.—National Magazine.

Oregon will do well to consider carefully the above, written from an entirely unpartisan standpoint. The same policy that has made Iowa such a power in Congress, will bring Oregon to the front. Or, on the other hand, we can send a new man to Congress every other term, and Oregon never will receive any attention. Every voter casts his ballot for one policy or the other on June 4. A vote for Congressman Thos. H. Tongue, is a vote for Oregon's wider influence in the national house of legislation.

It ought to be apparent to any individual who carries brains enough under his hat to fill the inside of a hickory nut, that southwest Yamhill is going to roll up a handsome majority for the republican ticket next month. People hereabouts have good memories, and they want to stand by the old party of progress and the good men that party has named for county officers. Fusion always entails unsatisfactory conditions, even when harmoniously instituted, and who is there that does not know that this year it was conceived and brought forth with the utmost lack of harmony. No one seriously looks for success to perch upon the banners of parties who have submerged principles for the spoils of office.—Sheridan Sun.

DO WE WANT TO CHANGE?

The chairman of the Ohio republican convention, after reviewing the prosperous condition of our industries and commerce, asked: "Do we want to change?" This question should be carefully considered by every citizen. It concerns all classes of people—the capitalist and the wage earner, the farmer and the manufacturer. Four years ago the country was suffering from one of the severest depressions in its history. Capital was without confidence, there was industrial stagnation, millions of people were without work. Domestic trade was enormously curtailed and our foreign commerce was greatly reduced. Never before there such gloom and distrust in regard to the material affairs of the country as experienced during the period of the political campaign of 1896.

It is unnecessary to make a detailed statement of what has occurred since. It is familiar to everybody. There has been during the last three years a most extraordinary industrial activity. The agricultural interest has prospered, the condition of labor has vastly improved, the wealth of the country has been enormously increased. Our domestic trade is today at least 50 per cent larger than it was four years ago and our exports, particularly of manufactures, have been greatly increased. Our financial resources have been so augmented that we are lenders to Europe. No other country is so strong in all the conditions that make for material progress and prosperity.

Do we want to change this? Do we want another experience with democratic politics? Do we want to try again the disastrous experiment of the last period of democratic administration? The party of Bryanism offers now nothing more acceptable than it offered four years ago. It is still for free silver, still opposed to protection, still wedded to the fallacies and the revolutionary doctrines of the Chicago platform. Its principles and its purpose are reactionary. There is not a single policy for which it stands that would promote the progress and prosperity of the nation. The success of that party would mean retrogression. It would impair confidence and check enterprise and if we may judge from the attitude of some of its leaders it would be very likely to involve us in difficulties abroad.

There is in short, nothing whatsoever that this party promises which would promote the general welfare, while it is absolutely certain that its success would result in harm to nearly every interest. The question propounded by the chairman of the Ohio republican convention is the real keynote of the coming campaign and should command the serious consideration of every citizen.—Omaha Bee.

THE BEST SUGAR PROPOSITION.

Several farmers in the vicinity of Newberg who own a good deal of land and who have influence with their neighbors come into town and inquire very anxiously how the best sugar proposition is coming. They say "Oh yes we are very anxious that the best sugar plant—shall be secured at Newberg but—" and then follow numerous excuses for not subscribing acreage. Men of this class may just as well be told now as later on that simple good wishes for the success of the enterprise don't count for much without some backing in the way of acreage subscribed. An offer has come to Newberg such as doesn't come to a community once in a decade, yet it is going to take a united effort to meet the conditions. Some say they will do so and so rather than see the thing fall and yet so far they have done nothing to assist in securing the acreage required. A few have been heard from who say they want to sell their land and consequently they don't want to obligate themselves to cultivate beets. Pity the man who is so short-sighted that, while he wants to sell, he can't see that it is to his own interest to go to work to help bring about conditions that will create a market for his land.

Some are skeptical about beet growing, lest it can't be made profitable and yet not a single instance can be cited where a plant has been abandoned for this reason. In some instances growers have from lack of knowledge failed to succeed well the first season but later on very satisfactory returns have been realized in every instance as far as the Graphic has been able to learn.

Here is a company of capitalists who say they have investigated the conditions prevailing in the Willamette valley, and after fully satisfying themselves that beet growing can be successfully carried on here, they show faith in our soil and our climate by offering to invest capital to the amount of $800,000 if farmers will agree to grow 5000 acres of beets for a term of five years, and yet we have some farmers in the community who shake their heads and say it will require a good deal of work to grow beets and they have doubts about it being a paying proposition anyway.

Up to last Saturday night 198 contracts for acreage had been secured and yet the grand total only amounted to 10 3/4 acres. This shows that those who have small places are responding to the call of the solicitors much more readily than the larger land owners. Some of the latter class have done nobly, while many others are doing nothing. Some say they are willing to lease land but they don't care to take any responsibility in the matter themselves. This latter class must be induced to take a different stand if we succeed. They ought to be willing to contract liberal acreage and take the chances on leasing it out later on, for while they will have until next season to find men to lease their land to, they must remember that time is flying and only five more weeks remain in which to meet the conditions, consequently we must act quickly and with a united front if we succeed.

It is little wonder that farmers are slow to take up with new enterprises, especially without making satisfactory investigation respecting the merits of the proposition, and yet it is not well to develop the bump of caution to such a degree that a good thing is given the cold shoulder and let pass when it is offered. Never is a long time, yet this part of the county need never hope for another such an offer if this one is not accepted. Another meeting of the Newberg Development Company will be held at Crater's hall this, Friday evening when the directors will report what progress has been made and others will be asked to take stock in the Development Company. The meeting is open to all and it is hoped that a large number of ladies as well as those of the sterner sex will be in attendance. Come out and bring your neighbors and let us have a rousing beet sugar meeting.

ALL ABOUT CALIFORNIA.

A Handsome series of new and useful publications.

California is the natural paradise of the holiday maker. Its resources are inexhaustible, its invitation universal and its resorts and attractions among the most noted in the world.

The Southern Pacific Company publishes descriptive literature containing valuable information about all of them. It is for free distribution and may be obtained from any Southern Pacific agent, or C. H. Markham, General Passenger Agent at Portland, Oregon. If you apply by mail inclose a stamp for each publication.

"Resorts and attractions along the coast line" is a handsomely illustrated folder, giving a description of the health and pleasure resorts on the coast between San Francisco and Los Angeles.

"Shasta resorts," embellished with beautiful half-tone engravings, describes the scenes and outing attractions of the vast and wonderful Shasta region, the grandest of pleasure grounds.

"California south of Tehachapi" tells all about the charms that remarkably favored semi-tropic garden spot, Southern California.

A handsome map of California, complete in detail, reliable, skillfully indexed and full of information about the state's resources. It is the only publication of its kind conveniently folded for pocket use.

"Summer outings" is a 32-page folder devoted to the camping retreats in the Shasta region and Santa Cruz Mountains. It appeals more directly to that large and growing class of recreation seekers who prefer this popular form of outing.

"Pacifica Grove" is the Chautauqua of the West, and this folder not only describes the pretty place itself, but gives a program of the religious and educational meetings, conventions, schools, etc., to be held there this summer.

Other publications are "Lake Tahoe," "Geysers and Lake county," "Yosemite," "Hotel del Monte," "Castle Crags," each bristling with information about the places named and printed in the highest style of the art.

The Cow Question

Editor Graphic. I feel like trying to impress upon the citizens of this county the importance of a thorough consideration of the "stock law," which is to be voted on next election. For we believe that those who will give this question earnest consideration can not help seeing the injuries which it will bring upon the citizens of Yamhill county, if carried. It would not only compel many Newberg families to dispose of the faithful old cow, but hundreds of families in surrounding towns would have to do likewise. And what would those do who are depending almost entirely upon stock raising for their support? The majority of farmers, especially on the mountain sides, have small ranches and could not pasture their stock. Consequently they would have to dispose of them at a great sacrifice. The neat markets would of course be flooded for a time, for there are thousands of cattle on the range; but only for a time, as they would soon be sold off so closely that the butchers would have to go out of the county to get beef for the market. Then, too, the absence of stock on the range would allow a heavy growth of fern and underbrush which would be a great disadvantage in many ways. It would not only afford more harbor for wild beasts, but there would also be more danger when fire broke out. The passing of this law would of course be of great advantage to the bicycle riders, and the sidewalks could be kept in better repair, but the question is, which is of greater importance to the public in general.

For a living, he has to. He must "muck hay while the sun shines," no matter how he feels. The result is overwork. The stomach usually gives the first sign of strain. The organs of digestion and nutrition are deranged. Food does not nourish. Indigestion appears. In such a case Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery re-establishes the health by a complete cure of the diseased organs of digestion and nutrition. It cleanses the stomach, purifies the blood and removes the causes of disease. It is a temperance medicine, and contains no whiskey nor alcohol.

"There is only one chance to save your life and that is through an operation" were the startling words heard by Mrs. I. B. Hunt of Lime Ridge, Wis., from her doctor after he had vainly tried to cure her of a frightful case of stomach trouble and yellow jaundice. Call stones had formed and she constantly grew worse. Then she began to use Electric Bitters which wholly cured her. It's a wonderful stomach, liver and kidney remedy. Cures dyspepsia and loss of appetite. Try it. Only 50c. Guaranteed. For sale by C. F.
