Every Acre of the Five Thousand Contracted and the Site Secured.

GOVERNOR GEER AN HONORED VISITOR OF OUR TOWN.—HE ADDRESSES AN IMMENSE MASS MEETING.

The Beet Sugar Factory Now Assured—Newberg Already Feels the Vigor of New Life.—Enthusiasm of Victory Runs High.

The fight is over, the victory is won. Come what will, the honor of Newberg and her citizens, and the honor of Yamhill county, and her reputation for energy, push, enterprise and "get there" is vindicated. The skeptical have been shaking their heads ominously, and rolling in sweet morsels under their tongues, the cheerful prophecies of failure and disgrace. A few, ill favored towards our energetic town and community, have not let opportunity pass by to cast impediments in our path. But after the example of One worthy to pattern after, we forgive them for they know not what they do. We are not of a spirit to censure and demean the disgruntled, the penurious, the little minded, the jealous dispositioned, the moss-back, and the fellow who is never known to do his part. The estimation which their actions have placed upon them in the community is certainly a sufficient retribution, and we leave them to its tender mercy. Victory has made us all magnanimous, and we wish to forget the evil. We wish rather to look upon those of our noble citizens who are all that the words "patriotic, loyal, energetic, self-sacrificing, and enterprising" imply. No words are too good for them. They represent the high type of citizenship. They have builded better than they knew. And we feel a warm appreciation of those away from here who have at all times displayed a broad mindedness and hearty spirit of cooperation which have made success possible for us. Especially do we wish to do honor to the spirit manifested by the majority of the county papers, which have always had a good word in our behalf. Prominent among these are the Reporter, the North Yamhill Record, the Sheridan Sun and Dayton Herald. In return for such we pledge our best efforts in their behalf when opportunity offers.

It has certainly been a long pull and a hard pull, but it was a pull altogether and that is what counted. At times the number "5000" has assumed mammoth proportions, and the goal has seemed well nigh unattainable. But grit and perseverance are everything and these qualities have been prominently displayed. The community which can boast of the loyal public spirit, that has been manifested in our midst for the last several weeks, certainly has a future before it. Such citizenship will make a future.

Last Saturday was the last day of the struggle. Dr. Kora had placed the time limit at July 1, and no assurance had been given that the agreement would hold an hour past June 30, 12 p. m. The knowledge that the prize was so nearly within our grasp, and yet the possibility of its yet being lost, gave our citizens an impetus which led to a desperate effort on the last day. In the morning there yet remained 800 acres not contracted, which must be raised at all hazards before night. The people rose nobly to the emergency and the headlines above are the sequel.

In more than one sense Saturday was a red letter day for Newberg. On that day she welcomed no less distinguished a visitor than Governor T. T. Geer. An immense mass meeting had been arranged for in the afternoon, and on Thursday the Governor, always personally interested in the development of his state, promised to be present to address the meeting. Our people, anxious to show him the fitting respect of his high station, and to extend a warm welcome on his own account, had dressed the town in gala dress in anticipation of his coming. Business houses were appropriately decorated with flags and bunting, and the folds of the stars and stripes floated out from the town flag poles. Without any disrespect to our honored executive, the Governor and the Sugar Beet divided the honors of the day. Healthy looking young beets, transplanted into boxes were in evidence in several places, while Hodson Bros. had one of their show windows laid with soil in which were growing bona fide sugar beets.

The surrounding country had been sown with posters announcing the coming of the Governor and the result was all that could have been expected. The people rolled in from all directions, and the streets presented a metropolitan appearance. When the time for the meeting arrived, the way was taken to Crater's hall and the building was soon packed. When it seemed that all that could get in had arrived, Jesse Edwards, president of the board of directors stepped forward and after some general words of introduction and explanation, introduced to the audience his Excellency Governor Geer, amid the enthusiastic plaudits. Just at this time the audience was very materially increased. The Yearly Meeting of Friends church, had despatched the business of the afternoon session and adjourned early to attend the mass meeting. Another audience was thus added to the already large one, and the governor took his seat while the crowds were packed and crowded in, every conceivable space being occupied. Rev. David Hadley of Indiana and Prof. Andrew F. Mitchell of California, the principal attendant visiting ministers of the Yearly Meeting were escorted forward and given seats by the Governor to whom they were introduced. While watching the crowds surging in the remark was addressed to Gov. Geer, "What do you think of Yamhill, Governor?" As quick as a flash came the significant answer "Yamhill always did do things this way." When the audience was finally quieted, the Governor began his address in part as follows:

GOVERNOR GEER'S ADDRESS.

"There is certainly little use to address such an audience as this. All that appears necessary is just to adjourn and subscribe acreage. Any one would know this to be a Yamhill audience. I am pleased to see so many ladies present, for when they take hold of a thing they always make it go. I am glad this meeting is not political, though it almost makes me feel out of place to address a gathering where everybody is of the same opinion. There is no chance to abuse anybody. (laughter.) I see you are not for business and are in earnest. It affords me satisfaction to see so many farmers present. You can tell them every time. I am one. They always have an honest look about them. (laughter.) There is scarcely a limit to the great possibilities and resources of our state. Yet we have hardly begun the process of their development. A continuance in the old wheat rut will not answer and does not pay. We must try something else with it. A personal observation of conditions in Eastern Oregon, in the vicinity of LaGrande, in particular, shows the great advantages to be gained in such an enterprise as the beet sugar industry. Oregon is not reaping her share of the industrial prosperity now being experienced in the Eastern states. We rely too much on specialties. We need more people to produce prosperity. I know that some people do not agree with me here. They refer to the former days as a time of thrift and plenty, when the population was small. But some are inclined too much to look backward, instead of forward. It takes people to make business, and business for prosperity. A trip taken through what we now call the Eastern states, has shown to me a great industrial development which we are not enjoying. The reason is not hard to find. They diversify. In conversation with Governor Schofield of Wisconsin, one of the most prosperous states of the Union, he pointed out to me the untold advantages and resources which his own state had realized in practicing this diversification. We of Oregon haven't yet enough people to justify such industrial conditions. In the first place we haven't enough people to make markets, and in the second we haven't enough factories to support a large population. So we are handicapped from both standpoints. Now such a factory as you are working for, brings more people and more markets. Consider the dense population of the East, which is not too dense however. This fact means much business, and it suggests our great lack. An illustration will serve to show this. Chicago claims 2,000,000 people. If we reach 500,000, the population of our whole state if set down in that city would leave it three-fourths depopulated. We must have more people and more varied industries. We need not expect anything from wheat any more. We can only depend upon a shortage of crops somewhere else for high prices and this is nothing more or less than a gambling proposition.

The beet sugar industry in Union county is a great success. Union is now the most prosperous county in the state. This is because what raising has been given up, and new industries have taken its place. I am glad to know that the acreage subscribed averages up in small amounts. It insures greater care, better cultivation, and more probability of success. The greatest trouble is found in the first year. The land is often foul and the labor hard. But after this period is passed the trouble is at a minimum.

Newberg has a reputation state wide for energy and enterprise. This is a prominent characteristic of the people of Newberg. I can't say too much to encourage you in this enterprise. Sugar is a staple product, with increasing consumption. The industry will affect not only Newberg, but all the county and state. We are sadly behind in the matter of manufacturing the things we use. I was in a large hardware store not long ago, and on examination I found that in that entire store with the exception of a few ax handles, not one article of sale was manufactured in our own state. This should not be. While we have the necessary raw materials to do our own manufacturing, we send millions of dollars away which never returns in any form whatever. This hurts us both ways. We send away money which should circulate at home and we at the same time discourage increasing population. On an average, every day a car load of meat products is shipped in here from other states. We don't raise enough stock. Why, last year there were not enough hogs in the country to eat the injured wheat. This is abnormal.

To be frank about it, we haven't enough of the energy and push which is displayed by our own people in the East. Every encouragement should be given to such an industry as you are working for. No enterprise is so advantageous from all standpoints. This is the one opportunity for Yamhill. It is the one thing it ought to do to maintain the reputation she already has. I come as a private citizen to encourage you in this praiseworthy effort towards our industrial development."

Governor Geer was followed by Jesse Edwards who made a few pointed remarks on the situation, and called for subscriptions for more acreage. Several came forward to sign contracts. While this was taking place Elder George C. Carl made a strong plea for the enterprise. He appealed for more strenuous efforts. He told in an impressive manner of the prosperous conditions he had recently witnessed in sugar beet districts of the East. He said we need to apply more backbone, muscle and intelligence to our industrial development. Hon. Clarence Butt also spoke and emphasized the fact that it is not the question of soil, climatic conditions, or resources but their development that confronts us.

The formal meeting now adjourned, but crowds remained and the subscribing continued until 250 acres or more were contracted. This still left a few hundred acres short and activities increased as evening came on. A public meeting was being held in McMinnville at the same time the one here was held, and the telephone message that over 300 acres had been secured there was received with great enthusiasm. This left but a very few of the necessary 5000 to be obtained and the good work went on.

Between 8 and 9 o'clock in the evening the directors met to make a canvass of the final result. The committee appointed to canvass for funds with which to purchase a factory site reported that the amount had been subscribed in full. Then amid great interest and excitement they proceeded to make a final count. The meeting was held in the office rooms of the C. K. Spaulding Logging Company, and the rooms, hall ways and stairs were packed with eager spectators anxiously waiting the result. After a careful count the announcement was made that the full 5000 acres were secured with a comfortable margin to spare.

Simultaneous with this announcement a shout went up which fairly shook the building. Windows were thrown up and a lusty three cheers gave the news to the people on the streets. Then ensued a period of rejoicing and congratulations. All hard work, labor and self-sacrificing toil were forgotten in the sense of success and victory. The blacksmith shop was raided and soon the boom of the anvils and the heavy blasts of powder awoke the sleeping valley. Sky rockets and Roman candles illuminated the sky and together with a good bonfire on the commons, a regular post-enthusiasm celebration was indulged in. Enthusiasm ran high and it was not until after the midnight hour that the demonstration ceased and the celebrators adjourned to dream of the great victory achieved and the dawning of a new era in old Yamhill destined literally to "beet" the world.

IS IT RIGHT
For an Editor to Recommend Patent Medicines?

From Sylvan Valley News, Brevard, N. C.

It may be a question whether the editor of a newspaper has the right to publicly recommend any of the various proprietary medicines which flood the market, yet as a preventive of suffering we feel it a duty to say a good word for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. We have known and used this medicine in our family for twenty years and have always found it reliable. In many cases a dose of this remedy would save hours of suffering while a physician is awaited. We do not believe in depending implicitly on any medicine for a cure, but we do believe that if a bottle of Chamberlain's Diarrhoea Remedy were kept on hand and administered at the inception of an attack much suffering might be avoided and in very many cases the presence of a physician would not be required. At least this has been our experience during the past twenty years. For sale by C. F. Moore & Co., druggists.

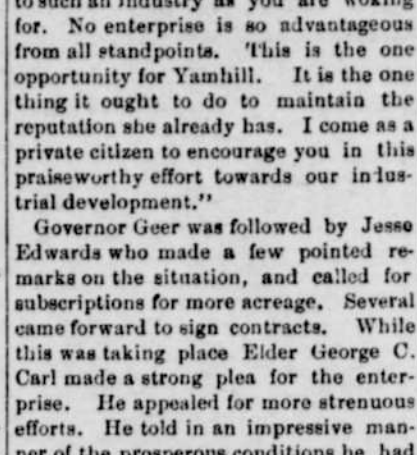

Such things as old Indian relics are prized very highly by people who came to Oregon in the early days. One day last week the two well-known old squaws, Mary and Eliza, gave Mrs. A. V. R. Snyder some relics of the days when the red "sons of the forest" roamed unmolested by the "Boston man." The relics were a spoon, roughly carved from some native Oregon wood, and some strings of beads and "wampum" worn by the braves over a hundred years ago. When the old klutchemen presented these relics to Mrs. Snyder they told her that they had been handed down by several generations, and that their desire was that she keep them in her family.—Transcript.

A Life And Death Fight.

Mr. W. A. Hines of Manchester, Ia., writing of his almost miraculous escape from death, says: "Exposure after measles induced serious lung trouble, which ended in consumption. I had frequent hemorrhages and coughed night and day. All my doctors said I must soon die. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery which wholly cured me. Hundreds have used it on my advice and all say it never fails to cure throat, chest and lung troubles." Regular size 50c and $1. Trial bottles free at C. F. Moore & Co.'s drug store.

Clean Bread

Can't be made by foul hands and clean, pure blood can't be made by a foul stomach. The blood is made by the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition.

When these are diseased they contaminate every drop of blood made from the food they act upon, and this contamination is carried through the whole body. It may settle in the liver, kidneys, heart or lungs but the root of the disease is in the stomach. Cure the stomach and you cure the disease.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition perfectly and permanently. It purifies the blood, and so by curing the cause of disease, cures many forms of disease in organs remote from the stomach.

"For the past sixteen years I have had torpid liver and indigestion and tried many doctors and patent medicines but could not get a cure. Three months ago I bought I would try Dr. R. V. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and his 'Pleasant Pellets.' I got six bottles of each and I received a good result in a week, and today I am cured sound and well. The symptoms were coated tongue, specks before the eyes, disposed to be cross and irritable, foul stomach, bad taste in the mouth, tired feeling, a feeling of dread or fear, headache, yellow skin, etc. These symptoms did not all appear at once. If sufferers from such troubles will take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets' as directed in pamphlets wrapping bottles, they will bring back the bloom of life as it did with me."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure biliousness and sick headache.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

THE "NECESSARY" MAGAZINE

The best-informed men and women in the world use the AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS to keep well informed, and call it the "necessary" and "indispensable" magazine. In the busy rush of to-day ambitious men and women must know about the important questions of the month, and not only this, they want to know about them at the right time. When the whole country is puzzled over the gigantic combination of trusts, a well-informed article is printed in the AMERICAN MONTHLY, giving the facts, and its editor discusses the theory; when the Dreyfus affair is in everyone's mouth, the best story of Dreyfus and the great case comes out in this magazine.

Every month, in "The Progress of the World," Dr. Albert Shaw gives a comprehensive picture of the world's history during the previous thirty days. In the departments, the valuable articles and books that have been published during the past month are reviewed and quoted from, so that the readers of the AMERICAN MONTHLY can get the gist of them. In every issue nearly a hundred pictures are printed, including the portraits of the men and women who are making the history of the month.

To be thoroughly well informed helps any man or woman in his or her work. A subscription to the AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS represents an investment for the best kind of profit, as well as entertainment.
