Greatest Single Enemy.

President Swensson, of Bethany college, Kansas, says, in the Sheldon edition of the Topeka Capital: "The American saloon, open by law and license, is our greatest single enemy of decency, morality and religion. Our prohibition laws close that saloon and kill that foe. What greater praise could we utter?"

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury,

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

The season for mowing will cause farmers to be busy and it seems that just as this work is to be hurried some accident occurs. This does not always happen, but many such drawbacks might be avoided if farmers will clear their fields of stones, sticks and other obstructions to the machines before the grass is too high to see them. An injury to a mower knife may cause costly delay.

Viennese Steak.

This is very easily made by taking rump or fillet steak, free from skin, sinew, etc., and mincing it very finely. It is then dusted with flour, pepper and salt, with, if liked, a very little minced parsley or chives, shaped into flat cakes, and fried, or saute, in hot fat, carefully turned to brown it equally on both sides, and then served with clear gravy or demi-glace, or with sour cream.—Philadelphia Press.

WILL HONOR HEROIC DEAD.

Confederates Will Erect a Memorial at Richmond, Va.

The recent convention of Confederate veterans held at Louisville voted to accept with thanks the offer of $100,000 made by Charles Broadway Rouse of New York, formerly a soldier of the Confederacy from Virginia, for the purpose of erecting a memorial to the Confederate dead at Richmond, Va. The Memorial Committee reported that it had secured pledges of $124,437.35 in addition, and that the prospect of raising an amount sufficient to make the total, including Mr. Rouse's donation, $300,000 was excellent. Upon these representations Mr. Rouse has authorized the Confederate Veterans' Association to draw upon him for the amount pledged by him at any time it may be thought advisable to begin the work. The Confederate Memorial Association, which has the enterprise in hand, has elected Judge George L. Christian of Richmond, Va., as its treasurer, and the memorial is to be built in Richmond, the heart-city of the Confederacy and the place where, for four years, the policies and plans were evolved in consequence of which the South was enabled to make so memorable a struggle against inevitable defeat.

The definite arrangements for the construction of the memorial do not yet appear to have been completed by the association, but General J. C. Underwood, the Secretary and superintendent of the work of raising funds, has prepared plans (with the approval of some members of the executive committee), and these plans were presented at Louisville.

PROPOSED CONFEDERATE MEMORIAL.

General Underwood says of his plans: "I have designed a memorial rotunda with a mausoleum dome and rooms for each State, wherein relics, records and various other archives may be safely kept for all time to come, and I have further designed suitable hanging space for a portrait gallery of renowned Southern leaders, and I personally purpose to bestow upon the people of the South twenty or more magnificent portraits, full size, in oil, of distinguished Confederate officers, both civil and military, as soon as a suitable place shall have been made to receive them. And, besides, I also present to you for inspection statue models of President Jefferson Davis and General Robert E. Lee, the civil and military heads of the historic Confederacy, for the manufacture of which in bronze I, individually, propose to raise the requisite money, and, as in the case of the portraits, to donate the same to the association, to be placed on either side of the grand flight of steps to the portico of the said proposed memorial building, provided such meets with your approval.

"The maximum estimated round cost of the design I propose is $300,000, not including statuary and portraits, and calculating upon the building site being donated With the amount raised, those due, others promised and anticipations reasonably based upon the backing I have demonstrated, I am confident of being able to secure at least $500,000, and if my designs are approved and authority given me to proceed in accordance therewith I'll obligate myself to construct the memorial building as designed, with such modifications as may be found necessary to suit the building site to be selected and other essential requirements of the case in every particular.

"My general plan includes the placing by each State of two statues, either in bronze or marble, as may hereafter be determined, to suit inside finish of auditorium rotunda, and that the several States shall select their heroes to be immortalized, each State bearing the expense of such statuary (from $10,000 to $12,000) representing its own heroes, but the portico statues and two equestrian statues of Generals J. E. B. Stuart and N. B. Forrest I propose to secure by money to be raised from outside friendly sources and already have assurances of material assistance for that purpose."

Berlin's Sewage System.

The sewage system of Berlin annually transports from 60,000,000 to 70,000,000 tons of sewage for distribution over an area of 20,000 acres lying from seven to fifteen miles beyond the city limits. Although the cost of the drainage is about $25,000,000 a year, the enormously increased fertility of the land makes it a paying operation. Besides that, it is the most sanitary and scientific mode of disposing of the city's sewage.

Foreigners in Japan.

To eat with chopsticks, and sit on mats, and wear big-sleeved coats do not bring a man any nearer to genuinely intimate intercourse with the Japanese people. The language is also needed. Yet even when the language is added something still remains to be achieved. No foreigner has ever succeeded in being admitted to the inner circle of Japanese intercourse.—Japan Mail.

How She Got It.

A little girl who had been told not to ask for anything to eat at a neighbor's came home with a face very suggestive of lunching. When asked by her mother why she had asked for something, she said:

"But, mamma, I didn't ask Mrs. G. I just looked at her and said: 'Can't you see how hungry I am?'"—New York Truth.

There is nothing as stale as an old story, yet half of them are commenced: "You have probably heard it, but," etc.

The neighbors can never understand why managers of amateur entertainments coax the girl who lives in their part of town, to sing at them.

BRADSTREET'S REPORT.

The Distributive Trade Is Seasonably Dull.

Bradstreet's says: Distributive trade is dull, seasonably so in most instances, and prices of manufactured products are generally weak, but exceptions to the former are found where crop conditions are exceptionally promising and in the class of prices where the readjusting movement has been overdone on the down side.

The upward rush of wheat prices culminated at the close of last week and the reactions and the irregularities since, mainly due to heavy realizing, would mainly point to the movement having been temporarily at least overdone. Advices from the North are of little more than half a crop of wheat, but estimates as to the outturn in bushels vary accordingly as the government reports of 316,000,000 bushels, or the commercial estimate of 200,000,000 bushels in yield last year in the three states are used as a basis.

Sugar is at the highest price reached at this time for 10 years past, owing to the active canning demand and the strengthened position of raw.

The war in China is chargeable with the advance in teas, not only from the former country, but from Japan, some interruption in transportation being apparently looked for if the Asiatic trouble increases.

Heavy rains are complained of in the entire cotton belt east of the Mississippi river, and the crop is generally "in the grass."

Reports from the iron and steel trade are as pessimistic as ever. Nominally quotations at Pittsburg are unchanged.

Wheat, including flour, shipments for the week aggregate 3,184,144 bushels, against 4,645,180 bushels last week.

Failures for the week number 185, as compared with 167 last week.

Failures in the Dominion of Canada number 18, as compared with 28 last week.

FACTS FOR FARMERS

REMARKABLE SWORN STATEMENT ABOUT WOOD PRESERVATIVE.

Fence Post Impregnated With Avenarius Carbolineum Endures Twenty Years and Still Sound.

In an age when wild, exaggerated statements of the efficiency of all kinds of articles, from patent medicines to patent plowshares, fill the columns of the press, for advertising purposes only, it is pleasing to write about a household specific whose usefulness has been proved beyond the power of detractors to injure or imitators to compete with.

Such is Avenarius Carbolineum, the celebrated German wood preservative of the 19th century, whose fame is destined to outlast the 20th. It is not only the greatest preparation known for arresting the decay of any kind of woodwork, above or below ground, from the ravages of climate, fungus or vermin, but it may be truthfully described as the only preservative whose utility has been practically tested and not found wanting. Since the discovery of Avenarius Carbolineum nearly thirty years ago, it has been constantly employed for the treatment of wood used in ships, bridges, pavements, ties, telegraph poles, fence posts, house supports and hundreds of other constructions, and in not a single case out of thousands has it failed to render articles impregnated immune against rot and decay, whether the attacking enemies were climate, soil, fresh or salt water, teredoes, ants, boring worms or other hostiles, singly or in combination, when properly applied.

The value of such a specific on a farm, where almost all the constructive work, from houses and barns to vine poles and fence posts, is chiefly or entirely wood, cannot be overestimated. No farmer who appreciates practical economy can afford to do without it. As additional incentives for the use of Avenarius Carbolineum it may be stated that the preparation is inexpensive, and a few gallons go a long way, while application is as easy and simple as that of common house paint. A few strokes of the brush does the work, and the article treated is insured against decay and death.

As an illustration of the efficiency of Avenarius Carbolineum we publish the following photographic reproduction of two pieces of wood which stood side by side partly in and partly out of the ground, together with a sworn statement concerning the same attached, as seen in the picture.

Piece of board, perfectly sound, after twenty years' exposure, on account of being impregnated with "Carbolineum Avenarius."

Fence post, completely decayed, after five years' exposure, on account of not being treated with Carbolineum Avenarius.

Aix la Chapelle, January 12, 1899.

We confirm that this piece of wood is a part of a fence board, which has been exposed to the weather for nearly twenty years. This fence was impregnated with Carbolineum Avenarius, and has always stood in very damp, mouldy ground (humus), around our warehouse. Not a single piece of wood in this fence has decayed during the time, as shown by above board, which stood partly in and partly out of the ground.

The fence post shown above was NOT impregnated with Carbolineum Avenarius and we placed it five years ago alongst of the board, and removed both together in their above condition.

SIEBENECK & COUMONT.

The above testimonial was signed before the Royal Notary in Aix la Chapelle, and Messrs Siebeneck & Coumont acknowledge it as their free and true act.

The above is only one out of hundreds of indorsements that Avenarius Carbolineum has received from leading engineers, chemists, contractors, shipbuilders and others all over the world. It is published as an established truth, coming as it does from a country where affidavits are regarded as sacred, and a breach of veracity is regarded as a religious as well as a civil crime.

Japan Anxious.

Japan is alarmed over the emigration of many of her residents to this country who are lured here by misrepresentation. This is like the misrepresentation which delude people into believing that any other medicine is equal to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters for stomach disorders. It will cure indigestion, constipation and dyspepsia.

Any article that is grown, whether of the best or not, costs something, and the grower must receive at least the cost or he will suffer a loss. The larger the difference between the cost and the price received the greater the profit. It should be the object, therefore, to grow the best, rather than the aim for large yields, as the market may be overstocked with inferior goods, while a demand may exist for the best.

An attractive-looking, delicious and simple dessert is made by lining a mould with lady fingers, sticking each one to the side of the dish with a little melted gelatine. The center is then filled with boiled custard flavored with black coffee and stiffened with a little gelatine. A cupful of whipped cream stirred in just as the custard is poured into the mould is an improvement.

An excellent plan to get two crops on the same land and at the same time, is to drop seeds of sweet corn in the same rows with the peas, placing the seeds of corn several inches apart, thinning to a foot apart after the plants are up. The corn will finish its main growth after the peas have ceased growing, though for taller kinds the corn serves as supports.

Some notion of the coming deluge of books on the South African war may be had from the fact that an American publisher now in London was within a week of his arrival offered the American rights in 25 war books.

A French chemist, M. Chatelier, has established the fact that the composition of Egyptian porcelain from Memphis is wholly different from that of Chinese porcelain, and this is regarded as making it probable that the ancient Egyptians had a process of their own for making true porcelain.

Just a Little Out of Sorts

That is the way many serious troubles begin. The stomach gets a little out of order, is neglected, and chronic dyspepsia follows. The blood becomes a little impure, as occasional pimples testify, and in time a long array of blood diseases attack the system. It is safest to cure these troubles at once by thoroughly purifying the blood with Hood's Sarsaparilla. It maintains the health and cures disease.

The planting of waste land to trees for timber is receiving more attention than formerly. Farmers who planted trees 20 years ago now find that they then made good investments. It is claimed that cherry and hickory trees require bout 30 years before they are valuable for timber; maple trees 20 years and black walnut 15 years. A black walnut tree is said to attain from 12 to 15 inches in diameter in 15 years from the seed. Nuts are also a source of profit with some growers of timber.

Carter's Ink Is Used by the greatest railway systems of the United States. They would not use it if it wasn't the best.

The land for late potatoes should be plowed deep and harrowed fine. The land should never be allowed to form a crust before the plants are up. Run a harrow over the field, both before and after the potatoes are up. The seed may be planted about five inches deep and given level culture instead of hilling. Clover sod land is excellent for potatoes, and to avoid disease it is best not to plant potatoes on the same land twice in succession. Frequent and shallow cultivation rather than deep should be given.

Broom corn is scarce and high. The main crop is grown in Illinois. The brush is the salable portion, but some farmers also value the seed as an important crop. The labor required for broom corn is about the same as for corn.
