

You Have it—THE BENEFIT OF Our annual CLEARANCE SALE

From the 28th inst. until the 28th of January everything in our stock of DRY GOODS and SHOE Department goes at 10 per cent discount, (except oilcloth, rubber goods, unbleached muslin carpet-warp and thread). We would not profit by selling you what you do not want. Our stock is much too large in some lines for invoice, and it is on account of this we offer you 10 per cent. on our already low prices. This discount in our SHOE and CLOTHING means from 20 to 25 per cent cheaper than any other place in this county.

Many articles in NOTIONS, HOSIERY, UNDERWEAR and LADIES WRAPS will be sold regardless of price.

Cash only will buy goods sold at discount

During this Sale we will take your produce as usual at the highest market price. Free delivery to all parts of the city.

Yours for lowest prices,

SUTTON CALKINS & CO.

As to our Grocery Department we have the freshest and purest goods that money can buy. This stock is also too large to invoice and must be reduced this month. Notice some of our prices below:

Soap, Cakes Golden Star, 7 bars.....	25c
Pure Corn Starch, 5 one-lb Papers.....	25c
Pure Concentrated Lye, 1-lb cans.....	7c
Schillings Best Baking Powder, 1-lb cans.....	35c
Schillings Best Tea, 25c Package.....	20c
Fairbanks Gold Dust, 3-lb Package.....	18c

We have Syrup for Hot Cakes, Molasses for Baking, Cleaned Currants and Raisins, all kinds of Pie and Cake fixtures at prices that move them.

Queensware—Should you want anything in the dish line it will pay you to look at our new and latest patterns.

Lamps and Glassware—We have a large and beautiful stock to select from at prices that will suit you.

The Shakesperian reading given on Thursday evening of last week by Jerm Sidney, assisted by his two little daughters as violinists, was of a high order, and merited a much better attendance.

That building east of the postoffice is the new studio being erected for J. H. Douglas. Mr. Douglas thinks that Newberg deserves and will appreciate a thoroughly up to date studio. In the meantime he will welcome you at corner of First and Main. All kinds of photographs, copies and enlargements.

Married at the First Baptist church of Newberg, Dec. 25, at 8 p. m., Mr. Robert G. Bell, of Portland, and Miss Rilla Stevens of Newberg, Rev. J. F. Day, pastor of the Baptist church officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Bell have lived in Newberg for a number of years where they have many friends who join in wishing them a long and happy life. They will reside in Portland where Mr. Bell is occupied in the barber business.

Lovers of football were highly entertained Christmas day in witnessing the game on the college grounds between the hose company and the hook and ladder boys. The hose company was quite a little the heavier, but the boys were gritty, and the recent practice told in their team work and in the way they held the heavy line. In the first half the hose company scored, and in the second the "hooks" were able to buck the line for a touch down, the game ending 5-5. The game was a good hard one from start to finish, with just enough star plays to keep the enthusiasm high. A large crowd of spectators was present, the gate receipts netting over thirty dollars clear of expenses.

Charley Holson arrived home from his trip East on last Tuesday bringing with him twelve head of Short Horn and Jersey cattle one Poland China and two Jersey Red hogs. He visited many of the best breeding farms in Iowa, Illinois and Indiana, and was somewhat amazed at the amount of money that is being paid out in those states for blooded stock. In Henry county, Indiana, he visited with three of his brothers and had a general good time. Of the stock he brought back Andy Winters gets two fine Short Horn heifers, J. C. McCrea a bull and a heifer and Mr. McKay across the river a bull and heifer, all Short Horns, while Thomas Smith north of town gets a Jersey cow and J. L. Hoskins will probably take a Jersey heifer. Jasper Smith of Tillamook county also takes two cows. The Atkinson brothers take the Poland China hog and Charley keeps the Red Jerseys. While he saw much fine farming country Charley says he came back with a better opinion of Oregon than ever before.

Empty barrels for sale by C. B. Wilson.

Mrs. Emma Bell of Portland is visiting friends in town this week.

A new and complete stock of fine stationery just received at the postoffice.

Miss Edna Stratton of Portland spent Christmas with the home folks in Newberg.

John Bristow is out with a petition for a second free rural mail route from Newberg running in a southeasterly direction and over into the Parrot Mountain country. He thinks he will be able to secure the necessary number of patrons to secure the route.

The Allen family enjoyed a complete reunion on Christmas day, the first for many months. Mr. and Mrs. H. F. came up on the Saturday evening train from Portland. Mr. and Mrs. W. G. and O. V. on the boat from Salem, and O. H. from his position on the O. C. T. boats.

Capt. Wyatt Harris and daughter arrived home from their extended visit last Saturday on the 3 o'clock train. Capt. looks well, he says he has gained 15 lbs and never felt better in his life. Capt. left last August for Indianapolis Ind., and after a visit with friends and relatives then left for old Mexico and visited some of his boyhood haunts.—Transcript.

W. E. Stanton is planning to leave here in a few days for La Junta, Colorado, where he goes to look after property interests he has there. He has a farm near La Junta which has largely increased in value since he came away eighteen months ago, on the account of the building of two beet sugar factories in easy distance on either side. The family will remain here at least until spring.

The most interesting part of the program at the college Friday evening, without any disrespect to the orators, was the postscript which had not been advertised. After the exercises of the evening were over, Mr. Sepp of Alaska, was prevailed upon to give the dance of the Indian Medicine Man, and arrayed in characteristic Swish raiment, with Seth Mills to beat the tom tom, and with Robert Jones prostrated as patient, he performed the necessary incantations in a way highly satisfactory to all but the frightened little folks.

Fresh vegetables at Wilson's grocery. Leave orders at Wilson's Grocery for expressing or light hauling.

Cecil Hoskins came down from McMinnville Thursday morning for a short visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan White are spending the holidays with a daughter in Portland.

Ray Heater is at home from the State University this week spending the holidays.

A nice box of stationery is just the thing for a holiday present. See the stock just in at the postoffice.

Our merchants report a good holiday trade which indicates good times financially and socially among the people.

The school building at Salem built by Prof. Edwin Morrison and known as the Polytechnic Institute has been sold to members of the Free Methodist church and a plan is on foot to arrange for conducting a Free Methodist college in the building.

A dead tree broke off about twenty feet above the ground and went crashing across the new bridge west of town one day last week, breaking some of the frame work and making the bridge impassible until repairs were made. There are other trees standing near by that are liable to fall in a wind storm and the road supervisor ought to see to it that they are cut before further damage is done. Parties would no doubt take the trees for the wood if they were offered to them.

Mr. Sepp, of Kake Village, Alaska, who has been in this part of the state for several weeks started on his return trip Wednesday morning. He was accompanied by Harlan Smith who goes to assist Silas Moon, and who will build the new church at that place. After that he will probably superintend the construction of the fish cannery, which Mr. Sepp has been working for, and may interest himself in that industry. Harlan is a steady and capable young man and his friends wish him success in his new field.

The senior oratorical contest held in the college chapel last Friday evening was well attended and thoroughly enjoyed by the audience. The contestants and their subjects were, C. E. Kirk, Opportunity; Olive Stratton, Evolution or Revolution—Which; Walter Hadley, Savanara; Clara Newby, The Evolution of Democracy; Mark Wolf, American Citizenship. The judges on commission were Dr. W. Hutchinson, Prof. J. C. Hodson and Mrs. Prof. Morrison, and on oratory were Hon. Clarence Butt, Rev. J. F. Day and W. C. Woodward.

Their decision gave Clara Newby first, and Mark Wolf second place. The music for the evening was furnished by Miss Alberta Frost in an instrumental solo, Miss Mabel Edwards in a vocal number and Miss Edna Hobson and Mrs. H. E. McGrew in a vocal duet.

On Tuesday of last week, a man named Vance who has been holding out for some time at Dundee, entered the house of John Fletcher between Dundee and Dayton, while the family was away, and proceeded to ransack things generally in search of valuables. While he was thus engaged Mr. Fletcher came in from a short hunt, and Vance escaped through a window. Mr. Fletcher followed him to Dayton and swore out a warrant for his arrest, but the culprit evaded the constable and the papers could not be served. On Wednesday of this week J. J. Woods and Lee Smith got on his track and captured him in a little house about two miles from St. Paul. They brought him over here, and after giving him a night's lodging in the city jail, took him up to Dayton yesterday and turned him over to the authorities for preliminary examination.

Hon. Clarence Butt is spending his spare moments drafting bills which he proposes to introduce at the opening of the legislature. One will be a bill to reduce the passenger rates on railroads to three cents a mile and another will be a bill to tax dogs for creating a fund for payment of damages to sheep and goats occasioned by the rabbling of dogs. The introduction of such a bill as the latter is being urged by the farmers in this county and as almost all the states have such a law Mr. Butt hopes to be able to get it through without much trouble. His vote on the Primary Election Law which is being agitated will depend on the nature of the bill, but he thinks the country people will oppose the bill on account of the increased expense. Such a law would probably cause an additional expenditure of $800 or $1000 every time an election is to be held.

Miss Alice Heater and brother Ell of Chemawa are spending vacation at home east of town. Peter La Flinmboise, one of Chemawa's star football and base ball players, came home with them for a holiday visit.

At the home of the brides' parents in West Chehalis, Miss Maud Kinney was married on Christmas day to John H. Moreback of Columbia county, Rev. J. C. Lucas officiating. The couple will make their home at Rainier.

Jim Robinson, when shambling along towards home out west of town on Christmas day, supposedly well under the influence of stimulants, in staggering around managed in some way to fall and break a leg. Jim will belong to the "shut in" society for some weeks, with rare opportunity for sober reflection.

The way in which subscribers have been coming in, settling for old subscriptions and paying in advance for the new year has been very satisfactory, but there are yet others whom we hope to have call. There are only two or three days left in which to square up and begin even with the first of the new century.

Having accepted a call to the pastorate of the Baptist church at Carlton, Rev. J. F. Day has resigned his pastorate here, the resignation to take effect after next Sunday evening. In his work in Newberg Rev. Day has shown himself a fearless advocate of the right, and the community will miss his genial and encouraging presence. His successor here has not yet been chosen, and the church will hunt long and well before a more worthy pastor is found. Rev. Day and family will move next week to their new field of work.
