

NEWBERG GRAPHIC.

E. H. WOODWARD, EDITOR & PUBLISHER. W. C. WOODWARD, ASSOCIATE EDITOR.

ISSUED EVERY FRIDAY MORNING.

Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice at Newberg, Oregon.

FRIDAY, MARCH 15, 1901.

In the death of ex-president Benjamin Harrison which occurred at his home in Indianapolis Wednesday afternoon, the Nation loses one of her foremost statesmen and a prince among men.

A facetious writer in the Oregonian remarks that

Since Fortia Knight, who has sued the Duke of Manchester for breach of promise, is not from Yamhill county, and since Yamhill County beats the world, explanations are due from "old Yamhill."

It's needless to add that the above was written before last Friday night when "old Yamhill" added a little postscript at Corvallis in defence of her time honored claim.

Says the Oregonian: Pacific College has won the Oregon inter-collegiate oratorical contest again. It defeated the University of Oregon despite the latter receives support from the state and is supposed to be the best institution in Oregon.

The British government has courteously but firmly declined to ratify the Nicaragua canal treaty as adopted by the United States Senate. On the face of the matter this would seem to be a very serious set back to the construction of the inter-oceanic canal, but as it has never been very seriously believed that England would accept our conditions, the administration probably has in mind other negotiations to present as a solution to our diplomatic problem.

Grover Cleveland again comes forth and expatiates on the world-wide mission and destiny of democracy and urges the Nation's crying need for an application of its principles. Those principles says he never more needed to cure the evils which afflict the country and to act as a safeguard against threatening ills.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

Interesting Sessions Held and Instructive Papers Read on Agricultural Subjects—Discussions General.

The Farmers' Institute given here under the auspices of the Oregon Agricultural College, held its first session Tuesday evening in Craters hall and was well attended, as were the sessions throughout.

An excellent paper on "Home Environment" prepared by Miss Mary Williams, was read by J. H. Rees. We hope to publish it in full in the near future.

The last subject before the institute was "Oregon's Fruit in Commerce" and was presented in a fascinating manner by Prof. E. R. Lake.

The response was given by Prof. A. R. Cordley of Corvallis, who remarked on the pleasure of being present and being welcomed by such a cordial address.

Prof. F. L. Kent gave a discussion of the subject of co-operative dairying. After showing up the differences in the creamery operated from the individual, company and co-operative standpoint, he warmly advocated the last system as being most successful.

After a vocal duet by Miss Satchwell and Mrs. Nelson, Chairman Atkinson urged the farmers to make use of the pointers which they had received in the different sessions.

The subject, "Breeds of Live Stock" was very cleverly handled by Dr. Jas. Withycombe in a stereopticon lecture.

Wednesday morning's session was opened by Dr. Withycombe in a talk on "Leguminous Crops and their Effect upon the Fertility of the Soil."

A paper entitled "Produce of Dairying" was read by J. M. Atkinson which showed much close study of this industry.

It is his belief that the Hessian fly is not so much to blame for last year's wheat failure as had farming and unfavorable climatic conditions.

"The Care of Milk" was the first subject taken up in the afternoon, by Prof. Kent. He divided the question into the care of milk before and after being taken from the cow.

Milk receptacles should be thoroughly cleaned, and exposed to sunlight to kill bad germs so adaptive to milk. The clothes which people wear when milking should also be clean.

A vocal duet rendered at this time by Miss Eleanor Satchwell and Mrs. W. W. Nelson was much appreciated.

"Balanced Rations for Cows," was talked of very instructively by Dr. Withycombe. He prefaced his remarks with the statement that we don't appreciate the cow here as we should as she is to the salvation of the farmer.

Following this paper Jesse Edwards made an impassioned plea for the dairying industry which ever farmer in old Yamhill should have heard.

Wednesday evening's session was opened with music by a mixed quartet composed of Mrs. O. K. Edwards, Miss Edna Allen and Messrs. Kirk and Holt.

The first talk of the evening was given by Prof. Cordley on the colling moth. The habits and characteristics of this pest were described fully with a view to showing methods of combating and controlling it.

The stereopticon views of "The Life of Christ in Art," given at the United Evangelical church of this city, by G. M. Steel and C. E. Campbell, under the auspices of the W. O. W. for the benefit of the Sunday schools of Dayton, drew a full house, which greatly appreciated the excellent entertainment. The views were fine and very instructive indeed, as was attested by the hearty vote of thanks given the gentlemen making the exhibit, at close of entertainment.—Dayton Herald.

Newberg will no doubt have an opportunity of enjoying the same entertainment in the near future and judging from that given by the same gentlemen in Craters hall the other evening it will be well worth attending.

The press meeting held at the home of Mrs. M. E. Allen last week was too good to pass by. Mrs. A. M. Morris deserves much credit for her efforts manifested in her interesting and historical paper she read. The numerous clippings from newspapers and periodicals neatly arranged, appropriately decorating the walls, impressed all who were present that she must have had years of experience in temperance press work.

About forty were present and invited into the dining room where light refreshments had been prepared, the table being decorated suitably for the occasion by the generous hostess and her daughter Miss Edna.

For Malaria, Chills and Fever. THE BEST PRESCRIPTION IS Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic.

The formula is plainly printed on every bottle—hence you know just what you are taking when you take Grove's. Imitators do not advertise their formula knowing that you would not buy their medicine if you knew what it contained. Grove's contains Iron and Quinine put up in correct proportions and is in a Tasteless form. The Iron acts as a tonic while the Quinine drives the malaria out of the system. Any reliable druggist will tell you that Grove's is the Original and that all other so-called Tasteless Chill Tonics are imitations. An analysis of other chill tonics shows that Grove's is superior to all others in every respect. You are not experimenting when you take Grove's—its superiority and excellence having long been established. Grove's is the only Chill Cure sold throughout the entire malarial sections of the United States. No Cure, No Pay. Price, 50c.
