

Pen Picture for Women.

"I am so nervous, there is not a well inch in my whole body. I am so weak at my stomach, and have indigestion, and palpitation of the heart, and I am losing flesh. This headache and backache nearly kills me, and yesterday I nearly had hysterics; there is a weight in the lower part of my bowels bearing down all the time, and I am in my groins and thighs; I cannot sleep, walk or sit, and I believe I am diseased all over; no one ever suffered as I do."

This is a description of thousands of cases which come to Mrs. Pinkham's laboratory for advice. An inflamed and altered condition of the neck of the womb can produce all of these symptoms, and no woman should allow herself to reach such a perfection of misery when there is absolutely no need of it. The subject of our portrait in this sketch, Mrs. Williams of Englishtown, N.J., has been entirely cured of such illness and misery by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

No other medicine has such a record for absolute cures, and no other medicine is "just as good." Women who want a cure should insist upon getting Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when they ask for it at a store.

GOOD Short Stories

According to Life, a Southern darkey, wishing the inhabitants of the village to know that he and his venerable partner had decided to retire from active life, astonished them one morning by placing the following sign above the door of the establishment: "Dis am to infom de public dat me an' Ike am goin' out of bis'ness. Dem dat owes de firm may settle with me; dem dat de firm owes may settle with Ike."

Dr. Boyd Carpenter, the Bishop of Ripon, England, was called upon to lay the corner stone of a new vicarage at Wakefield some months ago, and was invited by the master of ceremonies (who handed him the trowel and the line and plummet) to "become an operative mason for a few moments." "I cannot," answered the bishop, "lay claim to the title of an operative mason, but I am certainly a working Carpenter."

In his autobiography, "Up from Slavery," Booker T. Washington tells an amusing anecdote of an old colored man, who, during the days of slavery, wanted to learn how to play on the guitar. In his desire to take guitar lessons, he applied to one of his young masters to teach him; but the young man, not having much faith in the ability of the slave to master the guitar at his age, sought to discourage him by telling him: "Uncle Jake, I will give you guitar lessons; but, Jake, I will have to charge you three dollars for the first lesson, two dollars for the second lesson and one dollar for the third lesson. But I will charge you only twenty-five cents for the last lesson." Uncle Jake answered: "All right, boss, I hires you on dem terms. But, boss! I wants yer to be sure an' give me dat las' lesson first."

Some time ago a well-known San Francisco attorney, who prides himself upon his handling of Chinese witnesses, was defending a railway damage case. Instead of following the usual questions as to name, residence, if the nature of an oath were understood, etc., he began: "What your name?" "Kee Lung." "You live San Francisco?" "Yes." "You subtle God?" "Mr. Attorney, if you mean 'Do I understand the entity of our Creator?' I will simply say that Thursday evening next I shall address the State Ministerial Association on the subject of the 'Divinity of Christ,' and shall be pleased to have you attend." Needless to say, a general roar of laughter swept over the court room at this clever sally, and it was some minutes, much to the discomfort of the lawyer for the defense, before order was restored and the examination proceeded upon ordinary lines.

While talking of the many notable people he has met during his pugilistic career, John L. Sullivan said the other day in New York: "Once when I was in Sydney, New South Wales, I had a suite of rooms directly over Sarah Bernhardt. I never met the lady, and I didn't much care. She was jabbering French all the time, and was rehearsing constantly in her room. I heard so much of it that I pretty near had the willies. One night I happened to follow Sarah into Her Majesty's Theater in Sydney, and I had a good chance to size her up. She was a feather-weight, all right, and there was so much powder on her face that I thought she'd made a mistake. She got a look at me, and because I had been so much annoyed by her jabbering, I scowled at her—gave her the look that used to scare the bubs who tried to stay four rounds with me. Well, sir, Sarah gave one long, mournful howl and fainted away. After that she didn't jabber any more, for she'd found out who was living upstairs."

Quaint Customs in Shetland.
The only part of the United Kingdom in which the old style of reckoning time is adhered to is the archipelago of Shetland, and there Sunday, Jan. 13, was New Year's Day.

But Sunday being with the natives a strict day for business or for pleasure, the next day witnessed the high jinks incident to the occasion. These included processions of "guisers," or mummers, and the drinking of various strange toasts, such as "Helt to man and death to da grayfish," and the health of the twelve apostles.

In Shetland the remnants of the old Norse language linger to such a degree that the dialect is almost a sealed book—even to Scotsmen. The last specimen of the great auk whose eggs are now valued at something like 100 guineas apiece, was done to death there, but the little auk still retains a precarious footing on the lonely islet of Foula.

Anxious to Oblige.

Pompous Publisher (to aspiring novice in literature)—I have been reading your manuscript, my dear lady, and there is much in it, I think—ahem!—very good. But there are parts somewhat vague. Now you should always write so that the most ignorant can understand.

Youthful Authoress (wishing to show herself most ready to accept advice)—Oh, yes, I'm sure. But, tell me, which are the parts that have given you trouble?—Punch.

Ancient Quarries.

The stone for the great wall of the dam across the Nile at Assuan is being obtained from the quarries of which the Temples of Philae are believed to have been built—the unhappy Philae which, when the dam is completed, will be submerged and partly disappear from sight for the first time in its 3,000 years of existence. The granite blocks that are being quarried for this, the first great engineering achievement of the twentieth century, bear the marks of wedges used thirty centuries ago.

WEARY WOMEN

Throughout the Land Many Are Slaving Over the Needle and Wearing Themselves Out.

From the Maine Farmer, Augusta.

There are many women all over the land who are earning a living by the use of the needle. Confinement in close rooms and the trying nature of their work often causes them to grow pale and wan and to experience a feeling of constant weariness. This goes on, sometimes, until nature rebels and health breaks down. There is one way and only one way to restore the impaired vitality, and that is to strengthen the worn out nerves and build up and nourish the impoverished blood. If the blood is kept healthy and rich and the nerves strong, new life and energy will soon be felt. This was the experience of Mrs. Addie R. Holt, a dressmaker, of No. 73 Bridge street, Augusta, Me. She says:

"About five years ago I began to experience a worn out feeling. Sometimes I would lie in bed for a day or so, but my dressmaking work obliged me to keep up, even when I did not feel able to be about. I suffered from female troubles and last spring I had rheumatism in my left arm and also a pain in my left side in the region of my heart."

"In August a friend recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and I began taking them immediately. I commenced to improve in about two weeks and in three months my weight increased from 121 to 133 pounds. Since taking the pills I have had no return of the pain in my arm nor near my heart."

"I am still taking Pink Pills for Pale People and I am gladly recommending them to all who say that anything ails them."
Signed, ADDIE R. HOLT.
