A daughter was born to the Czar and Czarina of Russia on Tuesday. This makes four children for the royal couple, and the fact that all of them are girls makes it appear that Czar Nicholas knew what he was doing in proposing a general peace policy.

There's many a fling made by the democrats against ultra protectionist republicans, in ignorance of the fact that it was their own immortal Thomas Jefferson who wished that the Atlantic might be a lake of fire to keep out foreign goods. "And Jefferson was an honorable man!"

Judge Brewer of the U. S. Supreme Court took unto himself a bride from the old green mountain state this week which calls for a witty paragraph to remark that in the case of Capital vs. Everybody, Associate Justice Brewer has decided to follow the flag, the Constitution and the Bible into the state of Vermont.

"Green goods" operators have begun business again by sending out literature, after taking a rest for a few years. Says the Milton Eagle, "We are not going to warn anybody against these operators, for the obvious reason that no honest man will be galled by them and we don't care a continental what becomes of the other fellows. If a dishonest fool wants to throw away his money let him do it."

Nothing could more strongly emphasize the improved conditions in the Philippines than the fact that the war department is arranging to send 600 American teachers for the public schools to the islands in time for the opening of the next school year. These teachers will be selected by agents of the war department and they will have to pay their own transportation to San Francisco. When they report there they will be put on half salary and given free transportation on government vessels to Manila. The idea prevails in the war department that most of these teachers will be selected from the Pacific coast states. Gen. Bird, the head of the government transport service has promised to have them all in Manila by August 15.—Junction City Times.

It has been remarked that if a newspaper man knew how many knocks he received behind his back he would adopt another calling. Whoever said it however, hadn't properly sized up the average man behind the quill and scissars. The man who does his duty expects to be maligned by every law breaker, swindler and hypocrite, every carping critic and every foe of notoriety who is ignored and in fact by all persons who do not agree with him in all public and private matters. And we know some editors who abundantly reap their expectations in this particular. There's solid satisfaction however in the knowledge that success in this life doesn't consist in a policy of contention for the purpose of pleasing everybody.

An unidentified exchange truthfully says that almost every town has among its citizens the man or woman who is forever complaining. He sees nothing good in anything at home, and is always inquiring why his home merchant can't sell as cheap as the merchant of another town. This man always buys away from home, unless he wants to buy on time. He always takes the paper from another town in preference to his own. In fact he spends all of his money with out-of-town enterprises and complains because those of his home town are not prosperous; it is one of the most unfortunate things which have to be met and overcome. The funny part of it all is that when it comes to what has been done the same fellow takes credit to himself for every success which his selfishness has retarded.

The Oregon Agriculturist speaks truly and pertinently of a deplorable agricultural condition confronting us when it says, "In a good deal of the most fertile portion of the Willamette Valley, there is only about one family to each 320 acres of land. There are some farmers who can make three or four times as much as the average farmer on 320 acres, but we believe it will be found that the average farmer who farms 320 acres makes nothing more than a fair living. In this fact lies one of the greatest obstacles to the achievement and maintenance of good roads. With only two or three farmers to the square mile the cost of good roads cannot be met. What the Willamette valley needs is a system of farming which will give eight or ten families a good living on each square mile of land." While the above is sadly too true from a good roads standpoint, its truth is even more deplorable from the standpoint of the needed development of Willamette valley's resources. Agriculturally speaking it might almost be said that the love of the big farm is the root of all evil, in Willamette valley farming. Extensive cultivation has had its day with us, and if we are to realize that development to which we aspire, it must speedily give way to intensive cultivation. This is partly what is meant by the statement that more people are needed here. It is also a condition of affairs which goes hand in hand with the diversified farms. Such a condition is coming and may it come quickly.

"LEST WE FORGET"

A Few Items of Interest Concerning Yamhill County and Newberg.

We Yamhillers become so accustomed to the incomparable advantages of our county and little city that we imagine everybody else is likewise aware of the final discovery and location of the long lost Eden. Strange as it may seem to us, however, there are other little garden spots presumptuous enough to make the same claim, and it is up to our own people to show their mistake by a frequent rehearsal of the half-told glories of Yamhill in general and Chehalis valley and Newberg in particular. A few facts are given below which are hoped will act as an incentive to readers to "tell it over once again" to Eastern friends who are looking westward with the idea of home-making.

Yamhill County.

This county is situated in the midst of the most fertile section of the Willamette valley, extending from the Willamette river on the east to the summit of the Coast Range mountains on the west, a distance of thirty miles. The surface is somewhat hilly and rolling near the mountains blending into a gently sloping plain which is intersected by a range of low hills, broken near the center with the valley of the Yamhill river which constitutes the main drainage system.

This county contains 500,000 acres of tillable and timber lands, 300,000 of which are susceptible of the highest state of cultivation. The soil is principally of a dark sandy loam producing the finest of cereals, hops, fruits and vegetables. In the foot hills are fine forests of fir, hemlock, larch and cedar, while along the streams are many deciduous trees, such as halm, oak, ash, maple and alder.

Transportation facilities are excellent and convenient for all sections of the county, the Yamhill river being navigable during the greater part of the year to McMinnville, the county seat, which is situated twenty miles from the Willamette river in the central part of the county, and surrounded by fine farm lands. The Southern Pacific Company has two lines of railroad traversing the county its entire length from north to south.

The climate is mild and healthful. The altitude being from two hundred to four hundred feet, with the close proximity to the ocean, snow seldom falls and ice is of rare occurrence. The warm currents of the Pacific prevail during the winter months producing mild, moist and balmy weather. The heat of summer is modified by the snow capped mountains, "Hood" and "Jefferson," and hot nights so common in the middle and eastern states rarely occur here while extremes of climate are unknown.

This country has been largely given to agriculture until within recent years, wheat being the staple article of production. The soil and climate are especially adapted to the raising of all varieties of prunes. The fruit industry is rapidly becoming the leading one of the county. Prunes and apples being the most profitable and the speediest in return for the money invested. The cherry is destined to have a leading place in the fruit enterprise. Early in May of this year buyers have been contracting for the "Royal Anne" cherry at 4¢ per lb., which means a good profit to the producer. The cherry does well in almost all sections of the county. It makes a rapid growth and is a sure bearer.

No county is better adapted to the dairy business than this, and wherever it has been thoroughly tested it has proven profitable to the farmer.

There are ten towns in the county. North Yamhill, Carlton, McMinnville, Sheridan, Willamina, Amity, Dayton, LaFayette, Dundee and Newberg. The first eight are located in the farming and stockraising sections, while the last two are in the main fruit producing portion. Newberg, the second town in size, is very favorably located, being only twenty-five miles from Portland, the metropolis of the state, and having communication with the same, both by river and railroad, the competition always insuring low freight rates. Besides it is surrounded by the finest of fruit and dairy lands. It is the largest fruit producing section of the county. The panorama of scenic beauty which always greets one in all sections of the county is a continual source of delight.

To persons seeking homes in a land free from blizzards and long cold winters, and who wish to engage in manufacturing, dairying, fruit or cannery business, Yamhill county offers unsurpassed opportunities. J. C. H.

Newberg.

Of all the progressive towns in the fruitful Willamette valley, Newberg has justly earned the reputation of being the ideal residence town. Picturesquely situated on the "Beautiful Willamette," cozily nestled between forest, field and orchard clad hills, in short with a wealth of natural beauty combined with utility as an environment, and with all the advantages of an ideal city within its own borders, Newberg is undoubtedly the place for the enjoyment of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Situated about twenty-five miles south of Portland, it has both river and railway communication with all points of business and interest. As to its resources, it is the outlet of the fertile Chehalis valley, rich in the production of cereals. It is surrounded by the best fruit growing district in Oregon. All kinds of luscious and marketable fruits are grown and grown in abundance. The fact that in Newberg and immediate vicinity there are upwards of forty fruit evaporators, speaks sufficiently for this line of industry. Dairying is a growing industry, and the Newberg creamery is slowly but surely increasing its output. Such stable manufacturing industries as the Newberg Pressed Brick factory, the Newberg lumber mills, employing about 25 men, the Newberg flouring mills, with the Chehalis Valley mills in course of erection at a cost of about $18,000, the Enterprise tile factory, Hannett & Son's brick factory, and other smaller manufacturing concerns, and the Spaulding Logging Co.'s industry which supplies the logs for the great Oregon City paper mills, tend to give Newberg that stability which is coveted by every ambitious little city. Newberg with its 1200 inhabitants has more manufacturing industries than any town in the county, our county seat not excepted.

Other advantages than mere material ones have given Newberg its reputation for desirability as a residence town however. Far and near Newberg is known as the moral town of Willamette valley—and with its many churches and no saloons, there is immediate evidence in support of its claim in this particular. Primarily the home of the Friends Church in Oregon and the Northwest, with a large membership and a $15,000 church edifice, many other denominations have come in and made it a town of churches, all well attended and well supported. Newberg is also the home of Pacific college, under control of the Friends church and which ranks with the best educational institutions of the state. Its motto is "Christianity and Culture" and is a very potent factor in drawing in the best class of citizens. The people of the town as a class, are public spirited and enterprising, neighborly and congenial.

Newberg is first and always a healthy town, due largely to its unsurpassed water system. A fine mountain spring has been tapped three miles north of town, the reservoir stationed at an elevation of about 200 feet, and by mere force of gravity, Newberg is furnished with the purest, crystal water, a source of envy to all less favored towns.

To sum up, Newberg demands recognition as an industrial center, a place of high moral tone, a town of religious and educational advantages, a health resort—in short we propose the toast—"Newberg the town of prosperous, contented homes." For the response, we call upon all who are searching a location of above named description.

A Good Cough Medicine.
It speaks well for Chamberlain's cough remedy when druggists use it in their own family in preference to any other. "I have sold Chamberlain's cough remedy for the past five years with complete satisfaction to myself and customers," says Druggist Goldsmith, Van Etten, N. Y. "I have always used it in my own family both for ordinary coughs and colds and for the most obstinate whooping cough and influenza." For sale by C. F. Moore.

Saves Two From Death.
"Our little daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. K. Haviland of Armonk, N. Y., "but when all other remedies failed, we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery. Our niece, who had consumption in an advanced stage, also used this wonderful remedy and today she is perfectly well." Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for coughs and colds. 50¢ and $1 bottles guaranteed by C. F. Moore. Free trial bottles.

Dr. Spaulding, chief medical inspector of Chicago, advises that the month be kept closed while housecleaning is in progress. Either that, or send the children some place where they can't hear what is said.

Seven Years in Bed.
"Will wonders ever cease?" Inquire the friends of Mrs. L. Pease, of Lawrence Kan. They knew she had been unable to leave her bed in seven years on account of kidney and liver trouble, nervous prostration and general debility; but, "but three bottles of Electric Bitters enabled me to walk," writes, "and in three months felt like a new person." Women suffering from headache, backache, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, fainting and dizzy spells will find it a priceless blessing. Try it. Satisfaction guaranteed by C. F. Moore. Only 50¢. Free trial bottles.

Did you ever hear of a man whose appetite was so thoroughly "established" that he did not need to eat anymore? When the plum pudding and beefsteak

FATE.

It is very convenient to attribute the disasters which overtake us to fate. But for the most part man is the architect of his own fortunes. Business men are struck down suddenly as by lightning. The verdict is generally "heart failure." "His heart was weak. It was fate for him to meet this end." But if we went behind the "weak" heart we should find a "weak" stomach, probably, and back of the weak stomach is careless eating at irregular hours.

When the stomach is diseased the organs depending on the stomach for nutrition are starved. Starvation means weakness of the body and its organs. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. When these organs are cured, diseases of heart, liver, lungs and kidneys, caused by the diseased stomach, are cured also. "In the fall of 191 I was taken with smothering spells, palpitation of the heart, and a distressed feeling in my stomach," writes Mr. H. W. Kinney, of Knight, Goodridge Co., West Va. "I consulted a doctor and he said I had organic heart trouble. He gave me some medicine, but it did me no good. I then tried different kinds of medicine, but they only helped me a little. I then sent and got five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Before the first bottle was gone I felt a change. When the five bottles were gone I began to work. I had not worked any for a year before. I am well and can eat anything now with the exception of pork and greasy food."

For Malaria, Chills and Fever

THE BEST PRESCRIPTION IS
Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic.
The formula is plainly printed on every bottle—hence you know just what you are taking when you take Grove's. Imitators do not advertise their formula knowing that you would not buy their medicine if you knew what it contained. Grove's contains Iron and Quinine put up in correct proportions and is in a Tasteless form. The Iron acts as a tonic while the Quinine drives the malaria out of the system. Any reliable druggist will tell you that Grove's is the Original and that all other so-called Tasteless Chill Tonics are imitations. An analysis of other chill tonics shows that Grove's is superior to all others in every respect. You are not experimenting when you take Grove's—its superiority and excellence having long been established. Grove's is the only Chill Cure sold throughout the entire malarial sections of the United States. No Cure, No Pay. Price, 50c.
