

NEWBERG GRAPHIC.

ISSUED EVERY FRIDAY MORNING.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1901.

From Washington comes the information apparently "semi-official," that the proper pronunciation of the President's family name is not as though it were Ru-se-velt, but Rose-ze-velt. It is also said that the family is sensitive on this matter, so Newbergers who contemplate calling at the White House will do well to remember this tip and govern themselves accordingly.

In common courts of law if a witness does not tell the whole truth and nothing else he is liable to the penalty of perjury. In the big naval court of inquiry, now in tireless progress, if a witness concludes that he has not told a story that will hold water he is allowed to return and "correct his previous testimony." There is more than one reason for pronouncing this high court a monumental farce.

From a business standpoint the affairs of the nation are in such a prosperous condition, with an overflowing treasury, that it is authoritatively stated that in his message to congress President Roosevelt will advise a sweeping reduction of all war taxes. Our national financiers are now seriously debating plans by which the treasury surplus may be reduced and the overflowing government coffers relieved. This is a problem which never confronts a democratic administration.

In a long list of resolutions adopted by the state W. C. T. U. at Astoria last week, the following is one of the most practical and praiseworthy: "Resolved, That we urge as special work in the union the presentation of the matter of organizing anti-cigarette leagues before the school boards, and that these leagues be organized wherever it is possible to do so." No field of reform work in behalf of the young men of our country presents greater needs than that indicated in the above resolution.

General A. S. Daggert, who has been writing vigorously in opposition to the army canteen, on being asked to give a substitute, concisely proposed the following: First, establish ample and attractive reading rooms, which may be the general places of resort, and where games and all sorts of proper social enjoyments can be found. Second, establish ample and attractive gymnasia. Third, encourage and give facilities for all proper kinds of manly sports. Fourth, require the commissary department to supply many of the luxuries now furnished by means of the company fund.

The contest now on for the control of New York city between the Tammany and the reform forces is a contest of National importance. Whether Mr. Shephard and Tammany or Mr. Low and reform, wins, makes no difference to us on the outside from a pecuniary or any other mere personal standpoint. But it does make a difference to every citizen whether Tammany is to receive sanction as the model type of municipal government throughout the country, or whether by its overthrow the voters show that the time has come for a general change of the old order of things, and for the ushering in of those principles of clean, non-partisan city government for which Seth Low stands. The anti-corruption forces are now better united and in better shape to wage a vigorous campaign than ever before, and with such favorable conditions, if they should go down to defeat, the result could not otherwise than have a depressing moral effect upon municipal government throughout the country generally.

In a public address given at Albany the other evening, the cartoonist Hony or Davenport prefaced his speech with the apologetic remark that if he thought for one moment that any picture he had ever drawn had in the slightest degree, directly or indirectly, been responsible for our National loss, he would throw down his pencil and never draw another line. Such high flown expression was cheap acting on the part of the author of the vulgar caricatures of the New York Journal. Whatever Davenport thinks makes no difference. The fact remains just the same. And even admitting, which thoughtful minded people do not, that such vile caricatures as the Hearst papers publish, had not the least indirect responsibility for the assassination of our martyred President, the fact that they poison the minds of credulous people against our public men and sow a spirit of bitter hate and partisanship among the people, should make such cartoons and the papers that use them objects of scorn on the part of our best citizenship.

Probably the most common expression heard of late relative to the assassination of our late President is, "Hanging's too good for him." These words spring from the very common belief that the mere deprivation of life is insufficient punishment for such atrocious crimes, and the primal nature of men demands a more stern retribution. If death by hanging is too light a punishment then much more so is instantaneous death by electrocution which will be meted out to Czolgosz. Objection is being made to this civilized mode of punishment on the ground that as it largely robs death of its pain, capital punishment ceases to be a deterrent of crime. Taking advantage of this spirit of dissimulation, it has been seriously suggested in this country and elsewhere that in the interests of medical science, as well as to impose new terror of death upon the murderer, that those who commit murder, should, after conviction, be turned over to medical and surgical authorities for the purpose of vivisection and medical experimentation in the interests of science. It is maintained that in this way, the bodies of those who have forfeited their right to live may be used for the benefit of the living. While such a proposition in a way seems plausible, the finer sense revolts from it with horror. The spectacle of the highest Christian civilized nation carving up its criminals in a cold blooded, calculating way that would put the aborigines to shame! They offered up victims to heathen gods, while we would offer them up to the god of medical science. Of course there is a beneficent end in view in the latter case, but the means of attaining it are too barbarous and brutish. Besides it has always been a question whether capital punishment is a very potent deterrent of crime among men. Life imprisonment with close confinement at hard labor in the real sense of the word, with the right of pardon either removed or closely restricted, would be as great a punishment to most criminals as immediate deprivation of life by whatever means.

No portrait of a man ever appears on the United States coins, and no picture of a woman on the postage stamps which accounts for the fact that we squeeze the coins and lick the stamps.

For Sale. A fresh young milk cow and a few choice young pigs. J. L. HAVORTH.

A Fiendish Attack. An attack was lately made on C. F. Collier of Cherokee Iowa, that nearly proved fatal. It came through his kidneys. His back got so lame he could not stoop without great pain, nor sit in a chair except propped by cushions. No remedy helped him until he tried Electric Bitters which effected such a wonderful change that he writes he feels like a new man. This marvelous medicine cures backaches and kidney trouble, purifies the blood and builds up your health. Only 50c at C. F. Moore & Co's drug store.

For Rent. House, orchard, pasture and farming land. Will take part of rent in work. J. M. & S. W. Atkinson.

Stepped Into Live Coals. "When a child I burned my foot frightfully," writes W. H. Eads, of Jonesville, Va., "which caused horrible leg sores for 30 years, but Bucklen's Arnica Salve wholly cured me after every thing else had failed." Infalible for Burns, Scalds, Cuts, Sores, Bruises and Fles. Sold by C. F. Moore & Co. 25c.

A merchant who had two stores in small villages tried an experiment. He put a bargain counter in each store containing the same articles at exactly the same price. In the newspaper of one village he did not advertise and sold goods amounting to $984. In the store the same month, in the village where he did advertise he sold goods amounting to $1,723. In commenting on the result of his experiment that merchant says: "People who read the advertisement would pass by one of my stores and drive miles to the other for what they could have gotten at the same price in my store at their door."

Came Near Dying. "For three days and nights I suffered agony untold from an attack of cholera morbus brought on by eating cucumbers," says M. E. Lowther, clerk of the district court, Cantonville, Iowa. "I thought I should surely die, and tried a dozen different medicines but to no purpose. I sent for a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and three doses relieved me entirely. I went to sleep and did not awake for eight hours. On awakening a few hours ago I felt so gratified that the first work I do on going to the office is to write to the manufacturers of this remedy and offer them my grateful thanks and say, 'God bless you and the splendid medicine you make.'" This remedy is for sale by C. F. Moore & Co. druggists.

Wanted. Well seasoned fir wood for which the highest market price will be paid. J. KIRKLEY, 974 Macadam St., Portland, Or.

It Happened in a Drug Store. "One day last winter a lady came to my drug store and asked for a brand of cough medicine that I did not have in stock," says Mr. C. R. Grandin, the popular druggist of Ontario, N. Y. "She was disappointed and wanted to know what cough preparation I could recommend. I said to her that I could freely recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and that she could take a bottle of the remedy and after giving it a fair trial if she did not find it worth the money to bring back the bottle and I would refund the price paid. In the course of a day or two the lady came back in company of a friend in need of a cough medicine and advised her to buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I consider that a very good recommendation for the remedy." The remedy owes its great popularity and extensive sale in a large measure to the personal recommendations of people who have been cured by its use. It is for sale by C. F. Moore & Co. druggists.

Once there was an old man, broken by years and wrinkled by worries, who laid him down to die. Summoning his seven grown children to his side he delivered feebly to them with his parting breath this last message: "My children, I have lived long, toiled hard and worried much. But as I look back upon my life I find that my greatest troubles have been those that never happened." In other words, "be good man had spent much of his time in crossing bridges that he was never to reach—in borrowing trouble that he was never to experience.—Exchange.

Tot Causes Night Alarm. "One night my brother's baby was taken with Croup," writes Mrs. J. C. Snider, of Crittenton, Ky., "it seemed it would strangle before we could get a doctor, so we gave it Dr. King's New Discovery, which gave quick relief and permanently cured it. We always keep it in the house to protect our children from Croup and Whooping Cough. It cured me of a chronic bronchial trouble that no other remedy would relieve." Infalible for Coughs, Colds, Throat and Lung troubles. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at C. F. Moore & Co's.

R. JACOBSON & CO. AT COST. The large stock of R. Jacobson & Co. amounts to about $100,000, all brand new goods direct from the factory. Everything bought for the fall trade; not an old piece of goods in the house. Will be closed out at wholesale prices. The Reason for the above important sale is owing to several important changes in the firm and another reason, we have to prepare for very extensive alterations in our store. We are going to discontinue our second floor department on account of being too hard for our help and our customers climbing up the stairway. And being out of our reach to look after business up stairs, therefore we have decided to build an addition on the back of our store soon. And as several of our main brick walls will have to be torn down and goods will have to be carried from one place to another, for the proper care so as to avoid dust and dirt, therefore, we have concluded to take our profits off from the goods and close out our entire stock at actual first cost. Everybody knows that when JACOBSON & CO. advertise a big sale that everything is honest facts, and when we say "CUT PRICES" down they go. As we are not preparing to gobble up all the money and jump the town, or sell cotton goods for all wool, or paper shoes for genuine leather. No indeed! As our reputation stands too high in this community. The fact of the matter is we are preparing for more accommodating quarters. We quote you a few of our thousands of bargains.
