NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

The thought is well put that if we would perpetuate the spirit which made President McKinley great, let us remember there is no other way to do it so wisely and so well as in purifying and elevating our public and private life. Those who love the martyr best will be foremost in their efforts to perpetuate his lofty type of citizenship.

A man can ruin himself for business and deprive his family of the comforts of life by pouring roguish whiskey down his throat if he wants to, or he can exercise ordinary common sense and do the other thing. A man may mark out an honorable course and pursue it through life or he may drift with the tide and go several degrees lower than the level of the brute. Men simply pay their money, take their choice of routes and reap in accordance with their sowing. This is a law as old as the history of man, and there is no immediate prospect of a repeal.

"If we are to escape from further attacks upon our peace and security, we must boldly and constantly grapple with the monster of anarchy. It is not a thing that we can safely leave to be dealt with by party or partisanship." These words from ex-President Cleveland's memorial eulogy on President McKinley are well worth memorizing, says an exchange. There are some issues, more or less questionable, of which a political party may seek to make vote-catching capital, but anarchy is not of the number. Against it all parties of respectability in numbers and standing must be arrayed. Democrat, Populist, Republican forget their minor political differences in contemplating this common enemy to good and gracious government, and in the words of Rufus Choate say to the world: "We join ourselves to no party that does not carry the flag and keep step to the music of the Union."

Now that the prunes have been taken care of, and the "strenuous life" is over for another year, there is time to devote some attention to the needs of other enterprises at our doors. The industrial life of a place depends upon the continual search for and opening up of new enterprises. There is as much business as poetry in the line that "Time makes ancient good uncouth." What sufficed yesterday to keep us up and abreast with our progressive neighbors will not answer for the changed conditions of today. Hence, whatever gives promise of helping materially to put us ahead should be heartily welcomed. This applies to many lines of endeavor, among others, to the effort on foot to develop our underground resources in this vicinity. What the discovery here of either coal or oil would mean to this section cannot be told. Suffice it to say that it would mean enough to justify everybody helping a little in the effort to find these hidden treasures.

An Eastern journal brings happy corroboration of the dictum, "The way of the transgressor is hard," in a way which a long suffering traveling public hardly had the faith to expect. It says: "Revenge in the form of an indefatigable Nemesis clings to the trail of the cruel, heartless wrongdoer with the same degree of persistency with which cockleburrs hang onto a cow's tail. It is only a question of how much time until he is overtaken and punished for his misdeeds. For many years the baggage handlers at our railway stations have been viciously, gleefully smashing things right and left, and with no one brave enough to tell them to desist from their work of cruel destruction. Satchels, boxes, trunks, iron-bound, steel-stiffened, double-riveted, have all gone glimmering into nothingness in the junk heap. But the worm has turned. The Nemesis has caught up with its victim. A Pittsburgh baggage smasher slammed a valve on the floor of a baggage car the other day. The valve was from Texas, and as a matter of course it carried a revolver, which it promptly fired at its abuser, shooting him through the leg. All papers published at baggage transfer centres please copy."

Voluntary Reduction. The Thomas G. Plant Company, manufacturers of the famous "Queen Quality" shoes, have reduced the working day of their 2000 employees to eight hours. Two years ago the Plant company, with a pay roll of $1,000,000 per annum, decided to adopt the nine-hour system. They believed that, under proper conditions, their factory could produce as many shoes with the nine-hour system as with the usual 10-hour shoe factory day. By adopting special methods in keeping the help employed, requiring promptness in attendance, the new departure was made a success in results, and recently it was decided to still further reduce the hours to eight instead of nine. This is the outcome of a perfect system in supervising every detail of an immense business. Today the Thomas G. Plant Company enjoys the unique distinction of having voluntarily put into effect an eight-hour system without any change at all being made in the wages of their work hands, which is one-fifth of their total force employed, and, further, the company claim that under conditions now enforced, the piece-work help can earn as much in the eight-hour day as they formerly earned in the 10-hour day. Quotation from a prominent labor official: Remember that, whether you work by the piece or work by the day, reducing the hours increases the pay.

The equipment of the factory is well-nigh perfect. There are separate entrances for male and female employees, with three elevators to carry the latter to their respective floors. Hat and coat lockers are provided for all. Water boys are constantly in attendance to supply fresh drinking water to those who want it. Within the factory sanitary arrangements are of the very best. The system of ventilation is perfect. During the months when the windows are necessarily kept closed, 24 large ventilating fans are kept running to exhaust the impure air, which is replaced by pure air from an immense blower. Under such conditions it is not surprising to find efficiency, harmony and earnings per capita averaging higher than other and less advantageously planned and conducted establishments.

It is the company's belief that when a dispute is verging on a strike, the principals involved are not competent to decide fairly which side is right. It is only the impartial third party who can do so. To carry this belief into effect, the Plant company has bound itself by a signed agreement with each employe, whereby any grievance not satisfactorily adjusted between the employe and the firm shall be submitted to the board of arbitration and conciliation of the commonwealth of Massachusetts, whose decision shall be final and binding on both.

The magnitude and completeness of this establishment and its business is marvelous when it is remembered that it is a growth of 10 years. Five years ago this business was moved from Lynn to Boston in the face of predicted failure, but the results (business has been tripled) have proven that Boston has exceptional advantages for manufacturers.—Boston Herald.

Because a Seattle telephone girl was pert and impertinent, and refused to connect a subscriber to the fire department when he wanted to give notice of a fire, a loss of $60,000 was incurred and now the telephone company is being sued for damages by the person refused service and by the insurance company which suffered the loss. Politeness is a merchantable article even with a telephone girl.

A composite picture of the average American, as seen by a diligent delver into the national census statistics, shows him to be a very presentable individual. He weighs one hundred and fifty pounds, and while lighter than the average Englishman or German, he is still in a position to look down upon them from the superior height of five feet eight inches, thus exceeding both by over an inch. He averages thirty-seven years of age and is married to a woman two years younger, their family consisting of three living children and one dead. He and his better half have received a common school education and he is fairly well off in this world's goods, owning as he does an average farm of one hundred and thirty-seven acres, eighty of which are under cultivation. Who would not be an American?—Ex.

We always keep it in the house to protect our children from Croup and Whooping Cough. It cured me of a chronic bronchial trouble that no other remedy would relieve." A Flemish Attack. An attack was lately made on C. F. Collier of Cherokee Iowa, that nearly proved fatal. It came through his kidneys. His back got so lame he could not stoop without great pain, nor sit in a chair except propped by cushions. No remedy helped him until he tried Electric Bitters which effected such a wonderful change that he writes he feels like a new man. This marvelous medicine cures backache and kidney trouble, purifies the blood and builds up your health. Only 50c at C. F. Moore & Co's drug store.

County Treasurer Foster publishes a call today, for the redemption of some $16,000 of the $44,000 of outstanding county warrants. He will be able to make a further reduction in this indebtedness soon, as he sent the last remittance covering the amount of the state and scalp bounty tax yesterday.—Reporter.

Stepped Into Live Coals. "When a child I burned my foot frightfully," writes W. H. Eads, of Jonesville, Va., "which caused horrible leg sores for 30 years, but Bucklen's Arnica Salve wholly cured me after every thing else had failed." Infallible for Burns, Scalds, Cuts, Sores, Bruises and Piles. Sold by C. F. Moore & Co. 25c.

Came Near Dying. "For three days and nights I suffered agony untold from an attack of cholera morbus brought on by eating cucumbers," says M. E. Lowther, clerk of the district court, Centerville, Iowa. "I thought I should surely die, and tried a dozen different medicines but to no purpose. I sent for a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and three doses relieved me entirely. I went to sleep and did not awake for eight hours. On awakening a few hours ago I felt so gratified that the first work I do on going to the office is to write to the manufacturers of this remedy and offer them my grateful thanks and say, 'God bless you and the splendid medicine you make.'" This remedy is for sale by C. F. Moore & Co. druggists.

Capt. H. L. Heath has organized a party of Portland capitalists who will engage in some line of business in the Philippine islands not yet announced. The Captain is to leave this week as manager. During his long vacation since returning from the war, he has not been idle, and we sincerely hope his project may prove all that he anticipates for it.—Reporter.

It Happened in a Drug Store. "One day last winter a lady came to my drug store and asked for a brand of cough medicine that I did not have in stock," says Mr. C. R. Grandin, the popular druggist of Ontario, N. Y. "She was disappointed and wanted to know what cough preparation I could recommend. I said to her that I could freely recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and that she could take a bottle of the remedy and after giving it a fair trial if she did not find it worth the money to bring back the bottle and I would refund the price paid. In the course of a day or two the lady came back in company of a friend in need of a cough medicine and advised her to buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I consider that a very good recommendation for the remedy." The remedy owes its great popularity and extensive sale in a large measure to the personal recommendations of people who have been cured by its use. It is for sale by C. F. Moore & Co. druggists.

The Reason for the above important sale is owing to several important changes in the firm and another reason, we have to prepare for very extensive alterations in our store. We are going to discontinue our second floor department on account of being too hard for our help and our customers climbing up the stairway. And being out of our reach to look after business up stairs, therefore we have decided to build an addition on the back of our store soon. And as several of our main brick walls will have to be torn down and goods will have to be carried from one place to another, for the proper care so as to avoid dust and dirt, therefore, we have concluded to take our profits off from the goods and close out our entire stock at actual first cost. Everybody knows that when JACOBSON & CO. advertise a big sale that everything is honest facts, and when we say "CUT PRICES" down they go. As we are not preparing to gobble up all the money and jump the town, or sell cotton goods for all wool, or paper shoes for genuine leather. No indeed! As our reputation stands too high in this community. The fact of the matter is we are preparing for more accommodating quarters. We quote you a few of our thousands of bargains.
