The death of Li Hung Chang, China's greatest statesman, occurred yesterday.

The decisive election of Seth Low as mayor of New York city shows conclusively that even Tammany can't fool all the people all the time.

It is something of a relief from general suspense to know that Massachusetts is still in the republican column and that Virginia again went democratic.

Tuesday's elections are anything but encouraging to the professional political gratifiers. The public conscience is being slowly educated and awakened to civic responsibility.

The general republican landslide of Tuesday's elections was so "overcoming" that the republicans themselves are wondering how they did it. This is an "off year" that is far from "being off" after all.

A newspaper whose precarious existence is occasioned only by the desire either to defeat the political ambition of some public man, or to foist that of another upon an unwilling public, has but little respect and no weight with solid citizens. One of each class visits this office and they may well be termed two of a kind.

Democratic editors are licking their chops and rubbing their hands with feendish glee over the prospect of a "fuss" between President Roosevelt and Senator Hanna. It would seem that the brethren of the opposite camp have so many troubles of their own that they are determined for the republicans to have some if they have to borrow it for them.

A local article in the Louisville Courier-Journal, the big Kentucky newspaper, has for its headlines, "Healthy Growth of Louisville—Experiencing the Greatest Season of Prosperity in its History—All Railroads Short of Cars—Real Estate Men Report Big Demand for all Classes of Property—Heavy Increase in all Business." All of which goes to show that prosperity is not bounded by Mason and Dixon's line though the republican majorities that brought it are.

A prominent English minister is credited with the declaration that the dime novel and blood and thunder literature are as necessary to a boy's moral nature as beef and potatoes are to his body, and unless he gets them as freely and plentifully as he gets his daily bread he will grow up to be an intellectual and moral weakling. In other words, have the boy grovel continually in literary slime that he may be pure and strong minded. Such silly twaddle leaves it to be inferred that this divine is suffering from something even worse than the nasty medicine he prescribes.

An Oregon editor breaks forth into the following exuberant paean of thanksgiving: A citizen of this state, with a particle of gratitude in his nature, who fails to attend the thanksgiving next month, or have one of his own ought to be sentenced to a term in some South African congress. It would take a crystal ball to point out a single failure in all the varied factors contributing to our great state's wealth. The wheat fields have outdone themselves, the hop crop is a success, prunes, apples and other fruits are bringing a good price for a bountiful supply. Our cattle, sheep and horses are greater both in value and number, the mines have surpassed fondest expectations. Our lumber mills are behind their orders, owners of remote and supposed valueless timber lands find that they are not without market. Our merchants have done a greater and more profitable business, manufacturers have been patronized as never before, town and city lots are steadily advancing and unprecedented building persistently continues, the railroads cannot meet the demand for cars; the salmon have even taken the hook of the trust. Surely we have much for which to be thankful, not excepting the chiefest of all blessings to the man of the land of the free and the home of the brave, to account for it all precisely in accordance with his own political views, no matter what they are. Remember you are privileged to live in the greatest state in the union, and be thankful.

With the price of wheat below the half-dollar mark and with potatoes away out of sight, it seems that but little loud argument would be necessary at present in behalf of "diversified farming." Of course it can be maintained that the man with the potato patch is abnormally lucky this year, but it is the farmer that raises more than one crop who is always sure of a strike on something. As an object lesson the Oregon Agriculturalist tells of a farmer who was in a general way a man of more than ordinary intelligence, who laughed at the lolly of his neighbors in raising potatoes for home use. He had no time to fool away raising potatoes. He raised 5,000 to 10,000 bushels of wheat every year and bought his potatoes, etc., from those whose time was not as valuable as his. In fact about the only thing that grew on his 640-acre farm, aside from wheat, was a mortgage, and the mortgage finally got the best of him, while his neighbors who sold him potatoes, eggs, butter, etc., almost without exception got rid of mortgages. This was not in Oregon, but it is possible that there have been similar cases in the Willamette valley.

TUESDAY ELECTION SUMMARIES. Seth Low, Fus., elected Mayor of New York by 39,000. New York Assembly of 1902 will stand Republicans and Fusionists, 103; Democrats, 42. Buffalo, Syracuse, Albany and Troy elected Republican Mayors. Both parties claiming Rochester with probabilities in favor of Republicans. Nash re-elected Governor of Ohio by 85,000. Senator Foraker's re-election certain. Baltimore Republicans elected their entire city ticket, but Maryland Legislature will be Democratic by narrow margin. Schmitz, Union Labor, elected Mayor of San Francisco by 4109. Union Labor also elected three Supervisors. Republicans will probably carry Pennsylvania by 70,000 to 80,000. Anti-Quay ticket in Philadelphia defeated by 35,000. W. Murray Crane elected governor of Massachusetts for the third time. Legislature will be strongly Republican. Iowa Republicans elected Cummins Governor by 90,000. Rhode Island and Connecticut scored republican victories. Democrats increase their majority in Kentucky Legislature and elect Mayor of Louisville. Republicans generally successful in Kansas local elections. New Jersey elected Republican Governor by 14,000. Legislature Republican in both branches. Republicans of Nebraska elected state ticket by 6,000. Republicans of Utah victorious and South Dakota probably elected eight republican circuit judges. Virginia Democrats elected state ticket by 25,000 majority.

That Football Game! Once upon a time, long, long ago, (but it was only last week, come to think of it) Pacific College had a football team in which who was well pleased. Vague, beaming visions of victory thrilled the loyal hearted with enthusiasm. Possible banquets and oyster suppers danced before the eyes of the football fiends. The heroes of the gridiron were already basking in the warm light of undisputed admiration shed from co-eds' lustrous eyes and drooping eyelashes. Act II. The scene was changed. The evanescent bubble was punctured and that by McMinnville College.

The finer sensibilities revolt from recalling the slaughter of the innocents which took place on the college gridiron last Saturday afternoon, but as the sorrowful and tragic chapter must be recorded, there is no alternative. The game opened with a kickoff by Heater for Newberg. The McMinnville team brought the ball back several yards but were soon held on down. Heater took the ball for a pretty end run of about fifteen yards, which brought forth due recognition from the Newberg rooters. If they could have only foreseen that that run ended the fun for Newberg the applause would doubtless have been emphasized and prolonged. McMinnville secured the ball, and for the most part kept it the rest of the game. It is feared that in letting them thus keep it, the Newberg boys took the advice of the Graphic too literally in extending due courtesies to the visitors. The story of the massacre is soon told. With it's superior weight the McMinnville team pounded and crashed through Newberg's light line for touchdown after touchdown. Mac's big tackle Pilkington, opened up the hole and all came tumbling after. The same thing was played time after time, which made it a wretched game to watch—especially from a Newberg standpoint. At the end of the first half the score was 11-0; at the end of the second 44-0. The Newberg players were, Maris (capt.) and quarter back, Heater and Martin, halves, Morris, full, and Dalley, Newby, Kramien, Reed, Saunders, D. Coulson and W. Coulson linemen.

Despite the score Newberg has some good players and would put up a good game against a team of like size and experience. A correspondent to the Telegram from McMinnville says the Newberg lads averaged ten pounds the heavier. The victors should be generous enough to tell the truth—which is bad enough this time. Heater, as safety back for Newberg, made some great tackles, McMinnville not being able to get up enough interference to shake him off. Other members of the team, some who had never seen football before, played fine ball, but were outclassed. The stars among the visitors were Pilkington, Adams and Tharp. In the presence of such disaster, "when things are not what they seem," our minds revert lingeringly to the past—the halcyon past, when the tables tipped in the other direction. In sixty minutes of playing McM. won Saturday with a score of 44-0. On a similar occasion a few seasons previous Newberg in forty minutes of playing won from McMinnville with a score of 54-0. This sunny little memoir tends to pierce the gloomy shadow of the present and bring a faint ray of hope for future and more propitious days for the old gold and navy blue, when the mists have rolled away.

Judge Galloway, receiver of public monies at the Oregon City land office, was in the city on Monday. The unexpected turn caused by the interference of Senator Simon in the appointment of Mr. Bibee, has given the judge a new lease on the office, but how long it will continue no one can tell. R. JACOBSON & CO.

AT COST. The large stock of R. Jacobson & Co. amounts to about $100,000, all brand new goods direct from the factory. Everything bought for the fall trade; not an old piece of goods in the house. Will be closed out at wholesale prices.

The Reason for the above important sale is owing to several important changes in the firm and another reason, we have to prepare for very extensive alterations in our store. We are going to discontinue our second floor department on account of being too hard for our help and our customers climbing up the stairway. And being out of our reach to look after business up stairs, therefore we have decided to build an addition on the back of our store soon. And as several of our main brick walls will have to be torn down and goods will have to be carried from one place to another, for the proper care so as to avoid dust and dirt, therefore, we have concluded to take our profits off from the goods and close out our entire stock at actual first cost. Everybody knows that when JACOBSON & CO. advertise a big sale that everything is honest facts, and when we say "CUT PRICES" down they go. As we are not preparing to gobble up all the money and jump the town, or sell cotton goods for all wool, or paper shoes for genuine leather. No indeed! As our reputation stands too high in this community. The fact of the matter is we are preparing for more accommodating quarters. We quote you a few of our thousands of bargains.
