Plans of yesterday may not succeed today. At Smith's Studio you will always get a perfect likeness and up-to-date photographs. We enlarge small pictures and guarantee them perfect. Samples at the gallery.

Dr. Littlefield having resigned his position of public school director on account of absence from Newberg, the vacancy has been filled by the other directors by the election of N. C. Christenson.

Springbrook readers will please take notice that the "garden flowers," assisted by the "man-in-the-moon," are going to sing for them at the school house next Friday evening. Admission 15c; children 10c. Proceeds go toward paying for the college piano.

For the period of one year, Henry Austin has leased Stanley & Bond's meat market and will hold forth at the old stand as of yore. Messrs. Stanley and Bond will give their attention to buying and butchering and will furnish the shops in town with meat.

J. A. Millsap and family arrived from Ashland last week and will make Newberg their home, having moved into the David Stratton house on Wynooki street which Mr. Millsap has secured from his father who formerly occupied it as owner. Mr. Millsap is a gardener.

I am not scared. You need not quit your present milk supply just to please me. I'm still selling milk, and Old Pide is still making raids on farmers' wagons and grocery stores, as happy and contented as possible since election. G. EVEREST.

Mrs. H. L. Christenson was sorry to learn a few days ago that her aged mother Mrs. Harriet Wilks, had received a fall at her home at Tillamook, from the effects of which she will be confined to the house for several weeks. Mrs. Christenson is about again after several weeks of sickness.

The Masons called on Dr. H. J. Littlefield in a body last Saturday evening and gave him sort of a farewell party preparatory to his starting on his southern trip Monday morning. Before leaving, they presented him with an elegant watch chain, with his initials neatly engraved thereon.

The city treasurer's report shows the financial condition of Newberg to be the best in its history. City warrants are paid up to date, the interest on the bonded indebtedness is met, the requisite amount turned into the sinking fund and the general running expenses provided for. Prosperous times these.

In the basket ball game played at McMinnville last Friday evening, the home team won from the Newberg boys with the score of 15 to 12. The game was hard fought and in doubt to the very last, McMinnville breaking the tie of 12-12 just before the whistle blew. The boys here are anxious for a return game, for although McMinnville has the advantage of a good coach, they are of the opinion that they can turn the tables.

J. B. Riley, the hotel man at Dayton, well known to many in this vicinity, died on Wednesday last week and was buried on Friday. Mr. Riley came around the Horn to San Francisco in 1849, coming on up to Oregon early in the 50's. He has lived at Dayton since 1860 and has been proprietor of the Dayton Hotel since 1865, probably thus holding the record in this part of the country for the longest uninterrupted continuance in the same business at the old stand.

W. R. Carter went up to The Dalles the first of the week to attend the funeral of his brother-in-law D. M. French, a prominent citizen of Eastern Oregon, and who owns the place on which Mr. Carter resides. Mr. French was an old pioneer of Oregon, and has been instrumental in the upbuilding of The Dalles and forwarding the general interests of Eastern Oregon. A correspondent to the Telegram from The Dalles says of the deceased: "Many of the big enterprises which have done so much to upbuild this city were successfully inaugurated under his management and advice and yet survive him. The private bank of French & Co., of which D. M. French was the leading spirit, is the strongest and best known bank in Eastern Oregon, and one of the most reliable institutions of its kind in the Northwest. The electric plant which has been so successfully operated in this city for the past ten years, the big Wasco Warehouse Company, the independent line of steamboats now plying between this city and Portland, the big 1000-barrel flour mills of this city, just completed, and the inauguration of the great electrical power in this city, are some of the many projects which "Dan" French greatly assisted to bring about, and without his aid probably would not have been undertaken. He was always a leader to advance capital for any public enterprise which would advance the interests of the public."

On next Friday night, January 24, the college chorus class, under the direction of Miss Stuart will give the cantata, "A Garden of Singing Flowers," at the school house out at Springbrook. General admission 15c, children 10c.

On last Friday evening a crowd of Chehalis Center young folks drove into town and took the Kirk and Paulsen young people by surprise at their home by the Evangelical church. A merry time was enjoyed by all until a late hour.

Dave Jones declines to be interviewed on the why and the wherefore of that substantial addition to the rear of his store building. General anxiety is tempered however by the fact that he is one of those fellows who is sure he is right before he goes straight ahead.

The students at the college are taking up debating in the regular routine of College activities, preparatory to their regular forensic work in the spring. They have started in on the trusts, the question they are debating reading, "Resolved that Congress should place on the free list all imported articles, such as are produced in the United States by a monopoly and sold abroad."

Messrs. Wirls and Dundas, directors of Unity district school just South of Dundee, were in town last week looking for a teacher to take the place of Mr. Nelson who on account of sickness was compelled to resign. They succeeded in securing the services of Miss Ada Parry, who came out from Richmond, Indiana, with Mrs. J. C. Hodson a few months ago when the latter returned from her Indiana visit. Miss Parry began work Monday morning.

The farewell reception held for Rev. and Mrs. L. D. Barr at the Friends church Thursday night of last week, was very largely attended, and the exercises of the evening very appropriate. The church, decorated with evergreens and ferns, presented an unusually attractive appearance. Prof. J. C. Hodson, as master of ceremonies, spoke eloquently, in behalf of the membership, of Rev. Barr's services, to which the retiring pastor responded feelingly. At the close of the formal exercises, all present were liberally served to hot drink and cake in the basement.

A company of independent militia was organized in Dundee's bicycle shop Tuesday evening with nearly sixty names on the roll of membership. The boys will hire a building where they will begin drill work, and when they become thoroughly organized and familiarized with military tactics they hope to be accepted by the State Military Board as a part of the state organization. The new company is pretty thoroughly officered, as follows: Captain, Herb Rich; Lieutenants, Chas. Rittenhouse, C. F. Butler; Quartermaster Sergeant, W. E. Mills; 1st Sergeant, N. N. Stanley; Duty Sergeants, Eli Heater, H. E. Pinney, R. J. Cooper, Roy Woods; Corporals, J. E. Pressnell, W. H. Bond, Clarence Coe, Tom Cummings, Claud Stater, Jake Noble.

A disastrous fire was narrowly averted at the public school building Tuesday. During the noon hour smoke suddenly began to pour up into Miss Crawford's room from the register in such volume that word was sent to Prof. Kirk, who on breaking into the basement found a very healthy blaze in progress. He at once called to some of the school boys who emptied their dinner buckets, and hurried to him with water, with the result that the flames were soon quenched, but not before a hole had been burned through the floor under the partition separating the cloak room from the school room. As this was right under the stairway, affairs would have been serious in a few minutes more. One of the pipes from the furnace lies closely against one of the beams, which had thus caught fire through the thin asbestos pipe lining. Thinking the students were in good condition from the excitement to test the efficacy of a fire drill, Prof. Kirk had the fire alarm sounded about an hour after school took up in the afternoon, with the result that the whole building was cleared in good order in a minute and a half.

Following the caucus held in Crater's Hall Thursday evening, another was held Saturday evening in the town hall, when N. C. Christenson was nominated for mayor, and the remainder of the other ticket endorsed with the exception that Walter Terrell and M. E. Harrison were nominated for councilmen in the third ward. W. C. Kruger withdrew his name for mayor and the election Monday resulted as follows: mayor, N. C. Christenson; recorder, Clarence Butt; treasurer, J. C. Colcord; councilmen, first ward, J. C. Hodson; second ward, Milt Nicholson; third ward, H. R. Morris for two year term and Jesse Pressnell for one year term. The most agitating was done over the cow and bicycle questions with the result that by a vote of almost three to one, old Pide will continue to roam the streets at will and browse untethered upon the town common, while the bicycle will still enjoy sidewalk privileges during the winter months. Of course the vote serves only to express the wish of the citizens as final action rests with the council, but there is little danger that the city fathers will act contrary to so manifest a public sentiment.

A REPLY TO "MENS LEGIS." Editor Graphic:— In last week's issue of the Graphic, I notice a correspondent's views relative to the pardoning of R. L. Goughnoor. He says this man was convicted of a crime and sentenced to punishment for violation of law. This critic states his convictions, based almost entirely on his own testimony. There was only his (Goughnoor's) wife and a friend except the girls own mother to whom he showed the picture. A child ten year's old, he did it to show her mother what she was coming to. This was his only in-
