The Douglas Studio for photos. Sara Britt came up from Portland Saturday night and visited at home over Sunday. Go to E. H. Cummings for paints and oils. A full line of undertaking goods kept in stock. I have a piece 3 1/2 miles from Newberg for rent. Enquire of Howard Weston at the fruit farm. The noblest and best line of ladies' shoes ever shown in Newberg, just received by Parker & Pool. For Daniel Drew of Portland preaching in the Friends church Sunday, at both morning and evening services, to good attendance. L. A. Comer, after visiting in Newberg a few days with his father Elias and brother M. J., left Wednesday morning again, bound for the Klondike mining regions. Prof. E. W. Kelsey and Rev. E. Gould attended the Linn county prohibition convention at Albany last Saturday, Prof Kelsey delivering the convention address. C. D. Hayners left the latter part of last week for the province of Alberta, Northwest Territory, where they have relatives and where they intend to make their future home. W. W. Hollingsworth went down to Portland the latter part of last week with E. T. McCreary and assisted the latter in the purchase of a complete house keeping outfit for his new city home. Plans of yesterday may not succeed today. At Smith's Studio you will always get a perfect likeness and up-to-date photographs. We calico small pictures and guarantee them perfect. Samples at the gallery. Acley Egan died at his home near Dundee last Saturday of consumption, after an illness of many months. The funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon by Elder Geo. C. Carl. This deceased was born December 11, 1872. He leaves a wife and two children. Nathan White was rejoiced a few days ago on the receipt of a valuable present from a non-in-law in Oklahama, in the shape of a fine set of Encyclopaedia Britannica. Nathan is said to have danced around on opening the box like a boy with his first pair of red topped boots. The young ladies of Newberg threaten to ostracize the "well educated young man" if they find him out, who advertised in the Oregonian for a lady correspondent—object, "possible matrimony." It does seem that the rule of patronizing home markets, should apply all round. Mrs. M. E. Hoxter of Portland spoke to a small audience in the Baptist church Monday evening in behalf of the Christian relief home for girls. She explained the work of the institution and emphasized the success of its efforts. She has been canvassing the business men of Newberg this week for funds for the support of the home. G. T. Hardwick made the sale of his stock of second hand furniture last week to W. W. Hollingsworth, who will continue the business at the old stand under the management of E. H. Brunson. This transaction will enable Mr. Hollingsworth to accommodate customers who wish to turn in their second hand goods on the purchase of new furniture. Duncan Ross one day lately weighed his span of sorrel mares, and they tipped the beam collectively at 3512 pounds. There is a difference of perhaps 100 pounds in the weight of the two animals. Mr. Ross received by telephone, an offer from a man in Tacoma who desired to purchase the span. But, for once Portland moved in ahead of Tacoma and a Portland man secured them at $475.—Reporter. The "Y" entertainment of Tuesday evening was fairly well attended and on the whole was very interesting. Miss Nellie Barrows presided, and after an invocation by Rev. Jos. Hall, called off the program consisting of two piano solos by Miss Sadie Brouillette, readings by Mrs. B. W. Kelsey and Miss Edna Allen, short addresses by Prof. E. W. Kirk on the tobacco habit and by Mrs. Douglas on the "Doctrine of Pleasure" a recitation by Albert Wilson and vocal solos by Miss Mabel Edwards and Prof. H. C. Rosenberger. Without discrediting in the least any other number of the program, Mrs. Douglas' talk on that will-o'-the-wisp pleasure, deserves special notice. It was refreshingly original, both in thought and presentation. With the exception of the representative of Pacific College, Miss Nervia Wright, all of the contestants in the state oratorical contest to be held in Salem March 14, will be young gentlemen, with the adjective possibly omitted in an instance or two. The subjects of the orations are as follows: Forest Grove, "John Brown of Ossawatimie;" Monmouth, "Literature and the Law;" Eugene, "Public Opinion;" Corvallis and McMinnville each have orations on the history of the negro; Salem, "The History of Progress; Newberg, "The Spirit of Commercialism;" Albany, "The Martyrdom of Man." It is understood that at least one of the institutions has sent its orator to Portland to be trained, which gives rise to the question whether or it is the colleges of Oregon or some Portland school of oratory which are to be represented in the state contest. As for Pacific College, her representatives have always been trained by her own instructors, and have thus stood on the merits of our own institution, without the polishing off services of some professional gesticulator of Portland. By the way, in behalf of "the standard of oratory" in Oregon, hadn't the judges at Salem better be warned to look out for an "original" "agitated" gesture?

Archibald spent Sunday with his parents at Wilsonville. The sick case in the Imus family of Dundee are on the road to recovery. Please call and pay your dog license. Clarence Butt, Recorder. The S. P. Company has already begun tearing down the Dundee hotel building. Uts & Dunn's Rochester shoes have no Superior. New stock received this week.—Parker & Pool. H. E. Lounsbury, traveling freight agent for the Southern Pacific was in town the middle of the week. Robert Jones attended a meeting of the executive committee of the State Oratorical Association at Corvallis last Friday. Wanted—Good horse that can travel, single harness—no broken to saddle preferred. Dr. Goussier. Half an hour is all the time required to cure with Putnam Fadeless Dyes. Sold by C. E. Moore & Co., 10 per package. Schnyer Priestly of Portland visited out north of town over Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Priestly and his little daughter. A county teachers' institute will be held at LaFayette tomorrow. R. W. Kirk represents the pedagogues of this locality on the program. Walter Hadley and sister Miss Libbie visited out north of town over Sunday with the Newhouse young people. Miss Hadley remained for the week. Ernest J. Bloom of Portland, representing the "Columbia River and Oregon Timberman," was in town Tuesday and made this office a pleasant call. Mrs. W. N. Sutton of Portland, accompanied by her youngest daughter, came up last Friday and visited in town with her mother Mrs. L. M. Townsend until Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Marine of Richmond, Indiana, who had been visiting with J. M. Wright's last Friday. They intend to make two or three short visits on their way home. Miss Jessie Avery who has been visiting in town for some weeks, left for Portland Tuesday morning, after a visit at which place she will return to her home at Centralia, Washington. Mrs. Robert Forsyth has received word from her parents at Lakeland, Minnesota, that they have sold their home there, and intend soon to join her here at Newberg. J. G. Farret, recently from Arizona, but formerly from Illinois, was in the city on Monday. He negotiated with Mr. Parker for the Diamond farm, four miles southwest of this city.—Telephone Register. County correspondence in the New Castle, Indiana, Tribune says that Dan Gilbert has sold his place near Mooreland, preparatory to moving to Oregon. Dan was a Newberg resident some ten or twelve years ago. Voters should bear in mind that to cast their ballots at the coming election they will have to register by May 15, regardless of whether or not they registered two years ago. Clarence Butt is prepared to register voters in this vicinity. The Shaw boys Elton, Ed, and Etan accompanied by the latter's sister-in-law are down from Salem this week visiting the boys' parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Shaw. The first named, one of Salem's young attorneys, made the Graphic office a social call. The latter part of last week Glen Winslow suffered a partial paralysis of the right side of his face which has been giving him a good deal of trouble, and causing him to give up work for the present. It is thought that the affliction is only temporary. The scarlet fever quarantine was lifted from the college boarding hall the first of the week, and the professional nurse, who has been on duty for about a month returned to Portland Wednesday morning. Young Roscoe Cahill is still ill at the hall with pneumonia, but is attended by his mother, and is gradually improving. The Chas. K. Spaulding Lumber Co. of Newberg, has closed several contracts at Stayton for cottonwood timber. The company will cut between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 feet of logs for the paper mills at Oregon City, and have the timber all contracted for around Stayton. The logs will be driven down the Santiam in the spring. Logging camps will be located in that vicinity and work will soon begin.—Jefferson Review. The colleges in the athletic league who have been playing in the basketball game series may well wonder where they are at, as the championship seems about as nearly unsettled as when the games began. In the first place McMinnville defeated Newberg 15 to 12. Then after more practice Newberg tied with Monmouth, 15 to 15, whereas Monmouth had defeated Salem, and Salem afterward defeated McMinnville 20 to 10. Newberg defeated Dallas 27 to 30 and last week Dallas defeated McMinnville 13 to 10. Verily it begins to look as if the first shall be last and the last shall be first. The silver medal contest, participated in by the little folks of the Loyal Temperance Legion at Crater's hall Saturday evening, was very largely attended and was a decided success from every point of view. Fourteen children contested and every one spoke well. The judges, Mrs. W. E. Terrell, Louis Balziger and M. Volav awarded first place to Carrie Brouillette, the subject of whose recitation was "On Which Side," second to Erma Heacock and third to Vera Cooper. The decision gave very general satisfaction. After the decision was announced by Mrs. E. W. Kelsey, who presided, Mrs. E. K. Shaw presented each contestant with a little cup and saucer, which served to soothe the feelings of the disappointed. The autograph quilt, auctioned off by G. W. Mitchell, was purchased for three dollars and a half by Mrs. J. E. Thomas.

Sugar prune adions for sale. Joe Hall. Miss Ethel Smith is clothing in Elbert Bros. dry goods store. The largest supply in town of candles, dates and all kinds of nuts, at Star Bakery. Adam Elbert of Canby visited in town over Sunday with his son Henry and family. The cantata by home talent will be given March 20. Watch for further advertisement next week. Are you interested in the industrial development of this locality? Attend the fruitgrowers meeting tomorrow forenoon. An elegant new line of fine shoes for Ladies, Misses and Children, direct from factory at Rochester, N. Y.—Parker & Pool. The debate on the ship subsidy question between Albany and Newberg will take place here next Friday evening in Crater's hall. Noah Parrish came down from near Pendleton, Eastern Oregon the first of the week and is visiting relatives and friends out east of town. Elder G. C. Carl left Monday Morning in answer to a summons to the bedside of a sick friend in Lane county, eighteen miles east of Eugene. Mrs. Elizabeth Hutchinson went down to Portland last Friday morning and visited a few days with her son Dr. Woods Hutchinson and family. The Oratorical literary society will give a public entertainment this evening in the college chapel. No admission fee will be charged and everybody is cordially invited to attend. J. S. Gross is making arrangements for more room for his stock of merchandise. The vacant room on the corner east of him is being fitted up and he will use it as a store room. On Wednesday evening in Portland occurred the marriage of Oscar L. Cox of the city Y. M. C. A. and Miss Lulu Mae Buddemer, the elocutionist. Miss Buddemer gave a public reading in Newberg a year ago. Two pilgrims of the road hit town Tuesday with a couple of tame bears much to the pleasure of the public school and college young people whom the animals entertained with their cumbersome antics. A woman, not a thousand miles from Sheelien, was, without doubt, the most hurried female in seven counties last Sunday when she discovered, after coming out of church, that her brand new hat was adorned with a tag whereupon was inscribed the legend: "Reduced to $2.75."—Sam. Take notice that the fruit growers meeting to be held here tomorrow, will take place at 10 o'clock in the forenoon at Crater's hall. The time has been thus changed so that the speakers, Hon. E. Hoyer and R. C. Judson of the S. P. Co. can catch the west side train for Portland in the afternoon. On Wednesday Clarence Butt purchased E. F. Haveland's home adjoining his own lots on North Elver street. Mr. Butt has not decided certainly whether he will build at once upon his slightly location or whether they will occupy for a time the building now standing. The Haveland family will move into the old ax handle building across the canyon. A gentleman near here recently advertised in the "want" columns of the daily Oregonian for a housekeeper, and says that within a week he was in receipt of fifty-seven letters and now contemplates putting in another notice to get the steady stream shut off. Those wishing local advertisements inserted in the Oregonian may leave the same with the agent at the Graphic office and have the business transacted for them. With the approach of spring, bicycle riders are talking of the plan of forming a club for the repair and maintenance of the bicycle paths, since the state law is declared unconstitutional. The idea would be to charge a yearly membership, advertise for bids for the work of repairing, and see that the same is done right. Rules would be drafted governing riders that would place them on more friendly terms with drivers, so that they would respect each other's interests. The idea is a good one, and ought to be pushed.—Reporter. Judge Boise tried the case of Charles K. Spaulding vs. the Independence & Falls City Lumber & Improvement Company, Monday. The purpose of the suit is to determine the right of the latter company to a franchise for exclusive control of the Luckiamute river in Polk county, for logging purposes. The latter company applied to the county court of Polk county for a franchise under the act of 1901, and the Spaulding Company contested the matter on the ground that the law is unconstitutional. The case was tried in Marion county to suit the convenience of attorneys. Judge Boise has taken the matter under advisement.—Polk County Observer. Judge Boise has declared the above law unconstitutional. New and intelligent interest needs to be infused into the fruit industry of this section. For that purpose, Hon. E. Hoyer, editor of the Salem Journal, and R. C. Judson, industrial agent of the Southern Pacific, will address our citizens at Crater's hall tomorrow, Saturday forenoon. In correspondence upon the subject, Mr. Hoyer writes, "I will address your people on the establishment of the fruit industry as such, more than from the standpoint of encouraging individual growers. All your people and your real estate men would be benefited if an industry like that at Hood River can be built up there inside of two years. That can be done in my opinion if twenty or fifty of your people who have land or who can rent land will take hold. It takes no capital, it gives more employment than lots of factories towns give bonuses for. All it needs is organization, information and co-operation."

Have You Seen Our Machine? It arrived Tuesday noon, and a crowd was there to meet it. It was an eye opener. So large, so substantial; it is a whopper; no dinky outfit, that. It looks like business, and it means business. What part have you in it? Why not subscribe now and have a legitimate interest in the future work of the oil finder? Yamhill Coal & Oil Co. Newberg, Oregon.

Mr. Mackham, representing the bicycle firm of W. A. Denton & Co., of Portland, was in the city Wednesday. Mrs. J. C. Wainfield and children left Tuesday morning to join Mr. Wainfield near North Yakima, Washington, where they intend to make their home. Tuesday evening about 6:45 while a heavy downpour of rain was falling, and without any forewarning everything was made dancing by a most brilliant electric bolt followed almost instantly by a terrific peal of thunder. To add to the weirdness of the occasion Carl Trullinger, who operates the light plant, believing the circuit had been injured was pitch dark. He soon turned them on again. Postmaster Trullinger was talking by phone with the light plant and when the shock came he was knocked from the phone, and suffered some pain for a time in his hand and shoulder from the shock. Fire flew from telephones everywhere. It was an unusual storm there being but one flash and one thunder bolt—but they were sufficient.—North Yamhill Record. So far as learned, the only patriotic services held in Newberg in honor of Washington's birthday, were those held by the Masons and Eastern Stars last Saturday evening. The exercises, attended by the lodge members and their families, consisted of good music, patriotic recitations, tableaux, and a short and eloquent address on Washington by Hon. Clarence Butt. He spoke particularly of Washington as a statesman, emphasizing especially his clearness of vision, honesty of purpose and unselfishness of motive. After the program, refreshments were served in the Sawyer building after which the company indulged in social games until a late hour. In harmony with the occasion some of the ladies were arrayed in costumes of revolutionary days while J. G. Hadley appeared as the very incarnation of the old colonial gentleman. For sale. One hundred acres of land, forty in cultivation, at $20 per acre. Two hundred acres, 150 part clear. J. J. O'Donnell.
