The annual apportionment of the state school funds has just been made. Yamhill county receives $7,401.25, to be divided according to a school population of 4,775. This makes a per capita of $1.55.—Reporter.

The county court did not decide upon the free ferry project last week but continued the proposition for further consideration. Some representatives of Dundee appeared before the court asking that the ferry be put in near that place at Yeager's landing. Their petition is to be regretted as it can result in nothing except make it appear to the court that the people in this part of the county are not united in support of the ferry.

The vacancy in the medical profession of Newberg has been filled by the location of a new firm of doctors here, under the firm name of Clough & Ballaine, both gentlemen being graduates of the Louisville, Kentucky, school of medicine. Dr. H. B. Clough, the senior member of the firm, comes with years of practice and large experience, he has practiced four years in Whitman county, Washington, and two years in Douglas county, this state. He is not unknown in this vicinity, he having married Miss Anise Brown, who was raised here where she has relatives and friends, whom she is now visiting in company with her husband, Dr. Ballaine, a physician of experience, and who is said to be a bright and able young man is now in Seattle, Washington, and will be here in a few days prepared to attend to business. Dr. Clough, after arranging business interests in Eastern Washington, will go East to spend a few months in post graduate work in one of the leading medical institutions, after which he will join his partner in practice here.

Miss Grace Heston of Dundee, who is afflicted with tuberculosis, which seems to affect the bones particularly, underwent a surgical operation in a Portland hospital Saturday when a foot was amputated. With her accustomed grit she stood the operation with stoical coolness.

Mrs. Nancy Wiley was being taken to church Sunday morning on her tricycle by her daughter-in-law Mrs. N. L. Wiley, when on a crossing a wheel of the vehicle dropped into a crack, throwing the aged lady out upon the walk, thus spraining her wrist and bruising her up rather badly.

While boring for oil Saturday afternoon, the drill reached gas and salt water, the presence of which is considered the best indication yet. A gentleman from Woodburn who has had experience as driller in the California fields, and who has manifested sufficient interest to make two or three trips over here to watch developments, expressed the belief that oil would be found not far below where the gas and salt water were struck. At this interesting stage of proceedings it became necessary to pump out the water, which they had scarcely begun doing when they had a breakdown which delayed operations until Tuesday afternoon. It is believed that whatever is found will be found within a few weeks.

"Special" correspondence to Monday's Oregonian from Forest Grove says that the citizens of the Grove, having made a canvass for fifteen hundred cows, and having secured twenty-five hundred dollars bonus, all conditions of the promoters had been met and they were now "certain" that a condensed milk factory will be started there as soon as the building can be erected and the machinery installed. Not later than January 1, the industry is expected to be in operation. Let's see. This seems to read rather naturally and raises before a Newberger the shades of past events. Something which read very much like the above went over the wires to the Oregonian from this place, about two years ago. It came out under glowing headlines on the first page. We gave the big factory only until August 1 to arrive, the van guard at least, and well we extended the time every now and then and were so lenient that the "bloomer" factory is now considered outlawed. Forest Grove people are wise in giving the milk plant until January to materialize. These enterprises can't be rushed through with unseemly haste and if the promoters in question delay their coming for two or three more Januaries, we would advise the people to do as Newberg has done—give them plenty of time. We don't know much about condensing milk over here but you can't tell us anything about "condensed" factories.

A suit or overcoat made to your individual measure and made right is of infinitely more value to you than a ready made suit or overcoat. It fits better, wears better, and costs you but very little more. See Wanamaker & Brown's splendid line of all wool samples at the Racket. R. B. Livville, Sales Agent.

Noah Heater and son Roy and Enos Ellis arrived home Monday evening from Newport where for several weeks they had been engaged on the new sanitarium building being erected by Dr. H. J. Minthorn. The building is almost completed and the doors of the sanitarium were opened to patients this week. They say that the doctor's prospects are very good for success in his new enterprise.

Water Consumers Take Notice—Sec. 22 of the "Rules and Regulations of the Newberg Water Works" reads as follows: "Consumers will only be allowed to use water for irrigation or lawn sprinkling between the hours of 6 and 7 a. m. and 7 and 8 p. m. and for street sprinkling from 7 to 8 a. m. and 12 m. to 1 p. m. and from one hydrant only." Notice is served that if the above regulations are not respected, violators thereof will be deprived of water without notice. The authorities also warn consumers against needless waste of water. 13

The Science of Osteopathy.

"What is it?" You Ask.

It is a natural and scientific system of manipulating the various nerve centers, principally along the spine, using the nerves as a system of transportation over which to convey life-giving sensations and force to every part of the human body, no matter how remote.

It is not a faith cure nor is it massage, Swedish movement, or physical culture. It uses no hypnotism, magnetism or electricity. It asks no more faith of the patient than the machinist asks of the engine he is repairing. The restoration of the circulation of the blood, nerve force and lymph throughout the entire system to a natural condition is the result of OSTEOPATHIC TREATMENT.

Every organ or part of the body with a normal circulation of blood and nerve energy contains in itself the power of self repair, of self re-education. The Osteopath corrects anatomical disorders and the physiological functions follow normally under the control of the leading power of nature. An Osteopath does not hesitate to say and demonstrate it beyond the least doubt, that he can treat a diseased organ in the body as easily as if it lay on the surface and exposed to his touch under the same principle.

"Osteopathic Diagnosis" is made. We care very little for symptoms or effects but locate the cause and remove it. A cure made by Osteopathic treatment is most permanent because it is natural.

Did it Ever Occur to You

That the human body is a delicate mechanism, subject to the same laws of mechanics as those which regulate all mechanical structures in their construction, arrangement, position and operation, and to have perfect action in any machine, each and every part must be exactly in place and entirely free from obstruction?

Do We Not Know

That any machine subject to great strains or shocks, such as the human body sustains from accident, overwork, exposure to atmospheric changes, bad surroundings, etc., could be so racked by these agents that some of its parts would be abnormally contracted, misplaced or dislocated and its normal action prevented or entirely destroyed?

To Osteopathy is Due the Credit

Of discovering that the condition of the human body which we call disease, is entirely due to obstruction of or pressure on some of the arteries, veins, nerves or ducts of the body, from the correct action of which, we obtain motion, sensation, nutrition and egestion.

Did it Ever Occur to You

That a removal of this obstruction or pressure would restore the circulation of the fluids and gases of the body and bring about a condition of ease, or what we know as good health?

Isn't it Foolish to Suppose

That such a removal can be made by pouring poisonous drugs into your stomach, which in its present weak condition could not possibly digest good food, and therefore could not possibly digest the mineral and vegetable poisons, and corrosives used in medicine, the constant use of which will destroy the stomach and paralyze the heart?

You Will Find

Should you investigate the science of Osteopathy, that it is the most rational and common sense method used in the cure of disease that has ever yet been discovered.

Brief Explanation of Principles.

Along the spine are located the different ganglia or nerve centers which branch out into every portion of the body and control every function of life. The spinal column is a vast conduit through which the nerves run in comparative safety from exterior molestation. At certain intervals these nerves branch out and run to their stations, similar to the wires of a telephone system. It has taken years and years for anatomists and physiologists to properly locate these hundreds of nerves and so describe their location and functions, that others with a thorough course of training may easily find them and be able to detect the least abnormality and disturbance causing a diseased condition of any organ of the body. Science has accomplished wonders in this discovery and has been so elaborated that it is now a demonstrated fact that many diseases can be successfully cured without the use of medicine or the surgeon's knife. This method of healing is known as "Osteopathy."

What it is and What it is Not.

It is a most worthy science and should be hailed with delight by the hundreds of suffering people of this vicinity, who are racking their brains with the ever puzzling question

What Shall I do to Get Well?

This is a question of no small importance to those who have been unsuccessfully treated by other methods and it is largely with this class that Osteopathy has to deal, and in consideration of this fact, the per cent of cures has been remarkable, the most stubborn of chronic ailments yielding readily to this method of treatment. Is it then any wonder that Osteopathy is being so highly recommended today by so many people?

Diseases Treated

Osteopathy has met with wonderful success in the cure of chronic diseases such as the stomach and bowel troubles; diseases of the kidneys, liver and bladder, and all kinds of rheumatism, neuralgia and sick and nervous headaches, catarrh, asthmatic and bronchial trouble, weak eyes, ear, nose and throat troubles, paralysis, coldness of limbs, enlarged glands, etc. Also weak back, dislocation, stiffened joints, and it is especially beneficial in the treatment of all female disorders and nervous troubles. No matter what your sickness is, call and see me. Will always be glad to give information in regard to the science.

Chance for Dubious Swains.

There are to be several weddings "in high life" in Portland during the September Carnival of the Portland Elks. These weddings are of more than passing interest to the public, inasmuch as the ceremony of tying the conjugal knot will be performed in a balloon in mid-air, a thousand feet above the ground, in the plain view of thousands. This is one of the novelties that will be seen during the early days of the Elks' Carnival, which will open with a grand prize parade on September 1. Several applications have already been received by the management from willing candidates for the matrimonial state. For their willingness to experience this rather unique, if not sensational ceremony in a balloon the management is prepared to set the happy couple up with about $500 worth of home keeping equipment, including everything from a piano to a sack of flour. It is known there will be a trio of weddings and if the dubious swains elsewhere outside of Portland are anxious to receive a handsome dowry, sufficient to enable them to set up and keep house for six months without expense to themselves, all they have to do is to address a letter to the secretary of the Portland Elks' Carnival to make the final arrangements in advance. Wedding day will be a great time in the Carnival.

Notice of Final Settlement.

Notice is hereby given that Amos Nelson, administrator de bonis non with the will annexed of the estate of John J. Coulee, deceased, has filed his final account in said estate, and that the county court has fixed September 6th, at the hour of 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day 1902, as the county court room in the city of McMinnville, Yamhill county, Oregon, as the time and place for hearing said account and objections thereto.

And all persons interested in said estate are hereby notified to appear at said time and place to show cause if any why said account should not be allowed and approved and said administrator discharged.

Dated this 21st day of August, 1902.

Story With a Moral.

The following story is told of a San Francisco millionaire who has been dead some years: A young man came to him one day and solicited pecuniary aid to start him in business. "Do you drink?" asked the millionaire. "Once in a while." "Stop it. Stop it for a year and then come and see me." The young man broke off the habit at once, and at the end of the year came to see the millionaire again. "Do you smoke?" asked the successful man. "Now and then." "Stop it. Stop it for a year, and then come and see me again." The young
