The best line of teas and coffees in the city at Wilson's grocery.
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Deach came back from Astoria a few days ago.
Team of work horses for sale, one mile east of Newberg. D. J. Gilbert.
On Sunday evening, August 17, a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Comer.
Mabel Cooper and Eva Pressall spent the first of the week visiting friends in Portland.
C. B. Wilson and family got home from Newport by the sounding sea Tuesday evening.
J. W. Forsyth has been having some carpenter work done on his house and is having it repainted.
Editor Conover of the Dayton Herald was in Newberg Monday and made the Graphic a fraternal call.
Miss Lucy Gause went down to Portland the latter part of last week and visited friends for a few days.
Rev. Chas. T. Hurd of LaFayette will preach in the Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon at three o'clock.
The "Y's" will serve Sunset Cream Saturday evening, August 23, in the building opposite the postoffice.
Aaron Bray came up from Portland the first of the week to look after his interests in the fruit drying business.
What do you think of those new samples at Smith's Gallery? He will have other new things too—they are being developed now.
Mr. and Mrs. Wm Manning's daughter, Mrs. West, with her children, joined her husband in Portland the latter part of last week where they will reside.
About twenty-five members of the Dayton Circle drove down Monday evening and were entertained by the local lodge here, a supper being served.
Mrs. C. M. Lashier returned from Seattle, Washington, last week well pleased with her extended visit with her son Sam, and much improved in health.
Nelson Sykes made a business trip to Albany the latter part of last week returning the first of this. On Sunday he visited in Eugene with Mr. and Mrs. Lon Hill.
Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Edwards of Portland came up Thursday evening of last week and enjoyed a visit with their folks here until Monday morning when they returned home.
Frank Elliott has received word from his old Illinois home that his brother Will who was out here visiting a few years ago, has received the appointment of guard at the Illinois state penitentiary at Joliet.
Alberry George of Middleton was in town Wednesday. He is a knight of the grip for the Portland Seed Company, for which he has been working for the past four years, and is taking a short vacation at home.
A suit or overcoat made to your individual measure and made right is of infinitely more value to you than a ready made suit or overcoat. It fits better, wears better, and costs you but very little more. See Wananaker & Brown's splendid line of all wool samples at the Racket. R. B. Linnville, Sales Agent.
Quite an exciting chase after a bear took place Sunday out near the residence of Dick Johnson. Bruin has been terrorizing that community for some time and it was thought by a combined effort the critter might be killed, but in spite of all they could do, bruin still roams at will, feasting on the fat of the land.—News.
Miss Belle Mills, who has been visiting her sister Mrs. N. M. Snodgrass at North Yakima, Washington, stopped off here over Sunday on her way back to her high school work at Whittier, California, and visited with Mrs. W. B. Wickersham. The latter whose long state of invalidism has made her unsettled in desires was prevailed upon with her son to accompany Miss Mills to California.
On Thursday night of last week at her home on Meridian street Mrs. Chas. Hodson, assisted by her sister Miss Olive Stratton, pleasantly entertained a jolly crowd of young people in honor of her friends the Misses Cora and Jessie Goodlove who are out from Iowa on a visit. Amusements of various kinds filled the evening after which fruit less and cake were served. Aside from those mentioned, the guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Kelsey, Mr. and Mrs. Van Leavitt, Mrs. Emory Hodson, the Misses Mabel Edwards, Lucy Gause, Jessie Britt, Sibyl Woodward, Carrie Turner, Myrtle McDaniel, May Lamb, Pearl Cummings and the Messrs. R. W. Kirk, L. B. Ferguson, John Larkin, A. C. Seelye, A. C. Pool, W. S. Parker and W. C. Woodward.
J. C. Cooper went to Portland on Wednesday to let the contract for printing the pamphlets to advertise Yamhill county in the East. The work will be done by the Irwin-Hodson Company, who were the lowest and best bidders, and who guarantee a first-class job. The stock used will be 120 lb calendared paper with heavy tinted cover in two colors. It will contain 16 pages, and will be of a size approximating the ordinary railroad folder. Nearly forty half-tone cuts, illustrating local industries, buildings, landscapes, etc., will be used. Bids were received by Messrs. Cooper, Harding and Eckman from five different Portland houses on Friday, and the letting of the contract was the outcome of that visit. It was necessary to reduce the number to 85,000 to come within the amount of money raised, which was very close to $900. Some localities have not yet reported the exact amount raised. It is expected to have the work finished by the first week in September. Yamhill will be the first county in the state to issue her advertising pamphlet, and will set a very creditable pace for her sisters to follow.—Reporter.

Mrs. G. W. Mitchell has been ill this week.

There is rejoicing in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Hill at LaGrande over the arrival on Tuesday, August 19, of a son.
Mrs. Nannie Cox and little son of Eugene are visiting relatives north of town in the persons of S. W. Newhouse and family.
Prof. R. W. Kirk has rented the old Deskins property which he and his brother and sister will occupy during the coming school year.
Seth Mills writes Pres. McGrew from the Coast mountains south of Yaquina Bay that they have already brought down four deer and are after more.
The carpenter work as called for by contract was finished on Ward, Barclay & Jones' new warehouse the middle of the week. The building is a decided credit to the town.
Mrs. Wm. Manning left Monday morning for Chehalis, Washington, where she was called by a telegram from her son stating that his wife was in very poor health.
On Wednesday August 27, a W. C. T. U. meeting will be held at Glen Eden Park, the J. C. Hodson residence. All friends of temperance are welcome to these meetings. Strangers specially invited. Hour 2:30 p. m.
Cows are going dry with most people; I'm the chap that can supply you with milk, without fail, with a pint or gallon. Remember the price, $1.50 per month after Nov. 1. It's guaranteed not to be quite all water, please. G. Everett.
A few special bargains at Jay Cook's, preparatory to moving stock. Tea Garden Drips syrup, bulk, 68c per gallon; regular price 75c. Prize baking powder, 40c; regular price 50c. Also some bargains in ladies' and Misses' shoes.
Hon. C. B. Montague of Lebanon, father of Dr. Clara M. Davidson of this place, left the Albany local train as it left the station at Woodburn Monday evening and dislocated his shoulder. He was also badly bruised about the face.
Geo. Mitchell and Walter Macy arrived home late Tuesday night from their extended timber cruise in the southwestern part of the state looking very much as if they had taken the Nazarene vow. They intend to start out again in a few days.
Carroll E. Kirk, who is assistant secretary of the Seattle Y. M. C. A., came down to Portland last week to attend a meeting of the Y. M. C. A. workers of Oregon, Washington and Idaho. He has been spending this week at his home north of town.
Dr. H. B. Clough returned from his business trip to Eastern Washington a few days ago, having changed his plans to the extent that he will remain here a few weeks before going East. He has rented the Dr. G. W. McConnell office building which he has been fitting up preparatory for practice.
Asa Kelsey left Monday morning for his home at Western Springs, Illinois, after a few weeks visit here with his son Prof. R. W. Kelsey and wife and during which time he made many warm friends. He went by way of Salt Lake City where he stopped off a couple of days and thence to Colorado where he is making a short visit with a brother before returning home.
It is reported that a gentleman in a nearby town took his little boy to church last Sunday for the first time. Instructing the lad about his behavior he wound up by telling the boy to keep an eye on him and do just as he did. When the contribution box was passed papa dropped in a nickel. The lad saw his father's hand go into the box, and remembering the advice put his hand in also. When the box had passed by the lad whispered out loud enough to be heard all around, "papa papa, I got two bits, how much did you get?"
Clarence Elliott is in receipt of a copy of the Indianapolis News giving the account of the tragic death of his cousin Raymond Elliott, a young man twenty-two years old and known to some people here, who a few days ago, when riding along an Indianapolis street on his bicycle was run down by a street car and suffered injuries from which he died a few hours afterward. At the breaking out of the Spanish-American war, though only eighteen years old, he enlisted in the army and was sent to the Philippines where he saw two years of service.
There is a large quantity of cement now at the Yamhill locks, which is to be used in work there. To strengthen the river below the locks, a large quantity of rock and cement will be placed along the bank. A 5000 gallon tank has been put up at the locks which is filled with water by means of a ram, which has the capacity to fill the tank three times in 24 hours. On each side of the locks are lawns in white clover, which are kept well watered by water from the tank. There is also a tank at the lock house which supplies water to keep a nice lawn and garden. In a few years the lock premises will present a handsome appearance.—Herald.

A man who came to the Sears place some time ago, without friends, sick and unknown, died yesterday and was buried by the county.
Jos. Hall sent in some fine samples of the sugar prune Wednesday, the culture of which is being started in this vicinity.
Miss Bertha Nicholson, who has been spending the past year with relatives at Carthage, Indiana, is expected to arrive home the latter part of this week.
Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Caldwell arrived home Monday evening from Colorado, having enjoyed a very pleasant trip. They spent eleven days at Cripple Creek, where the big Woodman encampment was held. The delegates were taken down into one of the big gold mines, near that place, the committee in charge having to pay eight hundred dollars for the privilege, which amount the company figured as its loss for the two hours in which the visitors interrupted their work. They were taken down the shaft at such a heart breaking velocity that some of the women were sent into hysterics. While Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell saw much fine scenery on their trip they declare that that between Colorado Springs and Victor, including a distance of thirty-two miles, is magnificent beyond all comparison. On their return they spent several hours in Salt Lake City with which place they were highly pleased, even more so than with Denver with its many residence mansions. They attended an organ recital in the Temple and visited many places of interest. They took a bath in Great Salt Lake whose waters are so solvent with salt that it is well nigh impossible to sit to the amusement of spectators. Mr. Caldwell boasted out on his back and smoked a cigar with ease. With all that they saw while away however they confess that they didn't see anything that looked as good to them as Oregon.
Was Reuben From Newberg?
According to Tuesday's Oregonian a young man, who, from his appearance, had brought his best girl to town to see the circus, and had become bewildered by what he had seen, created much amusement in a down town restaurant last evening. The young man and 'Mandy Ann' were piloted to a seat in the rear after Reuben had placed his Sunday haul-gear on a rack near the middle of the room. After scraping the bottom of every dish—for sight-seeing all day had made them hungry—they started for the cash counter. Now the young man's troubles began. He had hung his hat on one of the half-dozen racks lining the wall, but he could not remember which one, and, after gazing intently into the interior of 20 soft felt hats, he grew embarrassed. The girl was smirking with the pleasure of her so many eyes directed on her, but her escort did not enjoy the situation. Not content with examining every slouch hat on one side of the room, he began on the opposite racks, and meanwhile every one had stopped eating to enjoy the hunt. Reuben had gone over nearly every soft hat in the room, when the proprietor came to the rescue. "I think you had a derby hat," said he. "Isn't this yours?" handing him one. "Jiggered if it ain't!" shouted Reuben, with joy. "Guess I thought I had my old slouch instead of this new, stiff thing." The pair hurried out, while those at the tables turned their faces the other way.
This is a Fish Story.
B. S. Cook, who now hails from Prosser, Washington, is gambling among the wild waves at Newport. Some enterprising correspondent with an un-governable imagination sent a vivid "sea tale" back to Prosser, which appears as follows in the Prosser Bulletin:
Information from Newport beach, Oregon, is to the effect that Mr. B. S. Cook of this city, while fishing for porgies off the rocks above Nye Brook town, hooked a large white shark and narrowly escaped being dragged into the sea. While in his extreme peril, Mr. Cook thought himself of how the 'backaroos' shub a steer up in his country, so, da-ring a temporary slack of the heavy line, he took occasion to take a hitch around a stub eypress tree and then ran down the beach, got a shot gun and poured a deadly fire into the shark, which after a fruitless struggle finally closed his wicked eyes and cavernous jaws and entered into the sleep of death. Great crowds gathered and viewed the monster which measured 23 feet and five inches. Mr. Cook talked of having the great fish brought up to Prosser and placed on exhibition, but the hotel men at Newport were riotous in their opposition to Mr. Cook's scheme, as they want the shark left where it is, as an attraction to the place. At this writing, says our correspondent, Mr. Cook had modestly related the story of his big catch to the 1900th person, and others were standing in line to hear the adventure from his own lips. As it now stands, he is easily the hero of Nye Brook, and hundreds of jealous rivals are fishing for porgies and hoping to get shark bites. We congratulate Mr. Cook on his fishing ability.
Yours For Business.
To all whom it may concern.—Having increased our room and improved our facilities for serving the public better than ever before, we now wish to say that we are buying wheat, oats and barley at the highest market values and doing a general milling and exchange business, including the milling of rye and buckwheat, for which we are especially prepared.

The usual varieties of flour and mill-stuffs kept on sale at lowest market values.
We extend thanks to all our old customers for past patronage, and to all others an invitation to come and give us a trial.
Respectfully,

Mr. Alberry George spent Tuesday night with his uncle J. I. Hadley. Mr. George has a position with the Portland Seed Company of Portland. Shorty.
Forest Grove Falls to Municipalize the Town Cow.
The city council talked of pledging 200 cows to the new milk condenser, but when they found that the cows would have to be milked, they weakened on the proposition. The mayor said he had a sore finger and couldn't milk; Jim Buxton had cows of his own and didn't propose to milk the town cow; John Stribich said he wasn't used to milking any but Dutch cows; Grant Hughes had troubles of his own and didn't want to borrow any more; Jake Wirtz said he'd shave 'em but would be blamed if he'd milk 'em; Jake Buxton said this was his vacation and they would have to excuse him; Johnson offered to milk 15 or 20 but he wouldn't agree to tackle the whole pound full; Jimmie Clark said that as recorder he would be too busy putting down motions and remarks by members of the council to have time for anything else. Treasurer Hudson said he would collect the money for the milk after it was sold, but there was nothing in the law that requires him to milk. Then, as the city fathers departed to their several homes, Marshal Cronen turned out the lights and went out to the pound, where he found that the only cow in the charge of the city was a spotted b-l.—Times.
