

THE NEWBERG GRAPHIC.

E. H. WOODWARD, EDITOR & PUBLISHER. W. C. WOODWARD, ASSOCIATE EDITOR.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1922.

Volume 1, No. 1, of the Gardiner Gazette has this suggestive motto at the mast head: "One country, one flag, one wife at a time."

One Kansas editor, at least, has a pretty fair conception of the character of a street fair and carnival. Commenting on features of one recently held in his town, he noted the fact that "some of the men attended for pleasure, while others were accompanied by their wives."

Not long ago a Missouri paper twitted Kansas by saying "The prohibitory law is making liars and hypocrites of the people of Kansas." A Kansas paper came back at the charge by saying: "It is doing nothing of the kind. While the law is making it public that some people are hypocrites and liars the Lord knew it all the time."

There is an Italian settlement in Kansas City known as "Little Italy," the patriotism of whose citizens is worthy of emulation of some who are native born. Not long ago it is reported that the "king" called the police and helped break up meetings held by anarchist promoters. The incident is especially gratifying from the fact that the same Italian is getting to be too nearly synonymous with that of anarchist.

Work at the oil well was resumed the first of the week and drilling will continue just as fast as the funds justify. The hole is now down to a depth that should make it interesting and if a stockholder ever cared to invest a dollar in the enterprise it looks like right now is the time to put another dollar with it and help solve the problem. It would certainly be folly to abandon the well after so much work has been done and with prospects flattering, before the fact of oil or no oil is fully established.

Scarcity of school teachers throughout the country, particularly for rural districts, is raising a serious problem. It is not hard to find a good reason for the existing condition when it is known that the average salary for men teachers in Oregon is only $44.46 while that for women is but $35.53. With better inducements offered in almost all other lines of occupation, it is too much to expect of the pedagogues to stick to the school room on sentimental grounds or just for the love of teaching the unregenerate youth.

The Beaverton Journal is worthy of commendation for the stand it is taking against the use of "vice and indecent language" on the streets of that village. Bob Ingersoll said that if he had had the making of the human system he would have made health "catching" rather than disease. The residents of any town have in within their power to make decency and morality "catching" on the streets and about the stores, rather than the use of profanity and vulgarity, if they so desire, and it is refreshing to note that the Journal speaks out on the right side in language that is easily understood.

To all lovers of early Oregon history and especially to those who have read "McLanghlin and Old Oregon" the announcement that Eva Emery Dye's new book, "The Conquest," is out will be hailed with delight. This new work which bears the date of September 1, 1922, Oregon City, Oregon, the home of the gifted authoress, is a story of the expedition headed by Meriwether Lewis and William Clark, which left St. Louis in 1804, passed up the Missouri and over the mountains to the headwaters of the Columbia and thence to the Pacific coast, returning overland in 1805. By the book, read it and you will say let no stone be thrown in the way of the 1905 or Lewis and Clark fair.

Dr. Gilbert's Address.

Considering the impression made by his last lecture in Newberg, it was not at all surprising that such a large audience was on hand at the Friends church Monday evening to hear Dr. W. S. Gilbert of Portland lecture upon the subject, "Sixteen." The address was a thoughtful study of the relation and significance of physical, mental and spiritual laws, in their application to the building of character. The speaker's position was based on the best psychological thought and research of the day, and in earnest words scientific truths were vitalized, and brought forcibly home in a practical manner. The address, illustrated by chart and object lesson, was such that no adequate report can be given.

A few general statements upon the subject of law prefaced the address of the evening. "Nothing happens. All events take place by immutable laws. The laws of God are not whims nor temporary decrees. They are as eternal as God himself. We may disobey, but never break law. All law is one. It is a comparatively modern conception that physical and spiritual laws are in harmony. Spiritual laws are as definite and sure as those of the material realm." As an entering wedge in his discourse Dr. Gilbert dwelt impressively upon the awesome significance of the laws of heredity. Whatever a parent sows, the child is certain to reap. There is no chance about it. It is absolute law. However, heredity is not fatalism. It can be overcome, and this brought the speaker directly to his subject.

By objection, by the exhibition of charts and by quotation from eminent authorities, Dr. Gilbert showed that the year sixteen marks the crisis in human development. Whether in physical or spiritual realm, modern research proves conclusively that sixteen years is the average age when a person's character or destiny has been sealed. This has been formulated so definitely that it is recognized as a law, the gist of which is that if environment ever appeals to one, it will have done so by the sixteenth year. The demonstration was very impressively made, and Dr. Gilbert left his audience to draw the all important inference, which was obvious.

Some one made an attempt to break into Winslow's jewelry store Saturday night but was scared away by Orland Hancock, who with his brother Everett sleeps in the store. He fired a shot at the "noise," the bullet passing through the panel of the door, but no blood was shed so far as known.

W. S. Ham and wife who arrived in Oregon direct from Kansas a few weeks ago and who have been stopping temporarily at Oregon City, came up on the Steamer Ruth Wednesday and are visiting with the Culver family, of which they are old acquaintances. They are greatly pleased with Newberg.

Our neighbors at North Yamhill sustained a $20000 loss by fire Tuesday night. Fire was discovered in the general merchandise store of Messner & Vanheim at 9:30 o'clock in the evening. This building was destroyed and also the Bushby grocery store, the Exchange hotel, a saloon and a barber shop.

A number of safes have been cracked in Newberg in the past ten or twelve years but the best haul so far recorded was made on last Friday night when the safe at the railroad depot was emptied and about $1200 carried away. Agent Satchwell had that "all gone" feeling when he opened the safe Saturday morning and discovered that an express package for Christenson & Seely containing $1180 and about $20 in change was gone. The thief had either gotten the tip from some source or he was an expert on safe combinations for he opened the safe without a scratch. The express package came up from Sherwood on the evening train, it having been sent by F. E. Seely of Wilcoxville. The money was probably spotted while in Mr. Seely's possession and followed to the hole from which it was taken by the thief. A Wells Fargo Express company official spent Sunday in town looking the ground over but so far as known no clue to the robbery has been found.

For fifty years steamboats have been carrying passengers on the upper Willamette, and for the past twenty-five years the O. R. & N. Co. has kept a line of boats on the river and yet at the present time if you take a trip up the river, say between Oregon City and Salem, a distance of fifty-eight miles you will find that Newberg is the only point on the river where any accommodations are arranged for passengers. From this it appears that the companies operating on the river don't care to make any special bids for passenger travel or else they figure that at all other points except Newberg, where there is railroad competition, they will get all the business anyway without the expenditure of any money in maintaining waiting rooms. The prospective passenger, seated on a seat in a drizzling rain, "all forlorn," as he figures on the time of the probable arrival of the boat and incidentally of the necessary expenditure he will have to make for rheumatic aches, thinks he ought to receive better treatment, but things will no doubt remain about as they are until the people along the river wake up and make their wants known. When they do this in a systematic way and lay the matter before the O. R. & N. and O. C. T. companies their appeals will probably be heard and answered.

F. A. Crawford of Dayton called on the Graphic Wednesday evening bringing with him Cyrus H. Walker of Albany, state deputy organizer of the Oregon Grange who is in Yamhill county for the purpose of organizing granges, and hopes to establish one at or near Newberg in the near future. While as far back as 1875 this county had ten such organizations, but one now remains, McMinnville No. 31, and as interest in them is reviving all over the county, Mr. Walker hopes to bring Old Yamhill back to her first love.

The leading principle of the Grange are co-operation, education and sociality. There never was a more imperative demand for organization among farmers than at the present time. All trades and professions are organized and it would seem that farmers must organize if they would maintain their rights. Along lines of legislation, it was the influence of the grange that secured Free Rural Delivery, and the enactment of the bill preventing the coloring of imitation butter. Other great questions of public interest are now advocated, and the National Grange now in session at Lansing, Michigan has taken decided action along lines of reform. Mr. Walker is himself a granger from away back, he claiming the distinction of being the first white child born west of the Rocky mountains. Mr. Crawford claims second honors in this respect.

Mayor's Proclamation.

In compliance with a long prevailing custom of our country, the President of the United States, and the Governor of Oregon, have recommended that Thursday, Nov. 27th, be observed as a day of thanksgiving and prayer. And as Mayor of Newberg, I would advise that the people of this city and vicinity lay aside the business affairs of life, give ourselves to the expressions of humble gratitude to Almighty God for His manifold blessings and pray for a continuance of His blessings and mercy.

As a town and community we have enjoyed our share of the general prosperity of our country. Our fields and gardens have produced abundant crops. Our orchards were laden with luscious fruit—all of which in the ideal weather were gathered without waste, and we have been blessed with health, peace and plenty.

Therefore let thanks be given to God, and let the day be spent in a way becoming to a grateful people, in public prayer and worship and in deeds of charity and benevolence to those less favored. N. C. CHRISTENSEN, Mayor.

The association meets on the first Monday in each month. Rev. F. C. Stannard is president. All ministers are invited to these meetings.
