All Humors

Are impure matters which the skin, liver, kidneys and other organs can not take care of without help, there is such an accumulation of them.

They litter the whole system.

Pimples, boils, eczema and other eruptions, loss of appetite, that tired feeling, bilious turns, fits of indigestion, dull headaches and many other troubles are due to them.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Remove all humors, overcome all their effects, strengthen, tone and invigorate the whole system.

"I had salt rheum on my hands so that I could not work. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and it drove out the humor. I continued its use till the sores disappeared." MRS. IRA O. BROWN, Rumford Falls, Me.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

Compensations of Pastors.

From an open letter in the February Century.

In the ministry, service and salary are not equal terms. The high office was not created for the advnatage of the holder, and the calling is degraded into a mere profession when it is made the subject of money equivalents. The work of the ministry is more especially in the realm of the moral and spiritual, and therefore can never be "financially compensated in any exhaustive commercial sense." Nevertheless, the minister adapted by conduct and learning to his high calling ordinarily does have, and should have, a slaary proportionate to the demands of the field he is tilling, and compensations far more satisfying and worthy of consideration than salaries.

Modest Worth.

"I dont' see," said the sensible girl, "how you could bring yourself to run around after that actor; such a conceited stick as he is."

"You're mistaken," replied the matinee girl. "He's just as modest as he can be. Why, when I asked him whom he considered the greatest actor in the world he actually blushed, and replied that it wasn't for him to say."—Philadelphia Press.

A GOOD PULLER.

Wise Bros., the Portland Dentists, Do Some Original Pulling.

If this item pulls you to our office to have your tooth pulled, it will not hurt you to have the tooth pulled any more than it hurt you to have your inclinations pulled in our favor. If this talk fails to pull you in our direction, then we shall have so much less tooth-pulling to do, but we want lots of it. We send out our words urging you to take immediate care of your teeth. We try to pull your thoughts to the safe conclusion that it is best to have bad teeth pulled out right away without any waiting; and when we pull the teeth it does not hurt you. Besides that, it does not pull much money from your pocket, for our charges are very moderate. This short talk on pulling we sincerely hope will pull you to our office, and, if you come, you will find that not any of these pulls hurt anyone. On the contrary, each and every one of them will do both you and us good. You will see that we tell the truth when we say that dental work in our office is painless and inexpensive, and when you return to your home satisfied with our work we hope you will tell some of your friends about us. Wise Brothers, Failing Bldg., Third and Washington Sts., Portland, Oregon.

Unwelcome Friendship.

The Poor Rule.

Kwoter—Well, it's a poor rule that won't work both ways, you know.

Jiggins—I say it's a poor rule that would work any way. If it wasn't poor, it wouldn't have to work.

Order in the Kitchen.

Keep everything in its proper place and have a place for everything. Prepare beforehand, and wash the dishes used in the preparation at once and get them out of the way before the meal is served. Wash each saucepan quickly as soon as it is emptied, and while it is moist. Scullery work is not an attractive occupation, but it must be done. If the cook has two granite dishpans, one filled with hot soapsuds, the other with clear boiling water, with a mop she can quickly clean every utensil, and rinse, dry and put it away.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Graham Muffins.

Dissolve three-quarters of a cake of compressed yeast in a quart of blood-warm milk. Into this stir a tablespoonful of melted butter, a teaspoonful of salt and two tablespoonfuls of sugar. In a large bowl mix three cups of graham flour with one cup of white flour, make a hollow in the center and pour in the liquid mixture. Mix thoroughly, set to rise over night and pour into greased muffin tins. Bake in a hot oven.

Ginger Cookies.

Rub to a cream a cup of butter and a cup of sugar; work in gradually a cup of molasses and a small teacupful of sour milk or buttermilk. Stir in an even teaspoonful of boiling soda dissolved in a little boiling water and beat all hard, adding, as you do so, two teaspoonfuls of ground ginger. Stir in enough flour to make a dough that can be rolled out, roll very thin, cut into rounds and bake in a good oven.

Mock Turtle Soup.

Boil a calf's liver and heart with a knuckle of veal for four hours, skimming well; then strain; chop the meat fine and add to it a chopped onion, salt, pepper and ground cloves to taste. Thicken a little with flour and cook a few minutes over a hot fire; when ready to serve, pour the soup over the yolks of four hard-boiled eggs, cut up, and a few slices of lemon.

Souffle of Chicken.

Cut the meat from the breast of an uncooked chicken, mince, pound and pass it through a sieve, then mix in half a pint of very stiffly whipped cream, salt to taste, pepper; add some minced mushrooms or truffles; put this mixture into a buttered mould and steam for twenty minutes, then turn out and serve with supreme sauce poured over it.

Parsnip Fritters.

Wash and scrape them and cut in slices, cover them with boiling water, cook until tender, mash them through a colander, return them to the fire, add to two large parsnips a tablespoonful of butter, salt and pepper to taste, and one egg beaten well; mix thoroughly, remove from the fire, and, when cool, make into small flat cakes and fry in a little batter. Serve hot.

Anchovy Appetizers.

Slice buttered bread very thin, remove the crust and cut into long, thin strips. Spread each strip with anchovy paste and serve as the first course at dinner.

Brief Suggestions.

Red tablecloths keep their color if a little borax is added to the rinse water and they are dried in the shade.

To take stains out of knives take a piece of raw potato, dip it into brick dust and scour the blades with it.

A lump of camphor should be kept in the plate chest, for it will render the stored-away silver less liable to tarnish.

If the skin of fowls peels easily it is a sign of youth. If the spurs of chickare over one-fourth inch long don't buy them—it indicates old age.

When soot falls upon the carpet it may be removed by sprinkling on plenty of finely powdered salt and sweeping off in the direction of the fireplace. Repeat until the marks are gone.

Grease on wallpaper may be removed by covering the stain with pipe clay mixed with water to the consistency of thick cream, leaving it to dry and then brushing it off. It is best to apply the pipe clay one day and to remove it the next. If the stain has not entirely disappeared the operation should be repeated.

Diamonds that Explode.

It has long been known that diamonds, especially the class known as "rose diamonds," are likely to explode if subjected only to what would seem a very ordinary degree of heat. It is now believed that the explosions are the result of the rapid expansion of certain volatile liquids inclosed in cavities near the center of these precious stones. A great many diamonds, even though cut, mounted and worn as gems of perfection, are still in an unfinished condition—that is, the liquid drop from which the stone is being formed has not as yet deposited all of its "pure crystals of carbon." These movable drops may occasionally be seen with the naked eye.

When this is the case, a strong microscope will give the drop the appearance of a bubble in the fluid in a carpenter's level. It is also highly probable that besides the liquid mentioned these cavities may contain gases under great tension. This being the case, one may readily comprehend how a very small amount of heat would cause the liquid and the gas to expand to such a degree that the diamond would give way with an explosion.—London Answers.

DYSPEPSIA OF WOMEN.

Mrs. E. B. Bradshaw, of Guthrie, Okla., cured of a severe case by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

A great many women suffer with a form of indigestion or dyspepsia which does not seem to yield to ordinary medical treatment. While the symptoms seem to be similar to those of ordinary indigestion, yet the medicines universally prescribed do not seem to restore the patient's normal condition.

Mrs. Pinkham claims that there is a kind of dyspepsia that is caused by derangement of the female organism, and which, while it causes disturbance similar to ordinary indigestion, cannot be relieved without a medicine which not only acts as a stomach tonic, but has peculiar uterine-tonic effects as well.

Thousands of testimonial letters prove beyond question that nothing will relieve this distressing condition so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It always works in harmony with the female system.

Olives.

Do you like olives? You have to learn to like them, of course, but you will be sorry you did not cultivate a taste for them before — particularly if you let your grocer send you a bottle of the Monopole variety. Monopole olives are the largest which come to this country. They are also the most luscious and tenderest which the far famed olive growers of Spain produce. Be sure you secure this brand from your dealer. Wadhams & Kerr Bros., Monopole Grocers and Dry Coffee Roasters, Portland, Oregon.

Color in the Arctics.

The leading color pictures in the February Century—the most novel and curious in subject of any that magazine has yet published— are from interesting and beautiful studies of the aurora borealis made by Frank Wilbert Stokes while in the Arctic in the fall of 1892, and are richly worthy the subject. They reproduce in print for the first time in a popular magazine the wonderful effects of the aurora. Mr. Stokes, probably the first real colorist to visit the Arctic regions, was with the Peary and relief expeditions on the Kite when he was privileged to see some color displays worth all the dangers and privations of the trip. His word painting is as vivid and interesting as his color work.

The Term Spinster.

A PINK CANDLE.

The Shopper Was Very Particular, and in a Great Hurry.

A decorous but urgent crowd of women was gathered round a counter where decorated candles were on sale at reduced prices, when a piercing voice from the edge of the crowd made known a wish.

"I want a pink candle!" came the plaint. "I have to catch a train. Can't you show me a pink candle?"

At first the saleswoman paid no heed, but as the demand was repeated again and again, she finally said, "As soon as I can I will look, madam. I think the pink candles are all gone."

"Oh," wailed the woman on the edge of the crowd, "are you sure? I don't want a white one! I want a pink candle!"

"Can't you find me a pink candle? I have to catch a train," came two minutes later from the voice, which was now nearer the counter. "You don't seem to have anything but white ones."

"In a minute, madam," said the saleswoman; and at last, by virtue of two women volunteering to wait until the insistent customer was served, the applicant for the pink candle reached the counter.

"You wouldn't wish one of these white ones with the pink roses?" asked the saleswoman, rummaging in her boxes.

"I said I wished a pink candle," came in an injured tone. "I don't know how many times I need to say it."

"Would this one do?" The saleswoman at last produced a pink candle, somewhat jammed at the lower end.

"That! No, of course not! I must have a perfect one."

There was another interval during which the saleswoman was out of sight under the counter. When she rose again, flushed but triumphant, she disclosed a little package still in its wrappings. It proved to be a candle of pale pink, fresh and unmarred in any way.

"There, madam!" she said, wearily. "I've found this one candle that had been overlooked. Twenty-five cents, please."

"Wait!" said the woman, imperatively. "I—I think I'd rather have a white one, after all, now that I've seen both. You know you never can tell what you don't want until you've seen it. Yes, I'll take one of the white candles, and please hurry, for I have to catch a train."

QUEER STORIES

At present the proportion of working time is smaller in Britain than in any other nation. The assertion is true alike in respect of agriculture, of industry, of shopkeeping, of commerce and of the professions.

Statistics of the fatal accidents in the Alps for the last ten years show a total of 275. Of the 321 deaths which resulted from the 275 fatal accidents, 190 were Germans or Austrians, 48 Swiss, 23 Italians, 18 Englishmen, 15 Frenchmen and 27 of other nationalities. Seven of those killed were women, 73 were guides and 14 porters.

Prof. Woodward has gone over the calculations of Leplace by the aid of modern data, and concludes that though in theory the length of the day on earth must be increasing, owing to the increasing mass of the planet due to the constant deposit of meteors, etc., yet the change is so infinitesimal that there has not been a half second of difference in ten million years.

An improved machine for sealing envelopes has been invented by a man in Topeka, Kan. "In operation," says the Scientific American, "the envelopes are fed into the machine, the flaps moistened, turned, and finally pressed tightly to sealing position. The machine, it is claimed, will seal from eight thousand to fifteen thousand envelopes per hour of any ordinary bulk, mixed sizes, and especially adjusted will seal at about the same rate up to one-half inch in thickness."

A veteran of the Spanish war recently appealed to the Secretary of the Interior a case in which he claimed a pension on account of corns that he had contracted by wearing army shoes. The department, after an exhaustive course of reasoning, comes to the conclusion that corns are not a pensionable disability. The decision says: "Corns are inconvenient, but are seldom incapacitating, and when they are the remedy is simple and within the reach of any one. The soldier's patriotism ought not to terminate with his military service. It should prompt him to go to a chiropodist rather than to the pension bureau."

The eminent French scientists, Flammarion and Berbet, have, by permission of the French government, been repeating Foucault's famous experiments with the pendulum to the Pantheon in Paris. Foucault's original pendulum was used. It consists of a lead ball weighing fifty-six pounds on the end of a wire 210 feet long. It takes the pendulum eight secouds to swing one way, or sixteen seconds to make a complete beat. Its apparent path changes constantly, at a rate which would cause its plane of vibration to pass through a complete circle in twenty-four hours—thus verifying the rotation of the earth.

"Nebulous stars probably represent the earliest phase of stellar evolution," says Agnes M. Clerke, in Knowledge. "They irresistibly suggest incipience; they have seemingly not yet fully appropriated the material allotted for their construction. In the course of a few or of many millenniums, they will, it is reasonable to suppose, have absorbed the outstanding supply and will shine as finished suns." * * * There is at present no reason to suppose, however, Miss Clerke thinks, that the stars that appear as nuclei of planetary and annular nebulae emit gaseous radiations. "Those that do—and they are very few—are palpably not stars, but condensed wisps of cosmic haze."
